PART II. Advertisements.

[N.B.—Advertisements, Notices, &c., intended for insertion in this Part of the "Gazette" cannot be received after Noon on Monday.]

LAND SALE NOTICE.

Advertisement of Sale.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned estates situate in the district of Jessore will be put up to sale at the Jhenidah Subdivisional Office on the 5th December 1911, corresponding with 10th Agrahayan 1313.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale:—

Conditions of Sale.

- 1st.—The estate to be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price, which will be fixed by the Collector at the time of sale. The purchaser of this estate will be considered as the proprietor of the estate, and the entire proprietary right of Government in such estate will be transferred to him subject to the revenue fixed in perpetuity.
- 2nd.—The conditions regarding the payment of a land-revenue fixed in perpetuity are not applicable to estates in temporarily-settled districts in which the land revenue should be fixed for the term of the current settlement and be subject to periodical revisions on expiry of each settlement. In the case of an estate situated in permanently-settled area and yielding an annual rental of less than Rs. 1, there should be no condition regarding payment of land revenue.
- 3rd.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings, and by the laws in force; and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the Revenue authorities.
- 4th.—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.
- 5th.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or, if that day be a close holiday, then by the noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale is to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

Government of Bengal.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Roads.

Dated Calcutta, the 27th October 1911.

RESOLUTION.

Receipts and Expenditure of the District Road Funds in the districts of Darjeeling, Singhbhum and Sonthal Parganas during 1910-11.

READ—

Annual Reports and Accounts for the year 1910-11.

Read again—

Annual Reports and Accounts of the District Road Funds for the previous year and the review thereon.

The opening credit balance of the year was Rs. 45,188, and the total receipts of the District Road Committees from all sources amounted to Rs. 2,65,627. The total amount available for expenditure was thus Rs. 3,10,815, of which Rs. 2,75,627 was spent, leaving a credit balance of Rs. 35,186 only at the close of the year. The closing balance in the district of Darjeeling was excessive.

2. A number of bridges were built, several new roads constructed, and existing roads improved, at a cost of Rs. 76,004.

3. The total expenditure on repairs was Rs. 87,798. One thousand eight hundred and ten miles of district roads and 42 miles of village roads were maintained.

4. Rupees 981 were spent in planting and maintaining trees on road-sides and in nursery gardens in the districts of Singhbhum and the Sonthal Parganas.

5. The expenditure on establishment amounted to Rs. 30,853.

In the Darjeeling district no engineer was employed. All the works and repairs in the hills of the district and most of those in the Terai were executed by the members of the committee and other private gentlemen, to whom the thanks of Government are due for their assistance.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution, together with the Annual Accounts of the District Road Funds and abstracts from the reports of the Chairmen of the District Road Committees, be published in Part II of the Calcutta Gazette.

Ordered, also, that a copy of the Resolution, together with the Annual Accounts of the District Road Funds and abstracts from the reports of the Chairmen of the District Road Committees, be forwarded for information to the—Commissioners of the Bhagalpur and Chota Nagpur Divisions.

Superintending Engineers of the Northern and Western Circles.

Accountant-General, Bengal.

Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces.

Financial Department of this Government.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council,

B. K. FINNIMORE,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Extract from letter No. 495 L.S.-G., dated the 26th June 1911, from E. H. C. Walsh, Esq., I.C.S., Commissioner of the Bhagalpur Division, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

2. The attention of the Deputy Commissioner and Chairman, District Road Committee, was again drawn to the remarks made by Government about the large balance standing to the credit of the Road Fund, as a result the closing balance has been reduced from Rs. 22,650-15-1 to Rs. 14,135-4-8. As reported by the Deputy Commissioner and Chairman, the cash balance is proposed to be reduced to Rs. 2,987 — estimated in the budget estimate for 1911-12.

3. The number of meetings held by the District Road Committee and the Terai Branch Committee was only 3 and 4, respectively, as compared with 4 and 6 of the preceding year, but they appear to have been sufficient to dispose of the work of the Committees.

4. The report does not call for other special remarks.

Abstract of the Report by the Chairman, District Road Committee of Darjeeling, on the operations of the District Road Fund of the District for the year 1910-11.

[Vide letter No. 48 E.F., dated 30th May 1911, from H. T. S. Forrest, Esq., I.C.S., Chairman of the District Road Committee, Darjeeling, to the Commissioner of the Bhagalpur Division.]

1. Working of Committees.—(a) District Road Committee.—The total number of the members of the Committee was 18, of which 6 were official and 12 non-official. Three meetings were held during the year. The average attendance was 11, or 61·11 per cent. at a meeting.

(b) Kuresong Branch Committee.—There were 9 members during the year—2 official and 7 non-official. Five meetings were held during the year (1910-11), including one at which there was no quorum. The average attendance was 3·6, or 40 per cent., at a meeting.

(c) Terai Branch Committee.—There were 15 members of this Branch Committee—5 official and 10 non-official. Four meetings were held during the year. The average attendance at a meeting was 6·75, or 45 per cent.

2. The year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 22,650-15-1 and an outstanding advance of Rs. 8,918-3-11. The total sum of Rs. 74,182-3-11, including the outstanding advance Rs. 8,918-3-11, was available for expenditure during the year. The actual expenditure during the year (1910-11) was Rs. 44,027-12, leaving a cash balance of Rs. 14,135-4-8 and an unadjusted advance of Rs. 16,019-3-3. The closing balance was more than one quarter's less. A part of this sum was spent during the year, but no account having been received, it could not be adjusted. However, it is hoped that the cash balance will be reduced to a reasonable amount as estimated in the budget estimate for 1911-12.

RECEIPTS.

3. Provincial Rates.—The road cess was levied during the year 1910-11 in the district at the maximum rate of 6 pies in the rupee. The total collection under the head "Cess on lands" during the year 1910-11 was Rs. 25,229-10-10 against Rs. 22,746-8-8 of preceding year (1909-10). The increase was due to revaluation.

4. Miscellaneous.—A sum of annas 9 only was credited under this head on account of sale proceeds of waste forms, etc.

5. CONTRIBUTION.—(a) Grant from Government.—A sum of Rs. 10,263-13-1 was received under this head during the year, including Rs. 5,159 on account of augmentation of resources of the Committee against Rs. 7,180-8 of the preceding year (1909-10). The increase was mainly due to the Government share of cost of the Road and Public Works Cess joint Establishment and the revaluation works of the previous years received during the year.

(b) A contribution of Rs. 7,119 was received from the Darjeeling Improvement Fund as last year (1909-10) towards communication and share of the cost of the Joint Cess and Tazul Establishment.

(c) No contribution from private persons and other sources was received during 1910-11.

EXPENDITURE.

6. Original Works.—A sum of Rs. 2,773-0-9 was spent under this head out of the estimated cost of Rs. 11,951 for three bridges. The bridge over Dilaram Jhora at Margaret's Hope Tea Estate has practically been completed, but no account having been received, it could not be charged to the accounts of the year.

7. Repairs.—The total sum of Rs. 27,113-11-8, as per details below, was spent under this head against Rs. 52,454-7 of the preceding year. The decrease is mainly due to the fact that a heavy sum was charged during the year (1909-10) for metalling the first six miles of Road No. 32 (Naxalbari to Dabigunge via Kharibari):—

8. A total length of 9 miles of metalled roads and 344 miles, out of 361 miles of unmetalled roads, and 9 miles of village roads were actually repaired and improved upon by the Committee during the year at a cost of Rs. 4,997, Rs. 24,730 and Rs. 160, the cost per mile being Rs. 555-22, Rs. 71-88 and Rs. 17-77, respectively, including Rs. 2,773 and Rs. 4,254 for the construction of two new bridges and for repairs to important suspension bridges as stated above in paragraphs 6 and 7. A sum of Rs. 457-8 was spent for putting up sign-boards of a new pattern made of iron on certain roads.

9. Contribution to Forest Department.—Rupees 1,500 was contributed to the Deputy Conservator of Forests, Darjeeling Division, for the construction of a forest road from "Sandakphu to Ludma" in the district.

10. Loans.—No fresh loan was taken during the year. Principal Rs. 4,872-13-5 and interest Rs. 2,429-2-7 were paid during the year 1910-11 according to the terms of the loans granted by Government.

11. Public Works Establishment.—There was no District Engineer under this Road Committee. An Overseer and a peon were entertained under the Terai Branch Road Committee at Siliguri at a cost of Rs. 1,187-2-2, or 3-97 per cent. of the total outlay on work. The pay of the Overseer was Rs. 60 plus horse allowance of Rs. 20 and that of peon Rs. 7 per mensem. All the works in the hills and most part of those in the Terai were, as usual, executed by the members of the Committee and by the planters. The thanks of the Committee are due to them for their valuable assistance. The important suspension bridges were maintained by the Public Works Department at the cost of the Road Committee as in previous years.

12. Administration.—Under the District Road Committee there were two Branch Committees, viz., Kurseong and Terai. Mr. H. T. S. Forrest, the Deputy Commissioner, was ex-officio Chairman of the District Road Committee and of the Terai Branch Road Committee for the whole year. Mr. F. G. E. Piffard, the senior Deputy Collector, was the Vice-Chairman of the District Road Committee. Mr. J. Byrnes, the Subdivisional Officer, Kurseong, was the ex-officio Chairman of the Kurseong and Vice-Chairman of the Terai Branch Committees. Dr. A. D. Humphry, the Civil Medical Officer of Kurseong, was the Vice-Chairman of the Kurseong Branch Road Committee. The works of the District Road Committee as well as those of the Branch Committees were satisfactorily performed. The thanks of the Committee are due to the abovenamed gentlemen and other members of the Sadar and Branch Committees for the care and interest they took in their duties.

13. Audit of the Accounts.—The accounts up to June 1908 have been audited by the Examiner of Local Accounts, Bengal, and the members of the Audit Sub-Committee have audited the accounts for the whole year of 1910-11.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND OFFICE;

Darjeeling, 5th May 1911.

Extract from letter No. 579 J., dated the 15th June 1911, from H. J. MacINTOSH, Esq., I.C.S., Commissioner of the Chota Nagpur Division, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

2. I observe that only seven meetings were held during the year 1910-11 against nine in the preceding year. The Chairman reports that meetings were not held at monthly intervals as there was not always business to place before the Committee. I am unable to accept this explanation as satisfactory. Last year, it was pointed out to the Chairman that if the members of the Committee take proper interest in their work, it is hardly possible that sufficient business should not be forthcoming for their consideration and disposal. I am again drawing the attention of the Chairman to these remarks.

3. The average percentage of attendance of the members of the Committee at meetings was, however, more satisfactory, being 47·6 against 37·03 at the nine meetings in the previous year.

4. The Committee appear to have made good use of the funds at their disposal during the year, which closed with a credit balance of Rs. 4,796 against Rs. 14,303 in the preceding year.

Abstract of the Report by the Chairman, District Road Committee of Singhbhum, on the operations of the District Road Fund of the district for the year 1910-11.

(Vide letter No. 20 R.C., dated 19th May 1911, from A. W. Cook, Esq., I.C.S., Chairman, District Road Committee, Singhbhum, to the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpur Division.)

1. Working of the Committee.—There were 15 members of the Committee (five official and 10 non-official). Seven meetings were held during the year. The average percentage of attendance of the members of the Committee was 47·6 against 37·03 at nine meetings in the previous year. Meetings at monthly intervals were not held, as there was not always business to place before the Committee.

2. The Examiner of Local Accounts, Bengal, has audited the accounts up to February 1911, and the members of the audit Sub-Committee appointed under section 174 of the Cess Act have audited for the whole year.

RECEIPTS.

3. The road-cess was levied at the maximum rate of 6 pies in the rupee. The opening balance of the year was Rs. 14,303, and the total receipts from all sources amounted to Rs. 43,567. The total amount available for expenditure was thus Rs. 57,870, of which Rs. 53,074 was spent, leaving a credit balance of Rs. 4,796, which was less than one quarter's kist. Out of the said cash balance of Rs. 4,796, a sum of Rs. 2,023 was on account of security deposits not withdrawn by contractors within the year.

EXPENDITURE.

4. Original works—Communications.—During the year a sum of Rs. 24,358 was spent under this head. Out of the Rs. 5,000 received from Government for the construction of Inspection bungalows in the Kolhan Government estate, a sum of Rs. 4,425 was spent up to last year (1909-10) and the balance (Rs. 575) spent during the year.

5. Repairs—Communications.—The total expenditure on repairs was Rs. 9,981. Out of 32 unmetalled roads comprising a total length of 445 miles 7 furlongs and 204 yards, only 12 roads, comprising a total length of 183 miles, were maintained during the year, against 272 miles in the previous year.

6. The following statement shows the length of district roads (metalled, unmetalled and village roads), the amount spent on the maintenance of the roads, and the cost per mile:—

NOTE.—As shown in column 1 to 6 metalling 5 miles of the Jyotswa road has been completed this year at a cost of Rs. 12,344, including Rs. 5,741 spent in 1909-10. The cost in column 9 excludes Rs. 675 spent over a Kolhan bungalow completed this year.

No roads are maintained by the District Road Committee from Public Works funds.

7. Arboriculture.—270 new trees were planted during the year. These, together with 1,325 unestablished plants of the preceding year, were maintained at a cost of Rs. 366, the allotment being Rs. 350.

8. Nursery.—There are 4 nursery gardens. The garden at Chaibassa on the south bank of the Jubilee tank contains 500 plants, and that at Bhoya 25 plants.

9. No famine-relief works were done during the year.

10. The following statement compares the cost of maintenance during the year of several classes of roads with that of previous year and the average cost per mile.

Class.	Classification of district roads.	Length.		Expenditure incurred.		Average cost per mile.

11. The following table compares the revenue of the District Road Cess Committee (excluding opening balance and the amount under head "Suspense Account"), the expenditure incurred on original and repair works and the establishment employed on these works, as also the percentage of the total expenditure on works, including establishment, calculated on the revenue, with those of the two previous years:—

Extract from letter No. 496 L.S.-G., dated the 7th July 1911, from E. H. C. WALSH, Esq., I.C.S., Commissioner of the Bhagalpur Division, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

2. The closing balance which stood at the low figure of Rs. 8,232 in the preceding year, was raised to Rs. 16,255 in the year 1910-11.

3. The average percentage of attendance of the members of the Committee at meetings was 43·88 against 52·75 in the previous year. The falling-off in the attendance is to be regretted.

[Vide letter No. 192 P.W., dated 27th May 1911, from H. L. L. Allanson, Esq., I.C.S., Chairman of the District Road Committee of Sonthal Parganas, to the Commissioner of the Bhagalpur Division.]

Working of the Committee.—There was no change in the constitution of the Committee during the year. It consisted of 9 members, of whom 3 were ex-officio and the rest non-official. The latter consisted of landed proprietors or their managers. The Committee held 21 meetings during the year, against 18 in the previous year; of these 7 were special, 13 ordinary and one meeting had to be adjourned for want of a quorum. The average attendance of members was 4·40, against 4·23 in the year before, and the percentage of average attendance was 43·88 against 52·75. There was a slight improvement in the attendance of the members, but still it leaves much to be desired. The low attendance of the members was due to (1) one member absenting himself for six months on the ground of ill-health, (2) one vacancy in the membership not having been filled up till five months had elapsed, and (3) delay in the appointment of new members in place of two members who resigned in the course of the year.

RECEIPTS.

2. The year opened with a cash balance of Rs. 8,232. The total receipts of the Committee from all sources amounted to Rs. 1,55,988 and the expenditure to Rs. 1,47,960, leaving a closing balance of Rs. 16,255 at the end of the year. The balance includes Rs. 1,500, being private donation for a specific work and Rs. 2,700 being the unspent balance of Government grant and private subscription for constructing upper Primary school buildings in the district. The following table compares the receipts under several heads of the year with those in the previous year:—

Total	...	1,45,599	1,55,988

3. Land Revenue.—There is a considerable decrease in the receipt under Government grant owing to (1) the final withdrawal of the grant varying from Rs. 18,000 to Rs. 20,000 a year, hitherto made to the Committee out of the Provincial share of the Forest revenue accruing in the district, and (2) the falling-off (from Rs. 7,636 to Rs. 6,903) in the contribution for Miscellaneous public improvements in Government estates. Partly to make up the heavy loss of income under this head, the Committee received a grant of Rs. 10,000 from the accumulated funds of the Hirnpur and Sahabganj cattle markets.

4. Provincial rates.—The road cess was levied at the maximum rate of 6 pies in the rupee and the cess receipt during the year was better by Rs. 14,763 than the amount provided in the budget. The increase is due to the levy of cess on Ambar, Sultanabad and some petty estates, the valuation of which was completed during the year. The valuation work in the district is practically complete, and re-valuation of some estates has recently been started. It is not, however, expected that the income of the Committee will undergo any marked change in the near future from this source.

5. Law and Justice.—The large increase under the head "Fees, Fines, etc.," is due to the imposition of fines on several contractors, who either failed to complete their contracted works in time or did bad work.

6. Miscellaneous.—Rupees 37 credited to this head represents the amount realized from sale of agreement forms and the excess interest on the Provident Fund deposit withdrawn.

7. Civil Works.—There was a considerable increase in the income of the Committee from "Ferry tolls," and it is due partly to the realization of arrears due for the previous year and mainly to the effort of the Subdivisional Officer, Dumka, to sell the three ferries, Hijla, Bedia and Bijogpur under his management to some advantage. The receipt under "Staging Bungalows" fell much short of that realized in the previous year, and the decrease is due to the fact that in the year before a sum of Rs. 626 was realized on account of arrear rent from the Maheshpur estate. Rupees 1,628 was received during the year from private sources for specific works against Rs. 7,689 in the preceding year. Of this, Rs. 1,500 represents a voluntary donation made by Rai Mahabir Prasad Bahadur of Chapra for construction of a well in the Deoghur mela ground. This work, when completed, will prove of utmost utility to the large gathering of pilgrims visiting the place throughout the year, especially during the mela period, and the thanks of the committee are due to the Rai Bahadur for this token of his benevolence and public spirit. Of the balance, Rs. 70 was received from Mr. Grant of Dumka estate, for the remainder of his donation of Rs. 1,570 for the Ghormara bridge near Sahabganj, and Rs. 68 from Babu Tulsi Mandal of Deoghur for a culvert on the 30th mile of Dumka-Deoghur road.

8. The variation in the receipt under "Government grant" is not such as to call for any special remarks.

9. The small increase under "Other miscellaneous sub-heads" is purely incidental. There were larger collections under "rent of lands" sale of "stores and materials" and "sale-proceeds of trees, grass" etc., while there was a considerable decrease under "Miscellaneous proper."

EXPENDITURE.

11. Land revenue.—The total expenditure under this head was Rs. 28,043, against Rs. 32,112 in the previous year. There is a considerable decrease under "Original works" with a corresponding increase under "Repairs." In the preceding year, it was found necessary to curtail the usual maintenance allotment of the listed roads, in order to find money to pay for the several original works then in progress—a step that was inevitable owing to the withholding of the grant of Rs. 60,000 in 1908-09. The matter was partly set right during the year by making as much provision as possible for repair works by cutting down the allotment for original works to the narrowest limit possible. The increase under "Agricultural improvement" is due to the fact that the full allotment of Rs. 2,000 was not spent in the year before, the bulk of the money allotted remaining with the disbursing officers as unadjusted advances which had only been accounted for during the year. Several irrigation bandhs and tanks were either constructed or re-excavated in the Damin during the year. They will be very useful as irrigation works and indirectly help in improving the village water-supply. Rupees 137 spent under "Miscellaneous" consists of the amount paid on account of compensation for the land taken up for the extension of Borio Bazar and that paid for some boundary pillars for the Dumka Damin.

12. Provincial rates.—There was no expenditure under "Valuation charges" against Rs. 169 in the previous year.

13. Administration.—Rupees 1,595 was spent on account of "Establishment and contingencies" of the Committee's office, against Rs. 1,391 in the previous year. The increase is due to the permanent Accountant drawing higher salary having been employed throughout the year, while in the previous year he only worked for two months or so. There was no payment on account of grain compensation allowance during 1910-11. Rupees 25, was, however, paid for the first time as travelling allowance to one of the Committee's members.

14. Medical.—There are no medical institutions under the Committee. Rupees 77 was, however, spent through the Civil Surgeon, Dumka, on account of transit charges for the despatch of quinine packets from the district depot to mufassil vendors, in connection with the new scheme for popularising the sale of quinine in malarial tracts.

15. Veterinary charges.—Rupees 246 spent under this head, represents the Committee's annual contribution towards the travelling allowance of the Veterinary Assistant at Dumka, and the entertainment of an itinerant Veterinary Assistant at Sahabganj.

16. Superannuation allowance and pension.—There is only one pensioner under the Committee, and Rs. 240 was paid for his pension at the sanctioned rate of Rs. 20 per mensem. The decrease under "Provident Fund Contribution," is owing to the fact that, in the previous year, the contribution was paid on the back salary of certain officers confirmed in their respective appointments.

17. Stationery and Printing.—The fluctuation in the expenditure under this head is not such as to need any special remark.

18. Miscellaneous.—Rupees 294 was spent under this head: Rs. 260 paid to the District Engineer on account of his remuneration realized from the several Court of Wards' estates for the work done by him on their account, and the balance for the purchase of blank cheque-books for use in the Committee's office.

19. Civil Buildings New work.—Out of the total amount of Rs. 5,087 spent under this head, Rs. 4,078 was expended towards constructing Upper Primary School buildings, out of the grant placed at the disposal of the Committee by the Education Department, and the balance Rs. 1,009 towards re-roofing the Road office building with Kaniganj tiles.

20. Civil Buildings—Repairs.—Rupees 131 spent under this head was on account of annual repairs done to the Road Committee's Office building and godown.

21. Communication—New works.—The expenditure under this head amounts to Rs. 33,782 against Rs. 32,939 in the year before. Nearly two-thirds of the amount was spent on the works in progress from the preceding year, and the balance on the works started for the first time during the year. The works of most importance carried out during the year under "Land Revenue" and "Road Fund" are noted below with the amount spent on each—

LAND REVENUE

			Rs.
1.	Sahabganj-Banjhi road	...	6,074
2.	Constructing Bhora bridge	...	2,832
3.	Improving Mandro-Boarijore road	...	714
4.	Ditto Godda-Pirpaiti road	...	556
5.	Ditto Bahwa-Burhait road	...	2,806
6.	Ditto Tinpahar-Burhait road	...	665

ROAD FUND.

1.	Improving Amrapara-Muraroj road	...	4,075
2.	Ditto last five miles of Dumka-Pakour road	...	1,081
3.	Ditto Godda-Hansdiha road	...	4,864
4.	Ditto Dumka-Rampurhat road	...	767
5.	Constructing Ghormara bridge near Sahabganj	...	2,791
6.	Improving Dumka-Madhupur road	...	1,856
7.	Flood damage repairs to and extension of Hardia causeway	...	922
8.	Constructing Nanger bridge	...	1,370
9.	Improving Pakour-Hirunpur road	...	3,098
10.	Ditto Sanghata bridge	...	676

22. The general improvement effected in the communication during the year was in the nature of filling in the existing gaps by the construction of bridges and culverts, and graveling and stone-metalling worst portions of certain important roads, over which the traffic is very heavy. The important bridges completed are Ghormara, Nanger, Bhora and certain minor bridges on Dumka-Madhupur road, and those at Dehpur on Pakour-Hirunpur road, and two others on Amrapara-Muraroj road are in the course of construction. The Hardia causeway was almost completed during the year. The Godda-Hansdiha road has been gravelled throughout and bridged with the exception of two big gaps at Poraya and Ghunghusa. This is now one of the best roads in the district, and its importance may increase if the Bhagalpur-Bausi Railway reaches Hansdiha. The two unbridged rivers are likely to remain so for some time, especially the river at Poraya. It is not worth while considering the bridging of these rivers until the Railway comes to Hansdiha. The improvement of three Rajmahal roads, Sahabganj-Banjhi, Tinpahar-Borio and Bahwa-Burhait was continued and portions of them were stone-metalled during the year.

23. Communication—Repairs.—Rupees 41,687 was spent in the maintenance of the scheduled roads, against Rs. 34,109 in the previous year. The increase is due partly to the payment of the previous year's liabilities and partly to the larger allotments sanctioned for repairing the more important roads which were only partially repaired in the previous year for want of funds. The three new roads, namely—(1) Ramgarh-Hanadiha, (2) Shahabad-Bhagaya, (3) Baromaia-Assuboni were taken on to the district schedule. They were really not new at all, being old public roads, and were being maintained in a manner by the zamindars through whose estates and the rayats through whose villages they pass, except Bhagaya-Shahabad which was one of the listed Damin roads maintained formerly out of the Estate Improvement Fund. Of the 18 scheduled district roads, the one numbered 21, Kumrabad road was, as before, maintained by the zamindar of Beipatta. Of the others, the important ones were kept in thorough repairs for general traffic throughout the year and the unimportant kutcha roads in passable condition, as only fair weather tracks.

24. The total mileage of district roads were 888 against 852 in the previous year, the increase is due to the 3 new roads being added on to the schedule. Of this, 27½ miles were metalled and the rest unmetalled. The total number of scheduled village roads was the same as in the previous year, with a total mileage of 38. Besides the four scheduled village roads, the non-scheduled Damin roads were also maintained in proper repair as far as funds would permit. The expenditure on repair is classified in the following table:—

DISTRICT.	CIVIL BUILDINGS.			COMMUNICATION.
	Government Buildings.	Other buildings.	Total buildings.	DISTRICT ROADS.			VILLAGE ROADS.			ROADS IN GOVERNMENT ESTATES.			Other repairs.	Total communication.	Miscellaneous repairs.	Total repairs.

25. Railway feeder roads.—The Railway feeder roads in the district under improvement are (a) Sahegunj-Banjhi road, (b) Tinpahar-Borio road, (c) Bahwa-Burhait road, (d) Pakour-Hirunpur road, (e) Amrapara Murarui road and (f) Dumka Rampurhat road. These roads are being improved with cutting side drains, banking and bridging where necessary, and being gravelled or stone-metalled gradually as funds permit. They will be of great public utility when completed.

26. Famine Relief.—No famine relief works were taken up during the year, no necessity arising.

27. Establishment.—The expenditure was Rs. 23,413 against Rs. 24,108 in the previous year. The decrease is mainly due to no temporary establishment being maintained during the year, while 2 temporary Sub-Overseers were employed throughout the previous year to look after the original works. The following table shows the amount spent on establishment and the percentage of its cost on the expenditure on Civil works:—

YEAR.	Outlay on works.	Outlay on establishment employed on works.	Percentage.
1909-10	Rs. 1,00,896	Rs. 24,483	Rs. 24.39
1910-11	1,09,642(a)	23,413	21.36

(a) Land Revenue including miscellaneous ... Rs. 27,906
 Civil Buildings ... 5,218
 Communication, including arboriculture ... 74,554
 Water-supply and other works ... 654
 Total ... 1,09,642

28. Petty Establishment.—Rupees 838 was spent on account of cost of establishment and contingencies of the three ddk bungalows under the Committee at Dumka, Rajmahal and Sahegunj.

29. Village sanitation.—Rupees 60 was paid to the Sanitation Committee, Rajmahal, as the Committee's annual contribution for sanitary works in Rajmahal town. The village sanitation in the district was, on the whole, satisfactory. The country being undulating, special sanitary arrangements are not very necessary except in low-lying tracts in Pakour and Rajmahal. The people generally, specially the Sonthals themselves, look to the removal of village refuse. The Subdivisional Officers in the district generally look after the village sanitation, while on tour. The financial condition of the District Road Fund with increasing needs of improved communication, does not admit of any special grant being made for improvement of the village sanitation. All that the Committee can do and are doing is to help it indirectly by supply of comparatively pure water from the wells, bandhs, tanks, either newly excavated or improved by re excavation.

30. Tools and plant.—The expenditure under this head was Rs. 716 against Rs. 848 in the previous year.

31. Arboriculture.—Rupees 595 was spent on arboriculture mainly in making gabions to protect young plants: 10 malis were entertained throughout the year to carry out the plantings and look after the old plants still under protection. Besides, 32 Damin Bungalow mali-chaukidars also helped in the arboricultural work, in addition to their duties as Bungalow chaukidars. The nurseries exist at suitable intervals along the principal roads, in most cases within the compounds of Inspection and the Damin Bungalows, each being in charge of a mali. 1,950 young plants were planted during the year all of which are being protected by some sort of guards. No definite working plan was followed as none has yet been prepared for the district. On the whole arboriculture is more or less of a failure.

32. Water supply and water works.—Rupees 265 was spent in sinking a well at Rasikpur, a suburb of Dumka, when there was an epidemic of cholera, in order to provide a supply of wholesome water to the locality. Rupees 190 was spent in clearing silt of three old Moghul wells at Sirsi, Nawabdehri and Moghulghat in Rajmahal, out of the special grant sanctioned by the Commissioner. They will greatly benefit the Adi people, neighbouring villagers and the public in general. Besides, Rs. 4,313 was spent under "Land Revenue," in sinking wells, excavating new tanks and bandhs, and improving the existing ones in the Damin Government estates. The supply of water is sufficient throughout the district except a few villages in Dumka and Pakour subdivisions, and the existing sources are enough for the ordinary purposes.

A statement showing the thana totals of water-supply (Form No. 1) for the several subdivisions is given below.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depot and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge, Bengal Secretariat Book Depot, Calcutta,

the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

Advertisements.

LAND SALE NOTICE.

Advertisement of Sale.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned estates situate in the district of Jessore will be put up to sale at the Jhenidah Subdivisional Office on the 6th December 1911, corresponding with 19th Agra-hayan 1318.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale:—

Conditions of Sale.

- 1st.—The estate to be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price, which will be fixed by the Collector at the time of sale. The purchaser of this estate will be considered as the proprietor of the estate, and the entire proprietary right of Government in such estate will be transferred to him subject to the revenue fixed in perpetuity.
- 2nd.—The conditions regarding the payment of a land-revenue fixed in perpetuity are not applicable to estates in temporarily-settled districts in which the land revenue should be fixed for the term of the current settlement and be subject to periodical revisions on expiry of each settlement. In the case of an estate situated in permanently-settled areas and yielding an annual rental of less than Rs. 1, there should be no condition regarding payment of land revenue.
- 3rd.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings, and by the laws in force; and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the Revenue authorities.
- 4th.—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.
- 5th.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or, if that day be a close holiday, then by the noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale is to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depot and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge Bengal Secretariat Book Depot, Calcutta,

or

the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or

the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Director of Government Works, United Provinces at Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

Advertisements.

LAND SALE NOTICE.

Advertisement of Sale.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned estates situate in the district of Jessore will be put up to sale at the Jhenidah Subdivisional Office on the 5th December 1911, corresponding with 18th Agrahayan 1318.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale:—

Conditions of Sale.

- 1st.—The estate to be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price, which will be fixed by the Collector at the time of sale. The purchaser of this estate will be considered as the proprietor of the estate, and the entire proprietary right of Government in such estate will be transferred to him subject to the revenue fixed in perpetuity.
- 2nd.—The conditions regarding the payment of a land-revenue fixed in perpetuity are not applicable to estates in temporarily-settled districts in which the land revenue should be fixed for the term of the current settlement and be subject to periodical revisions on expiry of each settlement. In the case of an estate situated in permanently-settled area and yielding an annual rental of less than Rs. 1, there should be no condition regarding payment of land revenue.
- 3rd.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings, and by the laws in force; and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the Revenue authorities.
- 4th.—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.
- 5th.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or, if that day be a close holiday, then by the noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale is to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depot; and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge, Bengal Secretariat Book Depot, Calcutta, or the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

APPENDIX XXIII.

Advertisement of Sale.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of land, no longer required by Government, situated along the Banks ghat siding of the East Indian Railway, in the district of Patna, will be put up to sale at 12 o'clock on Monday, 28th January 1912, corresponding with the 4th Magh 1319 Fash, at the Patna Collector's office. The purchasers of the several plots of land will be subject to the following conditions:—

- 1st.—The purchasers will have no power to make any excavations on the land nearer than 15 feet from the railway fencing, or to plough the land nearer than 3 feet from the same.
- 2nd.—If the amount of purchase-money does not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount must be paid down at once.
- 3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount must be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the 15th day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale shall be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the lot again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.
- 4th.—The plots of land will be sold revenue-free to the highest bidders.
- 5th.—The purchasers shall be put in possession on receipt by the Collector the orders of the Board confirming the sale.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depot; and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge, Bengal Secretariat Book Depot, Calcutta, or the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or

the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces at Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depot; and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—

The Officer in charge, Bengal Secretariat Book Depot, Calcutta, or the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or
the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Controller of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALIABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depot; and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge, Bengal Secretariat Book Depot, Calcutta;

or

the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

APPENDIX XXIII.

Advertisement of Sale.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of land, no longer required by Government, situated along the Banka ghat siding of the East Indian Railway, in the district of Patna, will be put up to sale at 12 o'clock on Monday, 8th January 1912, corresponding with the 4th Magh 1319 B.S., at the Patna Collector's office.

The purchasers of the several plots of land will be subject to the following conditions:—

- 1st.—The purchasers will have no power to make any excavations on the land nearer than 15 feet from the railway fencing, or to plough the land nearer than 3 feet from the same.
- 2nd.—If the amount of purchase-money does not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount must be paid down at once.
- 3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount must be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the 15th day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale shall be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the lot again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.
- 4th.—The plots of land will be sold revenue-free to the highest bidder.
- 5th.—The purchasers shall be put in possession on receipt by the Collector of the orders of the Board confirming the sale.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published on FOUR SERIES, viz.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depot; and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge, Bengal Secretariat Book Depot, Calcutta,

or
the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or
the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

Acts of the Bengal Legislative Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Acts, passed by the Legislative Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, received the assent of His Honour on the 16th August, 1911, and, having been assented to by His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General on the 1st September, 1911, are hereby published for general information:—

BENGAL ACT No. III of 1911.

An Act to transfer functions of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

WHEREAS the Governor General in Council has, with the approval of the Secretary of State in Council, by Proclamation No. 5278, dated the 18th November, 1910, made under section 8 of the Indian Councils Act, 1909, created a Council for the purpose of assisting the Lieutenant-Governor in the executive government of the Province of Bengal; Sd/- Secy.

And whereas it is expedient to direct that the functions of the Lieutenant-Governor under enactments made by authorities in British India shall, with certain exceptions, be discharged by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council;

And whereas the sanction of the Governor General has been obtained, under section 5 of the Indian Councils Act, 1892, to the passing of this Act;

Vol. 2, p. 14

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Bengal Local Government Act, 1911.

Discharge of functions of Lieutenant-Governor by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

2. All functions of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal under any enactment made by any authority in British India, or under any notification, order, scheme, rule, by-law or form issued, made or prescribed under any such enactment, shall be discharged by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council:

Provided that the Lieutenant-Governor may, by written order, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, direct that any such function shall be discharged by the Lieutenant-Governor personally.

Signature of orders and proceedings.

3. (1) Save in cases where an officer is specially empowered by or under any enactment other than this Act to sign an order of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council or the Lieutenant-Governor in Council or the Lieutenant-Governor shall be signed by a Secretary, Deputy Secretary, Under-Secretary or Assistant Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

(2) Every order and proceeding so signed shall be presumed to have been issued in conformity with—

(a) section 2, or

(b) the orders made by the Lieutenant-Governor under the proviso to that section, or

(c) the rules and orders made by the Lieutenant-Governor, with the consent of the Governor-General in Council, under section 3, sub-section (3), of the Indian Councils Act, 1909, for the more convenient transaction of business in his Executive Council, as the case may be.

Validation of past orders and proceedings.

4. (Chapter II.—The Board of Trustees.—Constitution of the Board.—Sections 8, 9.)

(3) The member of the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce referred to in clause (e) of section 4 shall be elected by that Chamber.

(4) The Secretary to the Corporation, the Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and the Secretary to the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce shall respectively make a return, in duplicate, to the Chairman, setting forth the name in full of every person elected under this section; and the said return shall be published by notification under the signature of the Chairman.

Appointment in default of election.

8. If any of the bodies of electors referred to in section 7 does not, by such date as may be prescribed by rule made in that behalf under section 137, elect a person to be a Trustee, the Local Government shall, by notification, appoint a person belonging to such body to be a Trustee; and any person so appointed shall be deemed to be a Trustee as if he had been duly elected by such body.

Disqualifications for being appointed or elected a Trustee.

9. (1) A person shall be disqualified for being appointed or elected a Trustee if he—

- (a) has been sentenced by any Court for any non-bailable offence, such sentence not having been subsequently reversed or quashed, and such person's disqualification on account of such sentence not having been removed by an order which the Local Government is hereby empowered to make, if it thinks fit, in this behalf; or
- (b) is an undischarged insolvent; or
- (c) holds any office or place of profit under the Board; or
- (d) has, directly or indirectly, by himself or by any partner, employer or employé, any share or interest in any contract or employment with, by, or on behalf of, the Board, or
- (e) is a director, or a secretary, manager or other salaried officer, of any incorporated company which has any share or interest in any contract or employment with, by, or on behalf of, the Board.

(2) But a person shall not be disqualified as aforesaid, or be deemed to have any share or interest in such contract or employment as aforesaid, by reason only of his having a share or interest in—

- (i) any sale, purchase, lease or exchange of land, or any agreement for the same; or
- (ii) any agreement for the loan of money, or any security for the payment of money only; or
- (iii) any newspaper in which any advertisement relating to the affairs of the Board is inserted; or
- (iv) the occasional sale to the Board, to a value not exceeding two thousand rupees in any one financial year, of any article in which he trades; or by reason only of his having a share or interest, otherwise than as director, or secretary, manager or other salaried officer, in any incorporated company which has any share or interest in any contract or employment with, by, or on behalf of, the Board.

(Chapter II.—The Board of Trustees.—Constitution of the Board.—Sections 10—13.)

The Chairman to be a whole-time officer.

10. While any person is holding the office of Chairman he shall not hold any other salaried office, and, subject to any exceptions permitted by the Local Government, shall devote his whole time and attention to his duties under this Act.

Remuneration of Chairman.

11. (1) The Chairman shall receive such monthly salary, not exceeding three thousand rupees, as may be fixed by the Local Government:

Provided that, if the Chairman, after having held his office for three years, is re-appointed for a further term of not less than two years, the Local Government may direct that his monthly salary be increased to any sum not exceeding three thousand five hundred rupees.

(2) The word "salary," as used in this section, excludes allowances to which the Chairman may be entitled and any contribution payable on his account under any general or special orders of the Government for regulating the transfer of Government servants to foreign service.

(3) The Local Government may, if it thinks fit, direct the payment to the Chairman of a house-rent and conveyance allowance, not exceeding five hundred rupees per mensem, in addition to his salary.

Leave absence or deputation of the Chairman.

12. (1) The Local Government may, after consultation with the Board, grant leave of absence to the Chairman, or depute him to other duties, for such period as it thinks fit.

(2) The allowance (if any) to be paid to the Chairman while absent on leave or deputation shall be such amount, not exceeding his salary, as may be fixed by the Local Government:

Provided that, if the Chairman is a Government officer, the amount of such allowance shall be such as he may be entitled to under any general or special orders of the Government for regulating the transfer of Government servants to foreign service.

Appointment, etc., of acting Chairman.

13. (1) Whenever the Chairman is granted leave of absence or deputed to other duties, the Local Government may appoint a person to act as Chairman.

(2) The salary and house-rent and conveyance allowance (if any) of any person appointed to act as Chairman shall be fixed by the Local Government, subject to the provisions of section 11.

Sections 14—17.)

(3) Any person appointed to act as Chairman shall exercise the powers and perform the duties conferred and imposed by and under this Act, on the Chairman, and shall be subject to the same liabilities, restrictions and conditions as the Chairman.

14. The Board may permit any Trustee, other than the Chairman or the Chairman of the Corporation, to absent himself from meetings of the Board for any period not exceeding six months.

15. (1) The Local Government may, by notification, declare that any Trustee shall cease to be a Trustee—

- (a) if he has acted in contravention of section 23, or
- (b) if he has been absent from, or is unable to attend, the meetings of the Board for any period exceeding six consecutive months, or
- (c) if he has, without the permission of the Board, been absent from the meetings of the Board for any period exceeding three consecutive months, or
- (d) if he is a salaried servant of the Government, and if his continuance in office as a Trustee is, in the opinion of the Local Government, undesirable.

(2) The Local Government shall, by notification, declare that a Trustee shall cease to be a Trustee—

- (i) if he has become disqualified for appointment or election as a Trustee for any of the reasons mentioned in section 9; or
- (ii) if he was elected or appointed as being a member of the Corporation, the Bengal Chamber of Commerce or the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce, and if he is, at the date of such notification, no longer a member of the Corporation or such Chamber, as the case may be.

(3) If at any time it appears to the Local Government that the Chairman has shown himself to be unsuitable for his office, or has been guilty of any misconduct or neglect which renders his removal expedient, it may, by notification, declare that the Chairman shall cease to hold office as such.

16. If any Trustee be permitted by the Board to absent himself from meetings of the Board for any period exceeding three months, or if any Trustee, other than the Chairman of the Corporation, dies, or resigns the office of Trustee, or ceases to hold the office of Trustee in pursuance of a notification published under section 15, the vacancy shall be filled, within one month, by a fresh appointment or election under section 5, section 7 or section 8, as the case may be.

17. (1) The term of office of the first Trustees appointed or elected under section 5, section 7 or section 8, other than the Chairman, shall commence on such day as may be appointed by the Local Government.

Sections 18—20.)

(8) Subject to the provisions of section 15, the term of office of Trustees (other than the Chairman of the Corporation) shall be as follows:—

- (a) the Chairman—such period, not less than three years, as may be fixed by the Local Government;
- (b) a Trustee appointed or elected in pursuance of section 16 in the place of a Trustee who has been permitted to absent himself from meetings of the Board—the period of the absence of the latter Trustee;
- (c) other Trustees—three years.

(9) Any Trustee shall, if not disqualified for any of the reasons mentioned in section 9, be eligible for re-appointment or re-election at the end of his term of office.

Conduct of Business.

Meetings of Board.

18. The Board shall meet, and shall from time to time make such arrangements with respect to the place, day, hour, notice, management and adjournment of their meetings, as they may think fit, subject to the following provisions, namely:—

- (a) an ordinary meeting shall be held once at least in every month;
- (b) the Chairman may, whenever he thinks fit, and shall, upon the written request of not less than two other Trustees, call a special meeting;
- (c) the Chairman shall attend every meeting of the Board unless absent on leave or prevented by sickness or other reasonable cause;
- (d) no business shall be transacted at any meeting unless at least half of the existing number of the Trustees are present from the beginning to the end of the meeting;
- (e) the person to preside at a meeting shall be the Chairman, or, in his absence from any meeting, the Trustees present shall choose one of their number to preside;
- (f) all questions shall be decided by a majority of votes of the Trustees present, the person presiding having a second or casting vote in all cases of equality of votes;
- (g) if a poll be demanded, the names of the Trustees voting, and the nature of their votes, shall be recorded by the person presiding;
- (h) minutes of the names of the Trustees present, and of the proceedings, at each meeting shall be kept in a book to be provided for the purpose, which shall be signed at the next ensuing meeting by the person presiding at such meeting and shall be open to inspection by any Trustee during office hours.

Temporary association of members with the Board for particular purposes.

19. (1) The Board may associate with themselves, in such manner and for such period as may be prescribed by rules made under section 138, any persons whose assistance or advice they may desire in carrying out any of the provisions of this Act.

(2) A person associated with themselves by the Board under sub-section (1) for any purpose shall have a right to take part in the discussions of the Board relative to that purpose, but shall not have a right to vote at a meeting of the Board, and shall not be a member of the Board for any other purpose.

Constitution and functions of Committees.

20. (1) The Board may from time to time appoint Committees, consisting of such persons of any of the following classes as they may think fit, namely:—

- (i) Trustees,
- (ii) persons associated with the Board under section 19,
- (iii) other persons whose assistance or advice the Board may desire as members of Committees;

Sections 21—23.)

Provided that no Committee shall consist of less than three persons.

(2) The Board may—

(a) refer to such Committees, for inquiry and report, any matter relating to any of the purposes of this Act, and

(b) delegate to such Committees, by specific resolution, and subject to any rules made under section 186, any of the powers or duties of the Board.

(3) The Board may at any time dissolve, or, subject to the provisions of sub-section (1), alter the constitution of, any such Committee.

(4) Every such Committee shall conform to any instruction from time to time given to them by the Board.

(5) All proceedings of any such Committee shall be subject to confirmation by the Board.

Meetings of Committees.

21. (1) Committees appointed under section 20 may meet and adjourn as they think proper; but the Chairman may, whenever he thinks fit, call a special meeting of any Committee, and shall call a special meeting of any Committee upon the written request of not less than two members thereof.

(2) The person to preside at a meeting of a Committee shall be the Chairman, if he is a member of the Committee, or, if he is not a member, then the members present shall choose one of their number to preside.

(3) No business shall be transacted at any meeting of a Committee unless at least half the number of the members of the Committee are present from the beginning to the end of the meeting.

(4) All questions at any meeting of a Committee shall be decided by a majority of votes of the members present, the person presiding having a second or casting vote in all cases of equality of votes.

Fees for attendance at meetings.

22. Every Trustee (other than the Chairman), and every person associated with the Board under section 19, shall be entitled to receive a fee of twenty rupees, and every member of a Committee shall be entitled to receive a fee of ten rupees, for each meeting of the Board or the Committee—

(i) at which a quorum is present and business is transacted, and

(ii) which he attends from the beginning to the end thereof or for such period as the person presiding at the meeting may consider sufficient to justify the payment of the fee:

Provided that the aggregate amount of fees payable to any person in respect of meetings of any kind held during any month shall not exceed such sum as may be prescribed by any rule made under section 187 in this behalf.

Trustees and associated members of Board or Committee not to take part in proceedings in which they are personally interested.

23. (1) A Trustee who—

(a) has, directly or indirectly, by himself or by any partner, employer or employé, any such share or interest as is described in sub-section (2) of section 9, in respect of any matter, or

(b) has acted professionally, in relation to any matter, on behalf of any person having therein any such share or interest as aforesaid, shall not vote or take any other part in any proceeding of the Board or any Committee relating to such matter.

Sections 24—26.)*

(2) ■ any Trustee, or any person associated with the Board under section 19, or any other member of a Committee appointed under this Act, has, directly or indirectly, any beneficial interest in any land situated in an area comprised in any improvement scheme framed under this Act, or in an area in which it is proposed to acquire land for any of the purposes of this Act,—

- (i) he shall, before taking part in any proceeding at a meeting of the Board or any Committee relating to such area, inform the person presiding at the meeting of the nature of such interest,
- (ii) he shall not vote at any meeting of the Board or any Committee upon any resolution or question relating to such land, and
- (iii) he shall not take any other part in any proceeding at a meeting of the Board or any Committee relating to such area if the person presiding at the meeting considers it inexpedient that he should do so.

Power to make and perform contracts.

24. The Board may enter into and perform all such contracts as they may consider necessary or expedient for carrying out any of the purposes of this Act.

Execution of contracts and approval of estimates.

25. (1) Every such contract shall be made on behalf of the Board by the Chairman :

Provided that—

- (a) a contract involving an expenditure exceeding one thousand rupees and not exceeding one lakh of rupees shall not be made by the Chairman without the previous sanction of the Board; and
- (b) a contract involving an expenditure exceeding one lakh of rupees shall not be made by the Chairman without the previous sanction of the Board and the Local Government.

(2) Every estimate for the expenditure of any sum for carrying out any of the purposes of this Act shall be subject to the approval of the authority who is empowered by sub-section (1) to make or sanction the making of a contract involving the expenditure of a like sum.

(3) Sub-sections (1) and (2) shall apply to every variation or abandonment of a contract or estimate, as well as to an original contract or estimate.

Further provisions as to execution of contracts, and provisions as to seal of Board.

26. (1) Every contract made by the Chairman on behalf of the Board shall be entered into in such manner and form as would bind the Chairman if such contract were made on his own behalf, except that the common seal of the Board shall be used (where necessary); and every such contract may in the like manner and form be varied or discharged.

(2) Every contract for the execution of any work or the supply of any materials or goods which will involve an expenditure exceeding one thousand rupees shall be in writing, and shall be sealed.

(3) The common seal of the Board shall remain in the custody of the Secretary to the Board, and shall not be affixed to any contract or other instrument except in the presence of a Trustee (other than the Chairman), who shall attach his signature to the contract or instrument in token that the same was sealed in his presence.

(4) The signature of the said Trustee shall be in addition to the signature of any witness to the execution of such contract or instrument.

(5) A contract not executed as provided in this section shall not be binding on the Board.

Officers and servants.—Sections 27—30.)*

Tenders.

27. (1) At least seven days before the Chairman enters into any contract for the execution of any work or the supply of any materials or goods which will involve an expenditure exceeding one thousand rupees, he shall give notice by advertisement in local newspapers inviting tenders for such contract.

(2) In every such case the Chairman shall place before the Board the specifications, conditions and estimates and all the tenders received, specifying the particular tender (if any) which he proposes to accept.

(3) In every case in which the acceptance of a tender would involve an expenditure exceeding one lakh of rupees, the Board shall submit to the Local Government the specifications, conditions and estimates, and all the tenders received, specifying the particular tender (if any) the acceptance of which they propose to sanction.

(4) Neither the Board nor the Local Government shall be bound to sanction the acceptance of any tender which has been made; but the Board, within the pecuniary limits of their powers, as prescribed in section 25, sub-section (1), or the Local Government, may sanction the acceptance of any of such tenders which appears to them, upon a view of all the circumstances, to be the most advantageous, or may direct the rejection of all the tenders submitted to them.

*Security for
of contract.*

28. The Chairman shall take sufficient security for the due performance of every contract involving an expenditure exceeding one thousand rupees.

Supply of documents and information to the Government.

29. (1) The Chairman shall forward to the Local Government a copy of the minutes of the proceedings of each meeting of the Board, within ten days from the date on which the minutes of the proceedings of such meeting were signed as prescribed in section 18, clause (4).

(2) If the Local Government so directs in any case, the Chairman shall forward to it a copy of all papers which were laid before the Board for consideration at any meeting.

(3) The Local Government may require the Chairman to furnish it with—

- (a) any return, statement, estimate, statistics or other information regarding any matter under the control of the Board, or
- (b) a report on any such matter, or
- (c) a copy of any document in the charge of the Chairman.

Officers and servants.

*Statement of strength and remuneration
of staff.*

30. The Board shall from time to time prepare, and shall maintain, a statement showing—

- (a) the number, designations and grades of the officers and servants (other than employes who are paid by the day or whose pay is charged to temporary work) whom they consider it necessary and proper to employ for the purposes of this Act,
- (b) the amount and nature of the salary, fees and allowances to be paid to each such officer and servant, and
- (c) the contributions payable under section 146 in respect of each such officer and servant.

(Chapter II.—The Board of Trustees.—Officers and Servants.— Sections 31—34.)

Board to make rules. 31. The Board shall from time to time make rules—

- (a) fixing the amount and nature of the security to be furnished by any officer or servant of the Board from whom it may be deemed expedient to require security;
- (b) for regulating the grant of leave of absence, leave-allowances and acting-allowances to the officers and servants of the Board; and
- (c) for establishing and maintaining a provident or annuity fund, for compelling all or any of the officers or servants of the Board (other than any servant of the Government in respect of whom a contribution is paid under section 146) to contribute to such fund, at such rates and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed by such rules, and for supplementing such contributions out of the funds of the Board:

Provided that a Government servant employed as an officer or servant of the Board shall not be entitled to leave or leave-allowances otherwise than as may be prescribed in any general or special orders of the Government for regulating the transfer of Government servants to foreign service.

Power of appointment, etc.,
in whom vested. 32. Subject to any directions contained in any statement prepared under section 30 and any rules made under section 31, and for the time being in force, the power of appointing, promoting and granting leave to officers and servants of the Board, and reducing, suspending or dismissing them for misconduct, and dispensing with their services for any reason other than misconduct, shall be vested—

- (a) in the case of officers and servants whose monthly salary does not exceed three hundred rupees—in the Chairman, and
- (b) in other cases—in the Board:

Provided that any officer or servant in receipt of a monthly salary exceeding one hundred rupees who is reduced, suspended or dismissed by the Chairman may appeal to the Board, whose decision shall be final.

Sanction of Local Government required to certain statements, rules and orders. 33. (a) All statements prepared under section 30, so far as they relate to officers carrying a salary of more than one thousand rupees per mensem,

(b) all rules made under clause (b) or clause (c) of section 31, and

(c) all orders passed by the Board under section 32, and relating to any officer appointed to hold an office carrying a salary of more than one thousand rupees per mensem, except orders granting leave to, or suspending, any such officer, shall be subject to the previous sanction of the Local Government.

Control
by Chairman. 34. The Chairman shall exercise supervision and control over the acts and proceedings of all officers and servants of the Board; and, subject to the foregoing sections, shall dispose of all questions relating to the service of the said officers and servants, and their pay, privileges and allowances.

(Chapter II.—The Board of Trustees.—Officers and Servants.—

Chapter III.—Improvement Schemes and Re-housing Schemes.—Sections 35, 36.)

Delegation of certain of
functions.

35. (1) The Chairman may, by general or special order in writing, delegate to any officer of the Board any of the Chairman's powers, duties or functions under this Act or any rule made hereunder, except those conferred or imposed upon or vested in him by sections 18, 21, 29, 55, 103, 112, 116, 118, 154 and 158:

Provided as follows:—

- (a) the Chairman shall not delegate his power under section 25 to make on behalf of the Board any contract involving an expenditure exceeding one thousand rupees;
- (b) the Chairman shall not delegate his power under section 32 to make appointments to offices carrying a salary of more than one hundred rupees per annum;
- (c) the Chairman shall not delegate to any officer his power under section 32 to grant leave to, or to reduce, suspend, dismiss, or dispenise with the services of, any employé, unless such employé was appointed by such officer by virtue of a delegation of the Chairman's powers of appointment conferred by that section

(2) The exercise or discharge by any officer of any powers, duties or functions delegated to him under sub-section (1) shall be subject to such conditions and limitations (if any) as may be prescribed in the said order, and also to control and revision by the Chairman.

CHAPTER III.—IMPROVEMENT SCHEMES AND RE-HOUSING SCHEMES.

When general improvement scheme
may be framed.

36. Whenever it appears to the Board, whether upon an official representation made under section 37 or without such a representation,—

- (a) that any buildings in any area which are used, or are intended or are likely to be used, as dwelling-places, are unfit for human habitation, or
- (b) that danger to the health of the inhabitants of buildings in any area, or in any neighbouring buildings, is caused by—
  - (i) the narrowness, closeness and bad arrangement and condition of streets or buildings or groups of buildings in such area, or
  - (ii) the want of light, air, ventilation or proper conveniences in such area, or
  - (iii) any other sanitary defects in such area, and that the most satisfactory method of dealing with the evils connected with such buildings and the sanitary defects in such area is a general improvement scheme for the re-arrangement and re-construction of the streets and buildings, or some of them, within such area, the Board may pass a resolution to the effect that such area is an unhealthy area, and that a general improvement scheme ought to be framed in respect of such area, and may then proceed to frame such a scheme.

Sections 37—39.)

Authority for making an official representation for a general improvement scheme.

37. (1) An official representation referred to in section 36 may be made by the Corporation—

- (a) of their own motion, or
- (b) on a written complaint by the Health Officer of the Corporation; or
- (c) in respect of any area comprised in a municipal ward,— on a written complaint signed by twenty-five or more residents of such ward who are liable to pay either the owner's share or the occupier's share of the consolidated rate leviable under the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899.

San. Act III of 1899.

(2) If the Corporation decide not to make an official representation on any complaint made to them under clause (b) or clause (c), they shall cause a copy of such complaint to be sent to the Board, with a statement of the reasons for their decision.

Consideration of official representations.

38. (1) The Board shall consider every official representation made under section 37, and, if satisfied as to the truth thereof and as to the sufficiency of their resources, shall decide whether a general improvement scheme to carry such representation into effect should be framed forthwith or not, and shall forthwith intimate their decision to the Corporation.

(2) If the Board decide that it is not necessary or expedient to frame a general improvement scheme forthwith, they shall inform the Corporation of the reasons for their decision.

(3) If the Board fail, for a period of twelve months after the receipt of any official representation made under section 37, to intimate their decision thereon to the Corporation, or if the Board intimate to the Corporation their decision that it is not necessary or expedient to frame a general improvement scheme forthwith, the Corporation may, if they think fit, refer the matter to the Local Government.

(4) The Local Government shall consider every reference made to it under sub-section (3), and

- (a) if it considers that the Board ought, under all the circumstances, to have passed a decision within the period mentioned in sub-section (3), shall direct the Board to pass a decision within such further period as the Local Government may think reasonable, or
- (b) if it considers that it is, under all the circumstances, expedient that a scheme should forthwith be framed, shall direct the Board to proceed forthwith to frame a scheme.

(5) The Board shall comply with every direction given by the Local Government under sub-section (4).

When street scheme may be framed.

39. Whenever the Board are of opinion that, for the purpose

- (a) providing building-sites, or
- (b) remedying defective ventilation, or
- (c) creating new, or improving existing, means of communication and facilities for traffic, or
- (d) affording better facilities for conservancy, it is expedient to lay out new streets or to alter existing streets (including bridges, canseways and culverts), the Board may pass a resolution to that effect, and shall then proceed to frame a street scheme for such area as they may think fit.

Sections 40—48.)

Matters to be considered when framing improvement
schemes.

40. When framing an improvement scheme in respect of any area, regard shall be had to—

- (a) the nature and the conditions of neighbouring areas and of Calcutta as a whole;
- (b) the several directions in which the expansion of Calcutta appears likely to take place; and
- (c) the likelihood of improvement schemes being required for other parts of Calcutta.

Matters which must be provided for in improvement
schemes.

41. Every improvement scheme shall provide for—

- (a) the acquisition by the Board of any land, in the area comprised in the scheme, which will, in their opinion, be required for the execution of the scheme;
- (b) the laying out or re-laying out of the land in the said area;
- (c) such demolition, alteration or reconstruction of buildings, situated on land which it is proposed to acquire in the said area, as the Board may think necessary;
- (d) the construction of any buildings which the Board may consider it necessary to erect for any purpose other than sale or hire;
- (e) the laying out or alteration of streets (including bridges, causeways and culverts), if required; and
- (f) the levelling, paving, metalling, flagging, channelling, sewerage and draining of the said streets, and the provision therein of water, lighting and other sanitary conveniences ordinarily provided in a Municipality.

Matters which may be provided for in improvement
schemes.

42. Any improvement scheme may provide for—

- (a) the acquisition by the Board of any land, in the area comprised in the scheme, which will, in their opinion, be affected by the execution of the scheme;
- (b) raising, lowering or levelling any land in the area comprised in the scheme;
- (c) the formation or retention of open spaces; and
- (d) any other matters, consistent with this Act, which the Board may think fit.

Preparation, publication and transmission of notice as in improvement scheme, and supply of documents to applicants.

43. (1) When any improvement scheme has been framed, the Board shall prepare a notice, stating—

- (a) the fact that the scheme has been framed,
- (b) the boundaries of the area comprised in the scheme, and
- (c) the place at which particulars of the scheme, a map of the area comprised in the scheme, and a statement of the land which it is proposed to acquire, may be seen at reasonable hours.

(2) The Board shall—

- (i) cause the said notice to be published weekly for three consecutive weeks in the Calcutta Gazette and in local newspapers, with a statement of the period within which objections will be received, and
- (ii) send a copy of the notice to the Chairman of the Corporation and to the Chairman of any Municipality constituted under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, in which any portion of the area comprised in the

(Chapter III.—Improvement Schemes and Re-housing Schemes.—Sections 44—47.)

(3) The Chairman shall cause copies of all documents referred to in clause (c) of sub-section (1) to be delivered to any applicant on payment of such fee as may be prescribed by rule made under section 138.

Transmission to Board of representation by Corporation or Municipality as to improvement scheme.

44. The Chairman of the Corporation, and the Chairman of any Municipality to whom a copy of a notice has been sent under clause (a) of section 43, shall, within a period of sixty days from the receipt of the said copy, forward to the Board any representation which the Corporation or Municipality may think fit to make with regard to the scheme.

Service of notice as to proposed acquisition of land.

45. (1) During the thirty days next following the first day on which any notice is published under section 43 in respect of any improvement scheme, the Board shall serve a notice on—

(i) every person whose name appears in the municipal assessment-book as being primarily liable to pay the owner's share of the consolidated rate, or the rate on the annual value of holdings, as the case may be, in respect of any land which the Board propose to acquire in executing the scheme, and

(ii) the occupier (who need not be named) of each premises or holding, entered in the municipal assessment-book, which the Board propose to acquire in executing the scheme.

(2) Such notice shall—

(a) state that the Board propose to acquire such land for the purpose of carrying out a general improvement scheme or a street scheme, as the case may be, and

(b) require such person, if he dissents from such acquisition, to state his reasons in writing within a period of sixty days from the service of the notice.

(3) Every such notice shall be signed by, or by the order of, the Chairman.

Furnishing of copy of, or extracts from, the municipal assessment-book.

46. The Chairman of the Corporation, and the Chairman of any Municipality constituted under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, in any part of which this section is for the time being in force, shall, respectively, furnish the Chairman, at his request, with a copy of, or extracts from, the municipal assessment-book, at such charges as may be fixed by rule made under section 137.

Beng. Act III of 1884.

Abandonment of improvement scheme, or application to Local Government to sanction it.

47. (1) After the expiry of the periods respectively prescribed under section 43, clause (a), and by section 44 and section 45, clause (b), in respect of any improvement scheme, the Board shall consider any objection, representation and statement of dissent received thereunder, and, after hearing all persons making any such objection, representation or dissent who may desire to be heard, the Board may either abandon the scheme or apply to the Local Government for sanction to the scheme, with such modifications (if any) as the Board may consider necessary.

(2) Every application submitted under sub-section (1) shall be accompanied by—

(a) a description of, and full particulars relating to, the scheme, and complete plans and estimates of the cost of executing the scheme;

(b) a statement of the reasons for any modifications made in the scheme as originally framed;

Sections 48—53.)

- (c) a statement of objections (if any) received under section 43;
- (d) any representation received under section 44;
- (e) a list of the names of all persons (if any) who have dissented, under section 45, clause (b), from the proposed acquisition of their land, and a statement of the reasons given for such dissent; and
- (f) a statement of the arrangements made or proposed by the Board for the re-housing of persons of the poorer and working classes who are likely to be displaced by the execution of the scheme.

(3) When any application has been submitted to the Local Government under sub-section (1), the Board shall cause notice of the fact to be published for two consecutive weeks in the Calcutta Gazette and in local newspapers.

Power to sanction or reject improvement scheme.

48. The Local Government may sanction, either with or without modification, or may refuse to sanction, any improvement scheme submitted to it under section 47.

Notification of sanction to improvement scheme.

49. (1) Whenever the Local Government sanctions an improvement scheme, it shall announce the fact by notification, and the Board shall forthwith proceed to execute the scheme.

(2) The publication of a notification under sub-section (1), in respect of any scheme, shall be conclusive evidence that the scheme has been duly framed and sanctioned.

Alteration of improvement scheme after sanction.

50. At any time after any improvement scheme has been sanctioned by the Local Government, and before it has been carried into execution, the Board may alter it:

Provided as follows:—

- (a) if any alteration is estimated to increase the estimated net cost of executing a scheme by more than five per cent. of such cost, such alteration shall not be made without the previous sanction of the Local Government;
- (b) if any alteration involves the acquisition, otherwise than by agreement, of any land the acquisition of which has not been sanctioned by the Local Government, the procedure prescribed in the foregoing sections of this Chapter shall, so far as applicable, be followed, as if the alteration were a separate scheme.

Combination of improvement schemes.

51. Any number of areas in respect of which improvement schemes have been, or are proposed to be, framed, may at any time be included in one combined scheme.

Re-housing persons displaced by improvement scheme.

52. (1) The Board may frame schemes (herein called re-housing schemes) for the construction, maintenance and management of such and so many dwellings and shops as they may consider ought to be provided for persons of the poorer and working classes who—

- (a) are displaced by the execution of any improvement scheme sanctioned under this Act, or
- (b) are likely to be displaced by the execution of any improvement scheme which it is intended to frame, or to submit to the Local Government for sanction, under this Act.

(2) Every re-housing scheme shall be submitted to the Local Government, who may either sanction it, with or without modification, or refuse to sanction it.

(3) The Board shall not themselves construct dwellings or shops under a re-housing scheme unless they are satisfied, after due inquiry, that no other person is willing and able to construct them and is prepared to construct, maintain and manage them under the control of the Board.

Width of streets.

53. No street laid out or altered by the Board shall be of less width than—

- (a) forty feet, if the street be intended for carriage traffic or

Sections 54, 55.)

(b) twenty feet, if the street be intended for foot traffic only:

Provided as follows:—

- (i) the width of an existing street need not be increased to the minimum required by this section, if the Board consider it impracticable to do so;
- (ii) nothing in this section shall be deemed to prevent the Board from laying out service passages for sanitary purposes of any width less than twenty feet.

Transfer to Board, for purposes of improvement scheme, of building or land vested in Corporation or Municipality.

54. (1) Whenever any building, or any street, square or other land, or any part thereof, which—

- (a) is situated in the Calcutta Municipality and is vested in the Corporation, or
- (b) is situated in any part of any Municipality constituted under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, in which this section is for the time being in force, and is vested in the Commissioners of that Municipality, is required for executing any improvement scheme, the Board shall give notice accordingly to the Chairman of the Corporation or the Chairman of such Municipality, as the case may be;

and such building, street, square, land or part shall thereupon vest in the Board, subject, in the case of any building or any land (not being a street or square), to the payment to the Corporation, or to such Commissioners, as the case may be, of such sum as may be required to compensate them for actual loss resulting from the transfer thereof to the Board.

(2) If any question or dispute arises as to the sufficiency of the compensation paid or proposed to be paid under sub-section (1), the matter shall be referred to the Local Government, whose decision shall be final.

Transfer of private street or square to Board for purposes of improvement scheme.

55. (1) Whenever any street or square or part thereof which is not vested in the Board or in the Corporation or in the Commissioners of any Municipality constituted under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, is required for executing any improvement scheme, the Board shall cause to be affixed, in a conspicuous place in or near such street, square or part, a notice, signed by the Chairman, and

Ben. Act III of 1884

- (a) stating the purpose for which the street, square or part is required, and
  - (b) declaring that the Board will, on or after a date to be specified in the notice, take over charge of such street, square or part from the owner thereof;
- and shall simultaneously send a copy of such notice to the owner of such street, square or part.

(2) After considering and deciding all objections (if any) received in writing before the date so specified, the Board may take over charge of such street, square or part from the owner thereof; and the same shall thereupon vest in the Board.

(3) When the Board alter or close any street or square or part thereof which has vested in them under sub-section (2), they shall pay reasonable compensation to the previous owner for the loss of his rights therein.

(4) If the alteration or closing of any such street, square or part causes damage or substantial inconvenience to owners of property adjacent thereto, or to residents in the neighbourhood, the Board—

- (i) shall forthwith provide some other reasonable means of access for the use of persons who were entitled to use such street, square or part, as a means of access to any property or place, and,
- (ii) if the provision of such means of access does not sufficiently compensate any such owner or resident for such damage or inconvenience, shall also pay him reasonable compensation in money.

Sections 56—60.)

56. (1) When any building, or any street, square or other land, or any part thereof, has vested in the Board under section 54 or section 55, no municipal drain or water-work therein shall vest in the Board until another drain or water-work (as the case may be), if required, has been provided by the Board, to the satisfaction of the General Committee or of the Commissioners of the Municipality constituted under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, as the case may be, in place of the former drain or work. Ben. Act III of 1884.

Provision of drain or water-work to replace another situated on land vested in the Board
under section
54 or section
55.

(2) If any question or dispute arises as to whether another drain or water-work is required, or as to the sufficiency of any drain or water-work provided by the Board, under sub-section (1), the matter shall be referred to the Local Government, whose decision shall be final.

57. (1) Sections 337, 338 and 355, and clause (c) of section 354, of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, shall not apply to any street which is vested in the Board. Ben. Act III of 1899.

Bar to application of certain sections of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, to streets vested
in the Board.

(2) Sections 345 and 346 of the said Act shall not apply when any drain, pavement or surface referred to in the said section 345 is opened or broken up by the Board, or when any public street is under construction by the Board.

58. Whenever the Board allow any street vested in them to be used for public traffic, —

Repair and watering of streets vested
in the Board.

(a) they shall, as far as practicable, keep the street in good repair and do all things necessary for the safety and convenience of persons using it, and

(b) they shall cause the street to be watered, if they consider it necessary to do so for the public convenience.

59. Whenever any drain in, or the pavement or surface of, any street vested in the Board is opened or broken up by the Board for the purpose of carrying on any work,

Guarding and lighting when street
vested in the Board is opened or broken up, or when street is under construction, and speedy completion of

or whenever the Board allow any street which they have under construction to be used for public traffic, the Board shall cause the place to be fenced and guarded and to be sufficiently lighted during the night, and shall take proper precautions for guarding against accident by shoring up and protecting adjoining buildings, and shall, with all convenient speed, complete the said work, fill in the ground, and repair the said drain, pavement or surface, and carry away the rubbish occasioned thereby or complete the construction of the said street, as the case may be.

60. (1) When any work referred to in section 59 is being executed by the Board in any public street vested in them, or when any other work which may lawfully be done is being executed by the Board in any street vested in them, the Board may direct that such street shall, during the progress of such work, be either wholly or partially closed to traffic generally or to traffic of any specified description.

Prevention or restriction of traffic in street vested in the Board, during progress of work.

(2) When any such direction has been given, the Board shall set up in a conspicuous position in or near the street an order prohibiting traffic to the extent so directed, and shall fix such bars, chains or posts across or in the street as they may think proper for preventing or restricting traffic therein, after notifying in local newspapers their intention to do so.

Sections 61, 62.)

Provision of facilities, and payment of compensation, when work is executed by Board in public street vested in them.

61. (1) When any work is being executed by the Board in any public street vested in them, the Board shall, so far as may reasonably be practicable, make adequate provision for—

- (a) the passage or diversion of traffic;
- (b) securing access to all premises approached from such street; and
- (c) any drainage, water-supply or means of lighting which is interrupted by reason of the execution of the work.

(2) The Board shall pay reasonable compensation to any person who sustains special damage by reason of the execution of any such work.

Power of Board to turn or close public street or square vested in them.

62. (1) The Board may—

- (a) turn, divert, discontinue the public use of, or permanently close, any public street vested in them, or any part thereof, or
- (b) discontinue the public use of, or permanently close, any public square vested in them, or any part thereof.

(2) Whenever the Board discontinue the public use of, or permanently close, any public street vested in them, or any part thereof, they shall pay reasonable compensation to every person who was entitled, otherwise than as a mere licensee, to use such street or part as a means of access and has suffered damage from such discontinuance or closing.

(3) Whenever the Board discontinue the public use of, or permanently close, any public square vested in them, or any part thereof, they shall pay reasonable compensation to every person—

- (a) who was entitled, otherwise than as a mere licensee, to use such square or part as a means of access, or
- (b) whose immoveable property was ventilated by such square or part, and who has suffered damage,—

- (i) in case (a), from such discontinuance or closing, or

- (ii) in case (b), from the use to which the Board have put such square or part.

(4) In determining the compensation payable to any person under sub-section (2) or sub-section (3), the Board shall make allowance for any benefit accruing to him from the construction, provision or improvement of any other public street or square at or about the same time that the public street or square or part thereof, on account of which the compensation is paid, is discontinued or closed.

(5) When any public street or square vested in the Board, or any part thereof, is permanently closed under sub-section (1), the Board may sell or lease so much of the same as is no longer required.

Sections 63, 64.)

public streets.

63. (1) In regard to any area in the neighbourhood of the Calcutta Municipality, the Board may, from time to time, prepare schemes and plans of proposed public streets, showing the direction of such streets, the street alignment and building line on each side of them, their intended width and such other details as may appear desirable.

(2) Before finally adopting any scheme or plan prepared under sub-section (1), the Board shall give public notice of their intention so to do, and shall send the scheme or plan to the local authority by which the said area is administered, and shall consider all objections received from any person affected by the scheme or plan, and any representation made to them by the said local authority, before a date to be appointed by the Board in this behalf.

(3) When any plan prepared under sub-section (1) has been finally adopted by the Board, the street to which it refers shall be deemed to be a projected public street.

(4) If any person desires to erect, re-erect, add to or alter any building or wall so as to make the same fall within the street alignment or building line shown in any plan so adopted, he shall apply to the Board for permission to do so.

(5) If the Board refuse to grant permission to any person to erect on his land any building or wall to project as aforesaid, and if they do not proceed to acquire such land within one year from the date of such refusal, they shall pay reasonable compensation to such person for any damage sustained by him in consequence of such refusal.

(6) When any building, wall or part thereof projecting across the street alignment or building line shown in any plan adopted as aforesaid has fallen down or been burnt down or taken down, the Chairman may, by written notice, require the same to be set back to or towards such street alignment or building line.

(7) When any building or wall is set back in pursuance of a requisition made under sub-section (6), the Board shall forthwith make full compensation to the owner of the building or wall for any damage that he may sustain thereby.

Reference disputes
to Tribunal.

64. (1) If any question or dispute arises—

(a) between the Board and the previous owner of any street or square or part thereof which has vested in the Board under section 55 and has been altered or closed by them, as to the sufficiency of the compensation paid or proposed to be paid under sub-section (3) of that section, or

(b) between the Board and any person who was entitled, otherwise than as a mere licensee, to use as a means of access any street or square or part thereof which has vested in the Board under section 55,

(i) as to whether the alteration or closing of such street, square or part causes damage or substantial inconvenience to owners of property adjacent thereto or to residents in the neighbourhood, or

(ii) as to whether the other means of access provided or proposed to be provided under sub-section (4) of the said section 55 are reasonably sufficient, or

(iii) as to the sufficiency of any compensation paid or proposed to be paid under the said sub-section (4), or

(c) between the Board and any person, as to the sufficiency of any compensation paid or proposed to be paid to him under section 61, section 62 or section 63,

Sections 65—67.)

the matter shall be determined by the Tribunal, if referred to it, either by the Board or by the claimant, within a period of three months from—in case (a) or case (b)—the date on which the street or square or part thereof was altered or closed by the Board, or in case (c)—the date on which the said person was informed of the decision of the Board fixing the amount of compensation to be paid to him; and the determination of the Tribunal shall be final.

(2) If a reference to the Tribunal be not made within the period prescribed by sub-section (1), the decision of the Board shall be final.

(3) For the purpose of determining any matter referred to it under sub-section (1), the Tribunal shall have all the powers with regard to witnesses, documents and costs which it would have if the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, as modified by section 71 of <sup>1 of 1904.</sup> this Act, were applicable to the case.

Vesting in Corporation of streets laid out or altered, and open spaces provided, by the Board under an improvement scheme.

65. (1) Whenever the General Committee are satisfied—

(a) that any street laid out or altered by the Board has been duly levelled, paved, metalled, flagged, channelled, sewered and drained in the manner provided in the plans sanctioned by the Local Government under section 48, and

(b) that such lamps, lamp-posts and other apparatus as the General Committee consider necessary for the lighting of such street and as ought to be provided by the Board have been so provided, and

(c) that water and other sanitary conveniences ordinarily provided in a Municipality have been duly provided in such street, the General Committee shall make a report to the Corporation, and the Corporation shall thereupon, after informing the Board of their intention to do so, by written notice affixed in some conspicuous position in such street, declare the street to be a public street; and the street shall thereupon vest in the Corporation, and shall thenceforth be maintained, kept in repair, lighted and cleansed by the Corporation.

(2) When any open space for purposes of ventilation or recreation has been provided by the Board in executing any improvement scheme, it shall, on completion, be transferred to the Corporation by resolution of the Board, and shall thereupon vest in, and be maintained at the expense of, the Corporation:

Provided that the General Committee may require the Board, before any such open space is so transferred, to enclose, level, turf, drain and lay out such space and provide footpaths therein, and, if necessary, to provide lamps and other apparatus for lighting it.

(3) If any difference of opinion arises between the Board and the General Committee in respect of any matter referred to in the foregoing provisions of this section, the matter shall be referred to the Local Government, whose decision shall be final.

Application of section 65 to other Municipalities.

66. If section 65 be extended, by notification under section 1, sub-section (3), to any Municipality in the neighbourhood of the Calcutta Municipality, it shall be construed as if the references therein to the General Committee and the Corporation were references to the Commissioners of the former Municipality.

Power of Board to retain service passages.

67. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 65 or section 66, the Board may retain any service passage which they have laid out for sanitary purposes, and may enter into an agreement with the Corporation or any other person for the supervision, repair, lighting and general management of any passage so retained.

(Chapter IV.—Acquisition and Disposal of Land.—Acquisition by Agreement.—Compulsory Acquisition.—Sections 68—72.)

CHAPTER IV.—ACQUISITION AND DISPOSAL OF LAND.

Acquisition by agreement.

Power to purchase land or lease by agreement. 68. The Board may enter into an agreement with any person for the purchase or leasing by the Board from such person of any land which the Board are authorized to acquire, or any interest in such land.

Compulsory acquisition.

Power to acquire land under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894. 69. The Board may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, acquire land under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, for carrying out any of the purposes of this Act.

I of 1894.

Tribunal to be constituted. 70. A Tribunal shall be constituted, as provided in section 72, for the purpose of performing the functions of the Court in reference to the acquisition of land for the Board under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894.

I of 1894.

Modification of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894. 71. For the purpose of acquiring land under the said Act for the Board,—

- (a) the Tribunal shall (except for the purposes of section 51 of that Act) be deemed to be the Court, and the President of the Tribunal shall be deemed to be the Judge, under the said Act;
- (b) the said Act shall be subject to the further modifications indicated in the Schedule;
- (c) the President of the Tribunal shall have power to summon and enforce the attendance of witnesses, and to compel the production of documents, by the same means, and (so far as may be) in the same manner, as is provided in the case of a Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908; and
- (d) the award of the Tribunal shall be deemed to be the award of the Court under the said Land Acquisition Act, 1894, and shall be final.

V of 1908.

I of 1894.

Constitution of Tribunal. 72. (1) The said Tribunal shall consist of a President and two assessors.

(2) The President of the Tribunal shall be either—

- (a) a member of the Judicial Branch of the Imperial or Provincial Civil Service, of not less than ten years' standing in such Service, who has, for at least three years, served as District Judge or held judicial office not inferior to that of a Subordinate Judge; or
- (b) a barrister, advocate or pleader of not less than ten years' standing, who has practised as an advocate or pleader in the Calcutta High Court.

(3) The President of the Tribunal and one of the assessors shall be appointed by the Local Government, and the other assessor shall be appointed by the Corporation, or, in default of the Corporation, by the Local Government:

(Chapter IV.—Acquisition and Disposal of Land.—Compulsory Acquisition.—Sections 72, 74.)

Provided that no person shall be eligible for appointment as a member of the Tribunal if he is a Trustee or is, for any of the reasons mentioned in section 9, disqualified for appointment as a Trustee.

(4) The term of office of each member of the Tribunal shall be two years; but any member shall, subject to the proviso to sub-section (3), be eligible for reappointment at the end of that term.

(5) The Local Government may, on the ground of incapacity or misbehaviour, or for any other good and sufficient reason, cancel the appointment of any person as a member of the Tribunal.

(6) When any person ceases for any reason to be a member of the Tribunal, or when any member is temporarily absent in consequence of illness or any other unavoidable cause, the Local Government or (if the person whose place is to be filled was appointed by the Corporation) the Corporation, or, in default of the Corporation, the Local Government, shall forthwith appoint a fit person to be a member in his place.

(7) All appointments made under this section shall be published by notification.

Remuneration of members of Tribunal.

73. Each member of the Tribunal shall be entitled to receive such remuneration, either by way of monthly salary or by way of fees, or partly in one of those ways and partly in the other, as the Local Government may prescribe.

Officers and servants
of Tribunal.

74. (1) The President of the Tribunal shall, from time to time, prepare a statement showing—

- (a) the number and grades of the clerks and other officers and servants whom he considers should be maintained for carrying on the business of the Tribunal,
- (b) the amount of the salary to be paid to each such officer and servant, and
- (c) the contributions payable under section 146 in respect of each such officer and servant.

(2) The President of the Tribunal shall, from time to time, make rules—

- (i) for regulating the grant of leave of absence, leave-allowances and acting-allowances to the officers and servants of the Tribunal; and
- (ii) for establishing and maintaining a provident or annuity fund, for compelling all or any of the officers or servants of the Tribunal (other than any servant of the Government in respect of whom a contribution is paid under section 146) to contribute to such fund, at such rates and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed by such rules, and, with the sanction of the Board, for supplementing such contributions out of the funds of the Board:

Provided that a Government servant employed as an officer or servant of the Tribunal shall not be entitled to leave or leave-allowances otherwise than as may be prescribed in any general or special orders of the Government for regulating the transfer of Government servants to foreign service.

(3) All statements prepared under sub-section (1), and all rules made under sub-section (2), shall be subject to the previous sanction of the Local Government.

(4) Subject to any directions contained in any statement prepared under sub-section (1) and any rules made under sub-section (2), and for the time being in force, the power of appointing, promoting and granting leave to officers and servants of the Tribunal, and the power of reducing, suspending or dismissing them, shall vest in the President of the Tribunal.

Payments by Board on account of Tribunal.

75. (1) The remuneration prescribed under section 73 for members of the Tribunal, and the salaries, leave-allowances and acting-allowances prescribed under section 74 for officers and servants of the Tribunal, shall be paid by the Board to the President of the Tribunal for distribution.

Power to make rules for Tribunal.

76. (1) The President of the Tribunal may, from time to time, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, make rules, not repugnant to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for the conduct of business by the Tribunal. V of 1908.

(2) All such rules shall be published by notification.

Award of Tribunal how to be determined.

77. (1) For the purpose of determining the award to be made by the Tribunal under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894,— I of 1894.

(a) if there is any disagreement as to the measurement of land, or the amount of compensation or costs to be allowed, the opinion of the majority of the members of the Tribunal shall prevail;

(b) questions relating to the determination of the persons to whom compensation is payable, or the apportionment of compensation, may be tried and decided in the absence of the assessors if the President of the Tribunal considers their presence unnecessary; and, when so tried and decided, the decision of the President shall be deemed to be the decision of the Tribunal; and

(c) notwithstanding anything contained in the foregoing clauses, the decision on all questions of law and procedure shall rest solely with the President of the Tribunal.

(2) Every award of the Tribunal, and every order made by the Tribunal for the payment of money, shall be enforced by the Court of Small Causes of Calcutta as if it were a decree of that Court.

Abandonment of Acquisition.

Abandonment of acquisition in consideration of special payment.

78. (1) In any case in which the Local Government has sanctioned the acquisition of land, in any area comprised in an improvement scheme, which is not required for the execution of the scheme, the owner of the land, or any person having an interest therein, may make an application to the Board, requesting that the acquisition of the land should be abandoned in consideration of the payment by him of a sum to be fixed by the Board in that behalf.

(2) The Board shall admit every such application if it—

(a) reaches them before the time fixed by the Collector under section 9 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, for making claims in reference to the land, and I of 1894.

(b) is made by all persons who have interests in the land greater than a lease for years having seven years to run.

(3) If the Board decide to admit any such application they shall forthwith inform the Collector, and the Collector shall thereupon stay for a period of three months all further proceedings for the acquisition of the land, and the Board shall proceed to fix the sum in consideration of which the acquisition of the land may be abandoned.

(4) Within the said period of three months, or, with the permission of the Board, at any time before the Collector has taken possession of the land under section 16 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, the person from whom the Board have arranged to accept the sum so fixed may, if the Board are satisfied that the security offered by him is sufficient, execute an agreement with the Board, either—

I of 1894.

(i) to pay the said sum three years after the date of the agreement, or

(ii) to leave the said sum outstanding as a charge on his interest in the land, subject to the payment in perpetuity of interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum, and to make the first annual payment of such interest four years after the date of the agreement:

Provided that the Board may, at any time before the Collector has taken possession of the land under section 16 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, accept immediate payment of the said sum instead of an agreement as aforesaid.

I of 1894.

(5) When any agreement has been executed in pursuance of sub-section (4), or when any payment has been accepted in pursuance of the proviso to that sub-section, in respect of any land, the proceedings for the acquisition of the land shall be deemed to be abandoned.

(6) Every payment due from any person under any agreement executed under sub-section (4) shall be a charge on the interest of that person.

(7) If any instalment of interest payable under an agreement executed in pursuance of clause (ii) of sub-section (4) be not paid on the date on which it is due, the sum fixed by the Board under sub-section (5) shall be payable on that date, in addition to the said instalment.

(8) At any time after an agreement has been executed in pursuance of clause (ii) of sub-section (4), any person may pay off the charge created thereby, with interest, at the rate of four per cent. per annum, up to the date of such payment.

(9) When an agreement in respect of any land has been executed by any person in pursuance of sub-section (4), no suit with respect to such agreement shall be brought against the Board by any other person (except an heir, executor or administrator of the person first aforesaid) claiming to have an interest in the land.

79. When an agreement has been executed by any person in pursuance of section 78, sub-section (4), in respect of any land, and any money payable in pursuance of that section is not, duly paid, the same shall be recoverable by the Board (together with interest, up to the date of realization, at the rate of four per cent. per annum), from the said person or his successor in interest in such land, in the manner provided by the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, for the recovery of the consolidated rate;

Recovery of money payable in pursuance of section 78.

Mem. Act III of 1899.

(Chapter IV.—Acquisition and Disposal of Land.—Abandonment of acquisition.—Disposal of Land.—Chapter V.—Taxation.—Duty on Transfers of Property.—Sections 80—88.)

and, if not so recovered, the Chairman may, after giving public notice of his intention to do so, and not less than one month after the publication of such notice, sell the interest of the said person or successor in such land by public auction, and may deduct the said money and the expenses of the sale from the proceeds of the sale, and shall pay the balance (if any) to the defaulter.

Agreement or payment under section 78 not to bar acquisition under a fresh declaration.

80. If any land in respect of which an agreement has been executed, or a payment has been accepted, in pursuance of section 78, sub-section (4), be subsequently required for any of the purposes of this Act, the agreement or payment shall not be deemed to prevent the acquisition of the land in pursuance of a fresh declaration published under section 6 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894.

Disposal of Land.

Power to dispose of land.

81. (1) The Board may retain, or may let on hire, lease, sell, exchange or otherwise dispose of, any land vested in or acquired by them under this Act.

(2) Whenever the Board decide to lease or sell any land acquired by them under this Act from any person, they—

(a) shall give notice by advertisement in local newspapers, and

(b) shall offer to the said person, or his heirs, executors or administrators, a prior right to take on lease or to purchase such land, at a rate to be fixed by the Board, if the Board consider that such a right can be given without detriment to the carrying out of the purposes of this Act.

(3) ■ in any case two or more persons claim to exercise a right offered under clause (b) to take on lease or to purchase any land, the right shall be exercisable by the person who agrees to pay the highest sum for the land, not being less than the rate fixed by the Board under that clause, to the exclusion of the others.

CHAPTER V.—TAXATION.

Duty on Transfers of Property.

Duty on certain transfers of immovable property.

82. (1) The duty imposed by the Indian Stamp Act, 1899, <sup>II of 1899.</sup> on instruments of sale, gift and usufructuary mortgage, respectively, of immovable property shall, in the case of instruments affecting immovable property situated in the Calcutta Municipality and executed on or after the commencement of this Act, be increased by two per centum on the value of the property so situated, or (in the case of an usufructuary mortgage) on the amount secured by the instrument, as set forth in the instrument.

(2) For the purposes of this section, section 27 of the said Indian Stamp Act, 1899, shall be read as if it specifically required <sup>II of 1899.</sup> the particulars referred to therein to be set forth separately in respect of—

(a) property situated in the Calcutta Municipality, and

(b) property situated outside the Calcutta Municipality, respectively.

(Chapter V.—Taxation.—Terminal Tax on Passengers.—Section 83.)

(3) For the purposes of this section, section 84 of the said Indian Stamp Act, 1899, shall be read as if it referred to the Board as well as the Government.

(4) All collections resulting from the said increase shall, after deducting incidental expenses (if any), be paid to the Board at such time as may be prescribed by rule made under section 86.

Terminal Tax on Passengers.

Terminal tax on passengers by railway or inland steam-vessel.

83. (1) Every passenger brought to or taken from any station in the Calcutta Municipality or the Howrah Municipality by railway, and every passenger brought to or taken from any landing-place in the Port of Calcutta, within five miles from Government House, by inland steam-vessel, shall pay a tax of half an anna in respect of each journey so made by him:

Provided as follows:—

- (a) the said tax shall not be payable by any passenger brought from, or taken to, any place situated within a radius of thirty miles from Government House;
- (b) the Local Government may, by notification, either—
  - (i) with the previous sanction of the Government of India, reduce the said radius to any distance less than thirty miles, in its application either to passengers generally or to passengers of any specified class, or
  - (ii) with the previous sanction of the Government of India, cancel proviso (a), or
  - (iii) reduce the said tax to any lower rate, either in respect of passengers generally or in respect of passengers making frequent journeys;
- (c) the said tax may, in the case of passengers taking suburban season tickets, be calculated at the rate of six annas per mensem for each such ticket, or at such lower rate as the Local Government may prescribe by notification.

(2) The said tax shall be collected, by means of a surcharge on fares, by the administration of the railway, or the owner of the vessel, by which the passengers are carried, and shall be paid to the Board at such time as may be prescribed by rule made under section 86, after making such deduction as the Local Government may approve to meet any expenses incurred in connection with the collection of the tax.

(3) The owner of every inland steam-vessel referred to in sub-section (1) shall prepare and deliver, or cause to be prepared and delivered, to the Chairman, each quarter, a return, in the form prescribed by rule made under section 86, of all passengers, carried by such vessel, by whom the tax imposed by that sub-section is payable; and shall subscribe, at the foot of such return, a declaration of the truth thereof.

(4) Every such return shall be delivered to the Chairman or posted to his address within fifteen working days, or at most within thirty days, after the end of the quarter to which it relates.

Explanation.—The expression “working day,” as used in this sub-section, means every day except a public holiday as defined in section 25 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881. XXVI of 1881.

(Chapter V.—Taxation.—Customs Duty on Jute.—Supplemental Provisions.—Sections 84–87.)

(5) If this Act is directed to come into force during a quarter, the first of the said returns shall be made for the unexpired portion of that quarter.

(6) The expression "administration" and the expressions "owner" and "inland steam-vessel," as used in this section, have the same meanings as in the Indian Railways Act, 1890, and the Inland Steam-vessels Act, 1884, respectively. IX of 1890.
VI of 1884.

Customs Duty on Jute.

Customs duty on exports of jute from Calcutta by sea.

84. (1) A customs duty shall be levied and collected on all jute exported by sea from the Port of Calcutta to any other port, whether beyond or within India, at such rate, not exceeding,—

(a) in the case of raw jute (including jute cuttings and rejections), two annas per bale of four hundred pounds, and

(b) in the case of manufactured jute, twelve annas per ton of two thousand two hundred and forty pounds, as the Local Government may prescribe by notification:

Provided that the said duty shall not be levied or collected in respect of jute, whether raw or manufactured, exported under any contract which was made before the fifteenth day of August, 1911, and the existence of which was established to the satisfaction of the Customs-Collector before the fifteenth day of September, 1911.

(2) At the close of each quarter, or as soon thereafter as may be convenient, the duty collected under sub-section (1) shall, after deducting the expenses of collection (if any), be paid by the Customs-Collector to the Board.

Section 5 of the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, not to apply to jute.

85. Section 5 of the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, shall not apply to jute (whether raw or manufactured) passing by land out of Calcutta. VIII of 1894.

Supplemental Provisions.

Power to Local Government to make rules.

86. (1) The Local Government may make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Chapter.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, the Local Government may make rules—

(a) for regulating the collection of taxes imposed by this Chapter, and the payment thereof to the Board;

(b) for prescribing the form of the return required by section 83, sub-section (3), and the particulars to be contained therein, and the manner in which the same is to be verified.

Punishments for offences.

87. The offences mentioned in column 1 of the following table shall be punishable to the extent mentioned in column 2 thereof with reference to such offences, respectively :—

(1) Omitting to make any return required by section 83, sub-section (3), or refusing to sign or complete the same.	Fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.
(2) Making and delivering any such return containing any statement not true to the best of the information and belief of the person making the same.	The penalty provided in the Indian Penal Code, section 192, for making a false statement in a declaration. XLV of 1860.
(3) Otherwise contravening any rule made under section 86.	Fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

*Chapter VI.—Finance.—Municipal Contributions.—Loans.—
Sections 88—91.)*

CHAPTER VI.—FINANCE.

Municipal Contributions.

Contributions from Municipal Funds.

88. (1) The Chairman of the Corporation shall pay from the Municipal Funds to the Board on the first day of each quarter, so long as the Board continue to exist, a sum equivalent to one-half per cent. per quarter on the annual rateable valuation determined under Chapter XII of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, as it stood on the first day of the last preceding quarter: Ben. Act III of 1899.

Provided as follows:—

- (a) in the case of property vested in the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, the said percentage shall be calculated upon nine-tenths of the annual rateable valuation of such property, and
- (b) if this Act is directed to come into force during a quarter, the amount of the first of such payments shall bear such proportion to the sum payable hereunder as the unexpired portion of that quarter bears to the whole quarter.

(2) If in any financial year the sums due to the Board under section 82 and sub-section (1) of this section aggregate less than seven and-a-half lakhs of rupees, the Chairman of the Corporation shall pay to the Board, from the Municipal Funds, such further sum as may be required to make up the said sum of seven and-a-half lakhs of rupees.

(3) The payments prescribed by sub-sections (1) and (2) shall be made in priority to all other payments due from the Corporation, except those referred to in section 140 of the said Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899. Ben. Act III of 1899.

(4) If any payment prescribed by sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) cannot be made without increasing the maximum authorised by clause (a) of section 147 of the said Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, then that maximum may be increased to such extent as may be necessary to secure the due making of such payment. Ben. Act III of 1899.

Loans.

borrow money.

89. The Board may from time to time borrow, at such rate of interest, and for such period, and upon such terms, as to the time and method of repayment and otherwise, as the Government of India may approve, any sum necessary for the purpose of—

- (a) meeting expenditure debitable to the capital account under section 123, or
- (b) repaying any loan previously taken under this Act.

Manner and time of borrowing money.

90. Whenever the borrowing of any sum has been approved under section 89, the Local Government shall, with the previous sanction of the Government of India, direct and appoint the manner in which and the time at which such sum shall be borrowed.

Loans from Banks.

91. Whenever the borrowing of any sum has been approved under section 89, the Board may, instead of borrowing such sum or any part thereof from the public, but subject to any direction given by the Local Government under section 90, take credit from any Bank, on a cash account to be kept in the name of the Board, to the extent of such sum or part;

(Chapter VI.—Finance.—Loans.—Sections 92—97.)

and, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, may grant mortgages of all or any property vested in the Board, by way of securing the payment of the amount of such credit, or of the sums from time to time advanced on such cash account, with interest.

Direction of borrowed money to purposes other than those first approved.

92. When any sum of money has been borrowed under section 89 or section 91 for the purpose of meeting particular expenditure or repaying a particular loan, no portion thereof shall be applied to any other purpose without the previous sanction of the Local Government.

Form, signature,
exchange, transfer and effect of debentures.

93. (1) Whenever money is borrowed by the Board on debentures, the debentures shall be in such form as the Board, with the previous sanction of the Government of India, may from time to time determine.

(2) All debentures shall be signed by the Chairman and one other Trustee.

(3) The holder of any debenture in any form prescribed under sub-section (1) may obtain in exchange therefor, upon such terms as the Board may from time to time determine, a debenture in any other form so prescribed.

(4) Every debenture issued by the Board shall be transferable by endorsement, unless some other mode of transfer be prescribed therein.

(5) The right to sue in respect of moneys secured by debentures issued by the Board shall vest in the respective holders of the debentures for the time being, without any preference by reason of some of such debentures being prior in date to others.

Signature of coupon attached to debentures.

94. All coupons attached to debentures issued under this Act shall bear the signature of the Chairman; and such signature may be engraved, lithographed or impressed by any mechanical process.

Payment to survivors of joint payees.

95. When any debenture or security issued under this Act is payable to two or more persons jointly, and either or any of them dies, then, notwithstanding anything in section 45 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, the debenture or security shall be payable to the survivor or survivors of such persons: IX of 1872.

Provided that nothing in this section shall affect any claim by the representative of a deceased person against such survivor or survivors.

Receipt by joint holder for interest or dividend.

96. Where two or more persons are joint holders of any debenture or security issued under this Act, any one of such persons may give an effectual receipt for any interest or dividend payable in respect of such debenture or security, unless notice to the contrary has been given to the Board by any other of such persons.

Priority of payments for interest and repayment of loans.

97. All payments due from the Board for interest on, or the repayment of, loans shall be made in priority to all other payments due from the Board.

(Chapter VI.—Finance.—Loans.—Sections 98-101.)

Repayment of loans taken
89.

98. Every loan taken by the Board under section 89 shall be repaid within the period approved by the Government of India under that section, and, subject to the provisions of section 125, sub-section (2), by such of the following methods as may be so approved, namely :—

- (a) from a sinking fund established under section 99 in respect of the loan, or
- (b) by paying equal yearly or half-yearly instalments of principal, or of principal and interest, throughout the said period, or
- (c) if the Board have, before borrowing money on debentures, reserved, by public notice, a power to pay off the loan by periodical instalments and to select by lot the particular debentures to be discharged at particular periods—then by paying such instalments at such periods, or
- (d) from money borrowed for the purpose under section 89, clause (b), or
- (e) partly from the sinking fund established under section 99 in respect of the loan, and partly from money borrowed for the purpose under section 89, clause (b).

Establishment and maintenance of
sinking funds.

99. (1) Whenever the Government of India have approved the repayment of a loan from a sinking fund, the Board shall establish such a fund and shall pay into it in every year, until the loan is repaid, a sum so calculated that, if regularly paid throughout the period approved by the Government of India under section 89, it would, with accumulations in the way of compound interest, be sufficient, after payment of all expenses, to pay off the loan at the end of that period.

(2) The rate of interest on the basis of which the sum referred to in sub-section (1) shall be calculated shall be such as may be prescribed by the Government of India.

discontinue payments into sinking fund.

100. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 99, if at any time the sum standing at credit of the sinking fund established for the repayment of any loan is of such amount that, if allowed to accumulate at the rate of interest prescribed under sub-section (2) of that section, it will be sufficient to repay the loan at the end of the period approved by the Government of India under section 89, then, with the permission of the Local Government, further annual payments into such fund may be discontinued.

Investment of
sinking funds

101. (1) All money paid into any sinking fund shall as soon as possible be invested, under the orders of the Board, in—

- (a) Government securities, or
- (b) securities guaranteed by the Government, or
- (c) Calcutta Municipal debentures, or
- (d) debentures issued by the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, or
- (e) debentures issued by the Board, in the joint names of the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Financial Department and the Accountant-General of

(Chapter VI—Finance.—Loans.—Enforcement of Liabilities.— Sections 108—106.)

Bengal, to be held by them as trustees for the purpose of repaying from time to time the debentures issued by the Board.

(2) All dividends and other sums received in respect of any such investment shall, as soon as possible after receipt, be paid into the appropriate sinking fund and invested in the manner prescribed by sub-section (1).

(3) Any investment made under this section may from time to time, subject to the provisions of sub-section (1), be varied or transposed.

Application of
sinking funds.

102. The aforesaid trustees may from time to time apply any sinking fund, or any part thereof, in or towards the discharge of the loan or any part of the loan for which such fund was established; and until such loan is wholly discharged shall not apply the same for any other purpose.

Annual statements by trustees.

103. (1) The aforesaid trustees shall, at the end of every financial year, transmit to the Chairman a statement showing—

- (a) the amount which has been invested during the year under section 101,
- (b) the date of the last investment made previous to the transmission of the statement,
- (c) the aggregate amount of the securities held by them,
- (d) the aggregate amount which has, up to the date of the statement, been applied under section 102 in or towards repaying loans, and
- (e) the aggregate amount already paid into each sinking fund.

(2) Every such statement shall be laid before the Board and published by notification.

Annual examination of
sinking funds.

104. (1) The said sinking funds shall be subject to annual examination by the Accountant-General, Bengal, who shall ascertain whether the cash and the current value of the securities at credit of such funds are actually equal to the amount which would have accumulated had investments been regularly made and had the rate of interest as originally estimated been obtained therefrom.

(2) The Board shall forthwith pay into any sinking fund any amount which the Accountant-General may certify to be deficient, unless the Government of India specially sanction a gradual readjustment.

Enforcement of Liabilities.

Procedure if Board fail to make any payment or investment in respect of loans.

105. (1) If the Board fail—

- (a) to pay any interest due in respect of any loan taken in pursuance of section 89, or
- (b) to make any payment prescribed by section 98, section 99 or sub-section (2) of section 104, or
- (c) to make any investment prescribed by section 101,

(Chapter VI.—Finance.—Enforcement of Liabilities.—Budget Estimates.—Sections 106—108.)

the Accountant-General of Bengal shall make such payment, or set aside and invest such sum as ought to have been invested under the said section 101, as the case may be ;

and the Chairman of the Corporation shall forthwith pay from the Municipal Funds to the said Accountant-General a sum equivalent to the sum so paid or invested by him ; and the Local Government may attach the rents and other income of the Board ; and thereupon the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 141 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, shall, Ben. Act III of 1899. with all necessary modifications, be deemed to apply.

(2) Whenever the Chairman of the Corporation has made any payment to the Accountant-General under sub-section (1), the Local Government shall reimburse the Corporation out of the rents and income attached under that sub-section, and if such rents and income prove insufficient for that purpose the Corporation may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, increase the maximum authorized by clause (a) of section 147 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, to such extent as may be Ben. Act III of 1899. necessary for the purpose of making up the deficiency :

Provided that no such increase shall be made, unless the taxes imposed by sections 83 and 84 are levied at the maximum rates respectively prescribed by those sections.

Procedure if Chairman of Corporation fails to make any payment due to Board or Accountant-General.

106. If the Chairman of the Corporation fails to make any payment as required by section 88 or section 105, the Local Government may attach the Municipal Funds or any of them ;

and thereupon the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 141 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, shall, with all necessary Ben. Act III of 1899. modifications, be deemed to apply, and the Local Government may further require the Corporation to increase the maximum authorized by clause (a) of section 147 of that Act, to such extent as may be necessary for the purpose of making such payment :

Provided that no such increase shall be made, in consequence of any failure of the Chairman of the Corporation to make any payment as required by section 106, unless the taxes imposed by sections 83 and 84 are levied at the maximum rates respectively prescribed by those sections.

Payments under section 106 to be a charge on the property of the Board.

107. All moneys paid by the Chairman of the Corporation under sub-section (1) of section 105 and not reimbursed by the Local Government under sub-section (2) of that section, and all moneys payable under sub-section (1) of section 106 and levied under section 106, shall constitute a charge upon the property of the Board.

Budget Estimates.

Estimates of income and expenditure to be laid annually before the Board.

108. (1) The Chairman shall, at a special meeting to be held in the month of February in each year, lay before the Board an estimate of the income and expenditure of the Board for the next ensuing financial year.

(2) Every such estimate shall make provision for the due fulfilment of all the liabilities of the Board and for the efficient administration of this Act.

(3) Every such estimate shall differentiate capital and revenue funds, and shall be prepared in such form, and shall contain such details, as the Local Government or the Board may from time to time direct.

(Chapter VI.—Finance.—Budget Estimates.—Sections 109—114.)

(4) Every such estimate shall be completed and printed, and a copy thereof sent, by post or otherwise, to each Trustee, at least ten clear days before the date of the meeting at which the estimate is to be laid before the Board.

Sanction of Board to estimates.

109. The Board shall consider every estimate so laid before them, and shall sanction the same, either without alteration or with such alterations as they may think fit.

Approval of Local Government to estimates.

110. (1) Every such estimate, as sanctioned by the Board, shall be submitted to the Local Government, who may, at any time within two months after receipt of the same,—

(a) approve the estimate, or

(b) disallow the estimate or any portion thereof, and return the estimate to the Board for amendment.

(2) If any estimate is so returned to the Board, they shall forthwith proceed to amend it, and shall re-submit the estimate, as amended, to the Local Government, who may then approve it.

Transmission of copy of estimate to Chairman of Corporation.

111. A copy of every such estimate shall, when approved by the Local Government, be sent by the Board to the Chairman of the Corporation.

Special provisions as to the first estimate after the constitution of the Board.

112. (1) A special meeting of the Board shall be held as soon as may be expedient after the day appointed under section 17, sub-section (1), and the Chairman shall at such special meeting lay before the Board an estimate of the income and expenditure of the Board for the portion of the financial year which on the said day had not expired.

(2) The provisions of section 108, sub-sections (2) to (4), and sections 109 to 111 shall apply to the said estimate.

Supplementary estimates.

113. (1) The Board may, at any time during the year for which any estimate has been sanctioned, cause a supplementary estimate to be prepared and laid before them at a special meeting.

(2) The provisions of section 108, sub-sections (2) and (4), and sections 109 to 111 shall apply to every supplementary estimate.

Adherence to estimate, and maintenance of closing balance.

114. (1) No sum shall be expended by or on behalf of the Board unless the expenditure of the same is covered by a current budget-grant or can be met by re-appropriation or by drawing on the closing balance.

(2) The closing balance shall not be reduced below one lakh of rupees without the previous sanction of the Local Government.

(3) The following items shall be excepted from the provisions of sub-sections (1) and (2), namely,—

(a) re-payments of moneys belonging to contractors or other persons and held in deposit, and of moneys collected by, or credited to, the Board by mistake;

(b) payments due under a decree or order of a Court passed against the Board or against the Chairman ex officio, or under an award of the Tribunal;

(Chapter VI.—Finance.—Banking and Investments.— Sections 115—119.)

- (c) sums payable under a compromise of any suit or other legal proceeding or claim effected under section 164 ;
  - (d) sums payable under this Act by way of compensation ; and
  - (e) payments required to meet some pressing emergency.
- (4) Whenever any sum exceeding five thousand rupees is expended under clause (e) of sub-section (3), the Chairman shall forthwith report the circumstances to the Local Government, and shall at the same time explain how the Board propose to cover the expenditure.

Banking and Investments.

Receipt of moneys, and deposit in Bank of Bengal.

115. All moneys payable to the Board shall be received by the Chairman, and shall forthwith be paid into the Bank of Bengal to the credit of an account which shall be styled "The Account of the Trustees for the Improvement of Calcutta."

Investment of surplus money.

116. (1) Surplus moneys at the credit of the said account may from time to time be—

- (a) deposited at interest in the Bank of Bengal or in any other Bank in Calcutta approved by the Local Government in this behalf, or
- (b) invested in any of the securities or debentures mentioned in section 101, sub-section (1), of this Act or in section 20 of the Indian Trusts Act, 1882.

11 of 1882.

(2) All such deposits and investments shall be made by the Chairman on behalf of, and with the sanction of, the Board ; and, with the like sanction, the Chairman may at any time withdraw any deposit so made, or dispose of any securities, and re-deposit or re-invest the money so withdrawn or the proceeds of the disposal of such securities.

Payments
by cheque.

117. (1) No payment shall be made by the Bank of Bengal out of the account referred to in section 115, except upon a cheque.

(2) Payment of any sum due by the Board exceeding one hundred rupees in amount shall be made by means of a cheque, and not in any other way.

Signature of orders under section 116,
and cheques.

118. All orders for making any deposit, investment, withdrawal or disposal under section 116, and all cheques referred to in section 117, must be signed—

- (a) by the Chairman and the Secretary to the Board, or
- (b) in the event of the illness or occasional absence from Calcutta of the Chairman or the Secretary, then by the Secretary or the Chairman, as the case may be, and by a Trustee other than the Chairman.

Duty of Chairman and others before signing cheque.

119. Before the Chairman or any other Trustee or the Secretary to the Board signs a cheque under section 118, he must satisfy himself that the sum for which such cheque is drawn either is required for a purpose or work specifically sanctioned by the Board or is an item of one of the excepted descriptions specified in section 114, sub-section (3).

(Chapter VI.—Finance.—Accounts.—Sections 120—122.)

*Accounts.*Definition of "cost of management."

120. (1) The expression "cost of management," as used in the following sections in this Chapter, means—

- (a) the salary and house-rent and conveyance allowance (if any) of the Chairman or acting Chairman, and the allowances and contributions referred to in section 11, sub-section (2);
- (b) all fees paid under section 22, for attendance at meetings;
- (c) the salaries, fees and allowances of, and the contributions paid under section 146 in respect of, officers and servants of the Board who are included in statements prepared under section 30;
- (d) the remuneration of other employees of the Board, except employees who are paid by the day or whose pay is charged to temporary work;
- (e) all payments made under section 75 and section 146 on account of the Tribunal; and
- (f) all office expenses incurred by the Board or the Tribunal.

(2) The expression "office expenses", in clause (f), means expenses incurred for carrying on office work, and includes the rent of offices, the provision of furniture therefor, and charges for printing and stationery.

Keeping of capital account and revenue account.

121. (1) The Board shall keep a capital account and a revenue account.

(2) The capital account shall show separately all expenditure incurred by the Board on each improvement scheme and each re-housing scheme.

Credits to capital account.

122. There shall be credited to the capital account—

- (a) all sums (except interest) received in pursuance of section 78 or section 79;
- (b) all moneys received on account of loans taken by the Board in pursuance of section 80 or section 91;
- (c) the proceeds of the sale of any land vested in the Board which was purchased out of any loan taken in pursuance of section 80 or section 91;
- (d) where land was purchased out of an advance from the revenue account, the portion of the proceeds of the sale of such land which remains after crediting to the revenue account the amount of such advance;
- (e) the proceeds of the sale of any movable property (including securities for money invested from the capital account) belonging to the Board;
- (f) all lump sums received from the Government in aid of the capital account;
- (g) all premia received by the Board in connection with leases for any term exceeding forty years;
- (h) all sums (if any) which the Local Government directs, under section 125, sub-section (2), to be credited to the capital account; and
- (i) all moneys resulting from the sale of securities by direction of the Local Government under section 126.

(Chapter VI.—Accounts.—Sections 122—125.)

Application of capital account.

123. The moneys credited to the capital account shall be held by the Board in trust, and shall be applied to—

- (a) meeting all costs of framing and executing improvement schemes and re-housing schemes;
- (b) meeting the cost of acquiring land for carrying out any of the purposes of this Act;
- (c) meeting the cost of constructing buildings required for carrying out any of the purposes of this Act;
- (d) the repayment of loans from money borrowed in pursuance of section 89, clause (b);
- (e) making payments in pursuance of section 149, otherwise than for interest or for expenses of maintenance or working;
- (f) making, or contributing towards the cost of making, surveys, in pursuance of section 167;
- (g) meeting such proportion of the cost of management as the Board may, with the sanction of the Local Government, prescribe in this behalf; and
- (h) temporarily making good the deficit (if any) in the revenue account at the end of any financial year.

revenue
account.

124. There shall be credited to the revenue account—

- (a) all interest received in pursuance of section 78 or section 79;
- (b) all proceeds received by the Board of taxes imposed by Chapter V;
- (c) all sums contributed from Municipal Funds which are received by the Board under section 88;
- (d) all fines, damages and proceeds of confiscations received by the Board under section 175;
- (e) all annually recurring sums received from the Government in aid of the funds of the Board;
- (f) all premia received by the Board in connection with leases for any term not exceeding forty years;
- (g) all rents of land vested in the Board; and
- (h) all other receipts by the Board which are not required by section 122 to be credited to the capital account.

Application of revenue
account.

125. (1) The moneys credited to the revenue account shall be held by the Board in trust, and shall be applied to—

- (a) meeting all charges for interest and sinking fund due on account of any loan taken in pursuance of section 89, clause (a), or section 91, and all other charges incurred in connection with such loans;
- (b) paying all sums due from the Board in respect of rates and taxes imposed under the Calcutta Municipal Act, Ben. Act III of 1899, upon land vested in the Board;
- (c) paying the cost (if any) of maintaining a separate establishment for the collection of the rents and other proceeds of land vested in the Board;
- (d) paying all sums which the Local Government may direct to be paid to any auditor under section 132;
- (e) making payments in pursuance of section 149, for interest or for expenses of maintenance or working;
- (f) paying the cost of management, excluding such proportion thereof as may be debited to the capital account under clause (g) of section 123; and
- (g) paying all other sums due from the Board, other than those which are required by section 123 to be disbursed from the capital account.

(Chapter VI.—Finance.—Accounts.—Sections 126—134.)

(2) The surplus (if any) remaining after making the payments referred to in sub-section (1) shall, subject to the maintenance of a closing balance of one lakh of rupees, and except as provided in section 127, and unless the Local Government otherwise directs, be invested, in the manner prescribed in section 101, towards the service of any loans outstanding after the expiry of sixty years from the commencement of this Act.

Power to direct sale of securities which any surplus of the revenue account is invested. 126. If, at any time after any surplus referred to in section 125, sub-section (2), has been invested, the Local Government is satisfied that the investment is not needed for the service of any loan referred to in that sub-section, it may direct the sale of the securities held under the investment.

Advances from revenue account to capital account. 127. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 125, the Board may advance any sum standing at the credit of the revenue account for the purpose of meeting capital expenditure.

(2) Every such advance shall be refunded to the revenue account as soon as may be practicable.

Advances from capital account to revenue account. 128. (1) Any deficit in the revenue account at the end of any financial year may be made good by an advance from the capital account.

(2) Every such advance shall be refunded to the capital account in the following financial year.

Submission of abstracts of accounts to Local Government. 129. The Board shall submit to the Local Government, at the end of each half of every financial year, an abstract of the accounts of their receipts and expenditure.

Annual audit of accounts. 130. The accounts of the Board shall, once in every financial year, be examined and audited by such auditor as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf.

Powers of auditor. 131. The auditor so appointed may,—
(a) by written summons, require the production before him of any document which he may consider necessary for the proper conduct of the audit;
(b) by written summons, require any person having the custody or control of, or being accountable for, any such document to appear in person before him; and
(c) require any person so appearing before him to make and sign a declaration with respect to any such document, to answer any question, or to prepare and submit any statement.

Remuneration of auditor. 132. The Board shall pay to the said auditor such remuneration as the Local Government may direct.

Reports and information to be furnished by auditor to the Board. 133. The said auditor shall—
(a) report to the Board any material impropriety or irregularity which he may observe in the expenditure, or in the recovery of moneys due to the Board, or in the accounts, and report the same to the Local Government;
(b) furnish to the Board such information as they may from time to time require concerning the progress of his audit, and
(c) within fourteen days after the completion of his audit, forward his report upon the accounts to the Chairman.

Board to remedy defects pointed out by auditor. 134. It shall be the duty of the Board forthwith to remedy any defects or irregularities that may be pointed out by the auditor.

(Chapter VI.—Finance.—Accounts.—Chapter VII.—Rules.— Sections 135—138.)

Auditor's report to be sent to each Trustee and considered by Board.

135. The Chairman shall cause the report mentioned in section 133, clause (c), to be printed, and shall forward a printed copy thereof to each Trustee, and shall bring such report before the Board for consideration at their next meeting.

Publication and transmission of an abstract of the accounts.

136. As soon as practicable after the receipt of the said report, the Board shall prepare an abstract of the accounts to which it relates, and shall publish such abstract by notification, and shall send a copy of the abstract to the Chairman of the Corporation and to the Local Government.

CHAPTER VII.—RULES.

Further powers to Local Government for making rules.

137. In addition to the power conferred by section 86, the Local Government may make rules—

- (1) for regulating elections under sub-sections (1), (2) and (3) of section 7 ;
- (2) for prescribing the maximum sum which may be paid to any person by way of fees under section 22 ;
- (3) for fixing the charge to be made for a copy of, or extracts from, the municipal assessment-book furnished to the Chairman under section 46 ; and
- (4) for prescribing the form of the abstracts of accounts referred to in sections 129 and 136.

Further powers to Board for making rules.

138. (1) In addition to the power conferred by section 31, the Board may from time to time make rules (not inconsistent with any rules made by the Local Government or the President of the Tribunal under this Act) for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, the Board may make rules—

- (a) for associating members with the Board under section 18 ;
- (b) for appointing persons (other than Trustees and persons associated with the Board under section 19) to be members of Committees under section 20 ;
- (c) for regulating the delegation of powers or duties of the Board to Committees under section 20 ;
- (d) for the guidance of persons employed by them under this Act ;
- (e) for prescribing the fees payable for copies of documents delivered under section 43, sub-section (3) ;
- (f) for facilitating the taking of a census and securing accurate returns thereof ;
- (g) for the maintenance and management of dwellings and shops constructed under re-housing schemes.

(3) In making any rule under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), the Board may provide that a breach of it shall be punishable—

- (i) with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or
- (ii) in case of a continuing breach, with fine which may extend to fifty rupees for every day during which the breach continues after receipt of written notice from the Chairman to discontinue the breach.

Conditions precedent to the making of rules under section 137 or 138.

139. The power to make rules under section 86, section 137 or section 138 is subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication, and to the following further conditions, namely,—

- (a) a draft of the rules shall be published by notification and in local newspapers;
- (b) such draft shall not be further proceeded with until after the expiration of a period of one month from such publication, or such longer period as the Local Government or (in the case of rules made under section 138) the Board may appoint;
- (c) for one month at least during such period, a printed copy of such draft shall be kept at the Board's office for public inspection, and every person shall be permitted at any reasonable time to peruse the same, free of charge;
- (d) printed copies of such draft shall be delivered to any person requiring the same, on payment of a fee of two annas for each copy.

Sanction of Local Government required to rules made under section 138.

140. No rule made under section 138 shall have any validity unless and until it is sanctioned, with or without modification, by the Local Government.

Publication of rules.

141. When any rule has been made under section 86 or section 137, and when any rule has been made under section 138 and duly sanctioned, it shall be published by the Local Government by notification, and such publication shall be conclusive proof that the rule has been duly made.

Printing and sale of copies of rules.

142. (1) The Chairman shall cause all rules made under section 86, section 137 or section 138 and for the time being in force to be printed, and shall cause printed copies thereof to be delivered to any applicant on payment of a fee of two annas for each copy.

(2) Notice of the fact of copies of rules being obtainable at the said price, and of the place where and the person from whom the same are obtainable, shall be given by the Chairman by advertisement in local newspapers.

Exhibition of copies of rules.

143. Copies, in English and Bengali, of all rules made under section 137 or section 138 shall be hung or affixed in some conspicuous part of the Board's office and in such places of public resort affected by the rules as the Chairman may think fit.

Power of Local Government to cancel rules made under section 138.

144. The Local Government may at any time, by notification, cancel any rule made by the Board under section 138.

CHAPTER VIII.—SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

Status of Trustees, etc.

Trustees, etc., deemed public servants.

145. Every Trustee, and every officer and servant of the Board, and every member and officer and servant of the Tribunal, shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of section 21 of the Indian Penal Code.

XLV of 1901.

Contributions towards leave-allowances and pensions of Government servants.

Contributions by Board towards leave allowances and pensions of Government servants employed under this Act.

146. The Board shall be liable to pay such contributions for the leave-allowances and pension of any Government servant employed as Chairman or as an officer or servant of the Board, or as a member or officer or servant of the Tribunal, as may be prescribed in any general or special orders of the Government for regulating the transfer of Government servants to foreign service.

(Chapter VIII.—Supplemental Provisions.—Extension of Acts to areas in the neighbourhood of the Calcutta Municipality.—Facilities for movement of the population.—Sections 147—149.)

Extension of Acts to areas in the neighbourhood of the Calcutta Municipality.

Power to extend the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, to areas near Calcutta, to which provisions of the present Act have been extended.

147. (1) When any provision of this Act has been extended to any area under section 1, sub-section (3), the Local Government may, by notification published in the Calcutta Gazette and in such other manner (if any) as it may consider necessary, extend to such area the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, or any portion thereof, subject to such restrictions and modifications (if any) as may be specified in such notification.

Beng. Act III of 1899.

(2) When the said Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, or any portion thereof, is extended under sub-section (1) to any area, then—

(a) the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, or the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1886, as the case may be, or the corresponding portion of such Act, as the case may be, if in force in such area, shall be deemed to be repeated therein, and,

Beng. Act III of 1884.

Beng. Act III of 1886.

(b) except as the Local Government may otherwise, by notification, direct, all rules, by-laws, regulations, orders, directions and powers made, issued or conferred under the portions of the said Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, which have been so extended and in force at the date of such extension, shall apply to the said area, in supersession of all corresponding rules, by-laws, regulations, orders, directions and powers (if any) made, issued or conferred under the said Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, or the said Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1886, as the case may be.

Beng. Act III of 1899.

Beng. Act III of 1884.

Beng. Act III of 1886.

Publication of notifications under sections 147 and 148 in draft, for criticism.

148. (1) Before finally publishing any notification under section 1, sub-section (3), or section 147, sub-section (1), the Local Government shall publish a draft of the same in the Calcutta Gazette.

(2) Any ratepayer or inhabitant of the area affected by such draft may, if he objects to the draft, submit his objection in writing to the Local Government within six weeks from its publication, and the Local Government shall take such objection into consideration.

Facilities for movement of the population.

Powers of the Board for facilitating movement of the population.

149. With a view to facilitating the movement of the population in and around the Calcutta Municipality, the Board may from time to time,—

(1) subject to any conditions they may think fit to impose,—

(a) guarantee the payment, from the funds at their disposal, of such sums as they may think fit, by way of interest on capital expended on the construction, maintenance or working of means of locomotion, or

(b) make such payments as they may think fit from the said funds, by way of subsidy to persons undertaking to provide, maintain and work means of locomotion; or

(2) either singly or in combination with any other person, construct, maintain and work any means of locomotion, under the provisions of any law applicable thereto, or

(3) construct, or widen, strengthen or otherwise improve, bridges:

Provided that no guarantee or subsidy shall be made under clause (1), and no means of locomotion shall be constructed, maintained or worked under clause (2), without the sanction of the Local Government.

(Chapter VIII.—Supplemental Provisions.—Telegraph and Railways Acts.—Legal Proceedings.—Sections 150—155.)

Telegraph and Railways Acts.

Saving of Telegraph and Railways Acts. 150. Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to affect the provisions of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, or the Indian Railways Act, 1890.

XXIII of 1885
IX of 1890.

Legal Proceedings.

Cognizance of offences. 151. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, all offences against this Act or any rule made hereunder shall, wherever committed, be cognisable by a Presidency Magistrate; and no such Magistrate shall be deemed to be incapable of taking cognizance of any such offence by reason only of being liable to pay any tax imposed by this Act or of his being benefited by the funds to the credit of which any fine imposed by him will be payable.

V of 1898.

Limitation of time for prosecution. 152. No person shall be liable to punishment for any offence against this Act or any rule made hereunder unless complaint of such offence is made before a Presidency Magistrate within three months next after the commission of such offence.

Power to hear case in absence of accused when summoned to appear. 153. If any person, who has been summoned to appear before a Presidency Magistrate to answer a charge of an offence against this Act or any rule made hereunder which is punishable with fine only, fails to appear at the time and place mentioned in the summons, the Magistrate may, if service of the summons is proved to his satisfaction, and if no sufficient cause is shown for the non-appearance of such person, hear and determine the case in his absence.

Powers of Chairman as to institution, etc., of legal proceedings and obtaining legal advice. 154. The Chairman may, subject to the control of the Board,—

- (a) institute, defend or withdraw from, legal proceedings under this Act or any rule made hereunder;
- (b) compound any offence against this Act or any rule made hereunder which, under any law for the time being in force, may lawfully be compounded;
- (c) admit, compromise or withdraw any claim made under this Act or any rule made hereunder; and
- (d) obtain such legal advice and assistance as he may from time to time think it necessary or expedient to obtain, or as he may be desired by the Board to obtain, for any of the purposes referred to in the foregoing clauses of this section, or for securing the lawful exercise or discharge of any power or duty vested in or imposed upon the Board or any officer or servant of the Board.

Indemnity to Board, etc. 155. No suit shall be maintainable against the Board, or any Trustee, or any officer or servant of the Board, or any person acting under the direction of the Board or of the Chairman or of any officer or servant of the Board, in respect of anything lawfully and in good faith and with due care and attention done under this Act or any rule made hereunder.

(Chapter VIII.—Supplemental Provisions.—Legal Proceedings.— Police.—Evidence.—Sections 156—159.)

Notice of suit against Board, etc.

156. No suit shall be instituted against the Board, or any Trustee, or any officer or servant of the Board, or any person acting under the direction of the Board or of the Chairman or of any officer or servant of the Board, in respect of any act purporting to be done under this Act or any rule made hereunder, until the expiration of one month next after written notice has been delivered or left at the Board's office or the place of abode of such officer, servant or person, stating the cause of action, the name and place of abode of the intending plaintiff, and the relief which he claims; and the plaint must contain a statement that such notice has been so delivered or left.

Police.

Co-operation of the Police.

157. (1) The Commissioner of Police and his subordinates shall be bound to co-operate with the Chairman for carrying into effect and enforcing the provisions of this Act.

(2) It shall be the duty of every police-officer who is subordinate to the Commissioner of Police—

(i) to communicate without delay to the proper officer or servant of the Board any information which he receives of a design to commit or of the commission of any offence against this Act or any rule made hereunder, and

(ii) to assist the Chairman or any officer or servant of the Board reasonably demanding his aid for the lawful exercise of any power vesting in the Chairman or in such officer or servant under this Act or any such rule.

Arrest of offenders.

158. (1) Every police-officer shall arrest any person who commits, in his view, any offence against this Act or any rule made hereunder, if the name and address of such person be unknown to him, and if such person, on demand, declines to give his name and address, or gives a name or address which such officer has reason to believe to be false.

(2) No person so arrested shall be detained in custody after his true name and address are ascertained, or, without the order of a Magistrate, for any longer time, not exceeding at the most twenty-four hours from the arrest, than is necessary for bringing him before a Magistrate.

(3) On the written application of the Chairman, any police-officer above the rank of constable shall arrest any person who obstructs any officer or servant of the Board in the exercise of any of the powers conferred by this Act or any rule made hereunder.

Evidence.

Proof of consent, etc., of Board or Chairman or officer or servant of Board.

159. Whenever, under this Act or any rule made hereunder, the doing or the omitting to do anything or the validity of anything depends upon the approval, sanction, consent, concurrence, declaration, opinion or satisfaction of—

(a) the Board or the Chairman, or

(b) any officer or servant of the Board, a written document, signed in case (a) by the Chairman, and in case (b) by the said officer or servant, purporting to convey or set forth such approval, sanction, consent, concurrence, declaration, opinion or satisfaction, shall be sufficient evidence of such approval, sanction, consent, concurrence, declaration, opinion or satisfaction.

*(Chapter VIII.—Supplemental Provisions.—Validation.—
Compensation.—Public Notices and Advertisements.—
Sections 160—163.)*

Validation.

Validation of acts and proceedings.

160. (1) No act done or proceeding taken under this Act shall be questioned on the ground merely of—

- (a) the existence of any vacancy in, or any defect in the constitution of, the Board or any Committee; or
- (b) any person having ceased to be a Trustee; or
- (c) any Trustee, or any person associated with the Board under section 19, or any other member of a Committee appointed under this Act, having voted or taken any other part in any proceeding in contravention of section 23; or
- (d) the failure to serve a notice under section 45 on any person, where no substantial injustice has resulted from such failure; or
- (e) any omission, defect or irregularity not affecting the merits of the case.

(2) Every meeting of the Board, the minutes of the proceedings of which have been duly signed as prescribed in section 14, clause (4), shall be taken to have been duly convened and to be free from all defect and irregularity.

Compensation.

General power of Board to pay compensation.

161. In any case not otherwise expressly provided for in this Act, the Board may pay reasonable compensation to any person who sustains damage by reason of the exercise of any of the powers vested, by this Act or any rule made or scheme sanctioned hereunder, in the Board or the Chairman or any officer or servant of the Board.

Compensation to be paid by offenders for damage caused by them.

162. (1) If, on account of any act or omission, any person has been convicted of an offence against this Act or any rule made hereunder, and, by reason of the same act or omission of the said person, damage has occurred to any property of the Board, compensation shall be paid by the said person for the said damage, notwithstanding any punishment to which he may have been sentenced for the said offence.

(2) In the event of dispute, the amount of compensation payable by the said person shall be determined by the Magistrate before whom he was convicted of the said offence.

(3) If the amount of any compensation due under this section be not paid, the same shall be recovered under a warrant from the said Magistrate, as if it were a fine inflicted by him on the person liable therefor.

Public Notices and Advertisements.

Public notices how to be made known.

163. Every public notice given under this Act or any rule made thereunder shall be in writing over the signature of the Chairman, and shall be widely made known in the locality to be affected thereby, by affixing copies thereof in conspicuous public places within the said locality, or by publishing the same by beat of drum or by advertisement in local newspapers, or by any two or more of these means, and by any other means that the Chairman may think fit.

Newspapers to which advertisements or notices to be published.

164. Whenever it is provided by this Act or any rule made hereunder that notice shall be given by advertisement in local newspapers, or that a notification or any information shall be published in local newspapers, such notice, notification or information shall be inserted, if practicable, in at least two English newspapers and two vernacular newspapers.

Signature and Service of notices or bills.

Stamping signature on notices or bills.

165. Every notice or bill, which is required by this Act or by any rule made hereunder to bear the signature of the Chairman or of any other Trustee or of any officer or servant of the Board, shall be deemed to be properly signed if it bears a facsimile of the signature of the Chairman or of such other Trustee or of such officer or servant, as the case may be, stamped thereupon.

Service how to be effected.

166. When any notice, bill or other document is required by this Act or any rule made hereunder to be served upon or issued or presented to any person, such service, issue or presentation shall be effected—

- (a) by giving or tendering such document to such person; or
- (b) if such person is not found, by leaving such document at his last known place of abode in Calcutta, or by giving or tendering the same to some adult male member or servant of his family; or
- (c) if such person does not reside in Calcutta, and his address elsewhere is known to the Chairman, by forwarding such document to him by registered post under cover bearing the said address; or
- (d) if none of the means aforesaid be available, by causing a copy of such document to be affixed on some conspicuous part of the land (if any) to which the document relates.

Surveys.

Power to make surveys, or contribute towards their cost.

167. The Board may—

- (a) cause a survey of any land to be made, whenever they consider that a survey is necessary or expedient for carrying out any of the purposes of this Act, or
- (b) contribute towards the cost of any such survey made by any other local authority.

Penalties.—Sections 168—170.)

Power of Entry.

Power of entry. 168. (1) The Chairman may, with or without assistants or workmen, enter into or upon any land, in order—

- (a) to make any inspection, survey, measurement, valuation or inquiry,
- (b) to take levels,
- (c) to dig or bore into the subsoil,
- (d) to set out boundaries and intended lines of work,
- (e) to mark such levels, boundaries and lines by placing marks and cutting trenches, or
- (f) to do any other thing.

whenever it is necessary to do so for any of the purposes of this Act or any rule made or scheme sanctioned hereunder or any scheme which the Board intend to frame hereunder:

Provided as follows:—

- (a) no such entry shall be made between sunset and sunrise;
- (b) no dwelling-house, and no public building or hut which is used as a dwelling-place, shall be so entered, unless with the consent of the occupier thereof, without giving the said occupier at least twenty-four hours' previous written notice of the intention to make such entry;
- (c) sufficient notice shall in every instance be given, even when any premises may otherwise be entered without notice, to enable the inmates of any apartment appropriated to females to remove to some part of the premises where their privacy need not be disturbed;
- (d) due regard shall always be had, so far as may be compatible with the exigencies of the purpose for which the entry is made, to the social and religious usages of the occupants of the premises entered.

(2) Whenever the Chairman enters into or upon any land in pursuance of sub-section (1), he shall at the time of such entry pay or tender payment for all necessary damage to be done as aforesaid; and, in case of dispute as to the sufficiency of the amount so paid or tendered, he shall at once refer the dispute to the Board, whose decision shall be final.

Penalties.

Punishment for acquiring share or interest in contract, etc., with the Board.

169. If any Trustee, or any officer or servant of the Board, knowingly acquires, directly or indirectly, by himself or by any partner, employer or employé, otherwise than as such Trustee, officer or servant, any share or interest in any contract or employment with, by, or on behalf of, the Board, not being a share or interest such as, under sub-section (2) of section 9, it is permissible for a Trustee to have without being thereby disqualified for being appointed a Trustee, he shall be deemed to have committed the offence made punishable by section 166 of the Indian Penal Code.

XLV of 1900.

Penalty for removing fence, etc., in street.

170. If any person, without lawful authority,—

- (a) removes any fence or shoring-timber, or removes or extinguishes any light, set up under section 59, or

(Chapter VIII.—Supplemental Provisions.—Penalties.— Disposal of fines and damages.—Sections 171-175.)

- (b) infringes any order given, or removes any bar, chain or post fixed, under section 60, sub-section (2).

he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Penalty for building within street alignment or building line fixed by Board.

171. If any person, without the permission of the Board, erects, re-erects, adds to, or alters any building or wall so as to make the same fall within the street alignment or building line shown in any plan finally adopted by the Board under section 63, he shall be punishable—

- (a) with fine which may extend, in the case of a masonry building or a wall, to five hundred rupees, and, in the case of a hut, to fifty rupees, and
- (b) with further fine which may extend, in the case of a masonry building or a wall, to one hundred rupees, and, in the case of a hut, to ten rupees, for each day after the first during which the projection continues.

Penalty for failure to set back building or wall on requisition.

172. If any person fails to set back any building, wall or part thereof when so required by notice issued under section 63, sub-section (3), he shall be punishable—

- (a) with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, or
- (b) in case of a continuing failure, with fine which may extend to twenty rupees for each day after the first during which the failure continues.

Penalty for failure to comply with requisition made by auditor.

173. If any person fails to comply with any requisition made under section 131, he shall be punishable—

- (a) with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees; or
- (b) in case of a continuing failure, with fine which may extend to fifty rupees for each day after the first during which the failure continues.

Penalty for obstructing contractor or removing mark.

174. If any person—

- (a) obstructs or molests any person with whom the Chairman has entered into a contract on behalf of the Board, in the performance or execution by such person of his duty or of anything which he is empowered or required to do by virtue or in consequence of this Act or any rule made hereunder, or
- (b) removes any mark set up for the purpose of indicating any level or direction necessary to the execution of works authorised by this Act or any rule made or scheme sanctioned hereunder, he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two months.

Disposal of Fines and Damages.

Fines, damages and proceeds of confiscations to be paid to Board.

175. All fines and damages realized, and the proceeds of all confiscations, in cases in which prosecutions are instituted under this Act or any rule made hereunder, shall be paid to the Board.

(Chapter VIII.—Supplemental Provisions.—Suspension or abolition, and re-imposition, of taxation or Municipal contributions.—Dissolution of Board.—Sections 176, 177.)

Suspension or abolition, and re-imposition, of taxation or Municipal contributions.

Suspension or abolition, and re-imposition, of taxation or Municipal contributions.

176. (1) Whenever the Local Government considers that any duty or tax imposed by Chapter V, or any payment required by section 88, or any portion of any such duty, tax or payment, as the case may be, is not required for the purposes of this Act, it may, by notification, with the previous sanction of the Government of India,—

- (a) suspend, for any specified period, the levy of such duty or tax or any specified portion thereof, or the making of such payment or any specified portion thereof, or
- (b) abolish such duty, tax or payment, or any specified portion thereof, from a date to be specified in the notification.

(2) If at any time the Local Government considers that any duty, tax or payment, or any portion thereof, which has been suspended or abolished under sub-section (1) is required for the purposes of this Act, it may, by notification, with the previous sanction of the Government of India, cancel such suspension or abolition, wholly or in part, as it may think fit, from a date to be specified in the notification.

Dissolution of Board.

Ultimate dissolution of Board, and transfer of their assets and liabilities to the Corporation.

177. (1) When all schemes sanctioned under this Act have been executed, or have been so far executed as to render the continued existence of the Board, in the opinion of the Local Government, unnecessary, the Local Government may, by notification, with the previous sanction of the Government of India, declare that the Board shall be dissolved from such date as may be specified in this behalf in such notification; and the Board shall be deemed to be dissolved accordingly.

(2) From the said date,—

- (a) all properties, funds and dues which are vested in or realizable by the Board and the Chairman, respectively, shall vest in and be realizable by the Corporation and the Chairman of the Corporation, respectively; and
- (b) all liabilities which are enforceable against the Board shall be enforceable only against the Corporation; and
- (c) for the purpose of completing the execution of any scheme, sanctioned under this Act, which has not been fully executed by the Board, and of realizing properties, funds and dues referred to in clause (a), the functions of the Board and the Chairman under this Act shall be discharged by the Corporation and the Chairman of the Corporation, respectively; and
- (d) the Corporation shall keep separate accounts of all moneys respectively received and expended by them under this Act, until all loans raised hereunder have been repaid, and until all other liabilities referred to in clause (b) have been duly met.

(The Schedule—Sections 1—5.)

THE SCHEDULE.

[Referred to in section 71].

“(e) the expression ‘local authority’ includes the Board of Trustees constituted under the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911.”

Amendment
of section 11.

2. To section 11 the following shall be deemed to be added, namely:—

“and

“(iv) the costs which, in his opinion, should be allowed, to any person who is found to be entitled to compensation, and who is not entitled to receive the additional sum of fifteen per centum mentioned in section 23, sub-section (2), as having been actually and reasonably incurred by such person in preparing his claim and putting his case before the Collector.

“The Collector may disallow, wholly or in part, costs incurred by any person, if he considers that the claim made by such person for compensation is extravagant.”

Amendment
of section 15.

3. In section 15, for the word and figures “and 24” the figures, word and letter “24 and 24A” shall be deemed to be substituted.

Amendment
of section 17.

4. (1) In section 17, sub-section (3), after the figures “24” the words, figures and letter “or section 24A” shall be deemed to be inserted.

(2) To the said section 17 the following shall be deemed to be added, namely:—

“(4) Sub-sections (1) and (3) shall apply also in the case of any area which is stated in a certificate granted by a salaried Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class to be unhealthy.

“(5) Before granting any such certificate, the Magistrate shall cause notice to be served as promptly as may be on the persons referred to in sub-section (3) of section 9, and shall hear without any avoidable delay any objections which may be urged by them.

“(6) When proceedings have been taken under this section for the acquisition of any land, and any person sustains damage in consequence of being suddenly dispossessed of such land, compensation shall be paid to such person for such dispossession.”

New section
7A.

5. After section 17 the following shall be deemed to be inserted, namely:—

“17A. In every case referred to in section 16 or section 17, the Collector shall, upon payment of the cost of acquisition, make over charge of the land to the Board; and the land shall thereupon vest in the Board, subject to the liability of the Board to pay any further costs which may be incurred on account of its acquisition.”

(The Schedule—Sections 6-9.)

Amendment of section 18. 6. At the end of section 18, sub-section (1), the words "or the amount of the costs allowed" shall be deemed to be inserted.

Amendment of section 19. 7. After the words "amount of compensation," in clause (c) of section 19, the words "and of costs (if any)" shall be deemed to be inserted.

Amendment of section 20. 8. After the words "amount of the compensation," in clause (c) of section 20, the words "or costs" shall be deemed to be inserted.

Amendment of section 23. 9. (1) In sub-section (2) of section 23, after the words "in every case" the following shall be deemed to be inserted, namely:—

"except where the land acquired is situated in the Calcutta Municipality and within the area comprised in an improvement scheme sanctioned under the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911."

(2) At the end of section 23 the following shall be deemed to be added, namely:—

"(3) For the purposes of clause first of sub-section (1) of this section,—

(a) the market-value of the land shall be deemed to be the market-value according to the disposition of the land at the date of the publication of the declaration relating thereto under section 6;

(b) if it be shown that, before such declaration was published, the owner of the land had taken active steps and incurred expenditure to secure a more profitable disposition of the same, further compensation, based on his actual loss, may be paid to him;

(c) if the market-value has been increased by means of any improvement made by the owner or his predecessor in interest within two years before the aforesaid declaration was published, such increase shall be disregarded, unless it be proved that the improvement was made bona fide and not in contemplation of proceedings for the acquisition of the land being taken under this Act;

(d) if the market-value is specially high in consequence of the land being put to a use which is unlawful or contrary to public policy, that use shall be disregarded, and the market-value shall be deemed to be the market-value of the land if put to ordinary uses; and

(e) if the market-value of any building is specially high in consequence of the building being so overcrowded as to be dangerous to the health of the inmates, such overcrowding shall be disregarded, and the market-value shall be deemed to be the market-value of the building if occupied by such number of persons only as could be accommodated in it without risk of danger from overcrowding."

(The Schedule—Sections 10—13.)

Amendment
of section 24.

10. For clause seventieth of section 24 the following shall be deemed to be substituted, namely:—

“seventieth, any outlay on additions or improvements to land acquired, which was incurred after the date of the publication of the declaration under section 6, unless such additions or improvements were necessary for the maintenance of any building in a proper state of repair.”

New section
24A.

11. After section 24 the following shall be deemed to be inserted, namely:—

“24A. In determining the amount of compensation to be awarded for any land acquired for the Board under this Act, the Tribunal shall also have regard to the following provisions, namely,—

(1) when any interest in any land acquired under this Act has been acquired after the date of the publication of the declaration under section 6, no separate estimate of the value of such interest shall be made so as to increase the amount of compensation to be paid for such land;

(2) if, in the opinion of the Tribunal, any building is in a defective state, from a sanitary point of view, or is not in a reasonably good state of repair, the amount of compensation shall not exceed the sum which the Tribunal considers the building would be worth if it were put into a sanitary condition or into a reasonably good state of repair, as the case may be, minus the estimated cost of putting it into such condition or state;

(3) if, in the opinion of the Tribunal, any building, which is used or is intended or is likely to be used for human habitation, is not reasonably capable of being made fit for human habitation, the amount of compensation shall not exceed the value of the materials of the building, minus the cost of demolishing the building.”

section 31.

12. (1) After the words “the compensation” in sub-section (1) of section 31, and after the words “the amount of the compensation” in sub-section (2) of that section, the words “and costs (if any)” shall be deemed to be inserted.

(2) After the words “any compensation”, in the concluding proviso to sub-section (2) of section 31, the words “or costs” shall be deemed to be inserted.

New sections
48A and 48B.

13. After section 48 the following shall be deemed to be inserted, namely:—

“48A. (1) If, within a period of two years from the date of the publication of the declaration under section 6, in respect of any land, the Collector has not made an award under section 11 with respect to such land, the owner of the land shall be entitled to receive compensation for the damage suffered by him in consequence of the delay.

(2) The provisions of Part III of this Act shall apply, so far as may be, to the determination of the compensation payable under this section.

(The Schedule—Section 14.)

“48B. No compensation shall be payable in pursuance of section 48 or section 48A when proceedings for the acquisition of land have been abandoned on the execution of an agreement, or the acceptance of a payment, in pursuance of sub-section (4) of section 78 of the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911.”

Amendment
of section 48.

14. After sub-section (1) of section 49, the following shall be deemed to be inserted, namely :—

“(1a) For the purposes of sub-section (1), land which is held with and attached to a house and is reasonably required for the enjoyment and use of the house shall be deemed to be part of the house.”

PART IV.

Bills introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council, Reports of Select Committees presented to that Council, and Bills published under Rule 34.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bills were introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council on the 22nd July 1911, and are hereby published for information, together with a Statement of Objects and Reasons:—

THE BENGAL LOCAL GOVERNMENT BILL, 1911.

BILL

to transfer functions of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

WHEREAS the Governor General in Council has, with the approval of the Secretary of State in Council, by Proclamation No. 5278, dated the 18th November, 1910, made under section 3 of the Indian Councils Act, 1909, created a Council for the purpose of assisting the Lieutenant-Governor in the executive government of the Province of Bengal; Edw. 7, c. 1.

And whereas it is expedient to direct that the functions of the Lieutenant-Governor under enactments made by authorities in British India shall, with certain exceptions, be discharged by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council;

And whereas the sanction of the Governor General has been obtained, under section 5 of the Indian Councils Act, 1892, to the passing of this Act;

50 2 50
Vic. 14, c. 14.

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Bengal Local Government Act, 1911.

Discharge of functions of Lieutenant-Governor by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

2. All functions of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal under any enactment made by any authority in British India, or under any notification, order, scheme, rule, by-law or form issued, made or prescribed under any such enactment, shall be discharged by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council: [Cf. Act VII of 1906, s. 2.]

Provided that the Lieutenant-Governor may, by written order, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, direct that any such function shall be discharged by the Lieutenant-Governor personally.

Signature of orders and proceedings.

3. (1) Save in cases where an officer is specially empowered by or under any enactment other than this Act to sign an order of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council or the Lieutenant-Governor, every order and proceeding of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council or the Lieutenant-Governor shall be signed by a Secretary, Deputy Secretary, Under-Secretary or Assistant Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

(2) Every order and proceeding so signed shall be presumed to have been issued in conformity with—

(a) section 2, or

(b) the orders made by the Lieutenant-Governor under the proviso to that section, or

(c) the rules and orders made by the Lieutenant-Governor, with the consent of the Governor-General in Council, under section 3, sub-section (3), of the Indian Councils Act, 1909, for the more convenient transaction of business in his Executive Council, s. 14, c. 4.

as the case may be.

Validation of past orders and proceedings.

4. All orders and proceedings under any enactment, notification, order, scheme, rule, by-law or form referred to in section 2, which were required by law to be issued by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal and have, before the commencement of this Act, been issued in the name of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council, shall be deemed to be as valid as if they had been issued in the name of the Lieutenant-Governor.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to give full effect to the establishment of an Executive Council in Bengal by directing that the statutory functions of the Lieutenant-Governor shall be discharged by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, except any functions which the Lieutenant-Governor may, by written order, reserve to himself. This direction is given by clause 2 of the Bill. The clause is so drawn as (1) to except Acts of Parliament, which sections 42 and 48 of the Indian Councils Act, 1861 (24 & 25 Vict., c. 67), prevent Local Legislatures from affecting, and (2), to extend to rules and orders made under enactments, as well as to the enactments themselves.

2. Clause 3 of the Bill directs that all orders and proceedings of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council or the Lieutenant-Governor shall be signed by a Secretary, Deputy Secretary, Under-Secretary or Assistant Secretary to the Government of Bengal, and shall, when so signed, be presumed to have been issued in conformity with law.

3. Orders of the Government of Bengal are now being issued in the name of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, and it is proposed, in clause 4 of the Bill, to make a declaration to prevent the validity of these orders being called in question.

(2) When the Local Government has extended Chapter XII to any area, by notification under section 142, it may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, declare that the whole or any part of the enactments specified in Schedule II shall be deemed to be repealed in that area.

Definitions.

3. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "agricultural year" means the year commencing on the first day of Baisakh: [1885, s. 3(2); Notn.]

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter I.—Preliminary—Clause 3.)

Provided that the first agricultural year shall be deemed to commence on the first day of Baisakh following the date of the commencement of this Act ;

(2) "bajiaftidar" means a person holding land the title to hold which was declared invalid by the Cuttack Land-revenue Regulation, 1805, the Bengal Land-revenue Assessment (Resumed Lands) Regulation, 1819, or the Bengal Revenue-free Lands Regulation, 1825, and which has been assessed, in the course of a settlement of land-revenue, at a rent fixed for the term of that settlement ; and includes also the successors in interest of such a person ;

XII of 1805,
II of 1819,
XIV of 1825.

(3) "chandnadar" means a person holding non-agricultural land under a title which has been recognised in the course of a settlement of land-revenue, and whose rent has been fixed for the term of that settlement ; and includes also the successors in interest of such a person ;

(4) "Collector," in any provision of this Act, means the Collector of a district, and includes also—

(Ben. Act VI
of 1862, s. 19 ;
Ben. Act IV
of 1867, s. 5 ;
1885, s. 3(18) ;
1908, s. 3
(viii).)

(a) any Revenue-officer or Deputy Collector who is specially empowered by the Local Government to discharge any of the functions of a Collector under that provision, and

(b) any Deputy Collector to whom the Collector may, by general or special order, transfer any of his functions under that provision ;

(5) "Commissioner" means the Commissioner of the Orissa Division, and includes also any other person specially empowered by the Local Government to discharge the functions of the Commissioner in any particular area ;

(vi).)

(6) "Deputy Collector" includes an Assistant Collector and any Sub-Deputy Collector who is specially empowered by the Local Government to discharge any of the functions of a Deputy Collector under this Act ;

(1850, s. 185 ;
(viii).)

(7) "estate" means land included under one entry in any of the general registers of revenue-paying lands and revenue-free lands, prepared and maintained under the law for the time being in force by the Collector of a district ; and includes Government khas mahals and revenue-free lands not entered in any register ; and includes also all sub-proprietary interests comprised in an estate ;

(1885, s. 3(1)
Notn.).

(8) "holding" means a parcel or parcels of land held by a raiyat and forming the subject of a separate tenancy ;

(1885, s. 3(9) ;
Notn.).

(9) "landlord" means a person immediately under whom a tenant holds, and includes the Government ;

(1885, s. 3(10) ;
Notn.).

(10) "pay," "payable" and "payment," used with reference to rent, include "deliver," "deliverable" and "delivery" ;

(1885, s. 3(6) ;
Notn.).

(11) "Permanent Settlement" means the Permanent Settlement of portions of Orissa, made in the year 1793 and in subsequent years ;

(1835, s. 3(12) ;
Notn.).

(12) "permanent tenure" means a tenure which is heritable and which is not held for a limited time ;

(1835, s. 3(13) ;
Notn.).

(13) "prescribed" means prescribed by the Local Government by notification in the Calcutta Gazette ;

(1885, s. 3(15) ;
Notn.).

(14) "proprietor" means a person owning, whether in trust or for his own benefit, an estate or a part of an estate ;

(1885, s. 3(16) ;
Notn.).

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter I—Preliminary—Clause 3.)

(15) "proprietors' private lands" means lands which are known in Orissa as nij-jote or khudkast, and are held by proprietors, or by sub-proprietors other than those referred to in sub-clause (i) of clause (22), or by tenants holding under such proprietors or sub-proprietors under leases for a term of years or under leases from year to year. [1885, s. 116; Notfn.]

(16) "registered" means registered under any Act for the time being in force for the registration of documents; [1885, s. 3(18); Notfn.]

(17) "rent" means whatever is lawfully payable or deliverable in money or kind by a tenant to his landlord on account of the use or occupation of the land held by the tenant; and [1885, s. 3(5); Notfn.]

for the purposes of sections 55 to 70 and 75 to 78, Chapter XIV, Chapter XVII and Schedule IV, "rent" includes also money recoverable under any enactment for the time being in force as if it was rent;

(18) "Revenue Court" means any Court (other than a Civil Court) having jurisdiction under this Act to entertain suits or other proceedings; [Act, V of 1908, s. 3(2).]

(19) "Revenue-officer," in any provision of this Act, means any officer whom the Local Government may appoint to discharge any of the functions of a Revenue-officer under that provision; [1885, s. 3(17); Notfn.]

(20) "signed" includes "marked" when the person making the mark is unable to write his name; it also includes "stamped" with the name of the person referred to; [1885, s. 3(14); Notfn.]

(21) "sub-proprietary interest" means the interest of a sub-proprietor;

(22) "sub-proprietor" means a person who, in the course of a settlement of land revenue, has executed a lease and counterpart engagement as a proprietary or sub-proprietary tenure-holder; and includes also—

(i) persons holding lands the title to hold which for a payment fixed in perpetuity was declared valid by the Cuttack Land-revenue Regulation, 1805, and XII of 1806,

(ii) the successors in interest of any person as aforesaid;

(23) "succession" includes both intestate and testamentary succession; [1885, s. 3(15); Notfn.]

(24) "tenant" means a person who holds land under another person, and is, or but for a special contract would be, liable to pay rent for that land to that person; but does not include a chandnadar; [1885, s. 3(2); Notfn.]

(25) "tenure" means the interest of a tenure-holder or an under-tenure-holder; and [1885, s. 3(7); Notfn.]

(26) "village" means the area defined, surveyed and recorded as a distinct and separate village in— [1885, s. 3(20); Notfn.]

(a) the general land-revenue survey which has been made of the Province of Bengal, or

(b) any survey made by the Government which may be adopted by notification in the Calcutta Gazette as defining villages for the purposes of this clause in any specified area; and, where a survey has not been made by, or under the authority of, the Government, "village" means such area as the Collector may, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, by general or special order, declare to constitute a village.

CHAPTER II.

CLASSES OF TENANTS.

Classes of tenants.

4. There shall be, for the purposes of this Act, the following <sup>[185 a. 4; Notn.]</sup> classes of tenants, namely:—

- (1) tenure-holders, including under-tenure-holders,
- (2) raiyats, and
- (3) under-raiyats, that is to say, tenants holding, whether immediately or mediately, under raiyats; and the following classes of raiyats, namely:—

- (a) raiyats holding at fixed rates, which expression means raiyats holding either at a rent fixed in perpetuity or at a rate of rent fixed in perpetuity,
- (b) occupancy-raiyats, that is to say, raiyats having a right of occupancy in the land held by them, and
- (c) non-occupancy-raiyats, that is to say, raiyats not having such a right of occupancy.

Meaning of "tenure-holder" and
"raiya."

5. (1) "Tenure-holder" means primarily a person who has <sup>[185 a. 5; Notn.]</sup> acquired from a proprietor, or from another tenure-holder, a right to hold land for the purpose of collecting rents or bringing it under cultivation by establishing tenants on it, and includes also the successors in interest of persons who have acquired such a right.

(2) "Raiyat" means primarily a person who has acquired a right to hold land for the purpose of cultivating it by himself, or by members of his family, or by hired servants, or with the aid of partners, and includes also the successors in interest of persons who have acquired such a right.

Explanation.—Where a tenant of land has the right to bring it under cultivation, he shall be deemed to have acquired a right to hold it for the purpose of cultivation, notwithstanding that he uses it for the purpose of gathering the produce of it or of grazing cattle on it.

(3) A person shall not be deemed to be a raiyat unless he holds land either immediately under a proprietor or immediately under a tenure-holder.

(4) In determining whether a tenant is a tenure-holder or a raiyat, the Court shall have regard to—

- (a) local custom; and
- (b) the purpose for which the right of tenancy was originally acquired.

(5) Where the area held by a tenant exceeds thirty-three acres, the tenant shall be presumed to be a tenure-holder until the contrary is shown.

Status of baijaf-tidars and sub-propriators

6. Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained,—

- (f) every baijaf-tidar who is recorded, in any record-of-rights finally published under Chapter XI, or under any other law for the time being in force, or in any Land Records published and finally framed under Chapter XII, as a tenure-holder, and his successors in interest, shall be deemed to be a tenure-holder for all the purposes of this Act;

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter III.—Tenure-holders.—Clauses 7, 8.)

- (H) every bajiaftidar who is recorded in any such record-of-rights or Land Records as a raiyat, and his successors in interest, shall be deemed to be a tenure-holder for the purposes of sections 13 to 16 and a raiyat for the purposes of all other sections of this Act; and
- (Hh) every sub-proprietor shall be deemed to be a tenure-holder for the purposes of sections ■ to 16 and 22.

CHAPTER III.

TENURE-HOLDERS.

Tenure in a permanently-settled area held since Permanent Settlement, liable to enhancement only in certain cases.

7. Where a tenure in a permanently-settled area has been held from the time of the Permanent Settlement, its rent shall not be liable to enhancement, except on proof—

- (a) that the landlord under whom it is held ■ entitled to enhance the rent thereof either by local custom or by the conditions under which the tenure is held, or
- (b) that the tenure-holder, by receiving reductions of his rent, otherwise than on account of a diminution of the area of the tenure, has subjected himself to the payment of the increase demanded, and that the lands are capable of affording it.

Limit of enhancement of rent of tenure.

8. (1) Where the rent of a tenure-holder is liable to enhancement, it may, subject to any contract between the parties, be enhanced up to the limit of the customary rate payable by persons holding similar tenures in the vicinity. [1885, s. 7 Note.]

(2) Where no such customary rate exists, it may, subject as aforesaid, be enhanced up to such limit as the Court thinks fair and equitable.

(3) In determining what is fair and equitable, the Court shall not leave to the tenure-holder as profit less than ten per centum of the balance which remains after deducting from the gross rents payable to him the expenses of collecting them, and shall have regard to—

- (a) the circumstances under which the tenure was created, for instance, whether the land comprised in the tenure, or a great portion of it, was first brought under cultivation by the agency or at the expense of the tenure-holder or his predecessors in interest, whether any fine or premium was paid on the creation of the tenure, and whether the tenure was originally created at a specially low rent for the purpose of reclamation; and
- (b) the improvements if any, made by the tenure-holder or his predecessors in interest.

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter III.—Tenure-holders.—Clauses 9—14.)

(4) If the tenure-holder himself occupies any portion of the land included in the area of his tenure, or has made a grant of any portion of the land either rent-free or at a beneficial rent, a fair and equitable rent shall be calculated for that portion and included in the gross rents aforesaid.

Power to order gradual enhancement.

9. The Court may, if it thinks that an immediate increase of rent would produce hardship, direct that the enhancement shall be gradual; that is to say, that the rent shall increase yearly by degrees, for any number of years not exceeding five, until the limit of the enhancement allowed has been reached. [1888, s. 2.]

Rent once enhanced may not be altered for fifteen years.

10. When the rent of a tenure-holder has been enhanced by the Court or by contract, it shall not be again enhanced by the Court during the fifteen years next following the date on which it has been so enhanced. [1888, s. 3.]

Other incidents of tenures.

Permanent tenure-holder, in permanently-settled area, not liable to ejectment.

11. A holder of a permanent tenure in a permanently-settled area shall not be ejected by his landlord, except on the ground that he has broken a condition on breach of which he is, under the terms of a contract between him and his landlord, liable to be ejected: [1888, s. 10.]

Provided that, where the contract is made after the commencement of this Act, the condition is consistent with the provisions of this Act.

Transfer and transmission of permanent tenure in permanently-settled area.

12. Every permanent tenure in a permanently-settled area shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be capable of being transferred and bequeathed in the same manner and to the same extent as other immovable property. [1888, s. 11.]

Consent of landlord required to certain transfers.

13. Every transfer, by sale, gift or exchange, of any tenure or portion of a tenure, except—

(a) land referred to in sub-clause (i) of clause (22) of section 3,

(b) land held by a sub-proprietor who is a sikmi zamindar, a padhan, a mokaddam or a pursethi kharidadar, and

(c) land held by a bajlaffidar, shall be invalid unless made with the consent of the landlord.

Registration of certain transfers of tenures.

14. (1) When any tenure or portion of a tenure is transferred by succession, [1888, s. 27; 1903, s. 11.]

and when any tenure or portion of a tenure is transferred by sale, gift or exchange (with the consent of the landlord, where such consent is required by section 13), the transferee or his successor in title shall cause the transfer to be registered in the office of the landlord to whom the rent of the tenure or portion is payable.

(2) The landlord shall, in the absence of sufficient reason to the contrary, allow the registration of all such transfers.

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter III.—Tenure-holders.—Clause 16.)

(3) Whenever any such transfer is registered in the office of the landlord, he shall be entitled to levy a registration-fee as follows, namely:—

(a) when land referred to in sub-clause (i) of clause (22) of section 3, or land held by a sub-proprietor who is a sikmi zamindar, a padhan, a mokaddam or a pursathi kharidadar, is transferred—

(i) by succession—a fee of two rupees*, or

(ii) by sale, gift or exchange—a fee of five rupees*;

* These sums are provisional proposals of an Orissa Committee, and are specially open to discussion in Select Committees.

(b) when land held by a bajiaftidar is transferred—

(i) by succession—a fee of one rupee*, or

(ii) by sale, gift or exchange—a fee of two rupees*; and

(c) when land held by any other tenure-holder is transferred—

(i) by succession—a fee of two rupees*, or

(ii) by sale—a fee of twenty-five rupees* per centum of the consideration-money, or

(iii) by gift or exchange—a fee of twenty-five rupees* per centum of the annual rent of the tenure or portion, or, if rent be not payable in respect of the tenure or portion thereof, then a fee of five rupees*;

(4) If, in any case in which the consent of the landlord to a transfer is required by section 13, the landlord accepts the fee authorized by sub-section (3), his consent to the transfer shall be deemed to have been given.

(5) If, in any such case, the landlord refuses to accept the fee, the transferee or his successor in interest may apply to the Collector; and if the Collector, after giving notice to the landlord to appear and be heard, considers the refusal to be unreasonable, he shall, on payment of the fee to him, send the same to the landlord by postal money-order, and shall, by order, declare that the landlord's consent to the transfer shall be deemed to have been given.

(6) If an application for the registration of any transfer of a tenure or portion thereof under sub-section (7) is not made within a period of six months from the date of the transfer, and if the registration-fee authorized by sub-section (3) is not paid or tendered within that period, the transferee or his successor in title shall not be entitled to recover, at any time after the expiry of the said period, by suit or other proceeding, any rent which may have become due to him, as the owner of such tenure or portion, between the date of the transfer and the date of the application for registration.

Procedure on refusal of landlord to allow registration of transfer of tenure.

16. If any landlord refuses to allow the registration of any transfer as required by section 14, sub-section (2), the transferee or his successor in title may make application to the Collector; and the Collector shall thereupon, after causing notice to be served on the landlord, make such inquiry as he considers necessary; and, if no sufficient grounds are shown for the refusal, shall pass an order declaring that the transfer shall be deemed to be registered.

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter III.—Tenure-holders.—Chapter IV.—Raiyats holding at fixed rates.—Chapter V.—Occupancy-raiyats.—Clauses 16—19.)

Distribution of rent of tenure.

16. Notwithstanding anything contained in sections 13 [1885, s. 17; 1906, s. 15.] to 15, a distribution of the rent payable in respect of any tenure or portion thereof shall not be binding on the landlord unless it is made with the express consent in writing of the landlord or of his agent if specially authorized in that behalf.

CHAPTER IV.

RAIYATS HOLDING AT FIXED RATES.

Incidents of holding at fixed rates.

17. A raiyat holding at a rent, or rate of rent, fixed in perpetuity— [1885, s. 16.]

(a) shall be subject to the same provisions with respect to the transfer of, and succession to, his holding as the holder of a permanent tenure, and

(b) shall not be ejected by his landlord, except on the ground that he has broken a condition consistent with this Act, and on breach of which he is, under the terms of a contract between him and his landlord, liable to be ejected.

CHAPTER V.

OCCUPANCY-RAIYATS.

General.

Continuance of existing occupancy-rights.

18. (1) Every raiyat who immediately before the commencement of this Act has, by the operation of any enactment, by custom or otherwise, a right of occupancy in any land, shall, when this Act comes into force, have a right of occupancy in that land. [1885, s. 19; Notn.]

(2) The exclusion from the operation of this Act, by a notification under sub-section (5) of section 1, of any area or part of an area which is constituted a Municipality under the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, shall not affect any right, obligation or liability previously acquired, incurred or accrued in reference to such area or part. Ben. Act III of 1884.

Definition of "settled raiyat."

19. (1) Every person who, for a period of twelve years, whether wholly or partly before or after the commencement of this Act, has continuously held as a raiyat land situate in any village, whether under a lease or otherwise, shall be deemed to have become, on the expiration of that period, a settled raiyat of that village. [1885, s. 20; Notn.]

(2) A person shall be deemed, for the purposes of this section, to have continuously held land in a village, notwithstanding that the particular land held by him has been different at different times.

(3) A person shall be deemed, for the purposes of this section, to have held as a raiyat any land held as a raiyat by a person whose heir he is.

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter V.—Occupancy-raiyat —Clauses 20, 21.)

(4) Land held by two or more co-sharers as a raiyat holding shall be deemed, for the purposes of this section, to have been held as a raiyat by each such co-sharer.

(5) A person shall continue to be a settled raiyat of a village as long as he holds any land as a raiyat in that village and for one year thereafter.

(6) If a raiyat recovers possession of land under section 20, he shall be deemed to have continued to be a settled raiyat, notwithstanding his having been out of possession more than a year.

(7) If, in any proceeding under this Act, it is proved or admitted that a person holds any land as a raiyat, it shall, as between him and the landlord under whom he holds the land, be presumed, for the purposes of this section, until the contrary is proved or admitted, that he has for twelve years continuously held that land or some part of it as a raiyat.

Settled raiyats to have rights.

20. (1) Every person who is a settled raiyat of a village within the meaning of section 19 shall have a right of occupancy in all land for the time being held by him as a raiyat in that village. [1885, s. 21; Notfn.]

(2) Every person who, being a settled raiyat of a village within the meaning of section 19, held land as a raiyat in that village at any time between the tenth day of September, 1881, and the commencement of this Act, shall be deemed to have acquired a right of occupancy in that land under the law then in force; but nothing in this sub-section shall affect any decree or order passed by a Court before the commencement of this Act.

Effect of acquisition of occupancy-right by landlord.

21. (1) When the immediate landlord of an occupancy-holding is a proprietor or permanent tenure-holder, and the entire interests of the landlord and the raiyat in the holding become united in the same person by transfer, succession or otherwise, such person shall have no right to hold the land as a tenant, but shall hold it as a proprietor or permanent tenure-holder (as the case may be); but nothing in this sub-section shall prejudicially affect the rights of any third person. [1885, s. 22; Notfn.]

(2) If the occupancy-right in land is transferred to a person jointly interested in the land as proprietor or permanent tenure-holder, he shall be entitled to hold the land subject to the payment to his co-proprietors or joint permanent tenure-holders of the shares of the rent which may be from time to time payable to them; and, if such transferee sub-lets the land to a third person, such third person shall be deemed to be a tenure-holder or a raiyat, as the case may be, in respect of the land.

Illustration.—A, a co-sharer landlord, purchases the occupancy-holding of a raiyat X. A is entitled himself to hold the land on payment to his co-sharers of the shares of the rent payable to them in respect of the holding. A sub-lets the land to Y, who takes it for the purpose of establishing tenants on it: Y becomes a tenure-holder in respect of the land. Or A sub-lets it to Z, who takes it for the purpose of cultivating himself: Z becomes a raiyat in respect of the land.

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter V.—Occupancy-raiyats.—Clauses 22—28.)

(3) A person holding land as an ijáradar or farmer of rents shall not, while so holding, acquire, by purchase or otherwise, a right of occupancy in any land comprised in his ijára or farm.

Explanation.—A person having a right of occupancy in land does not lose it by subsequently becoming jointly interested in the land as proprietor or permanent tenure-holder, or by subsequently holding the land in ijára or farm.

22. When a raiyat has a right of occupancy in respect of any land, he may use the land in any manner which does not materially impair the value of the land or render it unfit for the purposes of the tenancy; but shall not be entitled to cut down trees in contravention of any local custom. [1885, a. 23; Notfn.]

23. An occupancy-raiyat shall pay rent for his holding at fair and equitable rates. [1885, a. 24; Notfn.]

24. An occupancy-raiyat shall not be ejected by his landlord from his holding, except in execution of a decree for ejectment passed on the ground— [1885, a. 25; Notfn.]

- (a) that he has used the land comprised in his holding in a manner which renders it unfit for the purposes of the tenancy, or
- (b) that he has broken a condition consistent with the provisions of this Act, and on breach of which he is, under the terms of a contract between himself and his landlord, liable to be ejected.

25. If a raiyat dies intestate in respect of a right of occupancy, it shall, subject to any custom to the contrary, descend in the same manner as other immovable property: [1885, a. 26; Notfn.]

Provided that, in any case in which, under the law of inheritance to which the raiyat is subject, his other property goes to the Crown, his right of occupancy shall be extinguished.

26. The rent for the time being payable by an occupancy raiyat shall be presumed to be fair and equitable until the contrary is proved. [1885, a. 27; Notfn.]

27. Where an occupancy-raiyat pays his rent in money, his rent shall not be enhanced, except as provided by this Act. [1885, a. 28; Notfn.]

28. The money-rent of an occupancy-raiyat may be enhanced by contract, subject to the following conditions:— [1885, a. 29; Notfn.]

- (a) the contract must be in writing and registered;
- (b) the rent must not be enhanced so as to exceed by more than two annas in the rupee the rent previously payable by the raiyat;

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter V.—Occupancy-raiyats.—Clauses 29, 30.)

- (c) the rent fixed by the contract shall not be liable to enhancement during a term of fifteen years from the date of the contract:

Provided as follows:—

- (i) nothing in clause (a) shall prevent a landlord from recovering rent at the rate at which it has been actually paid for a continuous period of not less than three years immediately preceding the period for which the rent is claimed;
- (ii) nothing in clause (b) shall apply to a contract by which a raiyat binds himself to pay an enhanced rent in consideration of an improvement which has been or is to be effected in respect of the holding by, or at the expense of, his landlord, and to the benefit of which the raiyat is not otherwise entitled; but an enhanced rent fixed by such a contract shall be payable only when the improvement has been effected and, except when the raiyat is chargeable with default in respect of the improvement, only so long as the improvement exists and substantially produces its estimated effect in respect of the holding;
- (iii) when a raiyat has held his land at a specially low rate of rent in consideration of cultivating a particular crop for the convenience of the landlord, nothing in clause (b) shall prevent the raiyat from agreeing, in consideration of his being released from the obligation of cultivating that crop, to pay such rent as he may deem fair and equitable.

Enhancement
rent by suit.

29. The landlord of a holding held at a money-rent by an occupancy-raiyat may, subject to the provisions of this Act, institute a suit to enhance the rent on one or more of the following grounds, namely:—

[1885, s. 50;
Notes.]

- (a) that the rate of rent paid by the raiyat is below the prevailing rate paid by occupancy-raiyats for land of a similar description and with similar advantages in the same village or in neighbouring villages, and that there is no sufficient reason for his holding at so low a rate;
- (b) that there has been a rise in the average local prices of staple food-crops during the currency of the present rent;
- (c) that the productive powers of the land held by the raiyat have been increased by an improvement effected by, or at the expense of, the landlord during the currency of the present rent;
- (d) that the productive powers of the land held by the raiyat have been increased by fluvial action.

Explanation.—"Fluvial action" includes a change in the course of a river, rendering irrigation from the river practicable when it was not previously practicable.

Rule as to enhancement on ground of prevailing rate.

30. Where an enhancement is claimed on the ground that the rate of rent paid is below the prevailing rate,—

[1885, s. 31
Notes.]

- (a) in determining what is the prevailing rate, the Court shall have regard to the rates generally paid during a period of not less than three years before the institution of the suit, and shall not decree an enhancement unless there is a substantial difference between the rate paid by the raiyat and the prevailing rate found by the Court;

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter V.—Occupancy-raiyats.—Clause 31.)

- (b) if, in the opinion of the Court, the prevailing rate of rent cannot be satisfactorily ascertained without a local inquiry, the Court may direct that a local inquiry be held under Order XXVI in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, by such Revenue-officer as the Local Government may authorize in that behalf by rule made under rule 9 in the said Order;

of 1908.

- (c) in determining under this section the rate of rent payable by a raiyat, his caste shall not be taken into consideration, unless it is proved that by local custom caste is taken into account in determining the rate; and, whenever it is found that by local custom any description of raiyats hold land at favourable rates of rent, the rate shall be determined in accordance with that custom;

- (d) in ascertaining the prevailing rate of rent, the amount of any enhancement authorized on account of a landlord's improvement shall not be taken into consideration;

- (e), if a favourable rate has been determined under clause (c) for any description of raiyats, such rate may, if the Court thinks fit, be left out of consideration in ascertaining the prevailing rate;

- (f) if the holding is held at a lump rental, the determination of the rent to be paid may be made by ascertaining the different classes of land comprised within the holding, and applying to the area of each class the prevailing rate paid on that class within the village or neighbouring villages.

What may be taken in certain districts to be the "prevailing rate."

31. In any district or part of a district to which this sub-section is extended by the Local Government by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, whenever the prevailing rate for any class of land is to be ascertained under section 29, clause (a), by an examination of the rates at which lands of a similar description and with similar advantages are held within any village or villages, the highest of such rates at which, and at rates higher than which, the larger portion of those lands is held may be taken to be the prevailing rate.

[1885, a. 31A
(1) Notn.]

Illustrations.

- (a) The rates at which land of a similar description and with similar advantages is held in a village are as follow:—

Bighas.						Ra. A. P.
100	...	...	...	...	at	1 0 0
200	...	...	...	...	"	1 8 0
160	...	...	...	...	"	1 12 0
100	...	...	...	...	"	2 0 0
160	...	...	...	...	"	2 4 0
Total	...	700

Then Ra. 2-4 is not the prevailing rate, because only 160 bighas, or less than half, are held at that rate. Ra. 2 is not the prevailing rate, because 260 bighas, or less than half, are held at that or a higher rate. Ra. 1-12 is the prevailing rate, because 400 bighas, or more than half, are held either at this or a higher rate; and this is the highest rate at which, and at rates higher than which, more than half the land is held.

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter V.—Occupancy-*raiya*s.—Clauses 32—34.)

(b) The rates at which land of a similar description and with similar advantages is held in a village are as follow :—

Bighas.	Rs.	A.	P.
100 ... ..	at	1	0 0
250 ... ..	"	1	6 0
160 ... ..	"	1	8 0
150 ... ..	"	1	12 0
80 ... ..	"	2	0 0
Total ... 700

Then, for the reasons given in Illustration (a), neither Rs. 2 nor Rs. 1-12 is the prevailing rate, nor is Rs. 1-8 the prevailing rate, because only 350 bighas (exactly half) are held at Rs. 1-8 or at rates higher than Rs. 1-8. In this case, Rs. 1-4 is the prevailing rate, because more than half the lands are held at Rs. 1-4 or higher rates, and this is the highest rate at which, and at rates higher than which, more than half the land is held.

Limit to enhancement of prevailing rate.

32. When the prevailing rate has once been determined [1885, a. 31B, Notfn.] by a Revenue-officer under Chapter XI or by a Revenue Court in any suit under this Act, it shall not be liable to enhancement save on the ground and to the extent specified in section 29, clause (b), and section 33.

Rules as to enhancement on ground of rise in prices.

33. Where an enhancement is claimed on the ground of [1885, a. 3; Notfn.] rise in prices,—

- (a) the Court shall compare the average prices during the decennial period immediately preceding the institution of the suit with the average prices during such other decennial period as it may appear equitable and practicable to take for comparison;
- (b) the enhanced rent shall bear to the previous rent the same proportion as the average prices during the last decennial period bear to the average prices during the previous decennial period taken for purposes of comparison:

Provided that, in calculating this proportion, the average prices during the later period shall be reduced by one-third of their excess over the average prices during the earlier period;

- (c) if, in the opinion of the Court, it is not practicable to take the decennial periods prescribed in clause (a), the Court may, in its discretion, substitute any shorter periods therefor.

Rules as to enhancement on ground of landlord's improvement.

34. (1) Where an enhancement is claimed on the ground of [1885, a. 33; Notfn.] a landlord's improvement,—

- (a) the Court shall not grant an enhancement, unless the improvement has been registered in accordance with this Act;
- (b) in determining the amount of enhancement, the Court shall have regard to—
  - (i) the increase in the productive powers of the land caused or likely to be caused by the improvement,
  - (ii) the cost of the improvement,
  - (iii) the cost of the cultivation required for utilising the improvement, and
  - (iv) the existing rent, and the ability of the land to bear a higher rent.

(2) A decree under this section shall, on the application of the tenant or his successor in interest, be subject to re-consideration in the event of the improvement not producing or ceasing to produce the estimated effect.

Rules as to enhancement on ground of increase in productive powers due to fluvial action.

35. Where an enhancement is claimed on the ground of an increase in productive powers due to fluvial action,—

[1885, s. 34; Notfn.]

(a) the Court shall not take into account any increase which is merely temporary or casual;

(b) the Court may enhance the rent to such an amount as it may deem fair and equitable, but not so as to give the landlord more than one-half of the value of the net increase in the produce of the land.

Enhancement by suit to be fair and equitable.

36. Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing sections, the Court shall not in any case decree any enhancement which is under the circumstances of the case unfair or inequitable.

[1885, s. 35; Notfn.]

Power to order progressive enhancement.

37. If the Court passing a decree for enhancement considers that the immediate enforcement of the decree in its full extent will be attended with hardship to the raiyat, it may direct that the enhancement shall be gradual; that is to say, that the rent shall increase yearly by degrees for any number of years not exceeding five until the limit of the enhancement decreed has been reached.

Limitation of right to bring successive enhancement suits.

38. (1) A suit instituted for the enhancement of the rent of a holding on the ground that the rate of rent paid is below the prevailing rate, or on the ground of a rise in prices, shall not be entertained if within the fifteen years next preceding its institution the rent of the holding has been enhanced by a contract made after the tenth day of September, 1891, or if within the said period of fifteen years the rent has been commuted under section 41 or a decree has been passed under this Act or any enactment repealed by this Act enhancing the rent on either of the grounds aforesaid or on any ground corresponding thereto or dismissing the suit on the merits.

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect the provisions of rule 1 in Order XXIII in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

V of 1908.

Reduction of rent.

39. (1) An occupancy-raiyat holding at a money-rent may institute a suit for the reduction of his rent on the following grounds, and, except as hereinafter provided in the case of a diminution of the area of the holding, not otherwise, namely:—

[1885, s. 38; Notfn.]

(a) on the ground that the soil of the holding has, without the fault of the raiyat, become permanently deteriorated by a deposit of sand or other specific cause, sudden or gradual, or

(b) on the ground that there has been a fall, not due to a temporary cause, in the average local prices of staple food-crops during the currency of the present rent.

(2) In any suit instituted under this section, the Court may direct such reduction of the rent as it thinks fair and equitable.

Price-lists of staple food-crops.

40. (1) The Collector of every district shall prepare, monthly or at shorter intervals, periodical lists of the market-prices of staple food-crops grown in such local areas as the Local Government may direct, and shall submit them to the Board of Revenue for approval or revision.

[1885, s. 39; Notfn.]

(2) The Collector may, if so directed by the Local Government, prepare for any local area like price-lists relating to such past times as the Local Government thinks fit, and shall submit the lists so prepared to the Board of Revenue, for approval or revision.

Oriya Tenancy.(Chapter V.—Occupancy-raiyats.—Clause 41.)

(3) The Collector shall, one month before submitting a price-list to the Board of Revenue under this section, publish it in the prescribed manner within the local area to which it relates; and if any landlord or tenant of land within the local area, within the said period of one month, presents to him in writing any objection to the list, he shall submit the same to the Board of Revenue with the list.

(4) The price-lists shall, when approved or revised by the Board of Revenue, be published in the Calcutta Gazette; and any manifest error in any such list discovered after its publication may be corrected by the Collector with the sanction of the Board of Revenue.

(5) The Local Government shall cause to be compiled from the periodical lists prepared under this section lists of the average prices prevailing throughout each year, and shall cause them to be published annually in the Calcutta Gazette.

(6) In any proceedings under this Chapter for an enhancement or reduction of rent on the ground of a rise or fall in prices, the Court shall refer to the lists published under this section, and shall presume that the prices shown in the lists prepared for any year subsequent to the commencement of this Act are correct, and may presume that the prices shown in the lists prepared for any year prior to the commencement of this Act are correct, unless and until it is proved that they are incorrect.

(7) The Local Government, subject to the control of the Governor General in Council, shall make rules for determining what are to be deemed staple food-crops in any local area, and for the guidance of officers preparing price-lists under this section.

Commutation.

Commutation of rent payable in kind.

41. (1) Where an occupancy-raiyat pays for a holding rent in kind, or on the estimated value of a portion of the crop, or at rates varying with the crop, or partly in one of those ways and partly in another, or partly in any of those ways and partly in cash, either the raiyat or his landlord may apply to have the rent commuted to a money-rent. [1908, p. 40
Notia.]

(2) The application may be made to—

- (i) the Collector or Sub-divisional Officer, or
- (ii) a Revenue-officer appointed by the Local Government, under the designation of Settlement-officer or Assistant Settlement-officer, for the purpose of making a survey and record-of-rights under Chapter XI, or
- (iii) any other officer specially authorized in this behalf by the Local Government.

(3) On the receipt of the application, the officer may determine the sum to be paid as money-rent, and may order that the raiyat shall, in lieu of paying his rent in kind or otherwise as aforesaid, pay the sum so determined.

(4) In making the determination, the officer shall have regard to—

- (a) the average money-rent payable by occupancy-raiyats for land of a similar description and with similar advantages in the vicinity;
- (b) the average value of the rent actually received by the landlord during the preceding ten years or during any shorter period for which evidence may be available;
- (c) the charges incurred by the landlord in respect of irrigation under the system of rent in kind, and the arrangements made on commutation for continuing those charges;

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter V.—Occupancy-raiyats.—Chapter VI.—Non-occupancy-raiyats.—Clauses 42—45.)

(d) improvements effected by the landlord or by the occupancy-raiyat in respect of the raiyat's holding, and

(e) the rules laid down in section 34 regarding enhancement of rent on the ground of a landlord's improvement.

(5) The order shall be in writing, shall state the grounds on which it is made and the time from which it is to take effect, and shall be subject to appeal in like manner as if it were an order made in an ordinary revenue proceeding.

(6) If the application is opposed, the officer shall consider whether, under all the circumstances of the case, it is reasonable to grant it, and shall (unless the landlord has recovered rent in excess of the rate allowed by section 71) have regard—

(i) to the effect of commutation into a money-rent on the income of the landlord, where the landlord, being a dependent, a widow, a minor, an infirm person, or a person who by the custom of the country cannot personally cultivate, relies for livelihood upon the share of the produce payable as rent, and

(ii) to the question whether the share of the produce payable as rent is applied for religious or charitable purposes.

(7) If the officer refuses the application, he shall record in writing the reasons for the refusal, and the order of refusal shall be subject to appeal in like manner as if it were an order made in an ordinary revenue proceeding.

Period for which commuted rents are to remain unaltered.

42. (1) Where the rent of a holding has been commuted under section 41, it shall not, except on the ground of a landlord's improvement or of a subsequent alteration of the area of the holding, be enhanced for fifteen years; nor shall it be reduced for fifteen years, save on the ground of alteration in the area of the holding, or on the ground specified in clause (a) of section 39. [1885, s. 40A; Notfn.]

(2) The said period of fifteen years shall be counted from the date on which the order takes effect under sub-section (5) of section 41.

CHAPTER VI.

NON-OCCUPANCY-RAIYATS.

Application Chapter.

43. This Chapter shall apply to raiyats not having a right of occupancy, who are in this Act referred to as non-occupancy-raiyats. [1885, s. 41; Notfn.]

Initial rent or money-occupancy-raiyats

44. When a non-occupancy-raiyat is admitted to the occupation of land, he shall become liable to pay such rent as may be agreed on between himself and his landlord at the time of his admission. [1885, s. 42; Notfn.]

Conditions of increase of rent.

45. The rent of a non-occupancy-raiyat shall not be enhanced except by registered agreement or by agreement under section 47: [1885, s. 43; Notfn.]

Provided that nothing in this section shall prevent a landlord from recovering rent at the rate at which it has been actually paid for a continuous period of not less than three years immediately preceding the period for which the rent is claimed.

Orissa Tenancy

(Chapter VI.—Non-occupancy-raiyats.—Clauses 46, 47.)

Grounds on which non-occupancy-raiyat may be ejected.

46. A non-occupancy-raiyat shall, subject to the provisions of [1886, s. 44; Notfn.] this Act, be liable to ejectment on one or more of the following grounds, and not otherwise, namely:—

- (a) on the ground that he has failed to pay an arrear of rent;
- (b) on the ground that he has used the land in a manner which renders it unfit for the purposes of the tenancy, or that he has broken a condition consistent with this Act and on breach of which he is, under the terms of a contract between himself and his landlord, liable to be ejected;
- (c) where he has been admitted to occupation of the land under a registered lease, on the ground that the term of the lease has expired;
- (d) on the ground that he has refused to agree to pay a fair and equitable rent determined under section 47, or that the term for which he is entitled to hold at such a rent has expired.

Conditions of eject-ment on ground of refusal to agree to enhancement.

47. (1) A suit for ejectment on the ground of refusal to [1886, s. 44; Notfn.] agree to an enhancement of rent shall not be instituted against a non-occupancy-raiyat unless the landlord has tendered to the raiyat an agreement to pay the enhanced rent, and the raiyat has within three months before the institution of the suit refused to execute the agreement.

(2) A landlord desiring to tender an agreement to a raiyat under this section may file it in the office of such Court or officer as the Local Government appoints in this behalf, for service on the raiyat. The Court or officer shall forthwith cause it to be served on the raiyat in the prescribed manner; and, when it has been so served, it shall, for the purposes of this section, be deemed to have been tendered.

(3) If a raiyat on whom an agreement has been served under sub-section (2) executes it, and within one month from the date of service files it in the office from which it issued, it shall take effect from the commencement of the agricultural year next following.

(4) When an agreement has been executed and filed by a raiyat under sub-section (3), the Court or officer in whose office it is so filed shall forthwith cause a notice of its being so executed and filed to be served on the landlord in the prescribed manner.

(5) If the raiyat does not execute the agreement and file it under sub-section (3), he shall be deemed for the purposes of this section to have refused to execute it.

(6) If a raiyat refuses to execute an agreement tendered to him under this section, and the landlord thereupon institutes a suit to eject him, the Court shall determine what rent is fair and equitable for the holding.

(7) If the raiyat agrees to pay the rent so determined, he shall be entitled to remain in occupation of his holding at that rent for a term of five years from the date of the agreement, but on the expiration of that term shall be liable to ejectment under the conditions mentioned in section 46, unless he has acquired a right of occupancy.

(8) If the raiyat does not agree to pay the rent so determined, the Court shall pass a decree for ejectment.

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter VI.—Non-occupancy-raiyats.—Chapter VII.—Lands exempted from Chapters V and VI.—Chapter VIII.—Under-raiyats.—Clauses 48—51.)

(9) In determining what rent is fair and equitable, the Court shall have regard to the rents generally paid by raiyats for land of a similar description and with like advantages in the same village.

(10) A decree for ejectment passed under this section shall take effect from the end of the agricultural year in which it is passed.

Explanation of "admitted as occupant."

48. Where a raiyat has been in occupation of land, and a lease is executed with a view to a continuance of his occupation, he is not to be deemed to be admitted to occupation by that lease for the purposes of this Chapter, notwithstanding that the lease may purport to admit him to occupation. [1885, s. 47; Notn.]

CHAPTER VII.

LANDS EXEMPTED FROM CHAPTERS V AND VI.

Bar to acquisition of right of occupancy in, and to application of Chapter VI to, proprietors' private lands and certain other lands.

49. Notwithstanding anything contained in Chapter V, a right of occupancy shall not be acquired in, nor shall anything contained in Chapter VI apply to,— [1884, s. 118; Notn.; 1909, s. 43.]

(a) a proprietor's private lands when they are held by a tenant on a lease for a term of years or on a lease from year to year, or

(b) land acquired under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, for the Government or any Local Authority or Railway Company, or land belonging to the Government within a cantonment, while such land remains the property of the Government or of any Local Authority or Railway Company. [1894, s. 1 of 1894.]

CHAPTER VIII.

UNDER-RAIYATS.

Limit of rent recoverable from under-raiyats.

50. (1) The landlord of an under-raiyat holding at a money-rent shall not be entitled to recover rent exceeding the rent which he himself pays by more than the following percentage of the same, namely:— [1886, s. 43; Notn.]

(a) when the rent payable by the under-raiyat is payable under a registered lease or agreement—fifty per cent.; and

(b) in any other case—twenty-five per cent.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), a bajiaftidar landlord of an under-raiyat holding at a money-rent may, until the rent payable by the under-raiyat is settled under section 110, recover rent exceeding the rent which he himself pays by not more than the following percentage of the same, namely:—

(i) when the rent payable by the under-raiyat is payable under a registered lease or agreement—one hundred per cent; and

(ii) in any other case—fifty per cent.

Restriction on ejectment of under-raiyats.

51. An under-raiyat shall not be liable to be ejected by his landlord, except— [1886, s. 43; Notn.]

(a) on the expiration of the term of a written lease; or

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter IX.—General Provisions as to Rent.—Clauses 52—54.)

- (b) when holding otherwise than under a written lease, at the end of the agricultural year next following the year in which a notice to quit is served upon him by his landlord.

CHAPTER IX.

GENERAL PROVISIONS AS TO RENT.

Rules and presumptions as to amount of rent.

Rules and presumptions as to fixity of rent.

52. (1) Where a tenure-holder or raiyat in a permanent-ly-settled area, and his predecessors in interest, have held at a rent or rate of rent which has not been changed from the time of the Permanent Settlement, the rent or rate of rent shall not be liable to be increased except on the ground of an alteration in the area of the tenure or holding. [1879, ss. 1, 15, 16; 1886, s. 50.]

(2) If it is proved in any suit or other proceeding under this Act that either a tenure-holder or raiyat and his predecessors in interest have held land situated in a permanently-settled area at a rent or rate of rent which has not been changed during the twenty years immediately before the institution of the suit or proceeding, it shall be presumed, until the contrary is shown, that they have held at that rent or rate of rent from the time of the Permanent Settlement:

Provided that, if it is required by or under any enactment that in any local area tenancies, or any classes of tenancies, at fixed rents or rates of rent shall be registered as such on or before a date specified by or under the enactment, the foregoing presumption shall not after that date apply to any tenancy or, as the case may be, to any tenancy of that class, in that local area unless the tenancy has been so registered.

(3) The operation of this section, so far as it relates to land held by a raiyat, shall not be affected by the fact of the land having been separated from other land which formed with it a single holding, or amalgamated with other land into one holding.

(4) Nothing in this section shall apply to a tenure held for a term of years or determinable at the will of the landlord.

Presumption as to amount of rent and conditions of holding.

53. If a question arises as to the amount of a tenant's rent or the conditions under which he holds in any agricultural year, he shall be presumed, until the contrary is shown, to hold at the same rent and under the same conditions as in the last preceding agricultural year. [1882, s. 12; 1886, s. 51.]

Alteration of rent on alteration of area.

Alteration of rent in respect of alteration in area.

54. (1) Every tenant shall—

- (a) be liable to pay additional rent for all land proved by measurement to be in excess of the area for which rent has been previously paid by him, unless it is proved that the excess is due to the addition to the tenure or holding of land which, having previously belonged to the tenure or holding, was lost by diluvion or otherwise without any reduction of the rent being made; and

[1886, s. 52
Notn.]

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter IX.—General Provisions as to Rent.—Clause 55.)

(b) be entitled to a reduction of rent in respect of any deficiency proved by measurement to exist in the area of his tenure or holding as compared with the area for which rent has been previously paid by him, unless it is proved that the deficiency is due to the loss of land which was added to the area of the tenure or holding by alluvion or otherwise, and that an addition has not been made to the rent in respect of the addition to the area.

(3) In determining the area for which rent has been previously paid, the Court shall, if so required by any party to the suit, have regard to—

- (a) the origin and conditions of the tenancy, for instance whether the rent was a consolidated rent for the entire tenure or holding;
- (b) whether the tenant has been allowed to hold additional land in consideration of an addition to his total rent or otherwise with the knowledge and consent of the landlord;
- (c) the length of time during which the tenancy has lasted without dispute as to rent or area; and
- (d) the length of the measure used or in local use at the time of the origin of the tenancy as compared with that used or in local use at the time of the institution of the suit.

(3) In determining the amount to be added to the rent, the Court shall have regard to the rates payable by tenants of the same class for lands of a similar description and with similar advantages in the vicinity, and, in the case of a tenure-holder, to the profits to which he is entitled in respect of the rent of his tenure; and shall not in any case fix any rent which, under the circumstances of the case, is unfair or inequitable.

(4) The amount abated from the rent shall bear the same proportion to the rent previously payable as the diminution of the total yearly value of the tenure or holding bears to the previous total yearly value thereof; or, in default of satisfactory proof of the yearly value of the land lost, shall bear to the rent previously payable the same proportion as the diminution of area bears to the previous area of the tenure or holding.

(5) When in a suit under this section the landlord or tenant is unable to indicate any particular land as held in excess, the rent to be added on account of the excess area may be calculated at the average rate of rent paid on all the lands of the holding, exclusive of such excess area.

(6) When in a suit under this section the landlord or tenant proves that, at the time the measurement on which the claim is based was made, there existed, in respect of the estate or permanent tenure or part thereof in which the tenure or holding is situate, a practice of settlement being made after measurement of the land assessed with rent, it may be presumed that the area of the tenure or holding specified in any lease or counterpart engagement, or (where there is an entry of area in a counterfoil receipt corresponding to the entry in the rent-roll) in any rent-roll relating to it, has been entered in such lease, counterpart engagement or rent-roll after measurement.

Payment of Rent.

Installments of rent: 55. Subject to agreement or established usage, a money-rent [1885, s. 53; payable by a tenant shall be paid in four equal instalments falling Wells] due on the last day of each quarter of the agricultural year.

Local:

*Crimes Tenancy.(Chapter IX.—General Provisions as to Rent.—Clauses 56—60.)*Time and place for payment of rent.

56. (1) Every tenant shall pay each instalment of rent <sup>[1885, s. 54 ;
Notfn.]</sup> before sunset of the day on which it falls due.

(2) The payment shall, except in cases where a tenant is allowed under this Act to deposit his rent, be made at the landlord's village-office, or at such other convenient place as may be appointed in that behalf by the landlord :

Provided that the Local Government may make rules, either generally or for any specified local area, authorising a tenant to pay his rent by postal money-order.

(3) Any instalment or part of an instalment of rent not duly paid at or before the time when it falls due shall be deemed an arrear.

Appropriation of payments.

57. (1) When a tenant makes a payment on account of rent, <sup>[1885, s. 55 ;
Notfn.]</sup> he may declare the year or the year and instalment to which he wishes the payment to be credited, and the payment shall be credited accordingly.

(2) If he does not make any such declaration, the payment may be credited to the account of such year and instalment as the landlord thinks fit.

*Receipts and Accounts.*Tenant making payment to his landlord entitled to a receipt.

58. (1) Every tenant who makes a payment on account of <sup>[1885, s. 56 ;
Notfn.]</sup> rent to his landlord shall be entitled to obtain forthwith from the landlord a written receipt for the amount paid by him, signed by the landlord.

(2) The landlord shall prepare and retain a counterfoil of the receipt.

(3) The receipt and counterfoil shall specify such of the several particulars shown in the form of receipt given in Schedule III as can be specified by the landlord at the time of payment :

Provided that the Local Government may prescribe or sanction a modified form, either generally or for any particular local area or class of cases.

(4) If a receipt does not contain substantially the particulars required by this section, it shall be presumed, until the contrary is shown, to be an acquittance in full of all demands for rent up to the date on which the receipt was given.

Tenant entitled to full discharge or statement of account at close of year.

59. (1) Where a landlord admits that all rent payable by a <sup>[1885, s. 57 ;
Notfn.]</sup> tenant to the end of the agricultural year has been paid, the tenant shall be entitled to receive from the landlord, free of charge, within three months after the end of the year, a receipt in full discharge of all rent falling due to the end of the year, signed by the landlord.

(2) Where the landlord does not so admit, the tenant shall be entitled, on paying a fee of four annas, to receive, within three months after the end of the year, a statement of account specifying the several particulars shown in the form of account given in Schedule III, or in such other form as may be prescribed by the Local Government, either generally or for any particular local area or class of cases.

(3) The landlord shall prepare and retain a copy of the statement, containing similar particulars.

Penalty for the withholding receipts and statements of account and failing to keep counterfoils.

60. (1) If a landlord, without reasonable cause, refuses or <sup>[1885, s. 58 ;
Notfn. ; 1908,
s. 54 (2), (4).]</sup> neglects to deliver to a tenant a receipt, containing the particulars prescribed by section 58, for any rent paid by the tenant, the tenant may, within three months from the date of payment, institute a suit to recover from him such penalty, not exceeding double the amount of value of that rent, as the Court thinks fit.

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter IX.—General Provisions as to Rent.—Clause 61.)

(2) If a landlord, without reasonable cause, refuses or neglects to deliver to a tenant demanding the same either the receipt in full discharge or, if the tenant is not entitled to such a receipt, the statement of account for any year prescribed in section 59, the tenant may, within the next ensuing agricultural year, institute a suit to recover from him such penalty as the Court thinks fit, not exceeding double the aggregate amount or value of all rent paid by the tenant to the landlord during the year for which the receipt or account should have been delivered.

(3) If a landlord or his agent, without reasonable cause, fails to deliver to the tenant a receipt or statement, or to prepare and retain a counterfoil or copy of a receipt or statement, as required by either of the said sections, then, on proof thereof, the Collector may, in a summary proceeding, by order, impose on the landlord a fine which may extend to fifty rupees in respect of each such failure; and may, in his discretion, award to the tenant, by way of compensation, such portion of the fine as the Collector may think fit.

(4) If, in any suit or other proceeding under this Act or any other law, the Court or presiding officer (not being the Collector) finds that any landlord or agent has failed—

(a) to deliver to a tenant a receipt in the prescribed form, or

(b) to prepare and retain a counterfoil, in the prescribed form, of a receipt delivered to a tenant as aforesaid, such Court or officer shall inform the Collector.

(5) Where, in any case instituted under sub-section (3), the Collector discharges any landlord, and is satisfied that the complaint of the tenant on which the proceedings were instituted is false or vexatious, the Collector may, in his discretion, by his order of discharge, direct the tenant to pay to such landlord such compensation, not exceeding fifty rupees, as the Collector thinks fit.

(6) An appeal shall lie to the Commissioner against any order of the Collector imposing a fine under sub-section (3) or awarding compensation under sub-section (5); and the orders passed by the Commissioner on such appeal shall, subject to any order which may be passed on revision by the Board of Revenue, be final.

(7) Any fine imposed or compensation awarded under this section may be recovered in the manner provided by any law for the time being in force for the recovery of a public demand.

(8) For the purpose of an inquiry under this section, the Collector shall have power to summon, and enforce the attendance of, witnesses, and compel the production of documents, in the same manner as is provided in the case of a Court by the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

V of 1908.

Local Government to prepare forms of receipt and account.

61. (1) The Local Government shall cause to be prepared and kept for sale to landlords at all sub-divisional offices forms of receipts, with counterfoils, and of statements of account, suitable for use under the foregoing sections. [1908, a. 50; No. 1.]

(2) The forms may be sold in books with the leaves consecutively numbered or otherwise as the Local Government thinks fit.

Oriental Tenancy.(Chapter IX.—General Provisions as to Rent.—Clauses 62, 63.)

Effect of receipt by registered proprietor, manager, mortgagee or sub-proprietor.

62. Where rent is due to the proprietor, manager or mortgagee of an estate, the receipt of the person registered under the Land Registration Act, 1876, as proprietor, manager or mortgagee of that estate, [1886, s. 60; Nothn.]

Rec. Act VII of 1876.

and where rent is due to a sub-proprietor, the receipt of the person who is—

- (a) registered under section 14 as sub-proprietor, or
- (b) recorded as sub-proprietor in a record-of-rights finally published under Chapter XI or under some other law for the time being in force, or
- (c) recorded as sub-proprietor in Land Records published and finally framed under Chapter XII, or the receipt of the duly authorized agent of any such person as aforesaid, shall be a sufficient discharge for the rent; and the person liable for the rent shall not be entitled to plead in defence to a claim by the person so registered or recorded that the rent is due to any third person.

But nothing in this section shall affect any remedy which any such third person may have against the registered proprietor, manager or mortgagee or the registered or recorded sub-proprietor.

Application to deposit rent in Court.

63. (1) In any of the following cases, namely:—

[1886, s. 61; Nothn.]

- (a) when a tenant tenders money or produce on account of rent, and the landlord refuses to receive it or refuses to grant a receipt for it;
- (b) when a tenant bound to pay money or produce on account of rent has reason to believe, owing to a tender having been refused or a receipt withheld on a previous occasion, that the person to whom his rent is payable will not be willing to receive it and to grant him a receipt for it;
- (c) when the rent is payable to co-sharers jointly, and the tenant is unable to obtain the joint receipt of the co-sharers for the money or produce, and no person has been empowered to receive the rent on their behalf; or
- (d) when the tenant entertains a bona fide doubt as to who is entitled to receive the rent, the tenant may present, to the Court having jurisdiction to entertain a suit for the rent of his tenure or holding, an application in writing for permission to deposit in the Court—

- (i) the full amount of the money then due, or,
- (ii) if the rent is payable in kind, the full value of the produce, either—as stated in any return lodged in the office of the Collector by the landlord under the Cess Act, 1880, at any time within the period of five years next preceding the date of the presentation of the application, or at the option of the tenant, as calculated according to the latest price-list prepared under sub-section (7) of section 40 and published under sub-section (4) of that section in the Calcutta Gazette of the month immediately preceding that in which the application is presented.

Order Tenancy.

(Chapter IX.—General Provisions as to Rent.—Ordinance 64, 65.)

(2) The application shall contain a statement of the grounds on which it is made; and shall state—in cases (a) and (b), the name of the person to whose credit the deposit is to be entered, in case (c), the names of the sharers to whom the rent is due, or of so many of them as the tenant may be able to specify, and in case (d), the name of the person to whom the rent was last paid, and of the person or persons now claiming it; shall be signed and verified, in the manner provided in sub-rules (8) and (9) of rule 15 in Order VI in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, by the tenant, or, where he is not personally cognizant of the facts of the case, by some person so cognizant; and shall be accompanied by a fee of such amount as the Local Government may, by rule, direct.

Receipt granted by Court for rent deposited to be a valid acquittance.

64. (1) If it appears to the Court to which an application is made under section 63 that the applicant is entitled under that section to deposit the rent, it shall receive the rent and give a receipt for it under the seal of the Court. [1905, a. 63; Notn.]

(2) A receipt given under this section shall operate as an acquittance for the amount of the rent payable by the tenant and deposited as aforesaid, in the same manner and to the same extent as if that amount of rent had been received—in cases (a) and (b) of section 63, by the person specified in the application as the person to whose credit the deposit was to be entered; in case (c) of that section, by the co-sharers to whom the rent is due; and in case (d) of that section, by the person entitled to the rent.

Notification of receipt of deposit.

65. (1) The Court receiving the deposit shall forthwith cause to be affixed in a conspicuous place at the Court-house a notification of the receipt thereof, containing a statement of all material particulars. [1905, a. 63; Notn.]

(2) If the amount of the deposit is not paid away under section 66 within the period of fifteen days next following the date on which the notification is so affixed, the Court shall forthwith—in cases (a) and (b) of section 63, cause a notice of the receipt of the deposit to be served, free of charge, on the person specified in the application as the person to whose credit the deposit was to be entered; in case (c) of that section, cause a notice of the receipt of the deposit to be posted at the landlord's village-office or in some conspicuous place in the village in which the holding is situate; and in case (d) of that section, cause a like notice to be served, free of charge, on every person who it has reason to believe claims or is entitled to the deposit.

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter XX.—General Provisions as to Rent.—Clauses 66—70.)

Payment or refund of deposit.

66. (1) The Court may pay the amount of the deposit to any person appearing to it to be entitled to the same, or may, if it thinks fit, retain the amount pending the decision of a Revenue Court as to the person so entitled. [1885, s. 64; Notfn.]

(2) The payment may, if the Local Government so directs, be made by postal money order.

(3) If no payment is made under this section before the expiration of three years from the date on which a deposit is made, the amount deposited may, in the absence of any order of a Revenue Court to the contrary, be repaid to the depositor upon his application and on his returning the receipt given by the Court with which the rent was deposited.

(4) No suit or other proceeding shall be instituted against the Secretary of State for India in Council, or against any officer of the Government, in respect of anything done by a Court receiving a deposit under the foregoing sections; but nothing in this section shall prevent any person entitled to receive the amount of any such deposit from recovering the same from a person to whom it has been paid under this section.

Liability to sale for arrears in case of permanent tenure-holder, bajiaftidar, raiya holding at fixed rate or occupancy-
raiya.

67. Where a tenant is a permanent tenure-holder, a bajiaftidar, a raiya holding at fixed rates or an occupancy-raiya, he shall not be liable to ejectment for arrears of rent, but his tenure or holding shall be liable to sale in execution of a decree for the rent thereof, and the rent shall be a first charge thereon. [1885, s. 65; Notfn.]

Ejectment for arrears in other cases.

68. (1) When an arrear of rent remains due at the end of the agricultural year from a tenant not being a permanent tenure-holder, a bajiaftidar, a raiya holding at fixed rates or an occupancy-raiya, the landlord may, whether he has obtained a decree for the recovery of the arrear or not, and whether he is entitled by the terms of any contract to eject the tenant for arrears or not, institute a suit to eject the tenant. [1885, s. 66; Notfn.]

(2) In a suit for ejectment for an arrear of rent, a decree passed in favour of the plaintiff shall specify the amount of the arrear and of the interest (if any) due thereon; and the decree shall not be executed if that amount and the costs of the suit are paid into Court within fifteen days from the date of the decree, or, when the Court is closed on the fifteenth day, on the day upon which the Court re-opens.

(3) The Court may, for special reasons, extend the period of fifteen days mentioned in this section.

Interest on arrears of money-rent.

69. An arrear of money-rent shall bear simple interest, at the rate of twelve and-a-half per centum per annum, from the expiration of that quarter of the agricultural year in which the instalment falls due to the date of payment or of the institution of the suit, whichever date is earlier. [1885, s. 67; Notfn.]

Power to award damages on rent withheld without reasonable cause, or to deftendant improperly owed for rent.

70. (1) If, in any suit brought for the recovery of arrears of rent, it appears to the Court that the defendant has, without reasonable or probable cause, neglected or refused to pay the amount of rent due by him, the Court may award to the plaintiff, in addition to the amount decreed for rent and costs, such damages, not exceeding twenty-five per centum on the amount of rent decreed, as it thinks fit. [1885, s. 68; Notfn.]

* Provided that interest shall not be decreed when damages are awarded under this section.

(2) If, in any suit brought for the recovery of arrears of rent, it appears to the Court that the plaintiff has instituted the suit without reasonable or probable cause, the Court may award to the defendant, by way of damages, such sum, not exceeding twenty-five per centum on the whole amount claimed by the plaintiff, as it thinks fit.

Ordnance Boundary.

(Chapter IX.—General Provisions as to Rent.—Ordinance 71—73.)

*Produce-rents.*Recovery of 'produce-rent.

71. Where the rent of any land is taken by appraisement or division of the produce, the landlord shall not be entitled to recover rent for that land in excess of half the gross produce of the land, or any interest on such rent, or to recover an arrear of such rent by suit unless the suit is instituted before the end of the agricultural year next following that for which the rent is claimed to be due.

Order for appraising or dividing produce.

72. (1) Where rent is taken by appraisement or division of the produce,— [1885, s. 69 ;
Notn.]

(a) if either the landlord or the tenant neglects to attend, either personally or by agent, at the proper time for making the appraisement or division, or

(b) if there is a dispute about the quantity, value or division of the produce, the Collector may, on the application of either party, and on his depositing such sum on account of expenses as the Collector may require, make an order appointing such officer as he thinks fit to appraise or divide the produce.

(2) The Collector may, without such an application, make the like order in any case where, in the opinion of the District or Sub-divisional Magistrate, the making of the order would be likely to prevent a breach of the peace.

(3) Where a Collector makes an order under this section, he may, by order, prohibit the removal of the produce until the appraisement or division has been effected; but an order made by the Collector under this sub-section shall not prevent the execution of any order passed by the Court for the distraint of the tenant's crops.

(4) Every officer appointed by the Collector under sub-section (1) to appraise or divide the produce shall, for the purposes of the Indian Penal Code, be deemed to be a public servant. [XIV of 1860.]

Procedure where officer appointed.

73. (1) When a Collector appoints an officer under section 72, the Collector may, in his discretion, direct the officer to [1885, s. 70 ; associate with himself any other persons as assessors, and may give him instructions regarding the number, qualifications and mode of selection of those assessors (if any), and the procedure to be followed in making the appraisement or division; and the officer shall conform to the instructions so given.
Notn.]

(2) The officer shall, before making an appraisement or division, give notice to the landlord and tenant of the time and place at which the appraisement or division will be made; but if either the landlord or the tenant fails to attend, either personally or by agent, he may proceed ex parte.

(3) When the officer has made the appraisement or division, he shall submit a report of his proceedings to the Collector.

(4) The Collector shall consider the report, and, after giving the parties an opportunity of being heard, and making such inquiry (if any) as he may think necessary, shall pass such order thereon as he thinks just.

(5) The Collector may, if he thinks fit, refer any question in dispute between the parties for the decision of a Revenue Court; but, subject as aforesaid, his order shall be final and shall, on application to a Revenue Court by the landlord or the tenant, be enforceable as a decree.

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter IX.—General Provisions as to Rent.—Chapter X.—Miscellaneous Provisions as to Landlords and Tenants.—Clauses 74—79.)

(5) Where the officer makes an appraisement, the appraisement papers shall be filed in the Collector's office.

Rights and liabilities as to possession of crop.

74. (1) Where rent is taken by appraisement of the produce, the tenant shall be entitled to the exclusive possession of the produce. [1885, s. 71; Notes.]

(2) Where rent is taken by division of the produce, the tenant shall be entitled to the exclusive possession of the whole produce until it is divided, but shall not be entitled to remove any portion of the produce from the threshing-floor at such a time or in such a manner as to prevent the due division thereof at the proper time.

(3) In either case the tenant shall be entitled to cut and harvest the produce in due course of husbandry without any interference on the part of the landlord.

(4) If the tenant removes any portion of the produce at such a time or in such a manner as to prevent the due appraisement or division thereof at the proper time, the produce shall be deemed to have been as full as the fullest crop of the same description appraised in the neighbourhood on similar land for that harvest.

Liability for rent on change of landlord or after transfer of tenure or holding.

Tenant not liable to transferee of landlord's interest for rent paid to former landlord, without notice of the transfer.

75. (1) A tenant shall not, when his landlord's interest is transferred, be liable to the transferee for rent which became due after the transfer and was paid to the landlord, whose interest was so transferred, unless the transferee has before the payment given notice of the transfer to the tenant. [1885, s. 72; Notes.]

(2) Where there is more than one tenant paying rent to the landlord whose interest is transferred, a general notice from the transferee to the tenants, published in the prescribed manner, shall be a sufficient notice for the purposes of this section.

Liability for rent after transfer of occupancy holding.

76. When an occupancy-ryat transfers his holding without the consent of the landlord, the transferor and transferee shall be jointly and severally liable to the landlord for arrears of rent accruing due after the transfer, unless and until notice of the transfer is given to the landlord in the prescribed manner. [1885, s. 73; Notes.]

Illegal exactions.

Abwab, &c., illegal.

77. All impositions upon tenants, under the denomination of abwab, mathat or other like appellations, in addition to the actual rent, shall be illegal, and all stipulations and reservations for the payment of such shall be void. [1885, s. 74; Notes.]

Penalty for exaction by landlord from tenant of sum in excess of the rent payable.

78. Every tenant from whom, except under any special enactment for the time being in force, any sum of money or any portion of the produce of his land is exacted by his landlord in excess of the rent or interest lawfully payable, may, within six months from the date of the exaction, institute a suit to recover from the landlord, in addition to the amount or value of what is so exacted, such sum by way of penalty as the Court thinks fit, not exceeding two hundred rupees; or, when double the amount or value of what is so exacted exceeds two hundred rupees, not exceeding double that amount or value. [1885, s. 75; Notes.]

CHAPTER X.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS AS TO LANDLORDS AND TENANTS.

Improvements.

Definition of "improvement."

79. (1) For the purposes of this Act, the term "improvement," used with reference to a ryat's holding, shall mean any work which adds to the value of the holding. [1885, s. 76.]

Other Provisions.(Chapter X.—Miscellaneous Provisions as to Landlords and Tenants.—Clauses 80—82.)

which is suitable to the holding and consistent with the purpose for which it was let, and which, if not executed on the holding, is either executed directly for its benefit or is, after execution, made directly beneficial to it.

(2) Until the contrary is shown, the following shall be presumed to be improvements within the meaning of this section:—

- (a) the construction of wells, tanks, water-channels and other works for the storage, supply or distribution of water for the purposes of agriculture, or for the use of men and cattle employed in agriculture;
- (b) the preparation of land for irrigation;
- (c) the drainage, reclamation from rivers or other waters, or protection from floods, or from erosion or other damage by water, of land used for agricultural purposes, or waste-land which is culturable;
- (d) the reclamation, clearance, enclosure or permanent improvement of land for agricultural purposes;
- (e) the renewal or re-construction of any of the foregoing works, or alterations therein or additions thereto; and
- (f) the erection of a suitable dwelling-house for the raiyat and his family, together with all necessary out-offices.

(3) But no work executed by the raiyat of a holding shall be deemed to be an improvement for the purposes of this Act if it substantially diminishes the value of his landlord's property.

Right to make improvements in case of holding at fixed rates or occupancy holding.

80. (1) Where a raiyat holds at fixed rates or has an occupancy-right in his holding, neither the raiyat nor his landlord, shall, as such, be entitled to prevent the other from making an improvement in respect of the holding, except on the ground that he is willing to make it himself. [1885, s. 77.]

(2) If both the raiyat and his landlord wish to make the same improvement, the raiyat shall have the prior right to make it, unless it affects another holding or other holdings under the same landlord.

Collector to decide question as to right to make improvement, &c.

81. If a question arises between the raiyat and his landlord— [1885, s. 78.]

- (a) as to the right to make an improvement, or
  - (b) as to whether a particular work is an improvement,
- the Collector may, on the application of either party, decide the question; and his decision shall be final.

Right to make improvements in case of non-occupancy-holding.

82. (1) A non-occupancy-raiyat shall be entitled to construct, maintain and repair a well for the irrigation of his holding, with all works incidental thereto, and to erect a suitable dwelling-house for himself and his family, with all necessary out-offices; but shall not, except as aforesaid and as next hereinafter provided, be entitled to make any other improvement in respect of his holding without his landlord's permission. [1885, s. 79.]

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter X.—Miscellaneous Provisions as to Landlords and Tenants.—Clauses 83—86.)

(2) A non-occupancy-raiyat who would, but for the want of his landlord's permission, be entitled to make an improvement in respect of his holding, may, if he desires that the improvement be made, deliver, or cause to be delivered, to his landlord a request in writing calling upon him to make the improvement within a reasonable time; and, if the landlord is unable or neglects to comply with that request, may make the improvement himself.

Registration of landlord's improvements.

83. (1) A landlord may, by application to such Revenue-officer as the Local Government may appoint, register any improvement which he has lawfully made, or which has been lawfully made at his expense, or which he has assisted a tenant in making. (1905, c. 89; Notm. 1)

(2) The application shall be in such form, shall contain such information, and shall be verified in such manner, by local inquiry or otherwise, as the Local Government may, by rule, direct.

(3) The officer receiving the application may reject it if it has not been made within twelve months—

(a) in the case of improvements made before the commencement of this Act—from the commencement of this Act;

(b) in the case of improvements made after the commencement of this Act—from the date of the completion of the work.

Application to record evidence as to improvement.

84. (1) If any landlord or tenant of a holding desires that evidence relating to any improvement made in respect thereof be recorded, he may apply to a Revenue-officer, who shall thereupon, at a time and place of which notice shall be given to the parties, record the evidence, unless he considers that there are no reasonable grounds for making the application, or it is made to appear that the subject-matter thereof is under inquiry in a Revenue Court. (1905, c. 81.)

(2) When any matter has been recorded under this section, the record thereof shall be admissible in evidence in every subsequent proceeding between the landlord and tenant or any persons claiming under them.

Compensation for raiyat's improvements.

85. (1) Every raiyat who is ejected from his holding shall be entitled to compensation for improvements which have been made in respect thereof in accordance with this Act by him, or by his predecessor in interest, and for which compensation has not already been paid. (1905, c. 82.)

(2) Whenever a Court makes a decree or order for the ejectment of a raiyat, it shall determine the amount of compensation (if any) due under this section to the raiyat for improvements, and shall make the decree or order of ejectment conditional on the payment of that amount to the raiyat.

(3) No compensation under this section for an improvement shall be claimable where the raiyat has made the improvement in pursuance of a contract or under a lease binding him, in consideration of some substantial advantage to be obtained by him, to make the improvement without compensation, and he has obtained that advantage.

(4) Improvements made by a raiyat between the twenty-seventh day of June, 1892, and the commencement of this Act shall be deemed to have been made in accordance with this Act.

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter X.—Miscellaneous Provisions as to Landlords and Tenants.—Clauses 86—88.)

(5) The Local Government may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, make rules requiring the Court to associate with itself, for the purpose of estimating the compensation to be awarded under this section for an improvement, such number of assessors as the Local Government thinks fit, and determining the qualifications of those assessors and the mode of selecting them.

Principle on which compensation is to be estimated.

86. (1) In estimating the compensation to be awarded under section 85 for an improvement, regard shall be had—

- (a) to the amount by which the value, or the produce, of the holding, or the value of that produce, is increased by the improvement;
- (b) to the condition of the improvement, and the probable duration of its effects;
- (c) to the labour and capital required for the making of such an improvement;
- (d) to any reduction or remission of rent or any other advantage given by the landlord to the raiyat in consideration of the improvement; and
- (e) in the case of a reclamation or of the conversion of unirrigated into irrigated land, to the length of time during which the raiyat has had the benefit of the improvement at an unenhanced rent.

(2) When the amount of the compensation has been assessed, the Court may, if the landlord and raiyat agree, direct that, instead of being paid wholly in money, it shall be made wholly or partly in some other way.

Acquisition of land for building and other purposes.

Acquisition of land for building and other purposes.

87. The Collector may, on the application of the landlord of a holding, (1895, s. 84; 1908, s. 50.)

and on being satisfied that he is desirous of acquiring the holding or part thereof for some reasonable and sufficient purpose having relation to the good of the holding or of the tenure or estate in which it is comprised, such as the use of the land for any charitable, religious or educational purpose, or for the purpose of mining, manufacture or irrigation, or as building ground for any such purpose or for access to land used or required for any such purpose, authorize the acquisition thereof by the landlord upon such conditions as the Collector may think fit, and require the tenant to sell his interest in the holding or part to the landlord upon such terms as may be approved by the Collector, including full compensation to the tenant.

Sub-letting.

Restrictions on sub-letting.

88. (1) If a raiyat, who is not a bajiaftidar, sub-lets otherwise than by a registered instrument, the sub-lease shall not be valid against his landlord unless made with the landlord's consent (1895, s. 20.)

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter X.—Miscellaneous Provisions as to Landlords and Tenants.—Clauses 89, 90.)

(2) A sub-lease by a raiyat shall not be valid if it purports to create a term exceeding nine years.

(3) Where a raiyat has, without the consent of his landlord, granted a sub-lease by an instrument registered before the commencement of this Act, the sub-lease shall not be valid for more than nine years from the commencement of this Act.

Surrender and Abandonment.Surrender.

89. (1) A raiyat not bound by a lease or other agreement for a fixed period may at the end of any agricultural year, surrender his holding. [1850, c. 19, 1855, c. 66.]

(2) But, notwithstanding the surrender, the raiyat shall be liable to indemnify the landlord against any loss of the rent of the holding for the agricultural year next following the date of the surrender, unless he gives to his landlord, at least three months before he surrenders, notice of his intention to surrender.

(3) When a raiyat has surrendered his holding, the Court shall in the following cases, for the purposes of sub-section (2), presume, until the contrary is shown, that such notice was so given, namely:—

- (a) If the raiyat takes a new holding in the same village from the same landlord during the agricultural year next following the surrender;
- (b) If the raiyat ceases, at least three months before the end of the agricultural year at the end of which the surrender is made, to reside in the village in which the surrendered holding is situate.

(4) The raiyat may, if he thinks fit, cause the notice to be served through the Revenue Court within the jurisdiction of which the holding or any portion of it is situate.

(5) When a raiyat has surrendered his holding, the landlord may enter on the holding and either let it to another tenant or take it into cultivation himself.

(6) When a holding is subject to an incumbrance secured by a registered instrument, the surrender of the holding shall not be valid unless it is made with the consent of the landlord and the incumbrancer.

(7) Save as provided in sub-section (6), nothing in this section shall affect any arrangement by which a raiyat and his landlord may arrange for a surrender of the whole or a part of the holding.

Abandonment.

90. (1) If a raiyat voluntarily abandons his residence without notice to his landlord and without arranging for payment of his rent as it falls due, and ceases to cultivate his holding either by himself or by some other person, the landlord may, at any time after the expiration of the agricultural year in which the raiyat so abandons and ceases to cultivate, enter on the holding and let it to another tenant or take it into cultivation himself. [1855, c. 67.]

(2) Before a landlord enters under this section, he shall file a notice in the prescribed form in the Collector's office stating that he has treated the holding as abandoned and is about to enter on it accordingly; and the Collector shall cause a notice to be published in such manner as the Local Government may, by rule, direct.

Oriental Tenancy.(Chapter X.—Miscellaneous Provisions as to Landlords and Tenants.—Clauses 41—93.)

(8) When a landlord enters under this section, the raiyat shall be entitled to institute a suit for recovery of possession of the land at any time not later than the expiration of two years, or, in the case of a non-occupancy-raiyat, six months, from the date of the publication of the notice; and thereupon the Court may, on being satisfied that the raiyat did not voluntarily abandon his holding, order recovery of possession on such terms (if any) with respect to compensation to persons injured and payment of arrears of rent as to the Court may seem just.

(4) Where the whole or part of a holding has been sub-let by a registered instrument, the landlord shall, before entering under this section, on the holding, offer the whole holding to the sub-lessee for the remainder of the term of the sub-lease at the rent paid by the raiyat who has ceased to cultivate the holding, and on condition of the sub-lessee paying up all arrears due from that raiyat. If the sub-lessee refuses or neglects within a reasonable time to accept the offer, the landlord may avoid the sub-lease and may enter on the holding and let it to another tenant or cultivate it himself as provided in sub-sections (1) and (2).

Sub-division of tenancy.

Division of tenancy not binding on landlord without his consent.

91. A division of a tenure or holding [except a transfer of land referred to in clause (a), clause (b) or clause (c) of section, 13], or a distribution of the rent payable in respect of a tenure or holding, shall not be binding on the landlord unless it is made with his express consent in writing, or with that of his agent duly authorized in that behalf: [1885, s. 22.]

Provided that, if there is proved to have been made in any landlord's rent-roll any entry showing that any tenure or holding has been divided, or that the rent payable in respect thereof has been distributed, such landlord may be presumed to have given his express consent in writing to such division or distribution.

Ejectment.

No ejectment except in execution of decree.

92. No tenant shall be ejected from his tenure or holding except in execution of a decree. [1885, s. 23, prov., 1885, s. 20.]

Measurements.

Landlord's right to measure land.

93. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section and any contract, a landlord may, by himself or by any person authorized by him in this behalf, enter on and measure all land comprised in his estate, sub-proprietary interest or tenure other than land exempt from the payment of revenue. [Ben. Act VI of 1882, s. 9; 1885, s. 20.]

(2) A landlord shall not, without the consent of the tenant, or the written permission of the Collector, be entitled to measure land more than once in ten years, except in the following cases, namely:—

- (a) where the area of the sub-proprietary interest, tenure or holding is liable, by reason of alluvion or diluvion, to vary from year to year, and the rent payable depends on the area;
- (b) where the area under cultivation is liable to vary from year to year and the rent payable depends on the area under cultivation;
- (c) where the landlord is a purchaser otherwise than by voluntary transfer and not more than two years have elapsed since the date of his entry under the purchase.

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter X.—Miscellaneous Provisions as to Landlords and Tenants.—Clauses 94—98.)

(3) The ten years shall be computed from the date of the last measurement, whether made before or after the commencement of this Act.

Power for Court to order tenant to attend and point out boundaries.

94. (1) Where a landlord desires to measure any land which he is entitled to measure under section 93, the Revenue Court may, on the application of the landlord, make an order requiring the tenant to attend and point out the boundaries of the land. [Ben. Act VI of 1882, s. 9; 1885, s. 91.]

(2) If the tenant refuses or neglects to comply with the order, a map or other record of the boundaries and measurements of the land, prepared under the direction of the landlord at the time when the tenant was directed to attend, shall be presumed to be correct until the contrary is shown.

Standard of measurement.

95. (1) Every measurement of land made by order of a Revenue Court or of a Revenue-officer in any suit or proceeding under this Act shall be made by the acre, unless the Court or Revenue-officer directs that it be made by any other specified standard. [Ben. Act VI of 1882, s. 11; 1885, s. 92.]

(2) If the rights of the parties are regulated by any local measure other than the acre, the acre shall be converted into the local measure for the purposes of the suit or proceeding.

(3) The Local Government may, after local inquiry, make rules declaring for any local area the standard or standards of measurement locally in use in that area; and every declaration so made shall be presumed to be correct until the contrary is shown.

Managers.

Power to call upon co-owners to show cause why they should not appoint a common manager.

96. When any dispute exists between co-owners of an estate, sub-proprietary interest or tenure as to the management thereof, and in consequence there has ensued, or is likely to ensue, [1885, s. 93; Notfn.]

(a) inconvenience to the public, or

(b) injury to private rights,

the Collector may, of his own motion, or on the application of any person having an interest in the estate, sub-proprietary interest or tenure, direct a notice to be served on all the co-owners, calling on them to show cause why they should not appoint a common manager:

Provided that a co-owner of an estate, sub-proprietary interest or tenure shall not be entitled to apply under this section unless he is actually in possession of the interest he claims, and, if he is a co-owner of an estate, unless his name and the extent of his interest are registered under the Land Registration Act, 1876, and, if he is a co-owner of a sub-proprietary interest, unless he is registered or recorded as a sub-proprietor in the manner indicated in clause (a), clause (b) or clause (c) of section 82. [Ben. Act VII of 1876.]

Power to order them to appoint a manager if cause is not shown.

97. If the co-owners fail to show cause as aforesaid within one month after service of a notice under section 96, the Collector may make an order directing them to appoint a common manager; and a copy of the order shall be served on any co-owner who did not appear before it was made. [1885, s. 94; Notfn.]

Power to appoint manager if order is not obeyed.

98. If the co-owners do not, within such period, not being less than one month after the making of an order under section 97, as the Collector may fix in this behalf, or, where the order has been served as directed by that section, within a like period after such service, appoint a common manager and report the appointment for the information of the Collector, the Collector [1885, s. 95; Notfn.]

(Chapter X.—Miscellaneous Provisions as to Landlords and Tenants.—Clauses 99—102.)

may, unless it is shown to his satisfaction that there is a prospect of a satisfactory arrangement being made within a reasonable time,—

- (a) direct that the estate, sub-proprietary interest or tenure be managed by the Court of Wards, in any case in which the Court of Wards consents to undertake the management thereof; or
- (b) in any case appoint a manager.

Power to nominate person to act in all cases under clause (b) of last section.

99. The Local Government may nominate a person for any local area to manage all estates, sub-proprietary interests and tenures within that local area for which it may be necessary to appoint a manager under clause (b) of section 98; and, when any person has been so nominated, no other person shall be appointed manager under that clause by the Collector, unless in the case of any estate the Collector thinks fit to appoint one of the co-owners themselves as manager. [1885, s. 96: Notfn.]

Application of the Court of Wards Act, 1879, to management by Court of Wards.

100. In any case in which the Court of Wards undertakes under section 98 the management of an estate, sub-proprietary interest or tenure, so much of the provisions of the Court of Wards Act, 1879, as relates to the management of immovable property shall apply to the management. [1885, s. 97: Notfn.]

Provisions applicable to manager.

101. (1) A manager appointed under section 98 may, if the Collector thinks fit, be remunerated by a fixed salary or a fixed percentage of the money collected by him as manager, or partly in one way and partly in the other, as the Collector from time to time directs. [1885, s. 98: Notfn.]

(2) He shall give such security for the proper discharge of his duties as the Collector directs.

(3) He shall, subject to the control of the Collector, provide for the management and cultivation of the estate, sub-proprietary interest or tenure, collect the rents, discharge the public revenue and pay the rent and cesses; and the co-owners shall not exercise any such function, nor shall they by mortgage or otherwise assign their share of the property. [Ben. Reg. V of 1912, s. 28.]

(4) He shall deal with and distribute the profits in accordance with the orders of the Collector.

(5) He shall keep regular accounts, and allow the co-owners or any of them to inspect and take copies of those accounts.

(6) He shall pass his accounts at such period and in such form as the Collector may direct.

(7) He may make any application which the proprietors could make under section 107.

(8) He shall be removable by the order of the Collector, and not otherwise.

(9) When any manager is removed under sub-section (8), the Collector may, subject to the provisions of section 99, appoint another manager in his place; and the foregoing provisions of this section shall apply to any manager so appointed. [Ben. Reg. V of 1912, s. 28.]

Power to restore management to co-owners.

102. When an estate, sub-proprietary interest or tenure has been placed under the management of the Court of Wards, or a manager has been appointed for the same under section 98 or section 101, sub-section (9), the Collector may at any time direct that the management of it [1885, s. 102: Notfn.]

be restored to the co-owners, if he is satisfied that the management will be conducted by them without inconvenience to the public or injury to private rights.

Power to make rules. 103. The Local Government may make rules defining the powers and duties of managers under this Chapter. (1895, s. 100; Notn.)

CHAPTER XI.

RECORD-OF-RIGHTS AND SETTLEMENT OF RENTS.

Part I.—Record-of-rights.

Power to order survey and preparation of record-of-rights. 104. (1) The Local Government may, in any case with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council and may, if it thinks fit, without such sanction in any of the cases next hereinafter mentioned, make an order directing that a survey be made and a record-of-rights be prepared, by a Revenue-officer, in respect of the lands in any local area, estate or tenure or part thereof. (1895, s. 101; Notn.)

(2) The cases in which an order may be made under this section without the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council are the following, namely:—

(a) where—

- (i) the landlord or tenants, or
- (ii) a proportion of not less than one-half of the total number of landlords, or
- (iii) a landlord, or a proportion of the landlords, whose interest, or the aggregate of whose interests, respectively, in the lands of the local area, estate or tenure or part thereof is not less than one-half of the total shares of all the landlords therein, or
- (iv) a proportion of not less than one-fourth of the total number of tenants, applies, or apply, for such an order, depositing, or giving security for, such amount for the payment of expenses as the Local Government directs;

(b) where the preparation of such a record is calculated to settle or avert a serious dispute existing or likely to arise between the tenants and their landlords generally;

(c) where the local area, estate or tenure or the part thereof belongs to, or is managed by, the Government or the Court of Wards or a Manager appointed by the Collector under section 98 or section 101, sub-section (2);

(d) where a settlement of land-revenue is being or is about to be made in respect of the local area, estate or tenure or of the part thereof.

Explanation 1.—The term "settlement of land-revenue," as used in clause (d), includes a settlement of rents in an estate or tenure which belongs to the Government.

Explanation 2.—A superior landlord may apply for an order under this section, notwithstanding that his estate or part thereof is temporarily leased to a tenant-holder.

(3) A notification in the Calcutta Gazette of an order under this section shall be conclusive evidence that the order has been duly made.

(4) The survey shall be made and the record-of-rights prepared in accordance with rules made in this behalf by the Local Government.

*Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter XI.—Record-of-rights and Settlement of Rents.— Clauses 105, 106.)*Particulars to be recorded.

105. Where an order is made under section 104, the particulars to be recorded shall be specified in the order, and may include, either without or in addition to other particulars, some or all of the following, namely :—

- (a) the name of each tenant or occupant ;
- (b) the class to which each tenant belongs, that is to say, whether he is a tenure-holder, bajiaftidar, raiya holding at fixed rates, settled raiya, occupancy-raiya, non-occupancy-raiya or under-raiya, and, if he is a tenure-holder, whether he is a permanent tenure-holder or not, and whether his rent is liable to enhancement during the continuance of his tenure ;
- (c) the situation and quantity and one or more of the boundaries of the land held by each tenant or occupier ;
- (d) the name of each tenant's landlord ;
- (e) the name of each proprietor in the local area or estate ;
- (f) the rent payable at the time the record-of-rights is being prepared ;
- (g) the mode in which that rent has been fixed—whether by contract, by order of a Court, or otherwise ;
- (h) if the rent is a gradually increasing rent, the time at which, and the steps by which, it increases ;
- (j) the rights and obligations of each tenant and landlord in respect of—
  - (i) the use by tenants of water for agricultural purposes, whether obtained from a river, shil, tank or well or any other source of supply, and
  - (ii) the repair and maintenance of appliances for securing a supply of water for the cultivation of the land held by each tenant, whether or not such appliances be situated within the boundaries of such land ;
- (k) the special conditions and incidents (if any) of the tenancy ;
- (l) any right of way or other easement attaching to the land for which a record-of-rights is being prepared ;
- (m) if the land is claimed to be held rent-free—whether or not rent is actually paid, and, if not paid, whether or not the occupant is entitled to hold the land without payment of rent, and, if so entitled, under what authority.

Power to order survey and preparation of record-of-rights as to water.

106. The Local Government may, for the purpose of settling or averting disputes existing or likely to arise between landlords, tenants, proprietors, or persons belonging to any of these classes, regarding the use or passage of water, make an order directing that a survey be made and a record-of-rights be prepared by a Revenue-officer, in order to ascertain and record the rights and obligations of each tenant and landlord in any local area, estate or tenure or part thereof, in respect of—

- (a) the use by tenants of water for agricultural purposes, whether obtained from a river, shil, tank or well or any other source of supply ; and

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter XL.—Record-of-rights and Settlement of Rents.— Clauses 107—110.)

- (6) the repair and maintenance of appliances for securing a supply of water for the cultivation of the land held by each tenant, whether or not such appliances be situated within the boundaries of such land.

Power for Revenue-officer to record particulars on application of proprietor, tenure-holder or large proportion of raiyats.

107. On the application of one or more of the proprietors or tenure-holders, or of a large proportion of the raiyats, of an estate or tenure, and on the applicant or applicants depositing or giving security for the required amount for expenses, a Revenue-officer may, subject to, and in accordance with, rules made in this behalf by the Local Government, ascertain and record all or any of the particulars specified in section 105 with respect to the estate or tenure or any part thereof. [1885, s. 107; Notn.]

Preliminary publication, amendment, and final publication of record-of-rights.

108. (1) When a draft record-of-rights has been prepared, the Revenue-officer shall publish the draft in the prescribed manner and for the prescribed period, and shall receive and consider any objections which may be made to any entry therein, or to any omission therefrom, during the period of publication. [1885, s. 108A; Notn.]

(2) When such objections have been considered and disposed of according to such rules as the Local Government may prescribe, and (if a settlement of land-revenue is being or is about to be made) the Settlement Rent Roll has been incorporated with the record under section 116, sub-section (3), the Revenue-officer shall finally frame the record, and shall cause it to be finally published in the prescribed manner; and the publication shall be conclusive evidence that the record has been duly made under this Chapter.

(3) Separate draft or final records may be published under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) for different local areas, estates, tenures or parts thereof.

Presumption as to final publication and correctness of record-of-rights.

109. (1) In any suit or other proceeding in which a record-of-rights published under this Chapter, or a duly certified copy thereof or extract therefrom, is produced, such record-of-rights shall be presumed to have been finally published, unless such publication is expressly denied; and a certificate signed by the Revenue-officer, or by the Collector of any district in which the local area, estate or tenure or part thereof to which the record-of-rights relates is wholly or partly situate, stating that a record-of-rights has been finally published under this Chapter, shall be conclusive evidence of such publication. [1885, s. 109P; Notn.]

(2) The Local Government may, by notification, declare, with regard to any specified area, that a record-of-rights has been finally published for every village included in such area; and such notification shall be conclusive evidence of such publication.

(3) Every entry in a record-of-rights so published shall be evidence of the matter referred to in such entry, and shall be presumed to be correct until—

- (a) it is proved by evidence to be incorrect, or
- (b) such record is superseded by a fresh record-of-rights finally published under this Chapter, or by Land Records published and finally framed under Chapter XII.

Part II.—Settlement of Rents, Preparation of Settlement Rent Roll, and Disposal of Objections, in cases where a settlement of land-revenue is being or is about to be made.

Settlement of rents and preparation of Settlement Rent Roll when to be undertaken by Revenue-officer.

110. In every case in which a settlement of land-revenue is being or is about to be made, the Revenue-officer shall, after publication of the draft of the record-of-rights under section 108, sub-section (1),— [1885, s. 110; Notn.]

- (a) settle fair and equitable rents for tenants of every class.

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter XI.—Record-of-rights and Settlement of Rents.— Clauses 111—112.)

- (b) notwithstanding anything contained in section 257, settle a fair and equitable rent for any land in respect of which he has recorded, in pursuance of clause (m) of section 105, that the occupant is not entitled to hold it without payment of rent, and

- (c) prepare a Settlement Rent Roll:

Provided that the Revenue-officer shall not settle the rents of tenants of every class in an estate or tenure belonging to the Government, if it does not appear to the Local Government to be expedient that he should do so.

Procedure for Settlement of rents and preparation of Settlement Rent Roll
under this Part.

111. (1) For the purposes of settling rents under this Part and preparing a Settlement Rent Roll, the Revenue-officer may proceed in any one or more of the following ways, or partly in one of those ways and partly in another, that is to say—

- (a) if in any case the landlord and tenant agree between themselves as to the amount of the rent fairly and equitably payable; the Revenue-officer shall satisfy himself that the rent so agreed upon is fair and equitable; and if he is so satisfied, but not otherwise, it may be settled and recorded as the fair and equitable rent;
- (b) the Revenue-officer may himself propose what he deems to be the fair and equitable rent; and if the amount so proposed is accepted, either orally or in writing, by the tenant, and if the landlord, after notice to attend, raises no objection, the rent so proposed may be settled and recorded as the fair and equitable rent;
- (c) if the circumstances are, in the opinion of the Revenue-officer, such as to make it practicable to prepare a Table of Rates showing for any local area, estate, tenure or village or part thereof, or for each class of land in any local area, estate, tenure or village or part thereof, the rate or rates of rent fairly and equitably payable by tenure-holders and raiyats and under-raiyats of each class, he may frame a Table of Rates and settle and record all or any of the rents on the basis of such rates in the manner hereinafter described;
- (d) the Revenue-officer may settle all or any of the rents by maintaining the existing rentals recorded in the record-of-rights as published under section 108, sub-section (1), or by enhancing or reducing such rentals:

Provided that, in making any such settlement, regard shall be had to the principles laid down in sections 7 to 10, 26 to 37, 39, 40, 45, 54 to 64, 248 and 254.

(2) The Settlement Rent Roll shall show the name of each landlord and of each tenant whose rent has been settled, and the amount of each such tenant's rent payable for the area shown against his name.

Contents of Table of Rates.

112. (1) If a Table of Rates is prepared, it shall specify—

- (a) the class or several classes of land for which, having regard to the nature of the soil, situation, means of irrigation, and other like considerations, it is in the opinion of the Revenue-officer necessary or practicable to fix a rate or different rates of rent; and (1885, s. 104

Notin.)

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter XI.—Record-of-rights and Settlement of Rents.—Classes 112—116.)

(b) the rate or rates of rent fairly and equitably payable by tenants holding land of each such class whose rent is liable to alteration.

Local publication of Table.

(2) When the Revenue-officer has prepared the Table of Rates, he shall publish it in the local area, estate, tenure or village to which it relates, in the vernacular language prevailing in the district, and in the prescribed manner.

Revenue-officer to deal with objections.

(3) Any person objecting to any entry in the Table of Rates may present a petition to the Revenue-officer within a period of one month after such publication, and the Revenue-officer shall consider any such objection and may alter or amend the Table.

Table to be submitted to superior Revenue authority.

(4) If no objection is made within the said period of one month, or, where objections are made, after they have been disposed of, the Revenue-officer shall submit his proceedings to the Revenue authority empowered by rule made by the Local Government to confirm the Tables and Rent Rolls prepared under this Part (hereinafter called the "confirming authority"), with a full statement of the grounds of his proposals, and shall forward any petitions of objection which he may have received.

Proceedings of confirming authority.

(5) The confirming authority may confirm a Table submitted under sub-section (4), or may disallow the same, or may amend the same in any manner which appears to it proper, and may allow in whole or in part any objection forwarded therewith or subsequently made, or may return the case for further inquiry.

Effect of Table.

(6) When a Table of Rates has been confirmed by the confirming authority, the order confirming it shall be conclusive evidence that the proceedings for the preparation of the Table have been duly conducted in accordance with this Act; and it may be presumed that the rates shown in the Table for tenants of each class, for each class of land, are the fair and equitable rates payable for land of that class within the area to which the Table applies.

Application of Table of Rates.

113. When a Table of Rates has been confirmed under section 112, sub-section (5), the Revenue-officer may settle all or any of the rents, and prepare the Settlement Rent Roll, on the basis of the rates shown in the Table, by calculating the rental of each tenure or each holding of a raiyat or under-raiyat on the area of such tenure or holding at the said rates : [1885, a. 1040 Notn.]

Provided that the Revenue-officer shall not be bound to apply the said rates in any particular case in which he may consider it unfair or inequitable to do so.

Rules and principles to be followed in framing Table of Rates, and settling rents in accordance therewith.

114. In framing a Table of Rates under section 112, and in settling rents under section 113, the Revenue-officer shall be guided by such rules as the Local Government may make in this behalf, and shall, so far as may be, and subject to the proviso to the said section 113, have regard to the general principles of this Act regulating the enhancement or reduction of rents. [1885, a. 1040 Notn.]

Preliminary publication and amendment of Settlement Rent Roll.

115. (1) When a Settlement Rent Roll for a local area, estate, tenure or village or part thereof has been prepared, the Revenue-officer shall cause a draft of it to be published in the prescribed manner and for the prescribed period, and shall receive and consider any objections made to any entry therein, or omission therefrom, during the period of publication, and shall dispose of such objections according to such rules as the Local Government may prescribe. [1885, a. 1042 Notn.]

(2) The Revenue-officer may, of his own motion or on the application of any party aggrieved, at any time before a Settlement Rent Roll is submitted to the confirming authority under section 116, revise any rent entered therein :

Ordnance Tenancy.

(Chapter XI.—Record-of-rights and Settlement of Rents.—Ordinance 116—118.)

Provided that no such entry shall be revised until reasonable notice has been given to the parties concerned to appear and be heard in the matter.

Final revision of Settlement Rent Roll, and incorporation of the same in the record-of-rights.

115. (1) When all objections have been disposed of under section 115, the Revenue-officer shall submit the Settlement Rent Roll to the confirming authority, with a full statement of the grounds of his proposals and a summary of the objections (if any) which he has received. [1885, a. 104F; No. 11.]

(2) The confirming authority may sanction the Settlement Rent Roll, with or without amendment, or may return it for revision:

Provided that no entry shall be amended, or omission supplied, until reasonable notice has been given to the parties concerned to appear and be heard in the matter.

(3) After sanction by the confirming authority, the Revenue-officer shall finally frame the Settlement Rent Roll, and shall incorporate it with the record-of-rights published in draft under section 108.

Appeal to, and revision by, superior Revenue authorities.

117. (1) An appeal, if presented within two months from the date of the order appealed against, shall lie from every order passed by a Revenue-officer, prior to the final publication of the record-of-rights, on any objection made under section 112, subsection (3), or section 116; and such appeal shall lie to such superior Revenue authority as the Local Government may, by rule, prescribe. [1885, a. 104G; No. 11.]

(2) The Board of Revenue may, in any case under this Part, on application or of its own motion, direct the revision of any record-of-rights, or any portion of a record-of-rights, at any time within two years from the date of the certificate of final publication, but not so as to affect any order passed by a Civil Court under section 118:

Provided that no such direction shall be made until reasonable notice has been given to the parties concerned to appear and be heard in the matter.

Jurisdiction of Civil Courts relating to rent.

118. (1) Any person aggrieved by an entry of a rent settled in a Settlement Rent Roll prepared under sections 111 to 116 and incorporated in a record-of-rights finally published under section 108, or by an omission to settle a rent for entry in such Settlement Rent Roll, may institute a suit in the Civil Court which would have jurisdiction to entertain a suit for the possession of the land to which the entry relates or in respect of which the omission was made. [1885, a. 104H; No. 11.]

(2) Such suit must be instituted within six months from the date of the certificate of final publication of the record-of-rights, or, if an appeal has been presented to a Revenue authority under section 117, then within six months from the date of the disposal of such appeal.

(3) Such suit may be instituted on any of the following grounds, and on no others, namely:—

- (a) that the land is not liable to the payment of rent;
- (b) that the land, although entered in the record-of-rights as being held rent-free, is liable to the payment of rent;
- (c) that the relation of landlord and tenant does not exist;
- (d) that land has been wrongly recorded as part of a particular estate, sub-proprietary interest or tenancy, or wrongly omitted from the lands of an estate, sub-proprietary interest or tenancy;
- (e) that the tenant belongs to a class different from that to which he is shown in the record-of-rights as belonging;

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter XI—Record-of-rights and Settlement of Rents.—Clauses 119, 120.)

- (f) that the Revenue-officer has not postponed the operation of the settled rent under the provisions of section 131, clause (a), or has wrongly fixed the date from which it is to take effect under that clause;
- (g) that the special conditions and incidents of the tenancy, or any right of way or other easement attaching to the land which is the subject of the tenancy, have not, or has not, been recorded, or have, or has, been wrongly recorded.

The Secretary of State for India in Council shall not be made a defendant in any such suit, unless the Government is landlord or tenant of the land to which the aforesaid entry relates or in respect of which the aforesaid omission was made.

- (4) If it appears to the Court that the entry of rent settled is incorrect, it shall, in case (a) or case (c) mentioned in sub-section (3), declare that no rent is payable, and shall in any other case settle a fair rent; and, in any case referred to in clause (f) or clause (g) of the said sub-section (3), the Court may declare the date from which the rent settled is to take effect, or pass such order relating to the entry as it may think fit.

- (5) When the Court has declared under sub-section (4) that no rent is payable, the entry to the contrary effect in the record-of-rights shall be deemed to be cancelled.

(6) In settling a fair rent under sub-section (4), the Court shall be guided by the rents of the other tenures or holdings of the same class comprised in the same Settlement Rent Roll, as settled under sections 111 to 116.

(7) Any rent settled by the Court under sub-section (4) shall be deemed to have been duly settled in place of the rent entered in the Settlement Rent Roll.

(8) Save as provided in this section, no suit shall be brought in any Civil Court in respect of the settlement of any rent or the omission to settle any rent under sections 111 to 116.

(9) When a Civil Court has passed final orders or a decree under this section, it shall notify the same to the Collector of the district.

Prompts as to rents settled under sections 111 to 117.

118. Subject to the provisions of section 118, all rents settled under sections 111 to 116 and entered in a record-of-rights finally published under section 108, or settled under section 117, shall be deemed to have been correctly settled and to be fair and equitable rents within the meaning of this Act. (1885, a. 104; Notfn.)

Part III.—Settlement of Rents and Decision of Disputes in cases where a settlement of land-revenue is not being or is not about to be made.

*Settlement of rents
by Revenue-officer in cases where a settlement of land-revenue is not being or is not about to be made.*

120. (1) When, in any case in which a settlement of land-revenue is not being made or is not about to be made, either the landlord or the tenant applies, within two months from the date of the certificate of the final publication of the record-of-rights under section 108, sub-section (3), for a settlement of rent, the Revenue-officer shall settle a fair and equitable rent in respect of the land held by the tenant. (1885, a. 105; Notfn.)

Explanation.—A superior landlord may apply for a settlement of rent, notwithstanding that his estate or tenure or part thereof has been temporarily leased.

(2) When, in any case in which a settlement of land-revenue is not being made or is not about to be made, the Revenue-officer has recorded, in pursuance of clause (m) of section 105, that the occupant of any land claimed to be held rent-free is not entitled to hold it without payment of rent, and either the landlord or the occupant applies, within two months from the date of the certificate of the final publication of the record-of-rights under section 108, sub-section (2), for a settlement of rent, the Revenue-officer shall settle a fair and equitable rent for the land.

(3) Every application under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the Court-fees Act, 1870, bear such stamp as the Governor General in Council VII of 1870, may prescribe by notification in the Gazette of India.

(4) In settling rents under this section, the Revenue-officer shall presume, until the contrary is proved, that the existing rent is fair and equitable, and shall have regard to the rules laid down in this Act for the guidance of the Revenue Courts in increasing or reducing rents, as the case may be.

(5) The Revenue-officer may in any case under this section propose to the parties such rents as he considers fair and equitable; and the rents so proposed, if accepted orally or in writing by the parties, may be recorded as the fair rents, and shall be deemed to have been duly settled under this Act.

(6) Where the parties agree among themselves, by compromise or otherwise, as to the amount of the fair rent, the Revenue-officer shall satisfy himself that the amount agreed upon is fair and equitable, and if so satisfied, but not otherwise, he shall record the amount so agreed upon as the fair and equitable rent. If not so satisfied, he shall himself settle a fair and equitable rent as provided in sub-sections (4) and (5).

Decision of questions arising during the course of settlement of rents under this Part.

121. Where, in any proceedings for the settlement of rents under this Part, any of the following issues arise:— (1883, s. 106A. Notia.)

- (a) whether the land is, or is not, liable to the payment of rent;
- (b) whether the land, although entered in the record-of-rights as being held rent-free, is liable to the payment of rent;
- (c) whether the relation of landlord and tenant exists;
- (d) whether the land has been wrongly recorded as part of a particular estate, sub-proprietary interest or tenancy, or wrongly omitted from the lands of an estate, sub-proprietary interest or tenancy;
- (e) whether the tenant belongs to a class different from that to which he is shown in the record-of-rights as belonging;
- (f) whether the special conditions and incidents of the tenancy, or any right of way or other easement attaching to the land, have not, or has not, been recorded, or have, or has, been wrongly recorded;

the Revenue-officer shall try and decide such issue and settle the rent under section 120 accordingly:

Provided that the Revenue-officer shall not try any issue under this section which has been, or is already, directly and substantially in issue between the same parties, or between parties under whom they or any of them claim, and has been tried and decided, or is already being tried, by a Revenue-officer in a suit instituted before him under section 122.

Institution of suit before a Revenue-officer.

122. In proceedings under this Part, a suit may be instituted before a Revenue-officer at any time within three months from the date of the certificate of the final publication of the record-of-rights under sub-section (2) of section 108, by presenting a plaint on stamped paper for the decision of any dispute regarding any (1883, s. 106. Notia.)

Clause 120—126.)

entry which a Revenue-officer has made in, or any omission which the said officer has made from, the record; whether such dispute be between landlord and tenant, or between landlords of the same or of neighbouring estates, or between tenant and tenant, or as to whether the relationship of landlord and tenant exists, or as to whether land held rent-free is properly so held, or as to any other matter; and the Revenue-officer shall hear and decide the dispute:

Provided that the Revenue-officer may, subject to such rules as the Local Government may prescribe in this behalf, transfer any particular case or class of cases to a competent Civil Court for trial:

Provided also that in any suit under this section the Revenue-officer shall not try any issue which has been, or is already, directly and substantially in issue between the same parties, or between parties under whom they or any of them claim, in proceedings for the settlement of rents under this Part, where such issue has been tried and decided, or is already being tried, by a Revenue-officer under section 121.

Procedure to be adopted by Revenue-officer.

123. (1) In all proceedings under section 120, section 121 [1895, s. 107; and section 122, the Revenue-officer shall, subject to rules made by the Local Government under this Act, adopt the procedure laid down in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for the trial of suits; and his decision in every such proceeding shall have the force and effect of a decree of a Civil Court in a suit between the parties, and, subject to the provisions of sections 124 and 127, shall be final. [1895, s. 107; Notfn.]

(2) A note of all rents settled under section 120 and of all decisions of issues or disputes under section 121 or section 122, and of all rents commuted under section 41 by a Revenue-officer appointed by the designation of Settlement-officer or Assistant Settlement-officer, shall be made in the record-of-rights finally published under sub-section (3) of section 108, and such note shall be considered as part of the record.

Revision
by Revenue-officer.

124. Any Revenue-officer specially empowered by the Local Government in this behalf may, on application or of his own motion, within twelve months from the making of any order or decision under section 120, section 121, section 122 or section 123, revise the same, whether it was made by himself or by any other Revenue-officer, but not so as to affect any order passed or decree made under section 127: [1895, s. 107 Notfn.]

Provided that no such order or decision shall be so revised if an appeal from it is pending under section 127, or until reasonable notice has been given to the parties concerned to appear and be heard in the matter.

Correction
by Revenue-officer of mistakes in record-of-rights.

125. Any Revenue-officer specially empowered by the Local Government in this behalf may, on application or of his own motion, within twelve months from the date of the certificate of the final publication of the record-of-rights under sub-section (3) of section 108, correct any entry in such record-of-rights which he is satisfied has been made owing to a bona fide mistake: [1895, s. 108A Notfn.]

Provided that no such correction shall be made if an appeal affecting such entry is pending under section 127, or until reasonable notice has been given to the parties concerned to appear and be heard in the matter.

Bar to jurisdiction of Civil Courts.

126. Subject to the provisions of section 127, a Civil Court shall not entertain any application or suit concerning any matter which is or has already been the subject of an application made, suit instituted or proceeding taken under sections 120 to 124. [1895, s. 109; Notfn.]

(Chapter XI.—Record-of-rights and Settlement of Rents—Clauses 127—129.)

Appeals from decisions of Revenue-officers.

127. (1) The Local Government shall appoint one or more persons to be a Special Judge or Special Judges for the purpose of hearing appeals from the decisions of Revenue-officers under sections 120 to 125. (1886, s. 109A Notfn.)

(2) An appeal shall lie to the Special Judge from the decisions of a Revenue-officer under sections 120 to 125; and the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, relating to appeals shall, as nearly as may be, apply to all such appeals.

(3) Subject to the provisions of sections 103, 104 and 107 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, an appeal shall lie to the High Court from the decision of a Special Judge in any case under this section (not being a decision settling a rent), as if he were a Court subordinate to the High Court within the meaning of the said section 103: V of 1908.

Provided that, if in a second appeal the High Court alters the decision of the Special Judge in respect of any of the particulars with reference to which the rent of any tenure or holding has been settled, the Court may settle a new rent for the tenure or holding, but in so doing shall be guided by the rents of the other tenures or holdings of the same class comprised in the same record as ascertained under section 106 or settled under section 120 or section 124 of this Act.

Part IV.—Supplemental Provisions.

Power of Revenue-officer to give effect to agreement or compromise.

128. (1) In framing a record-of-rights, and in deciding disputes, under this Chapter, the Revenue-officer shall give effect to any lawful agreement or compromise made or entered into by any landlord and his tenant, (1886, s. 109B; Notfn.)

but he shall not give effect to any agreement or compromise the terms of which, if they were embodied in a contract, could not be enforced under this Act.

(2) Where any agreement or compromise has been made for the purpose of settling a dispute as to the rent payable, the Revenue-officer shall, in order to ascertain whether the effect of such agreement or compromise would be to enhance the rent in a manner, or to an extent, not allowed by section 28 in the case of a contract, record evidence as to the rent which was legally payable immediately before the period in respect of which the dispute arose.

(3) Where the terms of any agreement or compromise are such as might unfairly or inequitably affect the rights of third parties, the Revenue-officer shall not give effect to such agreement or compromise unless and until he is satisfied by evidence that the statements made by the parties thereto are correct.

Illustration.—A, a proprietor, agrees that B, his tenant, shall be recorded as an occupancy raiyat; this affects the rights of the tenants of B. The Revenue-officer must, under sub-section (3), inquire whether B is a tenure-holder or a raiyat, as defined in Chapter II. If he finds on the evidence that B is a raiyat, he may give effect to the agreement, but shall not do so if he finds that B is a tenure-holder.

Power of Revenue-officer to settle rents on agreement.

129. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 128, if, in any case, while the record is being prepared, the landlord and tenant agree as to the rent which shall be recorded as payable for the tenure or holding, a Revenue-officer specially empowered in this behalf by the Local Government may, if he is satisfied that the rent agreed upon is fair and equitable, but not otherwise, settle such rent as a fair and equitable rent, although the terms of the agreement are such that, if they were embodied in a contract, they could not be enforced under this Act; and the provisions of section 136 shall apply to a rent so settled. (1886, s. 109C; Notfn.)

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter XI.—Record-of-rights and Settlement of Rents.—Classes 150—153.)

(2) A landlord or tenant may appeal to the Special Judge appointed under section 127 on the ground that the rent settled by the Revenue-officer, under sub-section (1), as a fair and equitable rent, was not agreed to by such landlord or tenant, and on no other ground.

(3) The Board of Revenue may, on application made, or of its own motion in proceedings undertaken, within one year from the date of the order, under sub-section (1), settling a rent as a fair and equitable rent, direct the revision of the rent so settled :

Provided that no such direction shall be made until reasonable notice has been given to the parties concerned to appear and be heard in the matter.

Note of decisions in record.

130. A note of all rents settled and of all decisions of disputes, on revision or appeal under section 124, section 127, or sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) of section 129, shall be made in the record-of-rights finally published under sub-section (8) of section 108; and such note shall be considered as part of the record. [1885, s. 100D; Notfn.]

Date from which settled rent takes effect.

131. When a rent is settled by a Revenue-officer under this Chapter, it shall take effect from the beginning of the agricultural year next after the date of the decision fixing the rent or (if a settlement of land-revenue is being or is about to be made) the date of final publication of the Settlement Rent Roll: [1885, s. 110; Notfn.]

Provided as follows :—

(a) if the land is comprised in an area, estate or tenure in respect of which a settlement of land-revenue is being or is about to be made, the rent settled shall, subject to the provisions of sections 256 and 257, take effect from the expiration of the period of the current settlement, or from such other date after the expiration of that period as may be fixed by the Revenue-officer;

(b) if the land is not comprised in an area, estate or tenure as aforesaid, and if the existing rent has been fixed by a contract binding between the parties for an unexpired term of years, the rent settled shall take effect from the expiration of that term, or from such other date after the expiration of that term as may be fixed by the Revenue-officer.

Stay of proceedings in Revenue Court during preparation of record-of-rights.

132. When an order has been made under section 104, directing the preparation of a record-of-rights, a Revenue Court shall not,— [1885, s. 111; Notfn.]

(a) where a settlement of land-revenue is being or is about to be made—until after the final publication of the record-of-rights, and

(b) where a settlement of land-revenue is not being made or is not about to be made—until three months after the final publication of the record-of-rights, entertain any application made under section 218, or any suit or application for the alteration of the rent or the determination of the status of any tenant, in the area to which the record-of-rights applies.

Limitation of jurisdiction of Civil Courts in matters, other than rent, relating to record-of-rights.

133. No suit shall be brought in any Civil Court in respect of any order directing the preparation of a record-of-rights under this Chapter, or in respect of the framing, publication, signing or attestation of such a record or of any part of it, or, save as provided in section 118, for the alteration of any entry in such a record of a rent settled under sections 111 to 116: [1885, s. 111A; Notfn.]

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter XI.—Record-of-rights and Settlement of Rents.—Clauses 134, 135.)

Provided that any person who is dissatisfied with any entry in, or omission from, a record-of-rights framed in pursuance of an order made under section 104, clause (d), which concerns a right of which he is in possession, may institute a suit for declaration of his right under Chapter VI of the Specific Relief Act, 1877. 1 of 1877.

Stay of suits in which certain issues arise.

134. (1) Where a record-of-rights has been finally published in respect of the land in any area in which a settlement of land-revenue is not being made, or is not about to be made, no application or suit affecting such land or any tenant thereof shall, within three months from the date of the certificate of final publication of such record-of-rights, be made or instituted in any Civil Court for the decision of any of the following issues, namely:—

- (a) whether the land is or is not liable to the payment of rent;
- (b) whether the relation of landlord and tenant exists;
- (c) whether the land is part of a particular estate or tenancy; or
- (d) whether there is any special condition or incident of the tenancy, or whether any right-of-way or other easement attaches to the land.

(2) If, before the final publication of the record-of-rights in such area, a suit involving the decision of any of the issues mentioned in sub-section (1) has been instituted in a Civil Court, the Revenue-officer shall not entertain any suit under section 122 involving the decision of the same issue.

(3) Where, in the course of settling fair rents under section 120, the Revenue-officer finds that, by reason of a suit involving the decision of any of the issues mentioned in sub-section (1) having been instituted in a Civil Court before the final publication of the record-of-rights, or before a Revenue-officer under section 122, he is unable to settle a fair rent until such issue is decided, the Revenue-officer shall stay the proceedings for the settlement of a fair rent, pending a final decision on the issue.

And, after the issue has been finally decided, he shall settle a fair rent, as if the record-of-rights had been framed in accordance with such decision.

(4) Where the making of an application or institution of a suit has been delayed owing to the operation of sub-section (1), the period of three months therein mentioned shall be excluded in computing the period of limitation prescribed for such suit or application.

Power to authorize special settlement in special cases.

135. (1) The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, on being satisfied that the exercise of the powers hereinafter mentioned is necessary in the interests of public order or of the local welfare, or that any landlord is demanding rents which have been illegally enhanced above those entered as payable in a record-of-rights finally published under this Chapter, invest a Revenue-officer with the following powers or either of them, namely:—

- (a) power to settle all rents;
- (b) power, when settling rents, to reduce rents if, in the opinion of the officer, the maintenance of existing rents would, on any ground, whether specified in this Act or not, be unfair or inequitable.

Office Tenancy.(Chapter XI.—Record-of-rights and Settlement of Rents.)Clauses 136, 137.)

(2) The powers given under this section may be made exercisable within a specified area either generally or with reference to specified cases or classes of cases.

(3) A settlement of rents under this section shall be made in the manner provided by sections 110 to 119.

(4) When the Local Government takes any action under this section, the settlement-record prepared by the Revenue-officer shall not take effect until it has been finally confirmed by the Governor General in Council, and the revision, by direction of the Board of Revenue under sub-section (2) of section 117, of a record-of-rights, or any portion of a record-of-rights, prepared under this section, shall be subject to like confirmation by the Governor General in Council.

Period for which rents as settled are to remain unaltered.

136. (1) When the rent of a tenure or holding is settled under this Chapter, it shall not, except on the ground of a landlord's improvement or of a subsequent alteration in the area of the tenure or holding, be enhanced in the case of a tenure or an occupancy-holding or the holding of an under-raiyat having occupancy rights, for fifteen years, and, in the case of a non-occupancy-holding or the holding of an under-raiyat not having occupancy rights, for five years; and no such rent shall be reduced within the periods aforesaid, save on the ground of alteration in the area of the holding or on the ground specified in section 39, clause (a). [1885, s. 113; Notfn.]

(2) The said periods of fifteen years and five years shall be counted from the date on which the rent settled takes effect under this Chapter.

Expenses of proceedings
under Chapter,

137. (1) When the preparation of a record-of-rights has been directed or undertaken under this Chapter, in any case except where a settlement of land-revenue is being or is about to be made, the expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of this Chapter in any local area, estate, tenure or part thereof (including expenses that may be incurred at any time, whether before or after the preparation of the record-of-rights, in the maintenance, repair or restoration of boundary marks and other survey marks erected for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this Chapter); or such part of those expenses as the Local Government may direct, shall be defrayed by the landlords, tenants and occupants of land in that local area, estate, tenure or part, in such proportions, and in such instalments (if any), as the Local Government, having regard to all the circumstances, may determine. [1885, s. 114 Notfn.]

(2) The estimated amount of the expenses likely to be incurred for the maintenance, repair or restoration of boundary marks for a period not exceeding fifteen years; or such part of such amount as the Local Government may direct, may be recovered in advance in the same manner as if such expenses had been already incurred.

(3) The portion of the aforesaid expenses which any person is liable to pay shall be recoverable by the Government as if it were an arrear of land-revenue due in respect of the said local area, estate, tenure or part.

(4) The cost of preparing copies of survey maps and records-of-rights under this Chapter for distribution to landlords and tenants shall be deemed to be part of the expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of this Chapter.

Explanation.—The word "tenure" in this section includes all revenue-free and rent-free tenures and holdings within a local area, estate or tenure.

prepared. 138. When the particulars mentioned in section 106, clause (b), have been recorded under this Chapter in respect of any tenancy, the presumption under section 52 shall not thereafter apply to that tenancy. [1885, s. 115. Notn.]

Demarcation
of village boundaries. 139. In the demarcation of village boundaries for the purpose of making a survey and preparing a record-of-rights under this Chapter, a Revenue-officer shall, so far as is possible, and subject to the provisions of the Bengal Survey Act, 1875, preserve, as the unit of survey and record, the area contained within the exterior boundaries of the village maps of the revenue survey (if any); [1885, s. 116A; Notn.]

and, where village maps prepared at a previous revenue survey exist, he shall not, without the sanction of the Board of Revenue, adopt any other area as such unit. Ben. Act V of 1875.

Application
Chapter. 142. This Chapter shall apply only to areas, in respect of which a record-of-rights has been finally published under Chapter XI or under some other law for the time being in force, to which the Local Government may extend it by notification in the Calcutta Gazette.

Framing of Land
Records. 143. (1) The Local Government may prescribe— [1881, s. 22; 1887, s. 22.]
(a) the framing of a special edition of the record-of-rights for any area, either yearly or at any other intervals of time,
(b) the agency by which such edition shall be framed,
(c) the procedure to be followed in framing such edition, and
(d) the documents of which such edition shall consist.
(2) The special edition of the record-of-rights for any area shall be called the Land Records for that area.

Power to require bring of papers and

Settlement of disputes and correction of Land Records.

149. Any officer appointed to frame Land Records

[Or. 1886, s. 108A; 1887, ss. 22 (1), 37.]

may,—

- (a) in any case where a dispute arises as to any matter of which an entry is to be made in such Records—of his own motion or on the application of any party interested, and after such inquiry as he thinks fit to make, determine the entry to be made as to such matter; or
- (b) make in the Land Records any correction which—
  - (i) he has satisfied himself to be required in order to correct a mistake made bona fide, or to bring the Records into conformity with facts proved or admitted, or
  - (ii) is required in order to bring the Records into conformity with any decree or order which is binding on all the parties interested in the Records, or
  - (iii) is agreed to by all the said parties; or
- (c) revise maps or make new maps where, in his opinion, it is necessary to do so.

Publication of Records, hearing of objections and final framing of Records.

150. (1) When Land Records have been framed, the prescribed officer shall publish them, or such portions as the Local Government may direct, and shall receive and consider any objections which may be made to any entry therein or to any omission therefrom during the period of publication.

(2) When such objections have been considered and disposed of in the prescribed manner, the prescribed officer shall finally frame the Land Records.

Evidence of publication of Land Records, and presumption of correctness of entries.

151. (1) A certificate, signed by the prescribed officer, stating that Land Records have been published and finally framed under this Chapter, shall be conclusive evidence of such publication and framing.

[Or. 1886, s. 108B.]

(2) Every entry in Land Records so published and finally framed—

- (a) shall be evidence of the matter referred to in such entry, and
- (b) shall be presumed to be correct until it is proved by evidence to be incorrect or until the said Records are superseded by fresh Records published and finally framed under this Chapter, and
- (c) shall supersede any entry in any record-of-rights, previously published finally under Chapter XI or under any other law for the time being in force, which is inconsistent with such entry as first aforesaid.

Re-evaluation of rent, after five years, when productive powers of land increased or diminished.

152. (1) At any time after an addition or reduction of rent determined under section 148 has been in force for five years, the landlord or the tenant may apply to a Revenue-officer to alter the rent on the ground of an increase or diminution in the productive powers of the land; and the Revenue-officer may after the rent accordingly, and section 54, so far as it is applicable, shall apply as if such officer were a Court.

Appeal.

153. An appeal from any decision or order of any officer acting under this Chapter, relating to a rent settled under this Chapter, shall lie to such officer as the Local Government may appoint to hear such appeals, and to no other Court or authority:

[1881, ss. 22, 23.]

Provided that no such appeal shall be heard if it is filed—

- (a) before, or more than thirty days after, the date of the certificate referred to in section 151, subsection (1), relating to the Land Records in which such rent is entered, or
- (b) in the case of an appeal from an order made under section 152—more than thirty days after the date of such order.

Revision. 154. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 153, the Collector or the Commissioner may at any time, for the purpose of satisfying himself as to the legality or propriety of any order passed by, or as to the regularity of the proceedings of, any officer acting under this Chapter, call for and examine the record of any case pending before or disposed of by such officer, and may pass such order in reference thereto as he thinks fit:

Provided that the Collector or the Commissioner shall not modify or reverse any order affecting any question of right between private persons, without having given to the parties interested reasonable notice to appear and be heard in support of such order.

Alteration of Land Records after appeal or revision.

155. When any officer acting under section 152, section 153 or section 154 passes an order for the alteration of any entry in the Land Records, the alteration shall be made by the officer who framed the Records, or by a Revenue-officer; and the entry, as altered, shall be considered as part of the Records. [Or. 1895, s. 107 (2).]

Altered rent when to take effect.

156. When any rent is altered under section 152, section 153 or section 154, the altered rent shall take effect—

- (a) from the beginning of the agricultural year next after the date of the publication and final framing of the Land Records in which the original rent is entered, or
- (b) if the alteration is made under section 152, or on appeal from an order made under that section—from the beginning of the next agricultural year.

Regard to be paid by Courts to entries in Land Records.

157. In all areas for which Land Records have been published and finally framed under this Chapter, every Court shall, in all suits under this Act, have regard to the entries in such Records relating to the subject-matter in dispute which may be produced before it, unless such entries have been proved by evidence to be incorrect; and, when a Court passes a decree at variance with such entries, it shall record its reasons for so doing. [Or. 1895, s. 147B.]

Particulars to be entered in plaints in rent-suits.

158. (7) The plaint in every suit for the rent of land situated in an area for which Land Records have been published and finally framed under this Chapter shall contain a list of the survey plots comprised in the tenancy and a statement of the rental of the tenancy according to the Land Records, unless the Court is satisfied, for reasons to be recorded in writing, that the plaintiff was prevented by any sufficient cause from furnishing such list or statement. [Or. 1895, s. 148 (6), (62).]

(2) In all cases in which the Court admits a plaint which does not contain such list or statement, the Court shall, and in any other case in which it sees fit the Court may, require the Collector to supply, without payment of fee, a verified or certified copy of, or extract from, the Land Records relating to the tenancy.

(3) Where an alteration has been made in the area of the tenancy since the Land Records were published and finally framed under this Chapter, the plaint shall further contain a statement of the rental of the original tenancy according to the Land Records and a statement showing how the amount of rent claimed in the suit has been calculated.

CHAPTER XIII.

RECORD OF PROPRIETORS' PRIVATE LANDS.

Power for Government to order survey and record of proprietors' private lands.

159. The Local Government may make an order directing a Revenue-officer to make a survey and record of all the lands in a specified local area which are a proprietor's private lands. [1895, s. 117, (1895).]

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter XIII.—Record of Proprietors' Private Lands.—Clauses 160—163.)

Power for Revenue officer to record private land on application of proprietor or tenant.

160. In the case of any land alleged to be a proprietor's private land, on the application of the proprietor or of any tenant of the land, and on his depositing the required amount for expenses, a Revenue-officer may, subject to, and in accordance with, rules made in this behalf by the Local Government, ascertain and record whether the land is or is not a proprietor's private land. [1896, s. 11 Notfn.]

Procedure for recording private land.

161. When a Revenue-officer proceeds under either section 159 or section 160, the provisions of sections 108, 109, 122, 123, 124, 126 and 127 shall apply. [1896, s. 119; Notfn.]

Determination of proprietors' private lands.

162. (1) Except in areas referred to in section 163, the Revenue-officer shall record as a proprietor's private land— [1896, s. 119; Notfn.]

- (a) land which is proved to have been cultivated as nij-jote or khudkast by the proprietor himself with his own stock or by his own servants or by hired labour for twelve continuous years immediately before the commencement of this Act, and
- (b) cultivated land which is recognized by village usage as proprietor's nij-jote or khudkast.

(2) In determining whether any other land in any such area ought to be recorded as a proprietor's private land, the officer shall have regard to local custom, and to the question whether the land was before the twenty-first day of August, 1906, specifically let as proprietor's private land, and to any other evidence that may be produced; but shall presume that land is not a proprietor's private land until the contrary is shown.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in any agreement or compromise, or in any decree which is proved to his satisfaction to have been obtained by collusion or fraud, a Revenue-officer shall not record any land in any such area as a proprietor's private land unless it is proved to be such by satisfactory evidence of the nature described in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2).

(4) If any question arises in any Court as to whether land in any such area is or is not a proprietor's private land, the Court shall have regard to the rules laid down in this section for the guidance of Revenue-officers.

Determination of proprietors' private lands, where a record-of-rights was published between 1891 and 1906.

163. (1) In any area for which a record-of-rights has been finally published between the years 1891 and 1900, the Revenue-officer shall record as a proprietor's private land—

- (a) land which is recorded in such record-of-rights as nij-jote or khudkast and is proved to be cultivated, and to have been cultivated before the commencement of this Act, by the proprietor himself, with his own stock or by his own servants or by hired labour, or to be held by tenants under leases for a term of years or under leases from year to year, and
- (b) land which is recorded in such record-of-rights as nij-chas and is proved to be cultivated, and to have been cultivated for ten years continuously immediately before the commencement of this Act, by the proprietor himself, with his own stock or by his own servants or by hired labour.

(2) Except as provided in sub-section (1), a Revenue-officer shall not record any land in any such area as a proprietor's private land.

CHAPTER XIV.

DISTRRAINT.

Cases in which distraint may be made.

184. Where an arrear of rent is due to the landlord of a raiyat or under-raiyat, and has not been due for more than a year, and no security has been accepted therefor by the landlord, the landlord may, in addition to any other remedy to which he is entitled by law, recover the arrear under the provisions of this Chapter, by distraining, while in the possession of the cultivator,—

- (1) any crops or other products of the earth standing or ungathered on the holding; and
- (2) any crops or other products of the earth which have been grown on the holding and have been reaped or gathered and are deposited on the holding or on a threshing-floor or place for treading out grain, or the like, whether in the fields or within a homestead:

Provided that no distraint shall be made—

- (i) by a proprietor or manager, as defined in the Land Registration Act, 1876, or a mortgagee of such a proprietor or manager, unless his name and the extent of his interest in the land in respect of which the arrear is due have been registered under that Act; or
- (ii) by a sub-proprietor or bajiaftidar, unless his name and the extent of his interest in the land in respect of which the arrear is due have been—
  - (a) registered under section 14, or
  - (b) recorded in a record-of-rights finally published under Chapter XI or under some other law for the time being in force, or
  - (c) recorded in Land Records published and finally framed under Chapter XII; or
- (iii) by an agent employed in the collection of rent, unless he is expressly authorized by power of attorney in that behalf; or
- (iv) for the recovery of any sum in excess of the rent payable for the holding in the preceding agricultural year, unless that sum is payable under a written contract or in consequence of a proceeding under this Act or an enactment hereby repealed; or
- (v) where the holding or any part of the holding of a raiyat other than a bajiaftidar has been sublet with the written consent of the landlord—in respect of the produce of such holding or part.

Service of demand and notice.

185. (1) The distrainer shall, at the time of making the distraint, serve on the defaulter a written demand for the arrear due and the costs incurred in making the distraint, with a notice stating the grounds on which the distraint is made and containing also the following particulars, namely:—

- (a) the holding in respect of which the arrear is claimed, and the boundaries thereof, or such other particulars as may suffice for its identification;
- (b) the name of the tenant;
- (c) the period in respect of which the arrear is claimed;
- (d) the amount of the arrear, with the interest, if any, claimed thereon, and, when an amount in excess of the rent payable by the tenant in the last preceding agricultural year is claimed, the contract or proceedings as the case may be, under which that amount is payable;

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter XIV.—Distraint.—Clauses 166—169.)

(e) the nature and approximate value of the produce to be distrained;

(f) the place where it is to be found, or such other particulars as may suffice for its identification; and

(g) if it is standing or ungathered, the time at which it is likely to be cut or gathered.

(8) The said notice shall be signed and verified in the manner provided in sub-rules (2) and (3) of rule 15 in Order VI in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. v of 1908.

(9) Where the distrainer has reason to believe that a person other than the defaulter is the owner of the property distrained, he shall serve copies of the demand and notice on that person likewise.

(4) The demand and notice shall, if practicable, be served personally; but if a person on whom they are to be served absconds or conceals himself, or cannot otherwise be found, the distrainer shall affix copies of the demand and notice on a conspicuous part of the outside of the house in which he usually resides.

Right to distrain, after delivering a list of property to owner.

166. (1) Unless the demand, with all costs of the distraint, [1859, s. 117;
1885, s. 122] be immediately paid or tendered, the distrainer may distrain property referred to in section 164 to such value as may be expected to meet such demand and costs. (2)

(2) Before seizing any property, the distrainer shall prepare a list or description thereof, and shall deliver a copy of the list to the owner of the property, or, if he is absent, shall affix it at his usual place of residence.

Right to reap, etc., produce.

167. (1) A distraint under this Chapter shall not prevent any [1859, s. 118;
1885, s. 123.] person from reaping, gathering or storing any produce or doing any other act necessary for its due preservation.

(2) If the person entitled to do so fails to do so at the proper time, the distrainer shall cause any standing crops or ungathered products distrained to be reaped or gathered when ripe, and stored in such granaries or other places as are commonly used for the purpose, or in some other convenient place in the neighbourhood, or shall do whatever else may be necessary for the due preservation of the same.

(3) In either case the distrained property shall remain in the charge of the distrainer or of some other person appointed by him in this behalf.

Assistance of public officer in making distraint.

168. If a distrainer is opposed, or apprehends resistance, [1859, s. 119.] and desires to obtain the assistance of a public officer, he may apply to the Collector; and the Collector may, if he thinks it necessary to do so, depute an officer to support the distrainer in making the distraint.

Application to public officer for sale.

169. (1) Within five days from the time of the storing of any [1859, s. 124.] distrained crops or products, or, if the crops or products do not, from their nature, admit of being stored, then within five days from the time of making the distraint, the distrainer shall apply for sale of the same to such officer, not below the rank of Kanungo or Inspector of Mutations, as the local Government may prescribe.

(2) The said application shall be in writing, shall contain [1859, s. 125.] an inventory or description of the property distrained, and shall state—

(a) name of the defaulter, and his place of residence;

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter XIV.—Distraint.—Clauses 170—172.)

- (b) the amount due ;
  - (c) the date of the distraint ; and
  - (d) the place in which the distrained property is deposited ;
- and shall be accompanied by the sum required for the service of a notice upon the defaulter under section 170, clause (b).

Procedure on receipt of such application.

170. (1) When any officer referred to in section 169, sub-section (1), receives an application under that section, he shall forthwith— [1859, s. 124; 1886, s. 127(1).]

- (a) send a copy of the application to the Collector ;
- (b) serve a notice, in the prescribed form, on the person whose property has been distrained, requiring him either to pay the amount demanded or to institute a suit to contest the demand of the distrainer before the Collector within the period of fifteen days from the receipt of the notice ;
- (c) send to the Collector, for the purpose of being put up in his office, a proclamation fixing a day for the sale of the distrained property, which shall not be less than twenty days from the date of the application ; and
- (d) deliver a copy of the said proclamation to the peon charged with the service of the said notice, to be put up by him in the place where the distrained property is deposited.

(2) The said proclamation shall contain a description of the distrained property, and shall state the demand for which the property is to be sold and the place where the sale is to be held.

Suspension of sale
when suit instituted.

171. (1) If a suit is instituted before the Collector in pursuance of the notice referred to in clause (b) of section 170, the Collector shall send to the officer referred to in section 169, or, if so requested, shall deliver to the owner of the distrained property, a certificate of the institution of the suit. [1859, s. 125; 1886, s. 127.]

(2) A person whose property has been distrained under this Chapter may, immediately after the distraint and before an application is made under section 169, institute a suit to contest the demand of the distrainer ; and the Collector shall thereupon proceed as provided in sub-section (1).

(3) When a certificate under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) is received by or presented to an officer referred to in section 169, sub-section (1), he shall suspend further proceedings in regard to the sale of the distrained property, pending the decision of the suit.

Withdrawal of dis-traint when security given for payment of any sum that may be demanded.

172. (1) When any person whose property has been distrained has instituted a suit to contest the demand of the distrainer, he may, at any time, execute a bond with security binding himself to pay whatever sum may be adjudged in the suit to be due from him, with interest and costs. [1859, s. 127.]

(2) When such a bond is executed, the Collector shall give to the said person a certificate to that effect, or, if so requested, shall serve the distrainer with notice that such a certificate has been given ; and upon such certificate being presented to the distrainer by the said person, or served on the distrainer by the Collector, the property shall be released from distraint.

(Chapter XIV.—Distraint.—Clauses 173—180.)

Sale when to be made.

173. On the expiration of the period fixed in the proclamation <sup>[1859, s. 129; 1885, s. 129.]</sup> of sale, the officer referred to in section 169, sub-section (1); shall—

(a) if a certificate under section 171 of the institution of a suit to contest the demand of the distrainer has not been received by or presented to him, and

(b) if a certificate has not been given under section 172, and

(c) if the said demand, with such costs of the distraint as are allowed by him, be not paid in full, proceed to sell the property, or such part thereof as it may be necessary to sell in order to realise the said demand and costs.

Place of sale.

174. The sale shall be held at the place where the distrained <sup>[1859, s. 129; 1885, s. 129.]</sup> property is, or at the nearest place of public resort if the officer holding the sale is of opinion that it is likely to sell there to better advantage.

When produce may be sold standing.

175. (1) Crops or products which from their nature <sup>[1859, s. 129; 1885, s. 129.]</sup> admit of being stored shall not be sold before they are reaped or gathered and are ready for storing.

(2) Crops or products which from their nature do not admit of being stored may be sold before they are reaped or gathered, and the purchaser shall be entitled to enter on the land, by himself or by any person appointed by him in this behalf, and do all that is necessary for the purpose of tending and reaping or gathering them.

(3) In every case referred to in sub-section (2), the distraint shall be made at least twenty days before the time when the crops or products or any part thereof would be fit for reaping or gathering.

Manner of sale.

176. The property shall be sold by public auction, in one or <sup>[1859, s. 129; 1885, s. 129.]</sup> more lots as the officer holding the sale may think advisable; and if the demand, with the costs of distraint and sale, is satisfied by the sale of a portion of the property, the distraint shall be immediately withdrawn with respect to the remainder.

Postponement of sale.

177. If, on the property being put up for sale a fair price (in <sup>[1859, s. 129; 1885, s. 129.]</sup> the estimation of the officer holding the sale) is not offered for it, and if the owner of the property, or a person authorized to act on his behalf, applies to have the sale postponed till the next day, or (if a market is held at the place of sale) the next market-day, the sale shall be postponed until that day, and shall be then completed, whatever price may be offered for the property.

Payment of purchase-money.

178. The price of every lot shall be paid at the time of sale <sup>[1859, s. 129; 1885, s. 129.]</sup> or as soon thereafter as the officer holding the sale directs, and in default of such payment the property shall be put up again and sold.

Certificate to be given to purchaser.

179. When the purchase-money has been paid in full, the <sup>[1859, s. 129; 1885, s. 129.]</sup> officer holding the sale shall give the purchaser a certificate describing the property purchased by him and stating the price paid.

Application of proceeds of sale.

180. (1) From the proceeds of every sale of distrained <sup>[1859, s. 129; 1885, s. 129.]</sup> property the officer holding the sale shall make a deduction at the rate of one anna in the rupee as a charge for the expenses of the sale, and shall send the amount to the Collector for credit to the Government.

(2) He shall then pay to the distrainer the expenses incurred by the distrainer on account of the distraint and of the issue of the notice and proclamation of sale required by section 170, to such amount as, after examination of the statement of expenses furnished by the distrainer, he may think proper to allow.

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter XIV.—Distraint.—Clause 181—186.)

(3) The remainder shall be applied to the discharge of the arrear for which the distraint was made, with interest thereon up to the day of sale; and the surplus (if any) shall be paid to the person whose property has been sold.

Certain persons may not purchase.

181. Officers holding sales of property under this Act, and all persons employed by, or subordinate to, such officers, are prohibited from purchasing, either directly or indirectly, any property sold by such officers. [1859, s. 133; 1899, s. 136.]

Procedure where demand is paid before the sale.

182. (1) If at any time, after a distraint has been made under this Chapter, and before the sale of the distrained property, the defaulter, or the owner of the distrained property, where he is not the defaulter, tenders payment of the amount specified in the demand served under section 165, with all costs which may have been incurred after the service of the demand, the distrainer shall receive such payment and shall grant a receipt for the same, and the distraint shall forthwith be withdrawn. [1859, s. 131; 1899, s. 136 (2).]

(2) A receipt granted under this section to an owner of distrained property not being the defaulter shall afford a full protection to him against any subsequent claim for the arrears of rent on account of which the distraint was made.

Amount paid by under-tenant for his lease may be deducted from rent.

183. (1) When an inferior tenant, on his property being lawfully distrained under this Chapter for the default of a superior tenant, makes any payment under section 182, he shall be entitled to deduct the amount of that payment from any rent payable by him to his immediate landlord, and that landlord, if he is not the defaulter, shall in like manner be entitled to deduct the amount so deducted from any rent payable by him to his immediate landlord, and so on, until the defaulter is reached. [1899, s. 137.]

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of an inferior tenant making a payment under section 182 to institute a suit for the recovery from the defaulter of any portion of the amount paid which he has not deducted under this section.

Conflict between rights of superior and inferior landlords.

184. When land is sub-let, and any conflict arises under this Chapter between the rights of a superior landlord and an inferior landlord who distraint the same property, the right of the superior landlord shall prevail. [1899, s. 138.]

Report of irregularities.

185. All officers referred to in section 169, sub-section (1), shall bring to the notice of the Collector any material irregularity committed by distrainers under colour of this Act. [1899, s. 134.]

Postponement of sale where due notice not given.

186. If in any case, on proceeding to hold a sale of property, any such officer finds that the owner of the property has not received due notice of the distraint and intended sale, he shall postpone the sale and report the case to the Collector; and the Collector shall direct the issue of another notice and proclamation of sale under section 170, or shall pass such other order as he may think proper. [1899, s. 134.]

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter XXV. Distraint.—Sections 187—191.)

Charge to be made for expenses when no sale takes place.

187. When an officer referred to in section 169, sub-section (1), has proceeded to any place for the purpose of holding a sale, and no sale takes place, either—

(a) for the reason stated in section 186, or

(b) because the demand of the distrainer has been previously satisfied, and no intimation of such satisfaction was given by the distrainer to the said officer, a charge of one anna in the rupee shall be leviable on account of expenses, and shall be calculated on the estimated value of the distrained property:

Provided that such charge shall in no case exceed ten rupees.

Charge for expenses by whom to be paid.

188. (1) If the demand of the distrainer is not satisfied until the day fixed for the sale, the charge for expenses, referred to in section 180, sub-section (1), and section 187, shall be paid by the owner of the property, and may be recovered by the sale of such portion thereof as may be necessary.

(2) In every other case the said charge shall be paid by the distrainer, and may be recovered by attachment and sale of the property of the distrainer under the warrant of the Collector.

Control by Collector.

189. (1) All proceedings under this Chapter by officers referred to in section 169, sub-section (1), shall be subject to revision by the Collector.

(2) The Collector may, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, direct any such officer to submit periodical reports of his proceedings under this Chapter.

Procedure in suit to contest demand of distrainer.

190. (1) In all suits instituted to contest the demand of a distrainer, the distrainer must prove the arrear in the same manner as if he had himself brought a suit therefor.

(2) If the demand or any part thereof is found to be due, the Collector shall make a decree for the amount in favour of the distrainer.

Sale of distrained property in execution of decree.

191. (1) If, in any suit to contest the demand of a distrainer, the demand or any portion thereof is adjudged to be due, and if a bond has not been executed under section 172, the Collector shall send an order to the officer referred to in section 169, sub-section (1), authorizing the sale of the distrained property.

(2) If the distrainer applies to the said officer, within five days from the receipt of such order, for the sale of the said property, such officer shall—

(a) send to the Collector, for the purpose of being put up in his office, a proclamation fixing a day for the sale of the property, which shall not be less than five or more than ten days from the date of the proclamation, and

(b) deliver a copy of the proclamation to a peon, to be put up by him in the place where the property is deposited.

(3) Sub-section (2) of section 170 shall apply to the said proclamation.

Oriental Tenancy.(Chapter XIV.—Distraint.—Sections 188—196.)

(4) If, on the expiration of the period fixed in the said proclamation, the amount adjudged to be due and the costs of the distraint be not paid, the said officer shall proceed to sell the property or such part thereof as it may be necessary to sell in order to realise such amount and costs.

Further proceedings in execution of decree.

192. If, when a sale has been made in pursuance of section [188, s. 188.] 191, any balance remains due to the distrainer, the same may be recovered by proceeding, under the decree, against the person of the judgment-debtor and against any of his property.

Procedure where Collector considers distraint vexatious or groundless.

193. In any suit instituted to contest the demand of a [188, s. 188.] distrainer, if the Collector considers that the distraint was made vexatiously or without sufficient grounds, he shall direct the release of the distrained property and may award to the plaintiff such damages as he thinks fit.

Suit by person claiming property distrained for rent
due by another.

194. (1) If any person claims as his own, property which [188, s. 188.] has been distrained for arrears of rent alleged to be due from another person, he may institute a suit against the distrainer and such other person, to try the right to the property; and the provisions of this Act as to suits to contest the demand of a distrainer shall, as far as may be, apply to such suit.

(2) When any such suit is instituted, the property may be released upon security being given up to the limit of the value of the property.

(3) If the claim is dismissed, the Collector shall make an order for the sale of the property or the recovery of the value thereof, as the case may be, for the benefit of the distrainer.

(4) If the claim is upheld, the Collector shall decree the release of the distrained property, with costs and such damages (if any) as he thinks fit.

Right of distraint to prevail over other claims.

195. The right of a landlord to distrain property under [188, s. 188.] this Chapter shall not be barred by—

(a) any claim to such property, made by any other person, or

(b) any order issued by any Court for the attachment or sale of such property;

Provided that, when any such property is sold under this Chapter after an order for the attachment or sale thereof has been issued by any Court, the surplus proceeds of the sale shall not be paid under section 180 to the owner of the property without the sanction of the Court by which the order of attachment or sale was issued.

Procedure if dis-trainer's right to distrain be disputed.

196. If, in any case in which property has been distrained [188, s. 188.] for an arrear of rent and a suit has been instituted before the Collector to contest the demand, the right to distrain for such arrear is claimed by or on behalf of any person other than the distrainer, on the ground of such other person being actually and in good faith in the receipt of the rent of the land, such other person shall be made a party to the suit, and the question of the actual receipt of the rent by such other person before and up to the time of the commencement of the suit shall be inquired into, and the suit shall be decided according to the result of the inquiry.

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter XIV.—Distraint.—Clauses 197—200.)

Provided that the decision of the Collector shall not affect the right of either party who may have a legal title to the rent of the land, to establish his title by suit instituted within one year from the date of that decision.

Suit for damages by person prevented from suing in time to save his property from sale.

197. If any person, whose property has been distrained for the recovery of a demand not justly due, or of a demand due or alleged to be due from some other person, is prevented by any sufficient cause from instituting a suit to contest the demand or to try the right to the property, as the case may be, within the period allowed by section 170 or section 198, as the case may be, and if his property is in consequence brought to sale, he may institute a suit before the Collector, within three months from the date of the occurrence of the cause of action, to recover damages for the illegal distraint and sale of his property. [1859, n. 141, 142.]

Suit for damages for wrongful acts of authorized distrainer.

198. (1) In any of the following cases, namely:— [1859, n. 143, 144.]

- (a) if any person authorized by this Chapter to distraint property makes any distraint or sale, or causes any sale to be made, otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter, or
- (b) if any distrained property is lost, damaged, or destroyed by reason of the distrainer not having taken proper precaution for the due keeping and preservation thereof, or
- (c) if a distraint is not immediately withdrawn as required by any provision of this Chapter, the owner of the property may institute a suit before the Collector, within three months from the date of the occurrence of the cause of action, to recover damages for any injury which he may have thereby sustained.

(2) If any illegal act is committed by any agent under colour of the exercise of the powers of distraint conferred by this Chapter, the person employing such agent shall be liable, as well as the agent himself, for any damages accruing by reason of such act. [1859, n. 114.]

Suit for damages for distraint by unauthorized person.

199. If any person not authorized by this Chapter to distraint property distrains or sells or causes to be sold any property under colour of this Chapter, the owner of the property may institute a suit before the Collector, within three months from the date of the occurrence of the cause of action, to recover damages from such person for any injury which he may have thereby sustained; [1859, n. 143, 144.]

and such damages may be awarded in addition to any penalty imposed in pursuance of section 249.

Power to make rules.

200. The Local Government may make rules for regulating the procedure in all cases under this Chapter. [1859, n. 142.]

CHAPTER XV.

JUDICIAL PROCEDURE.

Power to modify Code of Civil Procedure in its application to landlord and tenant suits.

201. The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, declare that any portions of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, which are not expressly made applicable by this Act shall not apply to suits and other proceedings in Revenue Courts, or shall apply to them with such modifications as the Local Government, with the like sanction, may prescribe.

[1895, s. 143; Act V of 1908, s. 8 (1).]
V of 1908.

(2) Subject to any notifications so issued, and subject also to the other provisions of this Act, the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, shall apply to all such suits and other proceedings.

Certain suits and applications cognizable only by the Collector.

202. The following suits and applications shall be cognizable by the Collector, and shall be instituted and tried or heard under the provisions of this Act, and shall not be cognizable in any other Court except as provided in this Act, namely:—

[1895, ss. 22, 24; 1908, s. 129.]

(a) all suits and applications under any portion of this Act other than Chapter XI and Chapter XII, and

(b) all suits, by landlords and others in receipt of the rent of land, against any agents employed by them in the management of land or the collection of rents, or against sureties of such agents, for money received or accounts kept by such agents in the course of such employment, or for papers in their possession.

Special register of suits.

203. The Local Government may direct that all suits, or any specified class of suits, under this Act shall be registered, not in the register of Civil Suits kept under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, but in such other registers as it may prescribe.

[1908, s. 74; of 1908, s. 144.]
V of 1908.

Successive rent suits.

204. Subject to the provisions of rule 1 in Order XXIII in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, where a landlord has instituted a suit against a raiyat for the recovery of any rent of his holding, the landlord shall not institute another suit against him for the recovery of any rent of that holding until after three months from the date of the institution of the previous suit.

[1895 s. 147.]
V of 1908.

Agreements and compromises.

205. (1) The provisions of rule 8 in Order XXIII in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, shall not apply to any suit under this Act.

[1895, s. 147A; 1908, s. 144.]
V of 1908.

(2) If any suit under this Act is adjusted wholly or in part by any lawful agreement or compromise, or if the defendant satisfies the plaintiff in respect to the whole or any part of the matter of the suit, the Court shall pass a decree in accordance with such agreement, compromise or satisfaction, so far as it relates to the suit:

Provided that no decree shall be passed in accordance with any agreement or compromise the terms of which, if they were embodied in a contract, could not be enforced under this Act.

(3) Where any agreement or compromise has been made for the purpose of settling a dispute as to the rent payable, the Court shall, in order to ascertain whether the effect of such agreement or compromise would be to enhance the rent in a manner, or to an extent, not allowed by section 28 in the case of a contract, record evidence as to the rent which was legally payable immediately before the period in respect of which the dispute arose.

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter XV.—Judicial Procedure.—Clauses 206, 207.)

(4) Where the terms of any agreement or compromise are such as might unfairly or inequitably affect the rights of third parties, the Court shall not pass a decree in accordance with such agreement or compromise unless and until it is satisfied by evidence that the statements made by the parties thereto are correct.

Illustration.—A, a proprietor, agrees that B, his tenant, shall be recorded as an occupancy-ryyat: this affects the rights of the tenants of B. The Court must, under sub-section (4), inquire whether B is a tenure-holder or a riyat as defined in Chapter II. If the Court finds on the evidence that B is a riyat, it may pass a decree in accordance with the agreement, but shall not do so if it finds that B is a tenure-holder.

(5) A decree passed in accordance with any lawful agreement, compromise or satisfaction shall be final so far as it relates to so much of the subject-matter of the suit as is dealt with by such agreement, compromise or satisfaction.

Regard to be had by Courts to entries in record-of-rights
Land Records, : and

206. In all areas for which a record-of-rights has been finally published under Chapter XI or under any other law for the time being in force, or for which Land Records have been published and finally framed under Chapter XII., a Revenue Court shall, in all suits under this Act, have regard to the entries in such record-of-rights or Land Records relating to the subject-matter in dispute which may be produced before it, unless such entries have been proved by evidence to be incorrect; and, when a Revenue Court passes a decree at variance with such entries, it shall record its reasons for so doing. <sup>[1908, a. 147B, No. 10.]</sup>

Procedure in rent suits

207. The following rules shall apply to suits for the recovery of rent:— <sup>[1908, a. 148.]</sup>

- (a) sections 68 to 72 of, and rules 1 to 12 in Order XI and rule 83 in Order XXI in the first Schedule to, the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, shall not apply to any such suit; <sup>V of 1908.</sup>
- (b) the plaint shall contain, in addition to the particulars specified in rules 1 to 8 in Order VII in the said Schedule, a statement of the situation, designation, extent and boundaries of the land held by the tenant; or, where the plaintiff is unable to give the extent or boundaries, in lieu thereof, a description sufficient for identification; <sup>[1908, a. 41, Ben. Act VI of 1903, a. 12.]</sup>
- (c) where the suit is for the rent of land situated within an area for which a record-of-rights has been finally published under Chapter XI or under any other law for the time being in force, the plaint shall further contain a list of the survey plots comprised in the tenancy and a statement of the rental of the tenancy according to the record-of-rights, unless the Court is satisfied, for reasons to be recorded in writing, that the plaintiff was prevented by any sufficient cause from furnishing such list or statement;

Provided that, in all cases in which the Court admits a plaint which does not contain such statement, the Court shall, and in any other case in which it sees fit the Court may, require the Collector to supply, without payment of fee, a verified or certified copy of, or extract from, the record-of-rights relating to the tenancy;

- (d) where an alteration has been made in the area of the tenancy since the record-of-rights was finally published, the plaint shall further contain a statement of the rental of the original tenancy according to the record-of-rights, together with a statement showing how the amount of rent claimed in the suit has been computed;

- (e) notwithstanding anything contained in clauses (c) and (d), the Local Government may prescribe that all or any of the statements, copies and extracts referred to in those clauses may be made from Land Records published and finally framed under Chapter XII, instead of from records-of-rights;
  - (f) the summons shall be for the final disposal of the suit, unless the Court is of opinion that the summons should be for the settlement of issues only;
  - (g) the service of the summons may, if the Local Government, by rule, either generally, or specially for any local area, so directs, be effected by post, either in addition to, or in substitution for, any other mode of service;
  - (h) a written statement shall not be filed without the leave of the Court;
  - (i) the rules in rule 13 in Order XVIII in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, <sup>varies</sup> for recording the evidence of witnesses shall apply, whether an appeal is allowed or not;
  - (j) when any account-books, rent-rolls, collection-papers, measurement papers or maps have been produced by the landlord before any Court, and have been admitted in evidence in a suit pending therein, copies of, or extracts from, such documents, certified by a duly authorized officer of such Court to be true copies or extracts, may, with the permission of the Court, be substituted on the record for the originals, which may then be returned to the landlord;
- and thereafter copies and extracts, so certified, may be admitted in evidence in any other suit instituted in the same or any other Court, unless the Court before which they are produced sees fit to require the production of the originals;
- (k) the Court may, when passing the decree, order, on the oral application of the decree-holder, the execution thereof, unless it is a decree for ejectment for arrears;
  - (l) notwithstanding anything contained in rule 16 in Order XXI in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, <sup>of 1908.</sup> an application for the execution of a decree for arrears obtained by a landlord shall not be made by an assignee of the decree, unless the landlord's interest in the land has become and is vested in him.

Suit by co-sharer landlord for arrears of rent.

208. Where a co-sharer landlord, who has instituted a <sup>(1908, s. 143A.)</sup> suit to recover the rent due to all the co-sharer landlords in respect of an entire tenure or holding, and has made all the remaining co-sharers parties defendant to the suit, is unable to ascertain what rent is due for the whole tenure or holding, or whether the rent due to the other co-sharer landlords has been paid or not, owing to the refusal or neglect of the tenant, or of the co-sharer landlords defendant to the suit, to furnish him with correct information on these points, or on either of them,

Oriya Tenancy.(Chapter XV.—Judicial Procedure.—Clauses 209—218.)

such plaintiff co-sharer landlord shall be entitled to proceed with the suit for his share only of the rent ; and a decree obtained by him in a suit so framed shall, as regards the remedies for enforcing the same, be as effectual as a decree obtained by a sole landlord or an entire body of landlords in a suit brought for the rent due to all the co-sharers.

Payment into Court of rent admitted to be due to third person.

209. (1) When a defendant admits that money is due from him on account of rent, but pleads that it is due not to the plaintiff but to a third person, the Court shall refuse to take cognizance of the plea unless the defendant pays into Court the amount so admitted to be due. [1889, s. 77; 1895, s. 146.]

(2) Where such a payment is made, the Court shall forthwith cause notice of the payment to be served on the third person, and shall by the notice require him to appear before it on a specified date, and, after taking evidence (if necessary) shall pass orders.

(3) If the plea is allowed, an order shall be made for payment to the third party, and, if it is not allowed, an order shall be made for payment to the plaintiff.

(4) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of any person to recover from the plaintiff money paid to him under sub-section (3), or to present an appeal under section 213.

Payment into Court of rent admitted to be due to landlord.

210. When a defendant admits that money is due from him to the plaintiff on account of rent, but pleads that the amount claimed is in excess of the amount due, the Court shall refuse to take cognizance of the plea unless the defendant pays into Court the amount so admitted to be due. [1885, s. 150.]

Provisions as to payment of portion of money.

211. When a defendant is liable to pay money into Court under section 209 or section 210, if the Court thinks that there are sufficient reasons for so ordering, it may take cognizance of the defendant's plea on his paying into Court such reasonable portion of the money as the Court directs. [1885, s. 151.]

Court to grant receipt.

212. When a defendant pays money into Court under section 209 or section 210, the Court shall give the defendant a receipt; and the receipt so given shall operate as an acquittance in the same manner and to the same extent as if it had been given by the plaintiff or the third person, as the case may be. [1885, s. 152.]

Appeals.

213. (1) Except as provided in sub-section (2), an appeal shall lie to the Collector from every order or decree passed by a Deputy Collector or Assistant Collector or Sub-Deputy Collector or Revenue officer in any suit or application under any portion of this Act other than Chapter XI and Chapter XII. [1889, ss. 153 to 155, 160; Ben. Act VI of 1902, s. 13; 1895, s. 153.]

(2) An appeal shall not lie from any decree or order passed, whether in the first instance or on appeal, where—

(a) the decree or order is passed by a Collector, and the subject-matter in dispute does not exceed five hundred rupees in value, or

(b) the decree or order is passed by any other officer specially empowered by the Local Government to exercise final jurisdiction under this section,

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter XV.--Judicial Procedure.—Clauses 214, 215.)

and the subject-matter in dispute does not exceed fifty rupees in value ;

unless in either case the decree or order has decided—

(i) a question whether rent is payable for land or not or a question relating to title to land or to some interest in land as between parties having conflicting claims thereto, or

(ii) a question of a right to enhance or vary the rent of a tenant, or a question of the amount of rent annually payable by a tenant.

(3) In any case referred to in clause (i), a second appeal shall lie to the District Judge, and, if the subject-matter in dispute exceeds Rs. 5,000 in value, a further appeal shall lie to the High Court from the decision of the District Judge.

(4) In any case referred to in clause (ii), a second appeal shall lie to the Commissioner, and, if the subject-matter in dispute exceeds Rs. 5,000 in value, a further appeal shall lie to the Board of Revenue from the decision of the Commissioner, and the order of the Board of Revenue shall be final.

(5) Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, the Collector may call for the record of any case in which any officer referred to in sub-section (1) or in clause (b) of sub-section (2) has passed a decree or order to which this section applies, if it appears that the officer has exercised a jurisdiction not vested in him by law, or has failed to exercise a jurisdiction so vested, or has acted in the exercise of his jurisdiction illegally or with material irregularity; and the Collector may pass such order as he thinks fit.

Explanation.—A question as to the regularity of the proceedings in publishing or conducting a sale in execution of a decree for arrears of rent is not a question relating to title to land or to some interest in land as between parties having conflicting claims thereto

Deposit on application to set aside ex-parte decree, or for review of judgment.

214. Every application for an order under rule 13 in Order IX in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, to set aside a decree passed ex-parte, or for a review of judgment, under section 114 of the said Code, in a suit under this Act, shall contain a statement of the injury sustained by the applicant by reason of the decree or judgment ; and no such application shall be admitted--

(1885, s. 153A.)

(a) unless the applicant has, at or before the time when the application is admitted, deposited in the Court to which the application is presented the amount, if any, which he admits to be due from him to the decree-holder, or such amount as the Court may, for reasons to be recorded by it in writing, direct ; or

(b) unless the Court, after considering the statement of injury, is satisfied, for reasons to be recorded by it in writing, that no such deposit is necessary.

Date from which decree for enhancement takes effect.

215. A decree for enhancement of rent under this Act, if passed in a suit instituted in the first eight months of an agricultural year, shall ordinarily take effect on the commencement of the agricultural year next following ; and, if passed in a suit instituted in the last four months of the agricultural year, shall ordinarily take effect on the commencement of the agricultural year next but one following; but nothing in this section shall prevent the Court from fixing, for special reasons, a later date from which any such decree shall take effect.

Relief against forfeitures.

216. (1) A suit for the ejectment of a tenant, on the [1905, s. 156.] ground—

- (a) that he has used the land in a manner which renders it unfit for the purposes of the tenancy, or
- (b) that he has broken a condition on breach of which he is, under the terms of a contract between him and the landlord, liable to ejectment, shall not be entertained unless the landlord has served, in the prescribed manner, a notice on the tenant specifying the particular misuse or breach complained of, and, where the misuse or breach is capable of remedy, requiring the tenant to remedy the same, and, in any case, to pay reasonable compensation for the misuse or breach, and the tenant has failed to comply within a reasonable time with that request.

(2) A decree passed in favour of a landlord in any such suit shall declare the amount of compensation which would reasonably be payable to the plaintiff for the misuse or breach, and whether, in the opinion of the Court the misuse or breach is capable of remedy, and shall fix a period during which it shall be open to the defendant to pay that amount to the plaintiff, and, where the misuse or breach is declared to be capable of remedy, to remedy the same.

(3) The Court may, from time to time, for special reasons, extend a period fixed by it under sub-section (2).

(4) If the defendant, within the period or extended period (as the case may be) fixed by the Court under this section, pays the compensation mentioned in the decree, and, where the misuse or breach is declared by the Court to be capable of remedy, remedies the misuse or breach to the satisfaction of the Court, the decree shall not be executed.

Rights of ejected raiyats in respect of crops and land prepared for sowing.

217. The following rules shall apply in the case of every [1905, s. 157.] raiyat ejected from a holding:—

- (a) when the raiyat has, before the date of his ejectment, sown or planted crops in any land comprised in the holding, he shall be entitled, at the option of the landlord, either to retain possession of that land and to use it for the purpose of tending and gathering in the crops, or to receive from the landlord the value of the crops as estimated by the Court executing the decree for ejectment;
- (b) when the raiyat has, before the date of his ejectment, prepared for sowing any land comprised in his holding, but has not sown or planted crops in that land, he shall be entitled to receive from the landlord the value of the labour and capital expended by him in so preparing the land, as estimated by the Court executing the decree for ejectment, together with reasonable interest on that value;

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter XV.—Judicial Procedure.—Chapter XVI.—Summary Procedure for the recovery of Rents under the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1895.—Clauses 218—220.)

- (c) but a raiyat shall not be entitled to retain possession of any land or receive any sum in respect thereof under this section where, after the commencement of proceedings by the landlord for his ejectment, he has cultivated or prepared the land contrary to local usage;
- (d) If the landlord elects under this section to allow a raiyat to retain possession of the land, the raiyat shall pay to the landlord, for the use and occupation of the land during the period for which he is allowed to retain possession of the same, such rent as the Court executing the decree for ejectment may deem reasonable.

Power for Court to fix fair rent as alternative to ejectment.

218. When a plaintiff institutes a suit for the ejectment of a trespasser, he may, if he thinks fit, claim as alternative relief that the defendant be declared liable to pay for the land in his possession a fair and equitable rent, to be determined by the Court; and the Court may grant such relief accordingly. [1895, a. 157.]

Application to determine incidents of tenancy.

219. (7) Subject to the provisions of section 132, the Court having jurisdiction to determine a suit for the possession of land may, on the application of either the landlord or the tenant of the land, determine all or any of the following matters, namely:—

- (a) the situation, quantity and boundaries of the land;
- (b) the name and description of the tenant thereof (if any);
- (c) the class to which he belongs, that is to say, whether he is a tenure-holder, bajiaftidar, raiyat holding at fixed rates, occupancy-raiyat, non-occupancy-raiyat, or under-raiyat, and, if he is a tenure-holder, whether he is a permanent tenure-holder or not, and whether his rent is liable to enhancement during the continuance of his tenure; and
- (d) the rent payable by him at the time of the application.

(2) If, in the opinion of the Court, any of these matters cannot be satisfactorily determined without a local inquiry, the Court may direct that a local inquiry be held under Order XXVI in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, by such Revenue-officer as the Local Government may authorize in that behalf by rule made under rule 9 in the said Order.

v of 1908.

(3) The order on any application under this section shall have the effect of, and be subject to the like appeal as, a decree.

CHAPTER XVI.

SUMMARY PROCEDURE FOR THE RECOVERY OF RENTS UNDER THE PUBLIC DEMANDS RECOVERY ACT, 1895.

Ben. Act 1 of 1895.

Recovery of arrears by the certificate procedure in certain areas.

220. (1) Any landlord whose land is situate in an area for which a record-of-rights has been finally published under Chapter XI or under any other law for the time being in force, and for which Land Records have been published and finally framed under Chapter XII,

[1895, a. 159] (old.)

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter XVI.—Summary Procedure for the recovery of Rents under the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1895.—Clause 220.)

may apply to the Local Government, through the Collector of the district in which his land is situate, for the application of the procedure prescribed by the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1895, to the recovery of the arrears of rent which he alleges are, or may accrue, due to him for lands in such area. Ben. Act of 1895.

(2) The Local Government may reject any such application, or may allow it subject to such terms and conditions as it may see fit to impose, and may at any time add to or vary any terms or conditions so imposed, or withdraw its allowance of the application, without, in any of these cases, assigning any reason for its action.

(3) When any such application has been allowed, the landlord may make a requisition in writing, in the prescribed form, to such Revenue-officer as the Local Government may appoint for the purpose of this section to perform the functions of a Certificate-officer under the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1895, for the recovery of any arrears of rent which he alleges are due to him from any tenant. Ben. Act of 1895.

(4) Every such requisition shall be signed and verified by the landlord making it, in accordance with the provisions of rules 14 and 15 in Order VI in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, as to the verification of plaints; and there shall be payable in respect of every such requisition a court-fee of the same amount as is payable under the Court-fee Act for the time being in force in respect of a plaint for the recovery of a sum of money equal to that stated in such requisition. V of 1893.
VII of 1893.

(5) On receipt of such requisition the Revenue-officer may, in accordance with such rules as the Local Government may prescribe in this behalf, issue certificates, in the prescribed form, for the recovery of the arrears alleged to be due;

and, any such certificate shall, as regards the remedies for enforcing the same and so far only, have the force and effect of a decree of a Revenue Court passed in a suit for the recovery of rent; and the provisions of Chapter XVII shall, so far as may be practicable, be applicable to all proceedings for the execution of such certificate:

Provided that—

(a) no certificate shall be issued for the recovery of arrears of rent of a tenancy regarding which a suit has been instituted in a Revenue Court for the alteration of the rent payable by the tenant or the determination of his status as a tenant, in respect of the period during which it is alleged in the requisition made under sub-section (5) the arrears of rent sought to be recovered have accrued; and,

(b) if, after the issue of a certificate, it is found that such a suit has been instituted in a Revenue Court before the issue of the certificate, such certificate shall be cancelled.

(6) The following provisions of the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1895, shall, so far as they are applicable, apply to the proceedings for the execution of all certificates for the recovery of arrears of rent issued under sub-section (5), namely:— Ben. Act of 1895.

the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 7, and sections 10 to 17 and 22 to 33.

(7) No landlord shall, during the pendency of any proceedings under this section, institute a suit in a Revenue Court for the recovery of any arrears of rent in respect of which he has made a requisition under sub-section (3);

*Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter XVII.—Sale for Arrears under Decree.—

and, subject to the provisions of section 15 of the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1895, no tenant shall, after the issue of any certificate against him under sub-section (5), institute a suit in, or apply to, the Revenue Court for the alteration of the rent payable by him, or the determination of his status as a tenant, in respect of the period during which the arrears of rent for which such certificate was issued have accrued.

(8) The word "landlord" in this section includes an entire body of landlords, and also one or more co-sharer landlords who collect or collect his or their share or shares of the rent separately; and, where the Revenue-officer issues a certificate on the requisition of one or more such co-sharer landlords, he shall at the same time issue to each of the remaining co-sharer landlords a copy of such certificate.

(9) The word "landlord" in this section also includes a manager appointed under clause (b) of section 98 or sub-section (9) of section 101.

CHAPTER XVII.

SALE FOR ARREARS UNDER DECREE.

Execution of tenure or holding sold in execution of decree.

221. (1) Where a tenure or holding is sold in execution of a decree for arrears of rent due in respect thereof, or of a decree for damages under section 250, the tenure or holding shall, subject to the provisions of section 21, pass to the purchaser, provided that the decree in execution of which it has been sold has been obtained by—

- (a) a sole landlord; or
- (b) the entire body of landlords; or
- (c) one or more co-sharer landlords who has, or have, sued for the rent due to all the co-sharers in respect of the entire tenure or holding and made all the remaining co-sharers parties defendant to the suit.

(2) When one or more co-sharer landlords, having obtained a decree referred to in sub-section (1) or a decree in a suit framed under section 208, applies, or apply, for the execution of the decree by the sale of the tenure or holding, the Court shall, before proceeding to sell the tenure or holding, give notice of the application for execution to the other co-sharers.

General powers of purchaser as to avoidance of incumbrances.

222. Where a tenure or holding is sold in execution of a decree for arrears due in respect thereof, the purchaser shall take subject to the interests defined in this Chapter as "protected interests," but with power to annul the interests defined in this Chapter as "incumbrances;"

Provided as follows:—

- (a) a registered and notified incumbrance within the meaning of this Chapter shall not be so annulled, except in the case hereinafter mentioned in that behalf;
- (b) the power to annul shall be exercisable only in manner by this Chapter directed.

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter XVII.—Sale for Arrears under Decree.—

(Clauses 223—226.)

Protected interests.

223. The following shall be deemed to be protected interests <sup>[1908, s. 100, Notn.]</sup> within the meaning of this Chapter:—

- (a) any under-tenure existing from the time of the Permanent Settlement;
- (b) any sub-proprietary interest or under-tenure recognized by the settlement-proceedings of any current temporary settlement as a tenure at a rent fixed for the period of that settlement;
- (c) any lease of land whereon dwelling-houses, manufactories or other permanent buildings have been erected, or permanent gardens, plantations, tanks, canals, places of worship or burning or burying-grounds have been made;
- (d) any right of occupancy;
- (e) the right of a non-occupancy-raiyat to hold for five years at a rent fixed under Chapter VI by a Court, or under Chapter XI by a Revenue-officer;
- (f) any right conferred on an occupancy-raiyat to hold at a rent which was a fair and reasonable rent at the time the right was conferred; and
- (g) any right or interest which the landlord at whose instance the tenure or holding is sold, or his predecessor in title, has expressly and in writing given the tenant for the time being permission to create.

Meaning of "incumbrance" and "registered and notified incumbrance."

224. For the purposes of this Chapter,—

- (a) the term "incumbrance," used with reference to a <sup>[1908, s. 100, Notn.]</sup> tenancy, means any lien, sub-tenancy, easement or other right or interest created by the tenant on his tenure or holding or in limitation of his own interest therein, and not being a protected interest as defined in section 223;
- (b) the term "registered and notified incumbrance," used with reference to a tenure or holding sold or liable to sale in execution of a decree for an arrear of rent due in respect thereof, means an incumbrance created by a registered instrument, of which a copy has, not less than three months before the accrual of the arrear, been served on the landlord in manner hereinafter provided;
- (c) the terms "arrears" and "arrear of rent" shall be deemed to include interest decreed under section 69 or damages awarded in lieu of interest under sub-section (1) of section 70.

Application for sale of tenure or holding.

225. When a decree has been passed for an arrear of rent <sup>[1908, s. 100, Notn.]</sup> due for a tenure or holding, and the decree-holder applies, under sub-rule (8) of rule 11 in Order XXI in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for the attachment and sale of the tenure or holding in execution of the decree, he shall produce a statement showing the pargana, estate and village in which the land comprised in the tenure or holding is situate, the yearly rent payable for the same and the total amount recoverable under the decree. <sup>v of 1908.</sup>

Order of attachment and proclamation of sale to be issued simultaneously.

226. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code <sup>[1908, s. 100, Notn.]</sup> of Civil Procedure, 1908, when the decree-holder makes the application mentioned in section 225, the Court shall, if under rule 17 in Order XXI in the first Schedule to the said Code it admits the application and orders execution of the decree as applied for, issue simultaneously the order of attachment and the proclamation required by rule 66 in the said Order. <sup>v of 1908.</sup>

Official Notice.

(Chapter XVII.—Sale for Arrears under Decree.— Clauses 227, 228.)

(2) The proclamation shall, in addition to stating and specifying the particulars mentioned in rule 66 in the said Order, announce—

(a) in the case of a tenure, or a holding of a raiyat holding at fixed rates or of a bajiastidar, that the tenure or holding will first be put up to auction subject to the registered and notified incumbrances, and will be sold subject to those incumbrances if the sum bid is sufficient to liquidate the amount of the decree and costs, and that otherwise it will, if the decree-holder so desires, be sold on a subsequent day, of which due notice will be given, with power to annul all incumbrances; and

(b) in the case of an occupancy-holding, not being the holding of a bajiastidar, that the holding will be sold with power to annul all incumbrances.

(3) The proclamation shall, besides being made in the manner required by rule 67 in the said Order, be published by fixing up a copy thereof in a conspicuous place on the land comprised in the tenure or holding ordered to be sold, and shall also be published in such manner as the Local Government may direct in this behalf.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in rule 68 in the said Order, the sale shall not, without the consent in writing of the judgment-debtor, take place until after the expiration of at least thirty days, calculated from the date on which the copy of the proclamation has been fixed up on the land comprised in the tenure or holding ordered to be sold.

Sale of tenure or holding subject to registered and notified incumbrances, and effect thereof.

227. (1) When a tenure or a holding at fixed rates or a holding of a bajiastidar has been advertised for sale under section 226, it shall be put up to auction subject to registered and notified incumbrances; and, if the bidding reaches a sum sufficient to liquidate the amount of the decree and costs, including the costs of sale, the tenure or holding shall be sold subject to such incumbrances.

[1908, s. 104; Notin.]

(2) The purchaser at a sale under this section may, in manner provided by section 230, and not otherwise, annul any incumbrance upon the tenure or holding, not being a registered and notified incumbrance.

Sale of tenure or holding with power to avoid all incumbrances, and effect thereof.

228. (1) If the bidding for a tenure or a holding at fixed rates or a holding of a bajiastidar put up to auction under section 227 does not reach a sum sufficient to liquidate the amount of the decree and costs as aforesaid, and if the decree-holder thereupon desires that the tenure or holding be sold with power to avoid all incumbrances, the officer holding the sale shall adjourn the sale and make a fresh proclamation under rule 67 in Order XXI in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, announcing that the tenure or holding will be put up to auction and sold, with power to avoid all incumbrances, upon a future day specified therein, not less than fifteen or more than thirty days from the date of the postponement; and upon that day the tenure or holding shall be put up to auction and sold with power to avoid all incumbrances.

V of 1908.

(2) The purchaser at a sale under this section may, in manner provided by section 230, and not otherwise, annul any incumbrance on the tenure or holding.

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter XVII.—Sale for Arrears under Decree.—Clauses 229—232.)

Sale of occupancy-holding with power to avoid all incumbrances, and effect thereof.

229. (1) When an occupancy-holding, not being the holding of a bajiaftidar, has been advertised for sale under section 226, it shall be put up to auction and sold with power to avoid all incumbrances. [1895, s. 163; No. 1.]

(2) The purchaser at a sale under this section may, in manner provided by section 230, and not otherwise, annul any incumbrance on the holding.

Procedure for annulling incumbrances under the foregoing sections.

230. (1) A purchaser having power to annul an incumbrance under any of the foregoing sections, and desiring to annul the same, may, within one year from the date of the sale or the date on which he first has notice of the incumbrance, whichever is later, present to the Collector an application, in writing, requesting him to serve on the incumbrancer a notice declaring that the incumbrance is annulled. [1895, s. 167; No. 1.]

(2) Every such application must be accompanied by such fee for the service of the notice as the Board of Revenue may fix in this behalf.

(3) When an application for service of a notice is made to the Collector in manner prescribed by this section, he shall cause the notice to be served in compliance therewith, and the incumbrance shall be deemed to be annulled from the date on which it is so served.

(4) When a tenure or holding is sold in execution of a decree for arrears due in respect thereof, and there is on the tenure or holding a protected interest of the kind specified in section 223, clause (c), the purchaser may, if he has power under this Chapter to avoid all incumbrances, sue to enhance the rent of the land which is the subject of the protected interest. On proof that the land is held at a rent which was not at the time the lease was granted a fair rent, the Court may enhance the rent to such amount as appears to be fair and equitable.

This sub-section shall not apply to land which has been held for a term exceeding twelve years at a fixed rent equal to the rent of good arable land.

Power to direct that occupancy-holdings be sold with under foregoing sections as tenures.

231. (1) The Local Government may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, direct that occupancy-holdings or any specified class of occupancy-holdings, in any local area, which are put up for sale in execution of a decree for an arrear of rent due on them, shall, before being put up with power to avoid all incumbrances, be put up subject to registered and notified incumbrances. [1895, s. 163; No. 1.]

(2) While any such direction remains in force in respect of any local area, all occupancy-holdings, or, as the case may be, occupancy-holdings of the specified class, in that local area, shall, for the purposes of sale under the foregoing sections of this Chapter, be treated in all respects as if they were tenures.

(3) Nothing in the foregoing sub-sections shall apply to the holdings of bajiaftidars.

Rules for disposal of the sale-proceeds.

232. (1) In disposing of the proceeds of a sale under this Chapter, the following rules, instead of those prescribed by section 78 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, shall be observed, that is to say— [1895, s. 169; No. 1.]

(a) there shall first be paid to the decree-holder the costs incurred by him in bringing the tenure or holding to sale;

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter XVII.—Sale for Arrears under Decree.—Clause 233.)

(b) there shall, in the next place, be paid to the decree-holder the amount due to him under the decree in execution of which the sale was made;

(c) if there remains a balance after these sums have been paid, there shall be paid to the decree-holder therefrom any rent which may have fallen due to him in respect of the tenure or holding between the institution of the suit and the date of the sale;

(d) the balance (if any) remaining after the payment of the rent mentioned in clause (c) shall, upon the expiration of two months from the confirmation of the sale, be paid to the judgment-debtor upon his application.

Provided that, where a tenure or holding has been sold in execution of a decree obtained by one or more co-sharer landlords in a suit framed under section 208 or a decree referred to in sub-section (1) of section 221,—

(i) payment of the amount due under such decree shall, notwithstanding anything contained in clause (b), be made to the decree-holder and to the other co-sharer landlords in proportion to the amount found to be due to each, and

(ii) if there remains a balance, payment of any rent which may have fallen due in respect of the tenure or holding between the institution of the suit and the date of the sale shall, notwithstanding anything contained in clause (c), but subject to the determination, in the manner and with the effect mentioned in sub-section (3), of any dispute as to their respective rights to receive such rent, be made to the said decree-holder and the other co-sharer landlords in proportion to their respective shares in the tenure or holding.

(3) If the judgment-debtor disputes the decree-holder's right to receive any sum on account of rent under clause (c), the Court shall determine the dispute, and the determination shall have the force of a decree.

Tenure or holding to be released from attachment only on payment into Court of amount of decree with costs or on confirmation of satisfaction by decree-holder.

233. (1) Rules 58 to 63 and 89 in Order XXI in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, shall not apply to a tenure or holding attached in execution of a decree for arrears due thereon.

(2) When an order for the sale of a tenure or holding in execution of such a decree has been made, the tenure or holding shall not be released from attachment unless, before it is knocked down to the auction-purchaser, the amount of the decree, including the costs decreed, together with the costs incurred in order to the sale, is paid into Court, or the decree-holder makes an application for the release of the tenure or holding on the ground that the decree has been satisfied out of Court.

(3) The judgment-debtor, or any person having in the tenure or holding any interest voidable on the sale, may pay money into Court under this section.

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter XVII.—Sale for Arrears under Decree.—Clauses 234—237.)

Amount paid into Court to prevent sale to be in certain cases a mortgage-debt on the tenure or holding.

234. (1) When any person having, in a tenure or holding [1885, s. 171; Netta.] advertised for sale under this Chapter, an interest which would be voidable upon the sale, pays into Court the amount requisite to prevent the sale,—

- (a) the amount so paid by him shall be deemed to be a debt bearing interest at twelve and-a-half per centum per annum and secured by a mortgage of the tenure or holding to him;
- (b) his mortgage shall take priority of every other charge on the tenure or holding other than a charge for arrear of rent; and
- (c) he shall be entitled to possession of the tenure or holding as mortgagee of the tenant, and to retain possession of it as such until the debt, with the interest due thereon, has been discharged.

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect any other remedy to which any such person would be entitled.

Inferior tenant paying into Court may deduct from rent.

235. When a tenure or holding is advertised for sale under this Chapter in execution of a decree against a superior tenant defaulting, and an inferior tenant, whose interest would be voidable upon the sale, pays money into Court in order to prevent the sale, he may, in addition to any other remedy provided for him by law, deduct the whole or any portion of the amount so paid from any rent payable by him to his immediate landlord; and that landlord, if he is not the defaulter, may in like manner deduct the amount so deducted from any rent payable by him to his immediate landlord, and so on until the defaulter is reached. [1885, s. 171; Netta.]

Decree-holder may bid at sale; judgment-debtor may not.

236. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in rule 72 in Order XXI in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, the holder of a decree in execution of which a tenure or holding is sold under this Chapter may, without the permission of the Court, bid for or purchase the tenure or holding. [1885, s. 173; Netta.] V of 1908.

(2) The judgment-debtor shall not bid for or purchase a tenure or holding so sold.

(3) When a judgment-debtor purchases by himself or through another person a tenure or holding so sold, the Court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the decree-holder or any other person interested in the sale, by order set aside the sale; and the costs of the application and order, and any deficiency of price which may happen on the re-sale, and all expenses attending it, shall be paid by the judgment-debtor.

Application by judgment-debtor to set aside sale.

237. (1) Where a tenure or holding is sold for an arrear of rent due thereon, then, at any time within thirty days from the date of sale, the judgment-debtor may apply to have the sale set aside, on his depositing in Court, for payment to the decree-holder, the amount recoverable under the decree, with costs, and, for payment to the purchaser, a sum equal to five per centum of the purchase-money. [1885, s. 174; Netta.]

(2) If such deposit is made within the thirty days, the Court shall pass an order setting aside the sale, and the provisions of rule 93 in Order XXI in the first Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, shall apply in the case of a sale so set aside: V of 1908.

Provided that, if a judgment-debtor applies under rule 90 in the said Order to set aside the sale of his tenure or holding, he shall not be entitled to make an application under this section, and if he applies under this section he shall not be entitled to make an application under the said rule 90.

(3) Rule 91 in the said Order shall not apply to any sale under this Chapter.

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter XVII.—Sale for Arrears under Decree.—Chapter XVIII.—Contract and Custom.—Clauses 238—241.)

Registration of certain instruments creating incumbrances.

238. Notwithstanding anything contained in Part IV of the Indian Registration Act, 1908, an instrument creating an incumbrance upon any tenure or holding, which has been executed before the commencement of this Act and is not required by section 17 of the said Registration Act to be registered, shall be accepted for registration under that Act if it is presented for that purpose to the proper officer within one year from the commencement of this Act. [1885, s. 175; Notn.] XVI of 1908.

Notification of incumbrances to landlord.

239. Every officer who has, whether before or after the commencement of this Act, registered an instrument executed by a tenant of a tenure or holding and creating an incumbrance on the tenure or holding, shall, at the request of the tenant or of the person in whose favour the incumbrance is created, and on payment by him of such fee as the Local Government may fix in this behalf, notify the incumbrance to the landlord by causing a copy of the instrument to be served on him in the prescribed manner. [1885, s. 175; Notn.]

Power to create incumbrances not extended.

240. Nothing contained in this Chapter shall be deemed to enable a person to create an incumbrance which he could not otherwise lawfully create. [1885, s. 177; Notn.]

CHAPTER XVIII.

CONTRACT AND CUSTOM.

Restrictions on execution of Act by agreement.

241. (1) Nothing in any contract between a landlord and a tenant, whether made before or after the commencement of this Act,— [1885, s. 178.]

- (a) shall bar in perpetuity the acquisition of an occupancy-right in land, or
- (b) shall take away an occupancy-right in existence at the date of the contract, or
- (c) shall entitle a landlord to eject a tenant otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of this Act, or
- (d) shall take away or limit the right of a tenant, as provided by this Act, to make improvements and claim compensation for them.

(2) Nothing in any contract made between a landlord and a tenant within a period of five years immediately preceding the commencement of this Act shall prevent a raiyat from acquiring, in accordance with this Act, an occupancy-right in land.

(3) Nothing in any contract made between a landlord and a tenant after the commencement of this Act shall—

- (a) prevent a raiyat from acquiring, in accordance with this Act, an occupancy-right in land;
- (b) take away or limit the right of an occupancy-raiyat to use land as provided by section 22;
- (c) take away the right of a raiyat to surrender his holding in accordance with section 39;
- (d) take away the right of a raiyat to transfer or bequeath his holding in accordance with local usage;

Oriya Tenancy.(Chapter XVIII.—Contract and Custom.—Clauses 242, 243.)

- (e) take away the right of an occupancy-raiyat to sub-let subject to, and in accordance with, the provisions of this Act;
- (f) take away the right of a raiyat to apply for a reduction of rent under section 39 or section 54;
- (g) take away the right of a landlord or a tenant to apply for a commutation of rent under section 41; or
- (h) affect the provisions of section 69, relating to interest payable on arrears of money-rent:

Provided as follows:—

- (i) nothing in this section shall affect the terms or conditions of a lease granted bonâ fide for the reclamation of waste land, except that, where, on or after the expiration of the term created by the lease, the lessee would, under Chapter V, be entitled to an occupancy-right in the land comprised in the lease, nothing in the lease shall prevent him from acquiring that right;
- (ii) when a landlord has reclaimed waste land by his own servants or hired labourers, and subsequently lets the same or a part thereof to a raiyat, nothing in this Act shall affect the terms of any contract whereby a raiyat is prevented from acquiring an occupancy-right in the land or part during a period of thirty years from the date on which the land or part is first let to a raiyat;
- (iii) nothing in this section shall affect the terms or conditions of any contract for the temporary cultivation of horticultural or orchard land with agricultural crops.

Explanation.—The expression "horticultural land," as used in proviso (iii), means garden land, in the occupation of a proprietor or permanent tenure-holder, which is used bonâ fide for the cultivation of flowers or vegetables or both, grown for the personal use of such proprietor or permanent tenure-holder and his family, and not for profit or sale.

Permanent mehar.
rent lease.

242. Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to prevent [1885, s. 176.] a proprietor or a holder of a permanent tenure in a permanently-settled area from granting a permanent mykarrari lease on any terms agreed on between him and his tenant.

Utbandi, char and diâra lands.

243. (1) Notwithstanding anything in this Act, [1885, s. 180.] a raiyat—

- (a) who, in any part of the country where the custom of utbandi prevails, holds land ordinarily let under that custom and for the time being let under that custom, or

(b) who holds land of the kind known as char or diâra, shall not acquire a right of occupancy—in case (a), in land ordinarily held under the custom of utbandi and for the time being held under that custom, or in case (b), in the char or diâra land,

a decree for a sum of money, or, subject to the provisions of section 221, in any of the modes in which a decree for rent may be executed.

Agents and representatives of landlords.

Power for landlord to act through agent.

251. (1) Any appearance, application or act, in, before or to any Court or authority, required or authorized by this Act to be made or done by a landlord, may, unless the Court or authority otherwise directs, be made or done also by an agent empowered in this behalf by a written authority under the hand of the landlord. (1905, No. 145, [ST.])

(2) Every notice required by this Act to be served on, or given to, a landlord shall, if served on, or given to, an agent empowered as aforesaid to accept service of or receive the same on behalf of the landlord, be as effectual for the purposes of this Act as if it had been served on, or given to, the landlord in person.

(3) Every document required by this Act to be signed or certified by a landlord, except an instrument appointing or authorising an agent, may be signed or certified by an agent of the landlord authorized in writing in that behalf.

Jointlandlords to act collectively or by common agent.

252. Where two or more persons are joint-landlords, anything which the landlord is under this Act required or authorized to do must be done either by both or all those persons acting together, or by an agent authorized to act on behalf of both or all of them. (1905, s. 146.)

Procedure in suits by jointlandlords.

253. Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, every suit under this Act instituted by— (1905, s. 147, [S.A.])

- (a) a sole landlord,
- (b) the entire body of landlords, or
- (c) one or more co-sharer landlords, shall be subject to the provisions of sections 201 to 213;

and to every decree referred to in sub-section (1) of section 221, and to every decree in a suit framed under section 208, the provisions of Chapter XVII shall, so far as may be practicable, be applicable.

Rules under Act.

Power to make rules regarding procedure, powers of officers and service of notices.

254. The Local Government may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, make rules— (1905, s. 148, [Notn.])

- (1) to regulate the procedure to be followed by Revenue officers in the discharge of any duty imposed upon them by or under this Act, and may by such rules confer upon any such officer—

- (a) any power exercised by a Civil Court in the trial of suits;
- (b) power to enter upon any land, and to survey, demarcate and make a map of the same, and any power exercisable by any officer under the Bengal Survey Act, 1875, and
- (c) power to cut and thresh the crops on any land and weigh the produce, with a view to estimating the capabilities of the soil;

Beng. Act V of 1875.

- (1a) to prescribe the procedure to be adopted, the agency to be employed and the documents to be used in the framing and publication of Land Records, or any portion thereof, under Chapter XII;

- (1b) to prescribe the officers to whom applications should be made under section 169 for the sale of crops or products distrained under Chapter XIV; and

Orissa Tenancy.(Chapter XX.—Supplemental.—Clauses 255—258.)

(2) to prescribe the forms to be used, and the mode of service of notices issued, under this Act, where no form or mode is prescribed by this or any other Act.

Publication of rules in draft.

255. All powers conferred by this Act for making rules are subject to the condition that the rules be made after previous publication. [1895, s. 190; Notfn.; 1906, s. 264(1).]

Provisions as to temporarily-settled districts.

Saving as to interests and tenures held in estates which have never been permanently settled.

256. Where the area comprised in a sub-proprietary interest or a tenure is situated in an estate which has never been permanently settled, nothing in this Act shall prevent the enhancement of the rent upon the expiration of a temporary settlement of the land-revenue, unless the right to hold beyond the term of the settlement at a particular rate of rent has been expressly recognized in settlement proceedings by a revenue-authority empowered by the Government to make definitively or confirm settlements. [1895, s. 191; Notfn.]

Power to alter rent in case of new assessment of land-revenue.

257. When a landlord grants a lease, or makes any other contract, purporting to entitle the tenant of land not included in an area permanently settled to hold that land free of rent or at a particular rent, and while the lease or contract is in force— [1895, s. 192; Notfn.]

(a) land-revenue is for the first time made payable in respect of the land, or

(b) land-revenue having been previously payable in respect of it, a fresh settlement of land-revenue is made, a Revenue-officer may, notwithstanding anything in the contract between the parties, by order, on the application of the landlord or of the tenant, or of his own motion, fix a fair and equitable rent for the land in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

Remission and suspension of rent.

258. (1) Whenever from any cause the payment of the whole or any part of the land-revenue payable in respect of any land, not included in an area which has been permanently settled, is remitted or suspended, a Revenue-officer may, by general or special order, remit or suspend, as the case may be, the payment of the rent of that land to an amount which may bear the same proportion to the whole of the rent payable in respect of the land as the land-revenue of which the payment has been remitted or suspended bears to the whole of the land-revenue payable in respect of the land, and may distribute the amount so remitted or suspended amongst the tenants holding such land as may seem to him to be equitable, having regard to the effect on their tenures or holdings of the cause which has led to the remission or suspension of the land-revenue. [1895, s. 193; (1) to (5).]

Provided that, where the rent is taken by actual division of the produce, no portion of it shall be suspended under this section.

(2) An order passed under sub-section (1) shall not be liable to be contested by suit in any Court.

(3) No suit shall lie for the recovery of any rent of which the payment has been remitted, or, during the period of suspension, of any rent of which the payment has been suspended; and, so long as a suit does not lie, such rent shall not be legally payable.

(4) Where the payment of rent has been suspended, the period of suspension shall be excluded in the computation of the period of limitation provided for bringing a suit for the recovery of the rent.

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter XVIII.—Contract and Custom.—Chapter XIX.— Limitation.—Clauses 244—247.)

until he has held the land in question for twelve continuous years; and, until he acquires a right of occupancy in the land, he shall be liable to pay such rent for his holding as may be agreed on between him and his landlord.

(2) Chapter VI shall not apply to raiyats holding land under the custom of utbandi in respect of land held by them under that custom.

(3) The Collector may, on the application of either the landlord or the tenant, or on a reference from the Revenue Court, declare that any land has ceased to be char or diara land within the meaning of this section; and thereupon all the provisions of this Act shall apply to the land.

Saving as to servicetenures.

244. Nothing in this Act shall affect any incident of a [1886, s. 107] ghatwali or other service-tenure, or, in particular, shall confer a right to transfer or bequeath a service-tenure which, before the commencement of this Act, was not capable of being transferred or bequeathed.

Homesteads.

245. When a raiyat holds his homestead otherwise [1886, s. 102] than as part of his holding as a raiyat, the incidents of his tenancy of the homestead shall be regulated by local custom or usage, and, subject to local custom or usage, by the provisions of this Act applicable to land held by a raiyat.

Saving of custom.

246. Nothing in this Act shall affect any custom, usage [1886, s. 100] or customary right not inconsistent with, or not expressly or by necessary implication modified or abolished by, its provisions.

Illustrations.

(1) A usage under which a raiyat is entitled to sell his holding without the consent of his landlord is not inconsistent with, and is not expressly or by necessary implication modified or abolished by, the provisions of this Act. That usage, accordingly, wherever it may exist, will not be affected by this Act.

(2) The custom or usage that an under-raiyat should, under certain circumstances, acquire a right of occupancy is not inconsistent with, and is not expressly or by necessary implication modified or abolished by, the provisions of this Act. That custom or usage, accordingly, wherever it exists, will not be affected by this Act.

CHAPTER XIX.

LIMITATION.

Limitation in suits, appeals and applications in Schedule IV.

247. (1) The suits, appeals and applications specified [1886, s. 104] in Schedule IV shall be instituted and made within the time prescribed in that Schedule for them respectively; and every such suit or appeal instituted, or application made, after the period of limitation so prescribed, shall be dismissed, although limitation has not been pleaded.

(2) Nothing in this section shall revive the right to institute any suit or appeal or make any application which would have been barred by limitation if it had been instituted or made immediately before the commencement of this Act.

Orissa Tenancy.

(Chapter XIX.—Limitation. — Chapter XX.— Supplemental.— Clauses 248—250.)

Portions of the Indian Limitation Act not applicable to such suits, &c.

248. (1) Sections 8 to 9 of the Indian Limitation Act, [1888, s. 108.]
1908, shall not apply to the suits and applications mention- IX of 1908.
ed in section 247.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Chapter, the provisions of the Indian Limitation Act, 1908, shall apply to all suits, appeals and applications mentioned in section 247. IX of 1908.

CHAPTER XX.

SUPPLEMENTAL.

Penalties.

Penalties.

249. (1) If any person, otherwise than in accordance [1888, s. 133; with this Act or some other enactment for the time being in 1908, s. 146.]
force,—

- (a) distrains or attempts to distrain the produce of a tenant's holding, or
- (b) resists a distraint duly made under this Act, or forcibly or clandestinely removes any property duly distrained under this Act, or
- (c) except with the authority or consent of the tenant, prevents or attempts to prevent the reaping, gathering, storing, removing or otherwise dealing with any produce of a holding, or
- (d) dishonestly cultivates any land which has been recorded as public grazing land in a lease executed by a proprietor or sub-proprietor in the course of a settlement of land-revenue, he shall be deemed to have committed criminal trespass within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.

XLV of 1900.

(2) If any person dishonestly, and otherwise than in accordance with this Act or some other enactment for the time being in force, obstructs any public right of way or other public easement which is entered in a record-of-rights finally published under Chapter XI or under any other law for the time being in force, or in any Land Records published and finally framed under Chapter XII, he shall be deemed to have committed mischief within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.

XLV of 1900.

(3) Any person who abets, within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code, the doing of any act mentioned in sub- XLV of 1900.
section (1) or sub-section (2), shall be deemed to have abetted the commission of criminal trespass or mischief, as the case may be, within the meaning of that Code.

Damages for denial of Landlord's title.

Damages for denial of landlord's title.

250. (1) When, in any suit under this Act, the tenant [1888, s.
renounces his character as tenant of the landlord by setting 1908A.] up without reasonable or probable cause title in a third person or himself, the Court may pass a decree in favour of the landlord for such amount of damages, not exceeding ten times the amount of the annual rent payable by the tenant, as it may consider to be just.

(2) The amount of damages decreed under sub-section (1), together with any interest accruing due thereon, shall, subject to the landlord's charge for rent, be a first charge on the tenure or holding of the tenant; and the landlord may execute such decree for damages and interest, either as

(5) The provisions of this section relating to the remission and suspension of the payment of rent may be applied, as far as may be, to land of which the land-revenue has been wholly or in part released, compounded for or redeemed, in any case in which, if the land-revenue in respect of the land had not been released, compounded for or redeemed, the whole or any part of it might, in the opinion of the Revenue-officer, have been remitted or suspended.

Recovery of certain dues.

Recovery of certain dues.

259. The provisions of this Act applicable to suits for the recovery of arrears of rent shall, as far as may be, apply to suits for the recovery of—

- (1) anything payable or deliverable in respect of—
  - (a) any sub-proprietary interest,
  - (b) any nij-jote or khudkast or nij-ohas land held by co-sharers, and
  - (c) any rights of pasturage, forest rights, rights over fisheries and the like, and
- (2) rent due by a chandnadar.

Saving for conditions binding on landlords.

Tenant not enabled by Act to violate conditions binding on landlord.

260. Where a proprietor, sub-proprietor or permanent tenure-holder holds his estate, sub-proprietary interest or tenure subject to the observance of any specified rule or condition, nothing in this Act shall entitle any person occupying land within the estate, sub-proprietary interest or tenure to do any act which involves a violation of that rule or condition. [1905, s. 195.]

Savings for special enactments.

261. Nothing in this Act shall affect—

(1905, s. 195.)

- (a) the powers and duties of Settlement-officers as defined by any law not expressly repealed by this Act;
- (b) any enactment regulating the procedure for the realization of rents in estates belonging to the Government, or under the management of the Court of Wards or of the Revenue-authorities;
- (c) any enactment relating to the avoidance of tenancies and incumbrances by a sale for arrears of the Government revenue;
- (d) any enactment relating to the partition of revenue-paying estates;
- (e) any enactment relating to patni tenures, in so far as it relates to those tenures; or [1905, s. 195.]
- (f) any other special or local law not repealed either expressly or by necessary implication by this Act.

THE ORISSA TENANCY BILL, 1911.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The objects of this Bill are—

- (1) to consolidate, simplify and rearrange the greater part of the Statute law relating to landlord and tenant in the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore, with an area of rather more than 8,000 square miles, of which 6,000 square miles are temporarily settled and 2,000 square miles are permanently settled;
- (2) to restore to holders of sub-proprietary interests and of resumed (bajiafi) revenue free lands the position which they held for nearly a century before the extension of certain provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, to the said districts in 1891 and later years;
- (3) to secure raiyats in these districts in the enjoyment of their existing rights, both statutory and customary;
- (4) to make a definite extension of the area held as private lands by proprietors and sub-proprietors, in consideration for the security of tenure to be afforded to their tenants in lands reclaimed from waste;
- (5) to improve the procedure for the recovery of rents due to proprietors and sub-proprietors;
- (6) to remove, so far as possible, ambiguities, defects and anomalies which are known to exist in the present law; and
- (7) to provide for the maintenance of land records.

II. The landlord and tenant law in these districts consists of the sections of the Bengal

Chapter of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885.	Portion extended.
I ...	Section 3.
II ...	Sections 4 and 5.
III ...	Section 7.
V, VI and VII ...	The whole.
VIII ...	Sections 52 to 75 (both inclusive).
IX ...	Section 80 and sections 98 to 100 (both inclusive).
X ...	The whole.
XI ...	Sections 116 to 120 (both inclusive).
XIII ...	Sections 147A and 147B.
XIII A ...	Section 155A.
XIV ...	The whole.
XVII ...	Section 188 (f), (g) and (h), and sections 190 to 192 (both inclusive).

Tenancy Act, 1885, noted in the margin and of certain local Regulations and Acts. The former Act repeals so much of the local Regulations and Acts (Act X of 1859 and Bengal Acts VI of 1862, IV of 1867 and VIII of 1879) as is inconsistent with the portions of the Act of 1885 which have been extended to these districts, and thus considerable difficulty has been created in ascertaining the particular provisions of law applicable to a very large number of rights and interests.

III. During the course of the revisional settlement, now in progress in these districts, landlords have been found to be claiming a record in their own names of lands alleged to be in their cultivating possession, and disputes on this subject between them and their tenants have been particularly acute. Agreements were being exacted from tenants, the effect of which was to prevent the accrual of occupancy rights in the lands comprising their tenancies, and there was no provision in the law to prohibit them from contracting themselves out of these rights. A large majority of landlords were also opposing the reclamation of waste lands by resident and non-resident cultivators, and where such reclamations had been made, were endeavouring to deprive the cultivators of the fruits of their labour.

IV. Further inquiries showed that the sections of the Bengal Tenancy Act already introduced were, in certain important respects, ill-adapted to local conditions. Apart from the very important difference between the temporary character of the land-revenue in these districts and the conditions which must necessarily attach to the permanently settled estates in Bengal, certain classes of tenancies in these districts, namely, the holders of bajiafi (or resumed revenue-free) lands and the sub-proprietors were found to require exceptional treatment. In Act X of 1859 and the connected Acts a very large number of defects and omissions were also brought to notice. More especially, the provisions relating to the sale of tenancies were found to be inadequate, and the attempt to supplement them with the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure was found to involve decisions of doubtful legality and practices discrepant in various Courts. Provisions of law on the following important subjects either do not exist or are ineffective:—

- (a) the making of improvements;
- (b) the acquisition by a landlord of portion of a holding for building or other purposes;
- (c) the surrender and abandonment of holdings; and
- (d) contract and custom.

Provisions on all these subjects are of practical importance to the welfare of both landlords and tenants.

V. In fact, the collection of provisions constituting the landlord and tenant law in these districts of Orissa possesses none of the virtues which should be found in an agrarian law; while some of the provisions overlap each other, others are obscure, and on many points there are serious omissions. Apart from these objections, the failure to provide an efficient machinery for the sale of agrarian property, and the failure to facilitate the acquisition of occupancy rights, are in themselves defects sufficient to condemn the existing Code and to render alterations unavoidable.

VI. The obvious remedy, at first sight, is the extension of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, as it stands, to these districts. It must, however, be conceded that the Government has since 1885 acquired a considerable experience of the drawbacks involved in the application of uniform agrarian laws to the various races and physical conditions existing in this Province. The difficulty was found in the districts of the Chota Nagpur Division in regard to the administration of Bengal Act I of 1879 (the Chota Nagpur Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act). In the districts of that Division the aboriginal element was strong, and the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act were found to be unsuitable to the ancestral and historical claims of the people. To remedy these defects an entirely new Act was passed (the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908).

VII. The state of things in these districts of Orissa is equally deplorable, and the opportunity has now been taken to frame a self-contained Code of provisions adapted to the local conditions. This Code (the present Bill) incorporates the procedure still in force, under enactments prior to the Bengal Tenancy Act, relating to distraint and to the trial of rent suit by Deputy Collectors. The rights of certain important classes have been expressly preserved. Necessary provisions have been brought in from the Bengal Tenancy Act, the Central Provinces Tenancy Act (XI of 1898) and the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act (Bengal Act VI of 1908), and modifications of sections of the Bengal Tenancy Act which are already in force have also been made.

In order to attain more effectively the first and sixth objects of the Bill, as stated in paragraph I, ante, the Bill has been arranged in the manner adopted in the Bengal Tenancy Act; and it is hoped that this rearrangement of clauses and the division of the Act into Chapters, dealing with separate subjects, will render the law more readily intelligible and easy of reference.

VIII. The important provisions of the Bill in regard to its second object, namely, the restoration of the position of sub-proprietors and baiyafidars, are the following:—

Sub-proprietors.—The sub-proprietors who have been recognised as such in the proceedings for settlement of land-revenue are now excluded for most purposes from the category of tenants, and are placed on the same footing as proprietors in respect of their private lands, while they are protected from ejectment in terms of section 89 of the Bengal Tenancy Act [clauses 3 (21) and (22) and 6 (vi) of the Bill].

Clause 62 of the Bill (as to receipts for rent) recognizes the registration of a sub-proprietor under clause 14, or the recording of his name in a record-of-rights or in Land Records, as sufficient.

The sums which sub-proprietors pay through the proprietor for their interests will continue to be recoverable by the same procedure as arrears of agricultural rents [clause 269 of the Bill].

The privileges which it is proposed to give to sub-proprietors, with the single exception of the right to hold private lands, are extended to holders of tanki bahal, i.e., lands confirmed by the Government at a quit-rent in perpetuity, under Bengal Regulation XII of 1866 [clauses 3 (15) and 3 (22) (i) of the Bill].

These proposals, it will be observed, are intended to restore the status of a numerous and influential class of persons who are already proprietors, except in name, and who rank on an equality with proprietors in the matter of prestige and local respect. Such a restoration goes a long way to remove the reproach in the matter of neglect of history from which the Government has suffered since the piecemeal introduction of the Bengal Tenancy Act into these districts.

Baiyafidars.—The measures designed for the benefit of baiyafidars are:—

- (i) to preserve their freedom of transfer [clauses 13(c) and 14 (6)],
- (ii) to preserve their right to sublet without the consent of their landlord [clause 88],
- (iii) to establish a recognition of their rights in the eyes of the Courts by lifting them out of the category of ordinary tenure-holders and raiyats [clauses 3 (2), 5 (1), 5 (2), 6 (i) and (ii), 13 (c) and 14 (b)], and
- (iv) to widen the limit by which they may recover rent, in excess of the amount which they themselves pay, for the term of a current settlement [clause 50 (2).]

IX. The third and fourth objects of the Bill, as stated in paragraph I, ante, are complementary, i.e., raiyats will henceforth be secured in the enjoyment of their rights in all lands except those which will be reserved to landlords as private lands. For the benefit of the raiyats the very important set of provisions, originally contained in Chapter XV of the Bengal Tenancy Act, relating to contract and custom, have been introduced (clauses 241 to 246). For the benefit of proprietors and sub-proprietors an increase in privileged lands is provided by Chapter XIII (clauses 159 to 163), but it is also provided (clauses 162 and 163) that the area so held shall be incapable of any increase whatever in future. A further provision to secure to raiyats a fair rent for waste lands reclaimed by themselves, in cases where the landlord has not sued within two years to eject them, has been inserted (clause 148). Certain restrictions have been made in favour of landlords who may oppose applications for commutation of produce-rents (clause 41), and protection has been afforded to raiyats paying such rents by provisions for deposit (clause 63), by forbidding interest (clauses 69 and 71), and by prohibiting suits for arrears for more than one year (clause 71).

X. The fifth object of the Bill is to improve the procedure for recovery of rents by proprietors and sub-proprietors. The jurisdiction of the Revenue Courts has been retained, but the procedure has been simplified (Chapter XV). Rents due for pasturage, etc., and rents of chandnaders (shop-keepers recorded in the course of a settlement of land-revenue as tenants in the temporarily-settled estates), as well as the amounts payable by sub-proprietors for their interests and by co-sharer proprietors and sub-proprietors in respect of their private lands, are made recoverable in the same manner as agricultural rents (clause 259).

XI. The seventh object of the Bill is to secure the maintenance of land records. For this purpose a separate Chapter (XII) is inserted. Power has been taken (clause 143) for the Local Government to prescribe the preparation of an edition of the record-of-rights yearly or at any other intervals of time, and to prescribe the agency by which it is to be prepared and the procedure to be followed. The work will be carried out by officers specially appointed, but the subordinate agency will be recruited locally. The superior officers will be empowered to call for information and summon witnesses (clause 144) in the manner in which officers in the Central Provinces are empowered by sections 18A and 128 of the Central Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1881. In framing an edition of the record-of-rights, to be known as the land records and to rank as public documents (clause 145), regard will be had to the correctness of the entries (a) in the record-of-rights, where a first edition is being prepared, and (b) in the next preceding edition, where a later edition is being prepared (clause 146); and compromises will not be given effect to (clause 147) other than those permitted by the provisions relating to the record-of-rights, which are inserted in the Bill from sections 108B and 109C(1) of the Bengal Tenancy Act. The officer framing the records will be empowered to adjust rents for alterations in area (clause 148), and to decide disputes and to correct mistakes, subject to the provisions, relating to mistakes, inserted in the Bill from section 108A of the Bengal Tenancy Act (clause 149). When publication is made (clause 150) the certificate will be conclusive proof of such publication, and every entry will be deemed to be correct until the contrary is proved by evidence (clause 151). Provision is made for the filing and disposal of objections (clause 150) and the incorporation of final orders in the land records (clause 155). Provision is also made for an appeal against orders settling a rent (clause 153) and for revision of orders relating to entries (clause 154). It is also provided that the Courts shall have regard to the entries in the land records (clause 167), and that plaints in suits shall contain information taken from the land records relating to matters in dispute (clause 169).

These provisions are designed (a) to protect the rights of those who possess interests in land; (b) to furnish information which will form the basis of assessments of land-revenue; (c) to furnish information, when required, for administrative purposes; and (d) to furnish up-to-date agricultural statistics.

When the system for maintenance of land records comes into force a local agency for keeping the District Officer in touch with the people will be introduced, and it will no longer be necessary for him to employ the police on duties unconnected with their proper functions.

XII. All amendments of any importance which it is proposed by the Bill to make in the existing law are mentioned in the subjoined notes on Clauses.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

1. Clause 1.—The Bill will extend only to the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore, excluding municipal areas. The other districts of the Orissa Division have effective Codes of their own, Sambalpur being governed by laws imported from the Central Provinces and Angul by its own Regulation (the Angul District Regulation, I of 1894).

2. Clause 2.—The table annexed to the Bill shows how each of the enactments which it is proposed to repeal has been dealt with.

3. Clause 3 (1).—A Committee in Orissa have recommended that the agricultural year should begin on the 1st Bysakh, corresponding to the 15th April, 18, a date on which there are practically no crops in the ground. This has been accepted, and, to avoid confusion in accounts, it is proposed to start a new serial number of years from the 1st of Bysakh next after the date on which the new law comes into force.

4. Clause 3 (2).—In paragraph VIII of the foregoing Statement of Objects and Reasons the proposed legislation relating to bajiaftidars has been explained. The bajiaftidars are not tenants by origin, because their lands were resumed and settled to revenue under Bengal Regulation XII of 1805.

5. Clause 3 (3) and (34).—Chandnaders are not agricultural tenants, but their assets are included in the amounts which proprietors have to collect and on which their revenue is calculated. Their rents will now be recoverable in the same way as the rent of tenants (see clause 259), though hitherto they were only recoverable through the Civil Courts.

6. Clause 3 (4), (5) and (6).—The jurisdiction of the Revenue Courts has been retained and these definitions have been adopted from the corresponding provisions of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908.

7. Clause 3 (11).—Orissa was not wholly taken over till the beginning of the 19th century. The date, 1793, if left standing alone, would therefore not be accurate.

8. Clauses 3 (15), (21) and (22).—The references to sub-proprietors are new. By origin the sub-proprietors in Orissa are the same as proprietors, and their privileged lands have been recorded in the Settlement papers of 1837 as well as in those of 1889-1900.

9. Clause 3 (13).—This definition of "Revenue Court" is new. It is based on section 1 (2) of the Code of Civil Procedure (Act V of 1908).

10. Clause 3 (21) and (22).—See paragraph 8, ante.

11. Clause 3 (24).—See paragraph 5, ante.

12. Clause 5 (5).—The final record in the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore expresses all areas in acres and decimals. Thirty-three acres are therefore taken, as being the equivalent of 100 bighas.

13. Clause 6 is new. It has been impossible to restore bajiaftidars to their position as proprietors, but the benefits they will now obtain have been stated in paragraph VIII of the foregoing Statement of Objects and Reasons. Sub-clauses (i) and (ii) of clause 6 will protect their right to transfer, and will also protect the status of their under-tenants.

14. Sub-clause (iii) of clause 6 will protect sub-proprietors in respect of transfers and ejectment.

15. Clause 7 is new. It is confined to permanently-settled areas. In the temporarily-settled areas the clause is not required, the amount payable to the proprietor by the sub-proprietor having been fixed for the term of the settlement. The clause has been inserted in the Bill, for the benefit of permanently-settled areas, as amplifying section 15 of Act X of 1859, which was founded on clause First of section 51 of Bengal Regulation VIII of 1793.

16. Clauses 9 and 10 are introduced from the Bengal Tenancy Act. They have no counterpart in the existing law, but merely supplement the provisions which have already been introduced from the Bengal Tenancy Act on the subject of the enhancement of rents of tenure-holders.

17. Clauses 11 and 12 are also introduced from the Bengal Tenancy Act, but can only apply to permanently-settled areas, the sub-proprietary tenure-holders being now classed as sub-proprietors. Clause 12, read with the new provision as to custom (clause 246), continues a right recognized by section 27 of Act X of 1859, and will, it is intended, make a permanent tenure transferable whether the landlord consents or not.

18. Clauses 13 to 16.—The persistent refusal by landlords to recognise transfers is a real grievance. There is great uncertainty and contention as to the extent to which zamindars might restrict the transfers of tenures and raiyati holdings, and as to the proportion of the proceeds which they might exact for themselves. The working of section 27 of Act X of 1859 has proved to be very unsatisfactory in these two respects. As regards raiyats, it is now proposed to decide the question on the basis of custom (clause 246), and thus to follow the provisions of section 183 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. As regards tenures, the general effect of the proposals which have been embodied in clauses 13 to 16 of the Bill is that, where the tenure-holder is a sub-proprietor or has a proprietary right, the landlord must register the transfer in consideration of a definitely fixed and moderate fee, but in the case of ordinary tenures, to the transfer of which the landlord's consent is necessary, the landlord may exact a substantial portion of the proceeds of sale. This is the principle laid down in recent legislation, viz., the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908, and it has been accepted by the majority of members of the Orissa Committee. The question of the proportion of purchase-money to be exacted by the landlord is important, and will be finally decided after discussion in Select Committee. Meantime the amounts of the fees agreed upon by the Orissa Committee have been retained in clause 14 (3) of the Bill.

19. Clause 17 is new. It has been adopted from the Bengal Tenancy Act, but can only apply to permanently-settled areas.

20. Chapters V, VI, VII, VIII and IX contain the main provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act as to the occupancy raiyat, the settled raiyat, the non-occupancy raiyat and the under-raiyat. Most of these provisions were extended in 1891 to the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore, and they have been retained in the Bill with the amendments noted in paragraphs 21 to 39, below.

21. Clauses 20 and 38.—The date of the extension of the corresponding sections of the Bengal Tenancy Act to Orissa has been substituted for "the second day of March, 1883."

22. Clause 21 (5).—The Orissa Committee suggested an amendment to the effect that, if a sole proprietor or sub-proprietor or a sharer purchased an occupancy-right, and if the property was subsequently sold for its own arrears of revenue or rent, the purchaser of the occupancy-right should still be allowed to continue in possession, as a raiyat, from the date of the sale, and that he should pay a fair and equitable rent to the new purchaser. This point will be specially considered in Select Committee; as will also other points bearing on clause 21 (5), for instance, whether, if the original purchaser lets out to tenants, he becomes a tenure-holder; and whether, if he gets enhancements from his tenants, his co-sharer proprietors should be entitled to get a share of the increase, and, if so, in what proportions.

23. Clause 21 (5).—The question whether the words "whether solely or jointly" should be inserted in this clause, following section 20 (5) of the Oota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908, so as to prevent a joint gyaradur from acquiring occupancy-rights, will be specially considered in Select Committee.

24. Clause 24.—The question whether the denial by a tenant of his landlord's title should be a ground for forfeiture of his tenancy will be specially considered in Select Committee.

25. Clause 41—Commutation of produce-rents.—Experience has shown that on account of the rise in prices the cash value of a produce-rent tends to increase by far more than two annas in the rupee at intervals of fifteen years, the rate prescribed by law for enhancement of cash rents. The consequence is that where commutation has been made and where cash rents are paid, landlords have to purchase their food-stuffs out of their income from cash rents, and are unable to obtain the same quantity as would have been at their disposal from the proceeds of their produce-rents. In Orissa the number of petty landlords, and the number of small religious and charitable endowments which require food-grains for the purposes of offerings or doles, as the case may be, is very considerable. On the one hand, it is a matter of public policy to afford facilities for commutation into cash rent; on the other hand, the fact must not be overlooked that the produce is of great importance to all landlords living in primitive conditions, and the poorer classes of them could hardly subsist without it. While all impediments to commutation are objectionable, the question of the income of small landlords must have consideration. It is proposed, therefore, to empower the Courts, in the case of (i) widows and other persons unable to labour or to cultivate land themselves, and (ii) religious and charitable endowments, to have regard to the effect of commutation on the income of the landlord, and, at their discretion, to disallow an application or commutation.

26. At present there is no appeal from an order refusing to commute a produce-rent although under section 40 (5) of the Bengal Tenancy Act an appeal lies where an order for commutation has been made. A similar right of appeal is now proposed [clause 41 (6) of the Bill], where an application has been refused.

27. Clause 50 (2).—An ordinary raiyat cannot recover from his under-raiyat as rent more than 25 per cent. in excess of what he himself pays, except under a registered agreement, in which case he may recover 50 per cent. more. In the case of bajiafidars, the incidence of rents now payable by them varies from one rupee to one rupee five annas per acre, as compared with the raiyati incidence varying from two rupees one anna to two rupees five annas; many of them belong to the castes which cannot cultivate by their own hands, and most of them have no other sources of livelihood. In their case, therefore, the limits of 25 and 50 per cent. are unnecessarily small, but nevertheless some limit must be imposed, in the interests of the lower grades of the agricultural community, as to the rent to be exacted and the period for which it may be realized. Clause 50 (2), accordingly, enables the bajiafidar to exact from a tenant (a) by a registered agreement, terminable on expiry of a revenue settlement, a rent exceeding by 100 per cent. the amount which he himself pays, and (b) by any other kind of agreement, similarly terminable on expiry of settlement, a rent exceeding his own rent by 50 per cent. The effect of the reference to section 110 in clause 50 (2) is that on the conclusion of every settlement of land revenue, the question whether the rent of a bajiafidar's tenant is fair or equitable shall come up for examination by a Revenue-officer, and that the question shall be decided with due regard to the rent payable by the bajiafidar to his own landlord.

28. Clause 52 is largely new, and follows section 50 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. Its provisions can only apply in permanently-settled areas, and it has been so limited on the recommendation of the Orissa Committee. It re-enacts the provisions of sections 4, 15 and 16 of Act X of 1859. The proviso to sub-clause (2) is, however, new, and is introduced in consonance with section 12 (2) of the Bengal Tenancy Act. Although it is not proposed to introduce the latter section, the proviso in question has been inserted in case at any time hereafter a registration of tenures before the Collector is deemed necessary.

29. The provisions of clause 52 will, in any case, be read subject to the provisions of clause 138, i.e., the presumption as to fixity of rent will not apply when the class of tenure and the question whether the rent is liable to enhancement during the continuance of the tenure have already been determined and recorded in a record-of-rights under clause 10 (b). Such a record has already been made in the temporarily-settled area and in a considerable proportion of the permanently-settled area in Orissa. Clause 52 will, therefore, now apply only to the areas for which no record has been prepared.

30. There is also a further limitation to the application of clause 52, viz., the presumption under sub-clause (2) will only arise where it is shown that the land has been held by a tenure-holder, or a raiyat, and his predecessors in interest: this excludes cases where it may have been held by strangers.

31. Clause 53 introduces section 51 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. The provisions of the existing law on this subject are contained in section 13 of Act X of 1859. The rulings under the latter Act show that the tenant, who "holds over" after the expiration of his lease, without a fresh lease but by sufferance, is not a trespasser [Sadhu Jha v. Bhupen Oopadhyay and others, (1866) 5 W. R., Act X, 17], but that he does so on the terms of his lease, on the same rent and on the same stipulations as are mentioned in the lease, until the parties come to a fresh settlement [Kishore Lal Roy and others v. The Administrator-General of Bengal, (1898) 2 C. W. N., 303]. The provisions of clause 53 make no substantive change, but merely raise the presumption that the conditions have not been changed since the preceding agricultural year. They are equitable, and their introduction is accordingly proposed.

32. Clause 54 (4).—This sub-clause has been introduced from section 54 (4) of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908. Its object is to keep the head of the district informed as to oppressions of tenants by landlords.

33. Clause 58.—The reference to sub-proprietors is new. It is merely consequential on other amendments either already discussed or to be discussed.

34. Clauses 53 to 66 (Deposit of rent).—The following questions will be specially considered in Select Committee:—

- (1) whether the right to make a deposit should be confined to tenants who are recorded in their landlords' books,
- (2) whether no deposit should be received until the rent is in arrear, and
- (3) whether a suit for rent which accrued due prior to the date of a deposit should, as in section 57 of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908, be barred if not instituted within six months of the deposit.

35. Clauses 63, 69 and 71.—The following very important limitations of the power to recover produce-rent are proposed, viz., that it should only be recoverable for the year immediately preceding that in which the suit is brought, and that the amount recoverable should not carry interest at all and should not in any case exceed half the gross annual produce. The amendments proposed in these clauses were accepted by the Orissa Committee, and appear to be equitable and essential. There is no more dishonest means of completely ruining a raiyat than to sue him for three years' produce-rent, nor is there any real excuse for waiting three years to sue. The landlord lets the lean years pass and waits for a fat one; he can easily prove the condition of the crop just reaped, while evidence as to the previous crops is necessarily weaker, and he expects to induce the Court to decree the rent of all three years at the same rate. The case of a suit for arrears of three years' money-rent is quite different. The landlord knows his raiyat is hard pressed and dunned by mahajans; he believes he will pay when he can, and he waits until it is no longer safe to wait; but with a produce-rent he ought to make the attempt to take his half-share at the proper time, and, if the raiyat will not pay, the refusal affords immediate notice of recalcitrance upon which the landlord can and ought to act. For these reasons, and as an additional safeguard for the payers of produce-rents, a penalty is imposed to the effect that if the landlord exacts such rents in excess of half the gross produce, he will be liable to have the rents commuted regardless of the considerations mentioned in sub-clauses (i) and (ii) of clause 41 (b) of the Bill.

36. The opportunity has also been taken of giving to the payers of produce-rents the same facilities for depositing their rents as are open to the payers of cash rents (clause 63).

It would obviously be inconvenient for the Courts to receive the rent in kind. For calculation of the amount of cash to be deposited an alternative method is proposed,—either the depositor shall be entitled to calculate the value of the produce-rent at the rate specified by the landlord in any road-cass return submitted by him within the preceding five years, or he may make the calculation at the price recorded for the local area and published in the price-lists prescribed in clause 40 of the Bill. The first of these alternatives will, it is also hoped, provide a useful stimulus to the honest preparation by landlords of road-cass returns.

37. Clause 69.—The question whether an arrear of rent should only be liable to interest (as in section 58 of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908), or whether it shall bear interest, will be specially considered in Select Committee.

38. Clause 76 (1).—The question whether the payment of rent to a landlord whose interest has been transferred should be declared to be a payment in good faith (as in section 51 of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908) will be specially considered in Select Committee.

39. Clause 77.—The question whether it should be specifically declared that this clause does not control clause 242 will be specially considered in Select Committee.

40. Chapter X—Clauses 79 to 86.—These are all connected with the subject of the improvement of holdings, and, with the exception of clause 83 (previously introduced), are included in the Bill as new provisions, though strictly speaking they are the scientific developments of the second sub-clause of section 17 of Act X of 1859. Provisions connected with that sub-clause, namely, sections 20 and 23 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, relating to enhancements on the ground of improvements, have been already extended to the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore. The principles have been explained at length in correspondence with the Government of India, and have been approved.

41. Certain minor amendments, approved by the Government of India for consideration when legislation might be undertaken, will be considered in Select Committee. They are the following:—

(1) Improvements by under-raiyats.—The law at present contains no provision in regard to improvements made by under-raiyats. They are a very unimportant class in Orissa and, except in a very few cases where occupancy-rights have been recorded in their favour, are practically tenants-at-will. The Government of India have suggested that it might be advisable in some provinces to lay down distinctly "that in the case of an unprotected tenant the landlord may forbid the execution of an improvement by the tenant, and that the tenant on quitting his holding shall not be entitled to any compensation for an improvement which the landlord has definitely forbidden him to make, the burden of proving the prohibition being placed on the landlord." It will, however, be observed that under the terms of section 79 of the Bengal Tenancy Act non-occupancy raiyats were already in a stronger position and could not be deprived of the rights they already possessed, but possibly some such restriction might be imposed in the case of under-raiyats, for example, that they should not be entitled to compensation for an improvement which the landlord had forbidden, leaving it to their landlord to prove the prohibition. To carry this suggestion into effect, the word "tenant" might be substituted for "raiyat" and "tenancy" for "holding," wherever those words occur in clauses 79, 81, 85 and 86; a clause might be enacted, to declare that an under-raiyat shall not be entitled to make any improvement without the consent of his landlord in writing; and a sub-clause might be inserted between sub-clauses (3) and (4) of clause 85 to the effect that nothing in sub-clauses (3) and (4) shall entitle an under-raiyat to obtain compensation for an improvement which his landlord has forbidden him to make, the onus of proof of such prohibition being on the landlord.

(2) Enhancements of rents of tenure-holders.—Clause 8 might be amended so as to include landlord's improvements as a ground for enhancement of the rents of tenure-holders, and so as to provide that regard should be had, not so much to the cost of the improvement, as to the increase in the productive powers of the land and the extra cost incurred by the tenant in utilising the improvement. Clause 10 might also be amended, so as to contain a proviso allowing the landlord's improvement to be an exceptional ground for the alteration of the rent within 15 years.

(3) Abolition of limitation of claims.—A proviso might be added to clause 85, to the effect that there should be no fixed period after which a tenant cannot claim compensation, and that, so long as the net produce of the land benefited by the improvement remains higher than it was before, the tenant, on quitting his holding, shall be entitled to compensation in consideration of that increase in the net produce, the benefit of which is retained by the landlord.

(4) Avoidance of claims.—In sub-clause (3) of clause 85 the word "tenant" might be substituted for "raiyat," so that landlords might be able to avoid claims for compensation from both tenure-holders and under-raiyats (as well as raiyats) in cases where, by the terms of their lease or by contract, such tenants are bound to make the improvement without compensation.

42. For the present, sections 78 to 83 of the Bengal Tenancy Act have been inserted in the Bill with the following alterations only:—

(a) the date inserted in clause 85(4) is the date of the extension of section 80 of the Act to the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore, and

(b) alterations required to bring the procedure under the Revenue Courts.

43. Clause 87.—This provision has been introduced from the Bengal Tenancy Act, at the request of the Orissa Committee. The reasons for which a landlord may acquire part of his tenant's holding have been amplified so as to include, for instance, irrigation, on the lines of section 50 of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908.

44. Clause 88.—Section 85 of the Bengal Tenancy Act has been introduced, with the amendment in favour of byasfidars which is mentioned in paragraph VIII (ii) of the Statement of Objects and Reasons. Clause 88 will be read subject to clause 246, relating to custom.

45. Clauses 89 and 90.—Under section 19 of Act X of 1859, a notice of relinquishment in writing is required to be served in Jeth, i.e., four months before the end of the agricultural year. Thus, under the law in force in the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore, when a raiyat, without giving notice, abandons his land and neither cultivates it nor pays rent, the landlord is justified in assuming that he has relinquished it, and the raiyat has no right to ask to be reinstated on the ground that he had never formally relinquished it. On the other hand, the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act on the subject (section 86) allow a raiyat to surrender his holding at the end of the agricultural year, where there is no agreement or where the term has expired, without notice, but prescribe that unless the raiyat has served a notice three months before the end of the year, he shall be liable to indemnify his landlord against loss. In the case of abandonment also, the Bengal Tenancy Act (section 87) prescribes a notice to be served through the Collector and allows a suit within two years for recovery. In Chota Nagpur the new Act (Bengal Act VI of 1908, section 73) allows three years for such a suit, but in the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore, where communications are good and raiyats do not emigrate to the distant tea districts, probably two years are sufficient. Section 87 of the Bengal Tenancy Act also prescribes that where the whole or a part of a tenancy has been sublet by a registered instrument, the sub-lessee may have the first refusal of the tenancy on the same terms as the previous tenant. It is proposed, by clauses 89 and 90 of the Bill, to introduce sections 86 and 87 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. Their introduction is desirable, especially as the Orissa Committee have asked for them; but it has been provided that the notice referred to in sub-clause (4) of clause 89 shall be served through the Collector, instead of the Civil Court.

46. The question whether the raiyat should not have more than two years to recover his holding by suit [clause 90(5)], in view of the fact that the zamindar gets 12 years to evict him as a trespasser, will be specially considered in Select Committee.

47. Clause 91.—The present law, contained in the proviso to section 27 of Act X of 1859, is that "no zamindar or superior tenant shall be required to admit to registry or give effect to any division or distribution of the rent payable, nor shall any such division or distribution of rent be valid and binding, without the consent in writing of the zamindar or superior tenant." Clause 91, introduced from the Bengal Tenancy Act, re-enacts these provisions. It is proposed to introduce section 183 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, relating to custom, and clause 91 will then be all the more necessary not only because it exists in the present law but because it contains a provision of law expressly abolishing a particular custom as to the division of tenancies.

48. Clause 92.—This clause declares that no tenant [as defined in clause 3 (24) of the Bill] shall be ejected from his tenure or holding except in execution of a decree. Under section 21 of Act X of 1859 every raiyat in arrears of rent at the end of the year is liable to be ejected, with this exception that an occupancy-raiyat, or a raiyat holding under a pattu (lease) the term of which has not expired, can only be ejected in execution of a decree or order under the provisions of that Act. Section 22 of Act X provides that a leaseholder also may be ejected. Already, the following provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act regarding ejectment have been extended to the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore, namely, section 25 (as to occupancy-raiyats), section 44 (as to non-occupancy-raiyats), section 40 (as to under-raiyats) and section 56 (as to tenants of certain classes). The other provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act relating to ejectment, namely, section 10 (as to permanent tenure-holders) and section 18 (as to raiyats at fixed rates), are now to be introduced (see clauses 11 and 17 of the Bill), and it is declared in clause 6 (ii) that sub-proprietors are to have the benefit of clause 92 of the Bill.

49. Owing to the extension of the connected provisions above stated, it is necessary to introduce section 89 from the Bengal Tenancy Act as well as the provisions of section 178 (1) (c), to the effect that nothing in any contract made before or after the commencement of the new law shall entitle a landlord to eject a tenant otherwise than in accordance with its provisions.

50. Clauses 93 to 95.—The existing law on the subject of measurements in the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore is contained in sections 9 and 10 of Bengal Act VI of 1862. The law in force in other parts of Bengal is contained in sections 90 to 92 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. It will be seen that though under section 90, Bengal Tenancy Act, the landlord has to obtain the Collector's permission to measure more than once in ten years, he has to apply under section 91 (1) to the Civil Court to enforce the attendance of the tenant, and that section 92 gives a discretion as to the standard where measurement is made by the order either of the Civil Court, or of a Revenue officer, in any suit or proceeding between landlord and tenant. Under section 9, Bengal Act VI of 1862, if a tenant cannot attend, he cannot afterwards contest the correctness of the measurements, whereas section 21 of the Bengal Tenancy Act only creates a presumption in favour of their correctness.

51. It is considered desirable to introduce sections 90 to 92 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, as being more convenient and equitable than sections 9 and 10 of Bengal Act VI of 1862. It having been decided to retain the jurisdiction of the Revenue-officers in suits between landlords and tenants as such, alterations have been made, in adapting sections 90 to 92, so as to make all proceedings under these provisions cognizable by Revenue-officers only.

52. In connection with clauses 93 and 94, reference may be made to clause 252 of the Bill, which authorizes joint-landlords to act collectively or by common agent.

53. Clauses 96 to 103, as to Managers, reproduce, with modifications, sections 93 to 100 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, which were extended to the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore in 1906. Those sections were based on Bengal Regulations V of 1812 and V of 1827, and, like them, give jurisdiction to the Civil Courts. Many complaints as to the working of the sections have been received from time to time. All the members of the Orissa Committee, except one common manager, who is also a pleader, and one mukhtar and one samindar, were strongly in favour of transferring the jurisdiction of the Judge to the Collector, not only because the Collector is familiar with the agricultural conditions of the district and controls all revenue matters (the area for the most part being temporarily settled), but also because he is more likely to appoint competent persons as managers and to supervise their work effectively. It is accordingly proposed to place the appointment and control of common managers in the hands of Collectors, and the opportunity is taken to revise the law as to managers in other respects also. Thus—

- (i) in Amar Chandra Kuntz v. Shoshi Bhushan Roy, (1903) I. L. R., 31 Cal., 395, it was held that the restraint put upon co-owners of an estate under management by section 98 (5) of the Bengal Tenancy Act was co-extensive with the powers conferred on the manager, and did not extend to the exercise of individual rights. Consequently, when one co-owner of an estate under management mortgaged his share, which, in execution of a decree on the mortgage, was purchased by the mortgagee, it was held that the mortgagee became a co-owner under the manager and, as such, was entitled to a decree for redemption in a suit on a mortgage of the estate executed by the manager. The powers of co-owners should, therefore, be curtailed;
- (ii) when a manager is removed under section 98 (8) there is no provision, as in section 3 of Bengal Regulation V of 1827, for making a new appointment;
- (iii) the duties of the manager are not clearly defined. He should be authorized, somewhat in terms of section 26 of Bengal Regulation V of 1812, to manage the estate, collect the rents and discharge the public revenue, and pay the rents and cesses;
- (iv) the provisions should be applied to sub-proprietary interests as well as estates and tenures;
- (v) the general complaint as to section 98 is that no application is made till the estate or tenure is ruined post redemption. In order to avoid delay, the Collector should be authorized to step in and appoint a manager of his own motion;
- (vi) where there has been a survey and record-of-rights, the power to apply for utilising the provisions of section 158A, relating to realization of rents by the certificate procedure, should be placed within the reach of the common manager.

54. The amendments indicated in clauses (i) to (vi) above, and the transfer of jurisdiction from the District Judge to the Collector, are proposed in clauses 96 to 102 and 220 of the Bill; and, in view of the latter amendment, it is further proposed that the Local Government, instead of the High Court, should have the power to make rules under clause 103. As these amendments are numerous and important, they will be considered in detail in Select Committee.

55. Chapter XI—Record-of-rights and Settlement of Rents—Clauses 104-141.—These provisions have recently been amended by Bengal Act I of 1907, and already form part of the existing law in Cuttack, Puri and Balasore. No further amendments are proposed, except such as are of a formal nature or are required to meet the case of sub-proprietors and baginadars.

56. Chapter XII—Land Records—Clauses 144-152.—The provisions of this Chapter have been fully discussed in paragraph XI of the Statement of Objects and Reasons, and need no further explanation here.

57. Chapter XIII—Privileged or Private lands—Clauses 159-163.—In connection with the Notes on this Chapter, the Notes on Chapter XVIII (post, paragraphs 74 to 79) should be read. On the subject of landlords' privileged lands there has been and is at the present time much strife and bitterness in Orissa. The facts that the districts under consideration are temporarily settled and that the recent increase in revenue strains the resources of the zamindars have added bitterness to the struggle for land between the parties, and this bitterness has been further accentuated by the transfer of estates from old Uriya families to Bengalis and by the phenomenal rise in prices of food-stuffs during the last few years. It is obvious, however, that an indefinite extension of the area held as privileged lands would be a serious evil, and the necessity for a definite identification of such lands is equally obvious. When the question was under consideration in connection with the framing of the Bengal Tenancy Act, the final decision took the shape of a compromise in which the concession of the principle of privileged lands to the landlords was counterbalanced by the acceptance on their part of provisions designed for the protection of the cultivators of raiyati lands. Similarly, in the present case, it is proposed to make substantial concessions in this matter to the landlords in return for their acceptance of principles of great importance to the cultivators. The question in these districts of Orissa is distinguished from that which had presented itself in Bengal by the fact that in the temporarily-settled areas there have been two successive records-of-rights in which privileged lands have been definitely recorded, under the designation of nij-jot or khudkast, in the names of proprietors and sub-proprietors. The first set of records were prepared in 1837, when the privileged area was 88,700 acres; but a very large area indeed, namely, the whole of the cultivated lands, other than the nij-jot lands and those held by privileged tenants entitled to freedom from enhancement for the term of settlement, was recorded without specification of the interests of tenants, i.e., 571,000 acres out of 1,225,000, or nearly 47 per cent. of the assessed area, was left in the hands of zamindars (" pahi jimme zamindar "). In this area leases were deliberately withheld from tenants, because such a proceeding would necessarily create a false and mischievous impression of a right of occupancy. It was not until Act X of 1859 was brought into force that the tenants in this area were recognized to have occupancy rights, and it was not until the record-of-rights was prepared in 1890-1900, after the introduction of portions of the Bengal Tenancy Act, that a tenant who had no lands for which he paid rent in cash was considered to have any occupancy rights at all. In the settlement of 1890-1900 only the area recorded as nij-jot in 1837 was so designated, but a large area, amounting to 84,000 acres, was separately recorded as being in the cultivating possession of the same classes of landlords, over and above the nij-jot area of 88,700 acres, under the designation of nij-chas.

Paragraph 8 of letter No. 1189, dated the 22nd August, 1887, from the Government of Bengal to the Sadar Board of Revenue, quoted in paragraph 324, page 220, of the Orissa Settlement Final Report, Volume I, Ed. 1890.

58. It is in respect of the so-called nij-chas area, or area in cultivating possession of the proprietors, that it is proposed to make the first of the two concessions to the landlords. It is proposed [clause 163 (b) of the Bill] to give up to them as an addition to their privileged lands so much of the area, originally amounting to 84,000 acres, as is proved to have been and still to be in their cultivating possession during the ten years prior to the introduction of the legislation now contemplated. There is no desire to minimize the magnitude and the importance of this concession. It will possibly result in a total area of 172,700 acres being held as privileged lands, and this amounts to nearly nine per cent. of the existing cultivated area. It is admitted that so large an area is the utmost that can be allowed with safety. The proportion is more than double that of any permanently-settled district in the province which has been cadastrally surveyed, and no further extension in these temporarily-settled estates can, under any circumstances, be permitted. In granting recognition to the nij-chas as privileged lands for the considerations to be mentioned, it is to be remembered that prior to 1890 local custom regarded all produce-rent-paying lands of tenants in the same light as nij-jot lands, in spite of the provisions of Act X of 1859, and that in letting out nij-chas lands landlords had usually reserved the right of immediate resumption, and had exacted a produce and not a cash rent.

59. The second concession which is proposed is the continuation of these privileges to the various classes of sub-proprietors, excepting those defined in clause 3 (22) (i) of the Bill [see clause 3 (15)]. The reasons for this concession are as follows:—At every successive settlement the assets of their interests have been dealt with, for the purpose of fixing land-revenue, in exactly the same manner as the assets of proprietors of estates, and instances are on record where even the right to a proprietary allowance (malikana) on reversionary has been conceded. They collect no less than one-sixth of the temporarily-settled assets, and the class known as sikmi or subordinate zamindars has acquired the right to hand on to the proprietors the bare Government revenue due on their interest, without any additional payment for the proprietary allowance (malikana) and without the collection expenses of the proprietors. Their privilege to hold lands as private lands has been recognized at every settlement of land-revenue, and must be recognized in the present Bill.

60. In return for these concessions the Bill contains provisions of considerable practical value to the cultivators. To the area now recognized as privileged (domine) lands no future addition will be permitted on any consideration whatever [clause 163 (2)]. No contract barring the accrual of occupancy rights in raiya (communal) lands will be valid, even though such lands may have been reclaimed from waste by the landlord or his servants, or may have been purchased by him at auction for arrears of rent, etc., or have otherwise come into his possession (clause 241); and the right will be secured to a cultivator to reclaim and pay a fair rent for waste lands (at present a fertile source of oppressive dealing), under the procedure described in clause 148 of the Bill.

61. The foregoing proposals refer only to the area in which a record-of-rights has already been made. To the case of permanently-settled estates, where a record has already been made and where the area of privileged lands is comparatively small, the provisions of section 120 of the Bengal Tenancy Act have been applied (clause 162 of the Bill). Proposals will be submitted to the Government of India, with the objects of making a survey and record of the remaining permanently-settled area in these three districts, and so obtaining the same certainty regarding the identity of privileged lands, and the same safeguards against subsequent extensions, as will now exist in the temporarily-settled area.

62. Clauses 169.—The following questions will be specially considered in Select Committee—

- (1) whether the term "village usage", in sub-clause (1) (a), should be retained, and
- (2) whether sub-clause (3) gives sufficient protection against collusive decrees.

63. Chapter XIV—Clauses 164-200—The Procedure for Distraint.—The provisions relating to distraint, in clauses 164-200 of the Bill, differ widely from the provisions which obtain in Bengal, in so far as the landlord retains the right of private distraint enjoyed by him under the existing law (Act X of 1859) and has no occasion to have recourse to the Civil Court. In defence of the retention of this right it is urged the fact that the working since 1892 of the existing procedure has been subjected to a very careful scrutiny. It has been clearly proved that the procedure under Act X of 1859 has operated effectively, and, in particular, has not been employed as an engine of oppression by the landlords. Moreover, the fact that the area is for the most part temporarily settled, and that, as compared with permanently-settled Bengal, the land-revenue represents a very high proportion of the assets, justifies the retention of a speedy method of recovering rents. These are sufficient reasons for maintaining the principle unchanged, and the procedure laid down in the Bill has been drafted, as far as possible, according to the corresponding provisions of the existing law on the subject.

64. Chapter XV—Clauses 201 to 219—Judicial Procedure (trial of rent suits).—The clauses of the Bill relating to the trial of rent suits embody most of the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act on that subject, with this important difference that jurisdiction is given to Revenue Courts instead of to the Civil Courts. The retention of the jurisdiction of the Revenue Courts is a subject of very grave importance. Really difficult and complicated cases might possibly be better tried by Civil Courts, but experience shows that such cases are in point of fact very rare, and that they involve issues which ought not to be decided in suits for rent. So far as the majority of rent suits are concerned, a trial in the Revenue Courts is efficient, cheap and prompt, and promptitude is a virtue of paramount importance in temporarily-settled areas. Such is the opinion of some of the most experienced Government Officers and of most of the Members of the Orissa Committee, and the provisions of this Chapter have been drafted in accordance with this opinion.

65. A provision calling for special notice is clause 213, relating to appeals. In ordinary suits or applications before the Revenue Courts, a first appeal will lie to the Collector from the order of a Deputy Collector in all cases except where an officer has been specially empowered under sub-clause (b) to exercise final jurisdiction in the case of claims not exceeding fifty rupees. From the order of a Collector a second appeal will lie (a) to the Commissioner as to matters of fact, and (b) to the District Judge as to matters of law or title. A further appeal will lie, where the subject-matter exceeds Rs. 5,000 in value, to the Board of Revenue in the above case (a), and to the High Court in the above case (b). In addition, an application for revision may be made to the Collector regarding any exercise of jurisdiction. Clause 213 will be closely examined and discussed in Select Committee.

66. The following questions will be specially considered in Select Committee:—

- (1) whether clause 204 is so worded as to fulfil its object, namely, the prevention of suits for different items of rent in rapid succession;
- (2) whether clause 208 should not be modified on the lines of section 142 of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908; and
- (3) whether clauses 209 and 210 (payment of rent into Court) have any practical use.

67. Chapter XVI—Summary Procedure for the recovery of rents—Clause 220.—These provisions have already been extended to the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore, and have only been modified in so far as is necessary to maintain the jurisdiction of the Revenue Courts and to permit common managers to apply for the benefit of the procedure.

68. Chapter XVII—Sales for arrears under Decree—Clauses 221-240.—These provisions have already been extended to the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore. No amendments have been made except such as are necessary (1) to extend to hajastidars the privileges accorded to raiyats at fixed rates, and (2) to include sub-proprietary interests among protected interests.

69. Clauses 222 and 223.—The question whether the onus of proving a "protected interest" should be placed on the landlord or the tenant by the application of certain presumptions will be specially considered in Select Committee.

70. Chapter XVIII—Contract and Custom—Clauses 241-246.—This Chapter is new, and reproduces Chapter XV of the Bengal Tenancy Act. In connection with the notes on this Chapter, the notes on Chapter XIII (ante, paragraphs 57 et seq) should be read.

71. In 1903 the High Court held, in the case of Brahmananda Mahapatra v. Arjun Raut and others, 1 O. L. J. 310, that, sections 20 and 21 of the Bengal Tenancy Act having been extended to the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore, section 6 of Act X of 1859 and its proviso were repealed in those districts by section 2 (2) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, as being inconsistent with sections 20 and 21 of that Act; that the provisions of section 6 of Act X of 1859 and its proviso, which correspond to section 116 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, are no longer in force in these districts; and that, sections 20 and 21 of the Bengal Tenancy Act having been extended to those districts, and section 116 in Chapter XI of that Act not having been so extended, a raiyat in these districts can acquire a right of occupancy in nij-jote lands. No action was, however, taken till 1906, when it was brought to the notice of the Government that the repeal of section 6 of Act X of 1859 had the effect of leaving to zamindars in the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore no provision for barring by contract the accrual of occupancy rights in their private (nij-jote) lands. Chapter XI of the Bengal Tenancy Act was accordingly extended to these districts in that year. As soon, however, as this was done, zamindars had recourse to the provisions of section 7 of Act X of 1859, and caused kabuliyats to be executed by their raiyats, barring the accrual of occupancy rights in all kinds of lands. As the Legal Remembrancer has held this section to be still in force, and as no provisions as to contracts on the lines of section 178 of the Bengal Tenancy Act have as yet been extended, there is now no law in the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore to prevent occupancy rights from being barred by contract not only in proprietors' private lands (nij-jote) but in any lands at all. The present state of affairs is, of course, intolerable, and steps must at once be taken to protect the raiyats.

72. The principles upon which the compromise between landlords and tenants was effected in 1884, at the time of the framing of the Bengal Tenancy Act, were stated in paragraph 74 of the Government of Bengal's letter No. 1906T.—R., dated the 15th September, 1884, printed at page 367, Bengal Tenancy Act Selected Papers, Ed. 1885, as follows:—

"Your estates may be regarded as made up of two sorts of land—khamar or demesne, and raiyati or communal land. The former comprises all the land, which, according to the ancient custom of the country, or according to any local practice, has been recognised as private land plus all the land which before the commencement of this Act you have given evidence of a wish to permanently cultivate yourself. You are not entitled as of right to the latter. But we recognise the logic of facts, and we desire to terminate this strife by a liberal concession to you. The communal or raiyati land will include the rest of your estate. You may bar the accrual of occupancy status in your khamar or private land. In reference to it you are given the fullest freedom of contract. But in reference to raiyati land you may not bar the growth of tenant right unless in accordance with the provisions of this Act. As regards all raiyati lands which may have lapsed, you may hold and cultivate the same yourself as long as you wish; but if you do let it to tenants, you must allow those rights to accrue to your tenants (subject to the payment of a fair rent) which this Act guarantees."

73. The nature of the compromise now proposed has been explained in the notes on Chapter XIII (ante, paragraphs 57 et seq).

74. The advantages to be gained by the raiyats will be specially secured by the introduction of provisions analogous to sections 178 and 183 of the Bengal Tenancy Act (clauses 241 to 246 of the Bill) and by clause 148 of the Bill. As a further safeguard, the area to be now recorded as nij-jot will be incapable of any further increase [clause 163 (2)].

75. Clause 241 introduces section 178 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, with an amendment (approved by the Orissa Committee) in sub-clause (2), substituting a period of five years, preceding the commencement of the new law for the period between the 15th July, 1880, and the 14th March, 1885.

76. Sub-clauses (1) (b), (c) and (d), and sub-clauses (3) (d), (e), (f), (g) and (h), of clause 241, complete the law as to ejectment, improvements, surrender and abandonment, transfer, sub-letting, reduction of rent, commutation and interest, respectively.

77. Clause 242 introduces section 179 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, saving the right of a proprietor or a holder of a permanent tenure in a permanently-settled area to grant permanent mukarrari leases.

78. Clause 246 completes the law as to custom, and clause 148 (already mentioned in paragraph XI of the Statement of Objects and Reasons) allows raiyats to obtain settlement of rents for reclamation, subject to certain restrictions.

79. Clause 248—Illustration (2).—The question whether the words in Illustration II to section 76 of the Chota Nagpur Act, 1908, "A custom or usage by which an under-raiyat can obtain rights similar to those of an occupancy-raiyat," are not more suitable than the words "The custom or usage that an under-raiyat should, under certain circumstances, acquire a right of occupancy" will be specially considered in Select Committee.

80. Clauses 247 and 244, relating to limitation, are new. They reproduce sections 184 and 185 of the Bengal Tenancy Act.

81. Clause 249 prescribes penalties for illegal distraint.

82. As regards clause 249 (d), it may be explained that recent experience has shown that proprietors are not maintaining their pledges to preserve grazing grounds, and that the existing remedies are excessively dilatory and cumbrous. Accordingly, provision is made for punishment under the Indian Penal Code, as criminal trespass, of anyone who dishonestly brings under cultivation any area recorded as public grazing ground in the agreement executed by the proprietor or sub-proprietor at the time of the settlement of land-revenue.

83. Similarly, public rights of way and other public easements attaching to land having now been recorded in the record-of-rights under section 102 (1) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, punishment under the Indian Penal Code, as for mischief, is provided in clause 249 (f) and (g) as a penalty for infringement of such rights.

84. Clause 250 introduces section 186A of the Bengal Tenancy Act, providing damages for denial of landlord's title.

85. Clause 251.—Sections 145 and 187 of the Bengal Tenancy Act give the landlord power to act through a naiib, gomastha or agent, the former in suits and applications and the latter in entering appearances, receiving notices, granting receipts, etc., provided that the agent be empowered by a written authority. The written authority prescribed must, however, be stamped as a power of attorney under Article 48 of Schedule I to the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 (II of 1899). The only provision on the subject in the old law in force in the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore is section 35 of Act X of 1859, under which a statement of claim may be presented by an authorized agent of the plaintiff who has personal knowledge of the facts of the case, or by an agent who is accompanied by a person who has such knowledge. It will be noticed that section 146 of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act, 1908, also allows an agent, who is acquainted with the facts of the case, to present a statement of claim. In Orissa it is not considered necessary to have two provisions, as in the Bengal Tenancy Act, and neither the Chota Nagpur Tenancy Act nor Act X of 1859 has any provision giving the Court a discretion as to the agent to be employed. It is sufficient to introduce into the three districts in question the provisions of section 187 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, and this has been done by clause 251 of the Bill.

86. Clauses 252 and 253 introduce sections 188 and 188A of the Bengal Tenancy Act. They deal with co-sharers and agents acting on their behalf, and are most important. Under the old law one co-sharer landlord could only collect his share of the rent separately if the tenant had arranged to pay him his proportionate share of the entire rent, and an arrangement of this nature did not enable him to sue the tenant for a kabuliat (counterpart of lease) [see Guni Mahomed v. Moran and Doorga Prasad Myts v. Joynarain Auro, (1878), I. L. R., 4 Cal., 96]. The object of section 188A, which was enacted in 1907, was to make the provisions of sections 143 to 153 of the Bengal Tenancy Act applicable to all suits between landlords and tenants as such, whether instituted by a sole landlord, the entire body of landlords, or one or more co-sharer landlords, and to apply the provisions of Chapter XIV (previously extended to the districts of Cuttack, Balasore and Puri) to proceedings in execution of rent decrees in suits framed under section 158B (recently extended to the said districts).

87. Clause 258.—The Government of India have approved the policy of granting suspension of rent consequent on like treatment of land-revenue. The opportunity has accordingly been taken to insert this clause, which follows the lines of section 18 of the Central Provinces Tenancy Act, 1898. The clause provides that a suspension or remission of rent may be granted by Revenue-officers as a consequence of a similar concession made by the Government in respect of land-revenue on the occasion of an agricultural calamity.

88. Clause 259.—This clause is adopted, with certain amendments, from section 193 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. It places suits for recovery of rents in respect of rights of pasturege, forest rights, rights over fisheries and the like in the same category as suits for arrears of rent. Besides payments of this nature, provision is made for the recovery of the amounts due by sub-proprietors, who have executed agreements in the course of land-revenue settlements, and of payments due by co-sharer landlords in respect of nij-jote (private lands) and nij-shas (lands in cultivating possession) to the whole body of landlords, because in neither case is the payment a payment of rent, nor have the amounts been fixed under Tenancy Law. In the former case the amount payable consists of a portion of the assets representing revenue, malikana (proprietary allowance) and collection expenses, and in the latter it represents a share of the valuation of the nij-jote and nij-shas lands.

89. By clause 259, also, as already stated in paragraph X of the Statement of Objects and Reasons above, it is desirable to make recoverable rents of chandnadars (shop-keepers,) whose status and rents have been fixed, at the time of a revenue settlement, for the term of that settlement. At present their rents are included in the assets of the temporarily-settled estates in which they are situated, but are recoverable only through the Civil Courts.

90. Clause 260 is new. It introduces section 194 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, and will prevent tenants from violating conditions binding on their landlords.

91. Clause 261 is new. It introduces section 195 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, and contains clauses saving special enactments. The section mentioned ought to have been introduced at the time of the first extension of any portion of the Bengal Tenancy Act.

92. The Schedules have been adopted from the Bengal Tenancy Act. They include a special rent-suit receipt form sanctioned by the Government for Orissa.

93. Schedule II.—Power is given by clause 2 (9) of the Bill to repeal the enactments mentioned in this Schedule, in areas to which Chapter XII of the Bill is extended. It may be desirable to abolish hamungas and patwaris altogether, in such areas, and to have their work done by the Land Records Staff.

17th July 1911.

† Repealed by the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1906.

The 25th July, 1911.—The following Amendments in the Rules for the conduct of the Legislative Business of the Bengal Legislative Council, which were made by the Council at a Meeting held on the 22nd July, 1911, and received the assent of the Lieutenant-Governor, on the 24th July, 1911, are hereby published for general information:—

AMENDMENTS IN THE RULES FOR THE CONDUCT OF THE LEGISLATIVE BUSINESS OF THE BENGAL LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

I. For rule 2 substitute the following:—

Definitions. 2. In these rules,—

(1) "Council" means the Bengal Legislative Council;

(2) "President" means—

(a) the Lieutenant Governor, or

(b) the Vice-President appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor under section 4 of the Indian Councils Act, 1909;

9 Edw. 7. c. 1.

(3) "the Secretary" means the Secretary to the Bengal Legislative Council; and

(4) "Bill" means a proposed Act before it has received the assent of the Lieutenant-Governor.

II. In rules 18, 19, 20, 21, 23, 29, 30, 37, 45, 48, 50, 51 and 54, and in the heading over rule 48, for the words "Assistant Secretary", wherever they occur, substitute the word "Secretary."

III. For the first paragraph of rule 22 substitute the following:—

(1) Any Member who wishes to move an amendment to any Bill to be brought before the Council must send notice of such amendment so as to reach the Secretary at least five days before the first day on which such Bill is to be taken into consideration by the Council:

Provided that the President may, in his discretion, in the case of any Bill, direct that longer notice, not exceeding a maximum period of fifteen days, shall be required.

(2) When any direction is given by the President under the proviso to sub-rule (1), a copy of such direction and (if it has not already been sent) a copy of the Bill, with Statement of Objects and Reasons, must be sent by the Secretary to each Member at least as many days before the commencement of the time required for sending in the notice as the term of the notice consists of.

(3) If any Member is not furnished with such copies within the period specified in sub-rule (2), he must report the omission to the Secretary without delay, and the President may, in his discretion, on the omission being represented to him by the Secretary, allow such Member shorter notice than that prescribed in the said direction.

IV. Number the second paragraph of rule 22 as sub-rule (4), and substitute for the first eleven words in that paragraph the following:—

"If any Member does not send notice of amendments by the time specified in sub-rule (1) or (2), and desires".

V. After sub-rule (4) of rule 22 insert the following:—

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-rule (1), (3) or (4), the Member in charge of any Bill may at any time, with the permission of the President, give notice to the Secretary of any amendments to any Bill which are consequential upon—

(a) any amendments of which notice has been given under sub-rule (1) or (3), as the case may be, or

(b) any amendments which the President, under sub-rule (4), permits to be put without notice at any meeting of the Council.

VI. Number the third paragraph of rule 22 as sub-rule (6).

VII. In rule 51, before the word "any" insert the words "the Assistant Secretary to the Council or".

VIII. For the second paragraph of rule 52 substitute the following:—

Application for order of admission is to be made, through a Member, to the Secretary, at least two days before the meeting; and the order, if made, shall be sent to such Member.

[NOTE.—The figures "1901" in square brackets in the margin mean the Indian Mines Act, 1901 (VIII of 1901).]

BILL

to provide for the Sanitation of Mining Settlements in Bengal.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the sanitation of mining settlements in Bengal;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Bengal Mining Settlements Act, 1911, and

(2) It extends to the whole of Bengal, including the Sonthal Parganas.

Definitions.

2. The expressions "agent," "employed," "mine" and "owner", as used in this Act, shall have the same meaning as in section 3 of the Indian Mines Act, 1901.

VIII of 1901.

Appointment of Mines Board of Health.

3. (1) The Local Government may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, appoint, for any area or any two or more areas in which persons employed in a mine reside, a Mines Board of Health, consisting of not less than five or more than eight persons.

(2) One of the persons appointed under sub-section (1) shall be the District Magistrate, and another shall be the Sub-divisional Officer (if any) having authority over the area or areas for which the Board is appointed.

(3) The District Magistrate shall be the Chairman of the Board:

Provided that, if the District Magistrate is unable on any occasion to act as Chairman, the Sub-divisional Officer (if any) shall, for that occasion, be Chairman in his place.

(4) Two of the persons appointed under sub-section (1) shall be nominated by owners of mines or their representatives.

[Cf. 1901, a. 3 (3).]

(5) If the Commissioner so recommends, one of the persons appointed under sub-section (1) shall be nominated by persons who receive royalties, rents or fines from mines.

(6) Nominations under sub-section (4) or sub-section (5) must be made under such procedure, and within such period, as may be prescribed by rules made under this Act; and, in default of nomination in accordance with such rules, the Local Government may appoint any person it thinks fit.

Procedure for declaring area to be a mining settlement.

4. (1) A Mines Board of Health may at any time submit a report to the Local Government, showing what area or areas (not being or forming part of a mine) should, in the opinion of the Board, be declared to be a mining settlement or mining settlements and placed under the authority of the Board for the purposes of this Act.

(2) The Local Government may, after considering any report so submitted to it, publish a notice in the Calcutta Gazette and in such other manner (if any) as it may think fit, intimating its intention to declare any area described in such report to be a mining settlement for the purposes of this Act.

[Cf. Ben. Act 111 of 1906, a. 640.]

The Bengal Mining Settlements Bill, 1911.

(Clause 5-7.)

(3) The Local Government shall consider any objections to the intended declaration which may be submitted to it in writing within such period as may be specified in this behalf in the said notice, [Cf. Ben. Act III of 1899, s. 641.]

and may then, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, declare that any area or portion of an area referred to in the said notice shall, for the purposes of this Act, be a mining settlement, and be subject to the authority of the Board upon whose report the declaration is made.

Appointment, status and duties of Sanitary Officers.

5. (1) The Local Government shall appoint as many Sanitary Officers as it may consider necessary for mining settlements, and shall declare the Mines Board or Boards of Health to which each such officer shall be subordinate.

(2) Every Sanitary Officer shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code. [Cf. 1901, s. 2.]
XLV of 1900.

(3) It shall be the duty of a Sanitary Officer—

(a) to report to the Mines Board of Health what measures should, in his opinion, be taken—

(i) to provide for the supply of filtered, boiled or other water,

(ii) to provide for sanitation and conservancy,

(iii) to prevent the outbreak or spread of dangerous epidemic disease; and [Cf. Act III of 1907 s. 3(2).]

(iv) to provide for the housing of residents, in a mining settlement or any part thereof; and

(b) generally, to act as the agent of, and Secretary to, the Mines Board of Health. [Cf. 1901, ss. 9(3), 10(7).]

Payments to members of Mines Board of Health or to Sanitary Officers.

6. The Local Government may give directions as to the payment of the following expenses, namely:—

(a) remuneration to any member of a Mines Board of Health,

(b) salary to any Sanitary Officer,

(c) the cost of any establishments maintained by Sanitary Officers, and

(d) travelling expenses incurred by any member of a Mines Board of Health or any Sanitary Officer in the performance of his duties as such.

Notice requiring owners to execute and maintain works of sanitation, or to carry on periodical sanitary operations.

7. If the Mines Board of Health approve any measures reported by a Sanitary Officer under section 5, clause (a), or if they consider that any other measures should be taken to provide for any of the purposes referred to in that clause, the Board shall serve,—

(a) on the owners of all mines in which are employed persons residing in the mining settlement, or in the part of the mining settlement to which such measures relate, or

(b) on the owners of the land occupied by such mining settlement or part, if they are not the owners of the said mines, a notice specifying such measures and requiring such owners—

(i) to execute, within a period to be fixed by the notice, all works that the Board may consider necessary for carrying such measures into effect, and to maintain in good repair all works so executed, or

(ii) to carry on continuously such periodical operations as the Board may direct, for carrying such measures into effect, or

The Bengal Mining Settlements Bill, 1911.

(Clauses 8-11.)

(iii) both to execute and maintain works and to carry on operations as aforesaid.

Power for Mines Board of Health to execute work or carry on operations in default of owners.

8. If any work required by a notice served under section 7 be not executed to the satisfaction of the Board within the period fixed by the notice, or within such further period (if any) as may be allowed by the Board, or if any work executed in pursuance of any such notice be not maintained in repair to the satisfaction of the Board, or if any operations required by any such notice be not carried on to the satisfaction of the Board, the Board, after serving at least one warning notice on the defaulters, shall prepare an estimate of the cost of the work or operations which ought, in their opinion, to be executed or carried on, and may arrange to have such work executed or such operations carried on.

Power for Chairman to discharge functions of Board in certain cases.

9. Any of the powers or duties conferred or imposed by section 7 or section 8 upon a Mines Board of Health may be exercised or performed by the Chairman of the Board in any case which he considers to be of such urgency as to render it impracticable to call a meeting of the Board.

Service of notices.

10. Any notice under section 7 or section 8 may be served by registered post.

[Cf. Ben. Act I of 1899, s. 23.]

Charging, apportionment and recovery of expenses.

11. (1) All expenses paid under section 6 to members of any Mines Board of Health, or to Sanitary Officers subordinate to any Board, shall be charged to—

Ben. Act IX of 1890.

(a) all owners of mines in which are employed persons residing in the mining settlements which are subject to the authority of that Board, and

(b) all persons who receive any royalty, rent or fine from such mines.

(2) All expenses incurred in executing or maintaining any work, or carrying on any operations, in respect of any mining settlement or part thereof, under any arrangement made by the Mines Board of Health under section 8, or by the Chairman under section 9, whether or not they exceed the estimate prepared under the former section, and all expenses incurred by any owner of land in executing or maintaining any work or carrying on any operations in pursuance of a notice served under section 7, clause (b), shall be charged to—

(c) all owners of mines in which are employed persons residing in the settlement or part, and

(d) all persons who receive any royalty, rent or fine from such mines.

(3) The expenses referred to in sub-sections (1) and (2) shall be charged to the said owners and persons in the proportions in which they are respectively liable to pay the cesses imposed under the Cess Act, 1880, and shall be recoverable as if they were arrears of land-revenue.

Ben. Act IX of 1880.

(4) When any expenses incurred by an owner of land in executing or maintaining any work or carrying on any operations in pursuance of a notice served under section 7, clause (b), have been recovered, they shall be repaid to him.

The Bengal Mining Settlements Bill, 1911.

(Clause 12.)

Power to make rules.

12. (1) The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, make rules for carrying out the purposes and objects of this Act in respect of all mining settlements or any groups or classes of mining settlements. [Cf. 1901, 20.]

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

- (a) provide for the nomination and appointment of members of Mines Boards of Health, and regulate the procedure of such Boards;
- (b) regulate the duties and powers of Sanitary Officers, and provide for appeals from their orders;
- (c) prescribe the duties of owners, agents and managers of mines in respect of mining settlements, and of all persons acting under them;
- (d) prescribe the matters in respect of which notices, returns and reports shall be furnished by owners, agents and managers, the form of such notices, returns and reports, the persons and authorities to whom they are to be furnished, and the particulars to be contained in them;
- (e) prescribe the plans (if any) to be kept by owners, agents and managers, in respect of mining settlements, and the manner and places in which they are to be kept for purposes of record;
- (f) regulate, subject to the provisions of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, and the rules thereunder, the storage and use of explosives in mining settlements; [IV of 1884.]
- (g) provide for the supply of filtered, boiled or other water, and for sanitation and conservancy, in mining settlements, and to prevent the outbreak or spread of dangerous epidemic disease therein;
- (h) provide against the accumulation of water in mining settlements.

(3) The power to make rules conferred by this section is subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication. [Cf. Ben. Act 1 of 1899, s. 24.]

(4) The date to be specified in accordance with clause (3) of section 24 of the Bengal General Clauses Act, 1899, as that on or after which a draft of rules proposed to be made under this section will be taken into consideration, shall not be less than three months from the date on which the draft of the proposed rules was published for general information. [Ben. Act 1 of 1899.]

(5) Where a Mining Board has been constituted under section 9 of the Indian Mines Act, 1901, any rule to be made under this Act shall, before it is published for criticism under sub-section (3), be referred to the Mining Board, and the rule shall not be so published until the said Board has reported as to the expediency of making the proposed rule and as to the suitability of its provisions. [VIII of 1901.]

(6) All rules made under this section shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and, on such publication, shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

The Bengal Mining Settlements Bill 1911.

(Clauses 13-17.)

Notice as to rules.

13. When rules affecting any mining settlement are made under this Act, the Mines Board of Health shall give information—

- (a) to the owners, agents and managers of mines in which are employed persons residing in such settlement, or
- (b) to the owners of the land occupied by such settlement, if they are not the owners of the said mines, as to any rules which concern them respectively, and as to the places where copies of such rules may be obtained.

Powers of Sanitary Officers.

14. A Sanitary Officer may, within any mining settlement for which he is appointed,—

- (a) make such examination and inquiry as he thinks fit, in order to ascertain whether the provisions of this Act and of the rules and orders made thereunder are observed;
- (b) enter, with such assistants (if any) as he thinks fit, inspect and examine any mining settlement or any part thereof, at all reasonable times by day or by night;
- (c) examine into, and make inquiry respecting, the sanitary condition of any mining settlement or any part thereof, the ventilation of the settlement, and the sufficiency of the rules for the time being in force in the settlement; and
- (d) do all other things required of him by or under this Act.

Facilities to be afforded to Sanitary Officers.

15. The owners, agents and managers of mines in which are employed persons residing in any mining settlement, or the owners of the land occupied by such settlement, if they are not the owners of such mines, shall furnish the Sanitary Officer, on requisition, with the means necessary for making any entry, inspection, examination or inquiry under this Act, in relation to the sanitary condition of such settlement.

Powers of Mines Boards of Health for obtaining evidence.

16. A Mines Board of Health shall have the powers of a Civil Court for the purpose of enforcing the attendance of witnesses and compelling the production of documents; and every person required by any such Board to furnish information before it shall be deemed to be legally bound to do so within the meaning of section 178 of the Indian Penal Code.

XLV of 1930.

Penalties for offences.

17. (1) Whoever obstructs any Sanitary Officer in the discharge of his duties under this Act, or refuses or wilfully neglects to furnish him with the means necessary for making any entry, inspection, examination or inquiry thereunder in relation to any mining settlement, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

(2) Whoever makes, gives or delivers any notice or return required by or under this Act which contains a statement, entry or detail which is not, to the best of his knowledge or belief, true, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

(3) Whoever—

- (a) fails to comply with any requisition or order made under any provision of this Act or of any rule or order made thereunder; or

The Beahat Mining Settlements Bill, 1911.

(Clauses 18-21.)

(b) contravenes any provision of this Act or any rule or order thereunder, for the breach of which no penalty is otherwise provided, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, and, in the case of a continuing breach under clause (a) of this sub-section, with a further fine which may extend to fifty rupees for every day during which the breach is proved to have been persisted in after the date of the receipt by him of the requisition or order referred to in that clause.

Prosecution of owner, agent or manager.

18. No prosecution shall be instituted against any owner, agent or manager for any offence against this Act or any rule or order thereunder except at the instance of the Mines Board of Health.

[Cf. 1901, a. 23.]

Limitation
of prosecution.

19. No Court shall take cognizance of any offence against this Act or any rule or order thereunder unless complaint thereof is made within six months of the date on which the offence is alleged to have been committed.

[Cf. 1901, a. 24.]

Cognizance of offences.

20. No Court inferior to that of a Magistrate of the first class or Sub-divisional Magistrate shall try any offence against this Act or any rule or order thereunder which—

[Cf. 1901, a. 25.]

- (a) is alleged to have been committed by any owner, agent or manager of a mine, or
- (b) is punishable with imprisonment.

Power of Local Government to alter or rescind orders.

21. The Local Government may reverse or modify any order passed under this Act by any authority.

[Cf. 1901, a. 20.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to provide a procedure for enforcing sanitation in mining settlements in Bengal. A large coal industry has been rapidly developed in limited areas, and great numbers of illiterate and undisciplined labourers have settled therein. No practical effort has hitherto been made to carry out even the most elementary and necessary sanitary arrangements, except in a few areas, the inhabitants of which have justification for complaining that their neighbours are not compelled to take measures such as they have themselves introduced. The result has been the regular visitation of epidemic disease, and the Indian Mining Association have frequently moved for legislation to secure the enforcement of sanitary regulations.

2. One difficulty in dealing with the subject is that the areas above ground, in the vicinity of a mine, which require sanitation, are not all under the control of the same colliery, the lands belonging to the owners of mines and the zamindars being intermixed. It is therefore proposed that a Sanitary Committee, to be called the Mines Board of Health, should be appointed for each mining district, whose duty it will be to report to the Government, on the basis of local knowledge and with the help of the maps prepared by the Geological Survey Department, what specific areas should be brought under sanitary control. Notifications will then be published in the Gazette, declaring (after the lapse of a reasonable time, during which objections may be lodged) the areas to be mining settlements. Permanent Sanitary Officers will be appointed to report what measures of sanitation are required in mining settlements, and they will be under the direct control of the Board.

3. When a Mines Board of Health decides what sanitary measures are required, it will serve a notice on mine-owners and land-owners, requiring them to take the necessary action; and, in their default, will take the necessary action itself, recovering the cost from the owners of the mines and from royalty-receivers. Provision is also made for the payment of salaries, travelling allowances and incidental expenses, and for the recovery of such payments from the owners of mines and from royalty-receivers. All sums chargeable to mine-owners and royalty-receivers will be apportioned in the same manner as the road and public works cesses, and will be recovered in the same manner as arrears of land revenue.

4. The more important provisions of the Bill are explained in the subjoined notes.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

1. Clause 3 empowers the Local Government to appoint Mines Boards of Health for areas in which persons employed in mines reside. Each Board will comprise five or more members, up to a limit of eight. Two of the members will be nominated by mine-owners, and, if the Commissioner so recommends, one will be nominated by royalty-receivers. The District Magistrate (or, in his absence, the Sub-divisional Officer) will be Chairman. The remaining members of each Board will be selected by the Local Government.

2. Clause 4 empowers the Local Government, on the report of a Mines Board of Health, and after giving those interested an opportunity to lodge objections, to declare areas to be subject to the Act as "mining settlements."

3. Clause 5 directs the Local Government to appoint Sanitary Officers for mining settlements, and declares their duties.

4. Sub-clause (2) of clause 5 declares that Sanitary Officers shall, like Inspectors of Mines [Act VIII of 1901, section 4(4)], be deemed to be public servants within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.

5. Clause 6 empowers the Local Government to direct payment of remuneration to members of Mines Boards of Health, salaries to Sanitary Officers, travelling expenses and the cost of establishments. These payments will be recovered from mine-owners and royalty-receivers under clause 11 of the Bill.

6. Clause 7 empowers any Mines Board of Health to serve a notice on mine-owners or land-owners requiring them to execute and maintain such works, and to carry on such periodical operations, as may be necessary for carrying into effect the sanitary measures which the Board have decided to be required. The expenses incurred by a mine-owner will be payable by himself. Those incurred by a land-owner will be recovered from mine-owners and royalty-receivers under clause 11 of the Bill and repaid to him.

7. Clause 8.—If any person required by notice served under clause 7 to do any work should fail to execute the work to the satisfaction of the Mines Board of Health, clause 8 empowers the Board, after serving at least one warning notice on the defaulter, to have the work done itself. The expenses incurred by the Board in having the work done will be recovered from the mine-owners and royalty-receivers under clause 11 of the Bill.

8. Clause 9.—It will not always be practicable to call a meeting of the Mines Board of Health to give directions as to the execution of work. It is accordingly declared, in clause 9, that any of the functions of the Board under clause 7 or clause 8 may be discharged by its Chairman, whenever he considers the case to be of such urgency as to render it impracticable to call a meeting.

9. Clause 10, declares that notices as to the execution of work may be served by registered post.

10. Clause 11 declares that the expenses incurred in working the Act shall be charged to mine-owners and royalty-receivers, in the proportions in which the road and public works cesses are payable by them, respectively, and shall be recoverable in the same manner as arrears of land revenue, that is, by the certificate procedure.

11. Clause 12 empowers the Local Government to make rules for carrying out the purposes and objects of the Bill. The clause is based on section 20 of the Indian Mines Act, 1901 (VIII of 1901). In reproducing sub-clause (a) of that section in clause 12(g) of the Bill, power has been expressly taken to make rules to provide for the supply of filtered or boiled water in mining settlements.

12. Clause 13 is based on section 4(5) of the Indian Mines Act, 1901. It requires the Mines Board of Health to give notice to mine-owners and land-owners of any rules made under clause 12 and concerning them.

13. Clauses 14 and 15 are based on sections 6 and 7 of the Indian Mines Act, 1901. Clause 14 confers necessary powers on Sanitary Officers, and clause 15 requires mine-owners and land-owners to afford all necessary facilities to those officers.

14. Clause 16 is based on section 11 (2) of the Indian Mines Act, 1901. It confers on Mines Boards of Health the powers of a Civil Court for obtaining evidence.

15. Clauses 17 to 20 are based on sections 22 to 25 of the same Act. Clause 17 provides penalties, clauses 18 and 19 regulate prosecutions, and clause 20 confines jurisdiction in certain cases to Magistrates of the higher classes.

16. Clause 21 is based on section 30 of the same Act. It empowers the Local Government to reverse or modify orders passed under the Bill.

OATH OF ALLEGIANCE.

The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas, the Hon'ble Mr. Halliday and the Hon'ble Mr. Hilary made the prescribed oath of their allegiance to the Crown.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The PRESIDENT said :—

“GENTLEMEN OF THE COUNCIL.—I have to welcome you at the commencement of another session. I am sure that the cause which has put me temporarily in the place of Sir Edward Baker must be a subject of regret and concern to all of you, that you sympathize with him in the personal and domestic troubles which have compelled him most unwillingly to take leave at the present time, and that you join me in the hope that, before the commencement of another session, he will have returned in renewed strength and vigour to preside over your deliberations. In the meantime, the Council has to get through an important programme of legislation, and I fear that we shall particularly miss his guidance in the most important item of it—a subject with which he was peculiarly familiar and well qualified to deal. The business of Government has, however, to be carried on continuously in spite of changes of individuals, and I am sure the best efforts of all of us will be given to deal worthily and adequately with the measures before us.

“We have, in the first instance, to deal with some alterations in the Rules of Business of the Council itself, which the experience, already gained, of the working of our present enlarged Council has shown to be necessary. It is hoped that these will simplify the work both of Government and of individual Members, and will promote the convenience and save the time of the Council at large.

“We have next a small measure of amendment to the Chota Nagpur Encumbered Estates Act, which, it is hoped, will be passed into law in the current session.

“We have, then, the Bengal Local Government Bill which is designed to make the formal changes in the law, which have been rendered necessary by the conversion of the Government into a Government in Council.

“We have also the Orissa Tenancy Bill—a very important measure—codifying and amending the Landlord and Tenant law in the districts of the Orissa Division. This, however, will demand very full consideration, and it is not proposed to proceed with it in the current session.

“Last and most important, we have the Calcutta Improvement Bill which has been adjourned from the last session and which, I hope, has now reached its final stage. This measure has now been before Government for a great number of years, and I trust that we shall be able to pass it into law and so allow the much-needed improvements to the city of Calcutta to be taken up without further delay.”

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

THUMB IMPRESSIONS IN REGISTRATION PROCEEDINGS.

The Hon'ble RAI BAIKUNTHA NATH SEN BAHADUR asked:—

1.—(a) Is the Government aware that the practice of taking thumb impressions by registering officers of executants of documents who can write, but who are not personally known to the said officers, is a source of great discontent?

(b) Is the Government aware of the great discontent which exists on account of thumb impressions being taken by registering officers of parda-nashin ladies, executants of documents who can write, and regarding whose identification there can be no doubt or room for suspicion?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it intends to make an inquiry and modify rule 53 of the rules promulgated by Notification No. 1439, dated the 2nd March, 1911, under section 69 of the Indian Registration Act, 1877, and published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 8th March, 1911?

The Hon'ble Mr. COMPTON replied:—

(a) “The rule to which the Hon'ble Member refers was republished in Notification No. 1439, dated the 2nd March, 1911, and has been in force ever since it was originally introduced by Sir Henry Cotton in 1895. The system of identification by means of thumb impressions is admittedly the best possible, as it reduces to a minimum all chances of false personation. Criminal cases of this kind in respect of registration are now very much less frequent than they were in the years before the rule was introduced. Government is not aware that any discontent is caused by the application of the rule in question, which gives to a registering officer discretion to dispense with the system in the case of persons of position regarding whose identification there can be no doubt or room for suspicion, even if the executant is not personally known to him.

(b) Nor is Government aware that any discontent exists on account of the provision made in the same rule that purdanashin ladies are in all cases required to affix the impression of their thumb marks as evidence of their identification. The rule does not insist that in their case the impression shall invariably be taken before the registering officer, but allows as an alternative that it be taken in the presence of the persons who identify them. The rule was introduced in 1895 as a very necessary safeguard in the interests of purdanashin applicants, and has been found to work well.

(c) The answer is in the negative."

The Hon'ble RAI BAIKUNTHA NATH SEN BAHADUR asked the following supplementary question:—

"Will the Government be pleased to state the reasons for insisting upon the thumb impressions of purdanashin ladies who can write and regarding whose identity there cannot possibly be any doubt or suspicion?"

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING said:—

"I must ask for notice of that question from the Hon'ble Member."

APPOINTMENTS AND VACANCIES IN THE EDUCATIONAL SERVICE.

The Hon'ble BARU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI asked:—

II.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been called to the statement in the Sanyibani newspaper of Thursday, the 6th of July, 1911, to the effect that the proposal to appoint Dr. P. C. Ray to the Indian Educational Service in the place of Mr. Hallward (who has been appointed Director of Public Instruction, Eastern Bengal and Assam) has not been given effect to and that he has been appointed to the said service temporarily with Rs. 100 as personal allowance?

(b) Would the Government be pleased to state whether there has been a proposal for his permanent appointment to the Indian Educational Service and whether it has been given effect to?

(c) If it has not been given effect to, would it please the Government to state the reasons for not giving effect to the proposal and what has been done instead?

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied:—

(a) "Government has seen the article to which reference has been made.

(b) and (c) Government has made no formal proposal for the substantive promotion of Dr. P. C. Ray to the Indian Educational Service. Dr. Ray, for the present, has been appointed to act in the Indian Educational Service under the ordinary rules, in the vacancy arising from the deputation of Mr. Hallward to Eastern Bengal and Assam, quite independently of any such proposal as is suggested in the question."

The Hon'ble BARU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI asked:—

III.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been called to the statement in the same newspaper that Mr. Griffith has been appointed to the Indian Educational Service?

(b) Is this information correct, and, if so, would the Government be pleased to state when he was so appointed?

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied:—

(a) "Government has read the further statement to the effect that Mr. Griffith has been appointed to the Indian Educational Service.

(b) The information is correct. Mr. Griffith has been appointed to the Indian Educational Service with effect from the 26th February, 1911."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI asked :—

IV.—Would the Government be pleased to state the number of present vacancies, officiating and permanent, in—

- (1) the Indian Educational Service, and
- (2) the Provincial Educational Service?

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied :—

"In the Indian Educational Service there are eight permanent and three officiating vacancies. In the Provincial Educational Service there are seven permanent vacancies and one officiating."

ENTERTAINMENT OF THEIR MAJESTIES THE KING-EMPEROR AND QUEEN-EMPERESS DURING THEIR VISIT TO CALCUTTA.

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI asked :—

V.—(a) Would the Government be pleased to state what provisions and arrangements have been made by the Government for the reception and entertainment of their Gracious Majesties the King-Emperor and the Queen-Emperess at Calcutta?

(b) Does the Government propose to contribute any sum towards the Funds of the Imperial Reception Committee, Calcutta, worthy of the occasion, over and above provisions and arrangements mentioned in question V(a) that it may itself have independently made?

(c) If so, will such sum be Rs. 50,000 or more or less?

The Hon'ble MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

(a) "A programme of arrangements for the reception and entertainment of their Most Gracious Majesties at Calcutta is at present under preparation. The programme requires the sanction of His Majesty, and this Government is not at present authorised to make any announcement on the subject.

(b) and (c) Until the programme for the whole visit to Calcutta has been settled, Government is not in a position to state whether it will be prepared to make any contribution towards those entertainments for which the Imperial Reception Committee will make itself responsible."

MAGISTERIAL VAGARY.

The Hon'ble BABU HAL KRISHNA SAHAY asked :—

VI.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to an editorial paragraph headed "Magisterial Vagary", published in the Beharee of the 5th May, 1911, purporting to contain extracts from a judgment of the Sessions Judge of Shahabad in Criminal Appeal No. 52(D) of 1911, dated the 1st March last, reflecting upon the conduct, as a Judicial officer, of Maulvi Abul Hayat, the Magistrate, whose judgment was under appeal before the Sessions Judge?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state if the extracts reproduced in the Beharee, do, as a matter of fact, appear in the judgment of the Sessions Judge?

(c) If so, does the Government intend to take any steps in the matter, and, if so, what?

The Hon'ble MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

(a) The answer is in the affirmative.

(b) The answer is in the affirmative.

(c) The Deputy Magistrate has been called on for an explanation. On its receipt Government will decide what action, if any, is necessary.

AMENDMENTS IN THE RULES FOR THE CONDUCT OF THE LEGISLATIVE BUSINESS OF THE BENGAL LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke moved that, for rule 2 of the Rules for the Conduct of the Legislative Business of the Bengal Legislative Council, the following be substituted, namely:—

Definitions.

2. In these rules,—

- (1) "Council" means the Bengal Legislative Council;
- (2) "President" means—
  - (a) the Lieutenant-Governor, or
  - (b) the Vice-President appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor under section 4 of the Indian Councils Act, 1909;
- (3) "the Secretary" means the Secretary to the Bengal Legislative Council; and
- (4) "Bill" means a proposed Act before it has received the assent of the Lieutenant-Governor.

He said:—

"The necessity for substituting this proposed rule in lieu of the present rule is in order to enable the existing rules in the Bengal Legislative Council Manual to be brought into accord with existing facts, because at present there is a Secretary and also an Assistant Secretary, and the Indian Councils Act, 1909, has also to be allowed for."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke moved that in rules 18, 19, 20, 21, 28, 29, 30, 37, 45, 48, 50, 51 and 54, and in the heading over rule 48, of the same rules, for the words "Assistant Secretary", wherever they occur, the word "Secretary" be substituted.

He said:—

"This is merely consequential on what has just now been assented to by the Council."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke moved that, in rule 51 of the same rules, before the word "any" the words "the Assistant Secretary to the Council or" be inserted.

He said:—

"This is in order to enable the Assistant Secretary to do the work of the Council in the event of the Secretary not being able to be present."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke moved that, for the first paragraph of rule 22 of the same rules, the following be substituted, namely:—

- (1) Any Member who wishes to move an amendment to any Bill to be brought before the Council must send notice of such amendment so as to reach the Secretary at least five days before the first day on which such Bill is to be taken into consideration by the Council:
 Provided that the President may, in his discretion, in the case of any Bill, direct that longer notice, not exceeding a maximum period of fifteen days, shall be required.
- (2) When any direction is given by the President under the proviso to sub-rule (1), a copy of such direction and (if it has not already been sent) a copy of the Bill, with Statement of Objects and Reasons, must be sent by the Secretary to each Member at least as many days before the commencement of the time required for sending in the notice as the term of the notice consists of.
- (3) If any Member is not furnished with such copies within the period specified in sub-rule (2), he must report the omission to the Secretary without delay, and the President may, in his discretion, on the omission being represented to him by the Secretary, allow such Member shorter notice than that prescribed in the said direction.

He said:—

"Experience has shown that, in the revised Council, it is practically impossible for the Secretary and Assistant Secretary, working as hard as they could, to deal with the amendments with regard to any Bill of a contentious nature within the time-limit, viz., three days.

"Especially that was the case with the Calcutta Improvement Bill, and I can personally testify to the fact that, work as hard as he did, from early morning till late at night, the Secretary could not cope efficiently with the numerous amendments which were put in. It is, therefore, with a view to preventing a similar state of affairs recurring in the future, and to enable the Council to have put before them the amendments in a proper shape, that this is now being presented to the Hon'ble Members for their acceptance. I would therefore ask the Members to adopt the rule."

The Hon'ble RAI BAIKUNTHA NATH SEN BAHADUR said:—

"Sir, I have only one suggestion to make. Cannot the word 'first' be left out of the proposed sub-rule (1)? Then the rule will run thus—'at least five days before the day on which such Bill is to be taken into consideration by the Council'. A Bill may not be disposed of at one meeting; and may have to be considered at another. Then the question might arise, whether Members would be debarred from moving or suggesting any amendments. But if the word 'first' be left out, the rule would run—'at least five days before the day', etc., and there would be no room for ambiguity. I leave it to the Hon'ble Member's consideration."

The Hon'ble MR. SLACKER said:—

"I cannot accept the Hon'ble Member's suggestion, because if a Bill was to run on for several days consecutively, the same pressure might be brought to bear on the Secretary's office, whereas the case to which the Hon'ble Member refers would be met by the clause, that the President may admit any amendment which the Hon'ble Member wishes to put forward without formal notice. It is not improbable that any amendment which was of any consequence would be refused by the President, whereas to accept the Hon'ble Member's proposal would be to leave the way open still for that pressure on the Secretary's office, which the past has shown he cannot possibly meet."

The Hon'ble RAI BAIKUNTHA NATH SEN BAHADUR said:—

"I was not speaking of a Bill which would be taken up from day to day. But my observations referred to a Bill which might be postponed for another meeting, and I do not see what possible objection there can be to my motion. It would not give Members larger powers, or give them an opportunity to abuse those powers."

The Hon'ble MR. M. S. DAS said:—

"Your Honour, there have been actual cases within my personal experience in this Council and in Select Committees, that when a Bill originally came before the Council, perhaps certain amendments were not considered necessary, but when the Bill was circulated, certain amendments were thought necessary, and again, when the Bill had undergone certain modifications, some more amendments were thought necessary. It is not possible for a Member to foresee these amendments. For cases like these, I think, Your Honour, there should be an exception. When an amendment becomes necessary, in consequence of certain amendments having been made in the original Bill, such a case would be an exception. The original Bill might have been consistent, but when one part has been amended, a subsequent amendment might be necessary, and such amendment may be considered necessary even by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill. There have been cases like this in the Estates Partition Act when it was in Council last. I think there ought to be certain provisions for cases like these. I do not say what shape such provision should take—but there ought to be provisions, or else certain obvious amendments would be shut out."

THE HON'BLE MR. SLACKE said:—

"I am afraid the Hon'ble Member's proposal comes too late, and that I do not see any chance of its being realised, because, under sub-rule (4), the President will certainly give leave to bring forward any amendment of the nature which he refers to, which is a consequential amendment."

The PRESIDENT said:—

"I think I should ask the Council to consider whether they should not pass the proposed rules as they stand. I would point out, with reference to what the Hon'ble Rai Baikuntha Nath Sen Bahadur has advanced, that the matter of a Bill proceeding on consecutive days is a very serious difficulty which could not be met if the word 'first' were cut out, that is to say, if the Bill is to be before the Council for five or six days, and if this word 'first' were cut out, an amendment would be admissible on the last day which had been moved upon the first, and the Secretary would still be required to continue, while the Council is actually sitting, to examine and prepare the amendments for the consideration of the Council. However, the Hon'ble Member has been good enough to say that he will be prepared to leave the matter in the hands of Government. I will merely point out that there is nothing necessarily final about these rules, that they are subject to revision in the Council at any time, and that if they are not found to work well, further proposals to amend them can always be considered. In the meantime, as they have been carefully thought out, and, at any rate, as they supply a remedy for the immediate trouble from which we have been suffering lately, I think the Council should consider whether they ought not to be passed as they stand at present."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke moved that the second paragraph of rule 22 of the same rules be numbered as sub-rule (4), and that, for the first eleven words in that paragraph, the following be substituted, namely:—

If any Member does not send notice of amendments by the time specified in sub-rule (1) or (3), and desires.

He said:—

"This is consequential upon the one that has just been adopted by the Council."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke moved that, after sub-rule (4) of rule 22 of the same rules, the following be inserted, namely:—

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-rule (1), (3) or (4), the Member in charge of any Bill may at any time, with the permission of the President, give notice to the Secretary of any amendments to any Bill which are consequential upon—

(a) any amendments of which notice has been given under sub-rule (1) or (3), as the case may be, or

(b) any amendments which the President, under sub-rule (4), permits to be put without notice at any meeting of the Council.

He said:—

"The object of this new rule is to save the Government consequential amendments from the operations of rules 1, 3 and 4."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke moved that the third paragraph of rule 22 of the same rules be numbered as sub-rule (6).

He said:—"This is necessary in consequence of the insertion of the rule to which the Council has just consented."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke moved that for the second paragraph of rule 52 of the same rules, the following be substituted, namely :—

Application for order of admission is to be made through a Member, to the Secretary, at least two days before the meeting; and the order, if made, shall be sent to such Member.

He said :—

"The object of this is in order to bring the rules relating to our Council into line with the rules which govern the Imperial Council."

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE CHOTA NAGPUR ENCUMBERED ESTATES (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1911.

The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke moved that the Bill further to amend the Chota Nagpur Encumbered Estates Act, 1876, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Greer, the Hon'ble Mr. Chapman, the Hon'ble Mr. Norman McLeod, the Hon'ble Babu Bal Krishna Sahay, the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur and the Mover, with instructions to report within one month.

He said :—

"Sir, the Bill to amend the Chota Nagpur Encumbered Estates Act was introduced into Council on the 1st of April last and was then submitted to certain officials and non-official bodies for opinion. These opinions have been received, and it would appear from them that this Bill is a non-contentious measure.

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE BENGAL LOCAL GOVERNMENT BILL, 1911.

The Hon'ble Mr. Greer moved for leave to introduce a Bill to transfer certain functions of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

He said :—

"I have the honour, Sir, to ask the Council for permission to introduce the Bengal Local Government Bill of 1911. The object of this measure is fully set forth in the statement of Objects and Reasons accompanying the Bill. It is to make provision for the discharge of the functions of the Lieutenant-Governor by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, including the signing of papers and the validation of past proceedings. There is nothing contentious in the Bill which specially calls for the notice of the Council."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Greer introduced the Bill and moved that it be read in Council.

The motion was put and agreed to, and the Secretary accordingly read the title of the Bill.

The Hon'ble Mr. Greer moved that the Bill be taken into consideration by the Council at the next meeting.

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE ORISSA TENANCY BILL, 1911.

The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend and consolidate certain enactments relating to the law of Landlord and Tenant in the districts of Cuttack, Puri and Balasore, in the Orissa Division.

He said :—

"Sir, I rise to ask the permission of the Council to introduce the Orissa Tenancy Bill, 1911—a measure of considerable importance. In the Statement of Objects and Reasons, annexed to the Bill, will be found set out the facts which have led Government to cause this Bill to be prepared. Much thought and labour have been given to its preparation by the Hon'ble Mr. Maddox, and the advantage of consulting the opinions of those locally interested in the matter has been fully utilized. I shall assume that the Hon'ble Members have read the Statement of Objects and Reasons, and will therefore refrain from entering into the details which are therein set out, merely adding that later on it is proposed to introduce some sections dealing with communal lands."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke introduced the Bill and moved that it be read in Council.

The motion was put and agreed to, and the Secretary accordingly read the title of the Bill.

The President said :—

"Before adjourning Council I wish to mention that, in accordance with the rules which have just been passed, the period of notice for amendments in the case of the Calcutta Improvement Bill, which will be taken up at the next meeting of Council, will be 10 days. Of course a formal notice will be issued, and according to the rules which have been passed, if the period of notice of amendments is to be 10 days, the actual formal notice must be given 20 days beforehand. At present it is 24 days before the next meeting.

"I have to mention also that the portrait of Sir Edward Baker, which was subscribed for by Members of Council, and was painted by Mr. Onslow Ford, has been completed, and is hanging at the top of the staircase at the main entrance, where it may be inspected by Members who desire to see it."

The Council was then adjourned to Tuesday, the 15th August, 1911, at 11 A.M.

2. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

THUMB IMPRESSIONS OF PURDANASHIN LADIES IN REGISTRATION PROCEEDINGS.

The Hon'ble RAI BAIKUNTHA NATH SEN BAHADUR asked :—

I.—Will the Government be pleased to state the reasons for insisting upon thumb impressions of pardanashin ladies who can write and regarding whose identity there cannot possibly be any doubt or suspicion? [1]

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied :—

"The matter, which is raised by the Hon'ble Member, was considered in 1894 and again in 1895. It was decided in those years that the exemption which is allowed to male executants, regarding whose identification there can be no doubt or room for suspicion, even when not personally known to the Registering Officer, should not be allowed in the case of pardanashin ladies. The reasons which impressed the Government of that day were that the personation of pardanashin ladies was extremely easy, and that special safeguards were necessary to protect their interests. Thumb impressions provide a test of practically scientific certainty, and during the long period that the system has been worked, no complaints have been made against it. The present Government considers that the reasons which prevailed 16 years ago still persist, and that it is its duty to maintain the protection of this class of executants against false statements of identification, and forgery of signatures."

SURVEY AND SETTLEMENT OPERATIONS IN BIHAR.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SAIYID MUHAMMAD FAKHR-UD-DIN asked :—

II.—(a) Is the Government aware of the representation submitted by the Bihar Landholders' Association, Bankipore, on the 5th April, 1911, relating to the grievances of the people of Bihar against the survey and settlement operations in Bihar?

(b) Has the Government taken any steps to make any inquiry into the matter? If so, with what result?

(c) Does the Government intend to take any steps to redress the grievances?

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied :—

"(a) The answer to this question is in the affirmative.

(b) A report has been called for from the Director of Land Records and is awaited.

(c) Government cannot intimate what steps, if any, will be taken in the matter until it has received and considered the report of the Director of Land Records."

HOSTEL ACCOMMODATION IN THE PATNA COLLEGE.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SAIYID MUHAMMAD FAKHR UD-DIN asked :—

III.—(a) Is the Government aware that the present hostel accommodation within the Patna College is totally insufficient to accommodate all the intending boarders?

(b) Is the Government willing to extend the accommodation by the addition of new buildings?

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied :—

"(a) Government is aware that the recently constructed hostel for Hindu students at Patna College is full, and that there is a demand for further accommodation.

(b) Proposals are at present under consideration for the construction of an additional hostel to accommodate over 40 students."

[1] This is a supplementary question which was put by the Hon'ble Member at the meeting of Council held on the 22nd July, 1911. Notice of the question was required by the Member in charge, and the question was put again and answered on the 16th August.

NEW BUILDING FOR THE PATNA COLLEGIATE SCHOOL.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SAIYID MUHAMMAD FAKHR-UD-DIN asked :—

IV.—(a) Is the Government prepared to make a new suitable building for the Patna Collegiate School?

(b) If so, what site has been selected for the purpose, and when is the building likely to be constructed?

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied :—

"(a) Government is aware that the present quarters for the Patna Collegiate School are not altogether satisfactory. They are held on a short lease which expires next year. The arrangement is only temporary, and it is the intention, as soon as funds are available, to construct buildings for the school.

(b) The site to be selected has not yet been finally determined, nor can it be said at this stage when the building is likely to be constructed."

PATNA COLLEGE.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SAIYID MUHAMMAD FAKHR-UD-DIN asked :—

V.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to an article headed "Patna College" in the Beharee, issued from Bankipore on the 28th July, 1911?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state how far the statements contained in the said article are correct?

(c) If the statements are correct, will the Government be pleased to state the reasons for adopting such a course, and who is responsible for the same?

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied :—

(a) "The answer is in the affirmative.

(b) and (c) The Professor of History at Patna College started a private class in History Honours in July, 1910, without the knowledge or authority of the Principal. The matter was only brought to the notice of the Principal in April, 1911, and he then asked the Director of Public Instruction to submit an application for affiliation to the Syndicate. The Director of Public Instruction, however, in view of the fact that a similar application had been recently rejected by the Syndicate, and that in the meantime the staff had not been appreciably strengthened, was unwilling to submit the application."

CREATION OF A NEW GRADE OF MUNSHIS.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SAIYID MUHAMMAD FAKHR-UD-DIN asked :—

VI.—Will the Government be pleased to state if the creation of a new grade of Munshis, on a pay of Rs. 500 a month, is still under the consideration of the Government of India, or has the matter received any final and definite decision?

The Hon'ble MR. CHAPMAN replied :—

"The proposal to create a new grade of Munshis on Rs. 500 was negatived by the Government of India in 1909. Since then the Government of India have not been addressed again by this Government on the subject."

MAINTENANCE GRANT TO COLLEGES.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SAIYID MUHAMMAD FAKHR-UD-DIN asked :—

VII.—Will the Government be pleased to state the amount of the maintenance grant allowed to each of the colleges in this province in the current year, as also the contributions from private sources in each of them?

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied:—

"The amount of the maintenance grant has not yet been determined for all colleges. A statement which gives the information, as far as it is available, is laid on the table."

Statement referred to in the Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Cumming to Question No. VII asked by the Hon'ble Maulvi Saiyid Muhammad Fakhr-ud-din.

STATEMENT OF MAINTENANCE GRANTS TO COLLEGES, 1911-1912.

Name of College.	Annual grant.	RECEIPTS FROM PRIVATE SOURCES.
		Fees.	Other sources.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
St. Columba's College, Hazaribagh ...	12,000	2,660	1,808	4,188
Scottish Churches College, Calcutta ...	22,000	53,400	74,088	1,27,488
St. Xavier's College, Calcutta ...	5,400	15,240	5,664	20,904
Wesleyan Mission College, Bankura ...	8,600	6,960	6,568	12,528
Bihar National College, Bankipore ...	4,800	8,951	5,192	14,143
Daulatpur Hindu Academy ...	3,000	3,240	3,060	6,300
L. M. S. Institution, Bhowanipur ...	3,000	1,708	3,340	5,048

NOTE.—The maintenance grants for the current year have not yet been determined in the case of all the colleges concerned, notably the Bangabasi, the Midnapore and the Tirhut Colleges. But so far as they are available, figures are provided with regard to those grants which have been sanctioned. In certain cases the grants were determined prior to the current year and sanctioned for a period of years. The sums entered in respect of fees and other contributions from private sources are the actuals for the year preceding that in which the grant now current was sanctioned.

TROUBLE IN THE PATNA COLLEGE.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SAIYID MUHAMMAD FAKHR-UD-DIN asked:—

VIII.—(a) Is it a fact that the Principal of the Patna College ordered his students to work with the ordinary hired coolies in pulling the roller for levelling the play-ground?

(b) Is it a fact that one of the students has been rusticated for a month on account of his refusal to work with the coolies, and that others have been threatened with similar punishment?

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied:—

"(a) The answer is in the negative.

(b) The answer is in the negative."

PAYMENT OF LATRINE TAXES.

The Hon'ble BABU BRAJA KISHOR PRASAD asked:—

IX.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state if it is aware of the fact that, according to the provisions of the present Bengal Municipal Act (Ben. Act III of 1884), in many municipalities in the district of Bihar, latrine-rates are levied from many holdings which are merely huts having no latrines at all, the occupants of them being mostly poor people who cannot afford to have latrines in their houses?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state if it is aware of the fact that such levying of latrine-rates from such holdings works great hardship on the poor people?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state if it is aware that the local, official and non-official opinions, in the said municipalities, are against such levying of latrine-taxes?

(d) If the Government be not aware of the aforesaid facts, does it intend to make an inquiry into, and to call for the opinions of local authorities and Municipal Boards and other public bodies on, the subject?

(e) Will the Government be pleased to state if it intends to take any action in the matter and to amend the provisions of the Bengal Municipal Act (Ben. Act III of 1884) on the subject?

The Hon'ble Mr. WHEELER replied:—

"(a) Government is not in possession of any information as to the classes of holdings upon which rates under Part IX of the Municipal Act are levied in Bihar.

(b) A general inquiry was made in 1904 as to the sufficiency of the existing legal provisions permitting exemptions from this taxation, and some opinions were then expressed to the effect that they were inadequate.

(c) Government is not aware whether the general statement made is accurate or not.

(d) Government does not intend to make further inquiry.

(e) Proposals to amend the Municipal Act, so as to give power to exempt the very poor from taxation under Part IX, were submitted to the Government of India in 1905. They are pending the general amendment of the Act."

THE ELECTIVE PRINCIPLE IN THE CONSTITUTION OF LOCAL BOARDS.

The Hon'ble BABU BRAJA KISHOR PRASAD asked:—

X.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state what Associations or public bodies, or what persons, in the Tirhut Division, have been consulted by it on the subject of its inquiry as to whether the principle of election should be introduced in the constitution of Local Boards?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it intends to invite the opinions of other Associations and public bodies, and also of representatives of the people, besides the District Boards, on the subject of the said inquiry?

The Hon'ble Mr. WHEELER replied:—

"(a) The Commissioner of the division has been asked to report, in consultation with the district officers concerned and representatives of public opinion. The subject will also be discussed at the Commissioners' Conference at which non-official representatives are ordinarily present. The selection of the persons, to be consulted locally, rests with the Commissioner and district officers.

(b) Government has no intention of interfering with the discretion of the local officers as to the persons whom it may be suitable to consult."

ELEMENTARY EDUCATION BILL.

The Hon'ble BABU BRAJA KISHOR PRASAD asked:—

XI.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state what Associations or public bodies, if any, in the Tirhut Division have been asked by it to express their opinions on the Elementary Education Bill of the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale, which is pending in the Imperial Legislative Council?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state if it has called for the opinions of the Municipal and District Boards of the Tirhut Division on the said Bill?

(c) If not, will the Government be pleased to state its reasons?

The Hon'ble Mr. CUMMING replied:—

"(a) The Tirhut Landholders' Association has been invited to express its opinion on the Elementary Education Bill.

(b) and (c) The opinions of the Municipalities and District Boards of the Tirhut Division were not called for direct. It was recognized that the Commissioners of divisions, who were asked to report, would consult these bodies within their respective divisions. It is not usual for Government to consult the Chairmen of Municipalities or District Boards direct."

LOCATION OF AN ADDITIONAL JUDGE OR A SUBORDINATE JUDGE AT MOTIHARI.

The Hon'ble BABU BRAJA KISHOR PRASAD asked :—

XII.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state the respective numbers of civil suits, including miscellaneous cases of the value of above Rs. 1,000, and of suits of the value of above Rs. 100, which could be tried by a Court of Small Causes, and of civil appeals, arising from the district of Champaran, in each of the years from 1895 to 1910?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state the approximate average number of civil suits and civil appeals which a Subordinate Judge ordinarily tries during the course of a year?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state the circumstances and reasons that led it, in the year 1901, to locate the court of a Subordinate Judge at Motihari, in addition to the two courts of Munsifs which were already existent there?

(d) Will the Government be pleased to state the circumstances and reasons that led it, in the year 1903, to withdraw the said court of the Subordinate Judge from Motihari?

(e) Is the Government aware that, at Motihari, there is at present only one court, viz., a Munsif with the ordinary powers to try suits up to the value of Rs. 1,000 only which causes great inconvenience to the litigant public there?

(f) Will the Government be pleased to state if it has received a memorial or representation from the people of Champaran, praying for the location of the court of an Additional Judge, or a Subordinate Judge vested with the powers of an Assistant Sessions Judge, and also empowered to hear civil appeals, at Motihari?

(g) Will the Government be pleased to state what action, if any, it has taken on the said memorial?

The Hon'ble MR. CHAPMAN replied :—

(a) "The District Judge has been requested to supply the figures asked for. When received, they will be furnished to the Hon'ble Member.

(b) The average number of civil suits and civil appeals disposed of by a Subordinate Judge in 1909 were 316 and 170, respectively.

(c) & (d) In 1901, a Subordinate Judge was, on the recommendation of the High Court, deputed, as a tentative measure, from Chapra to Motihari. He was sent back to Chapra on administrative grounds in 1903, as the file of each of the two Subordinate Judges at the latter place was heavier than that of the Subordinate Judge at Motihari.

(e) Two Munsifs are ordinarily posted at Motihari. One is now on deputation to Sitamarhi. The Government is not aware that great inconvenience to the litigant public has resulted. An inquiry is being made from the District Judge.

(f) & (g) Yes; a memorial has been received and has been forwarded to the District Judge, Muzaffarpur, for a report."

ALLEGED EXTORTION OF CONFESSIONS BY THE POLICE.

The Hon'ble BABU BRAJA KISHOR PRASAD asked :—

XIII.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to an editorial paragraph appearing in the Baharee of the 9th June, 1911, under the heading "How the alleged confession was extorted"?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the confession of the accused in the Neora train-wrecking case was extorted by the police, and if so, whether the Beharee's account of the circumstances and the manner in which it was extorted is correct?

(c) Considering the serious nature of the case and the clear and definite allegations made in the said paragraph as to the manner in which the confession was extorted, will the Government be pleased to state whether they intend to make any inquiry into the matter?

The Hon'ble Mr. CUMMING, in the absence of the Hon'ble Mr. STEVENSON-MOORE, replied:—

(a) "The answer is in the affirmative.

(b) and (c) Proceedings against Abdul Majid being still sub judice, Government is not prepared to make any statement in the matter."

THE CHOTA NAGPUR ENCUMBERED ESTATES (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1911.

3. The Hon'ble Mr. SLACKS presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Chota Nagpur Encumbered Estates Act, 1876.

4. The Hon'ble Mr. SLACKS moved that the Report of the Select Committee be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

5. The Hon'ble Mr. SLACKS moved that the Bill be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE BENGAL LOCAL GOVERNMENT BILL, 1911.

6. The Hon'ble Mr. GREER moved that the Bill to transfer functions of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE BENGAL MINING SETTLEMENTS BILL, 1911.

7. The Hon'ble Mr. CUMMING moved for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the sanitation of mining settlements in Bengal.

He said:—

"Sir, I beg leave to introduce the Bengal Mining Settlements Bill. A few words of explanation are due to Hon'ble Members before the question is put. First of all, the existing facts regarding the coal-mining areas in Bengal have to be stated; next, the problem to be solved; and then, the solution which commends itself to the Bengal Government.

"The facts are that a large coal industry has come into being and has rapidly developed, and that great numbers of labourers have settled in a limited area, while at the same time no comprehensive effort has been made to ensure the sanitation of the area, either in the direction of conservancy or of water-supply or of vaccination. Within the compact Jharia field, in the north of the Manbhum district, there are 193 mines, employing nearly 60,000 workers, with an annual output of five and three-quarter million tons of coal; and the Ranigunge field has nearly 40,000 workers and raises over four million tons. Inquiries have been made from time to time by medical and sanitary officers of Government, and the paramount necessity of bringing the mining tracts within sanitary control has been urged both by these officers and by the Indian Mining Association. Outbreaks of plague, of cholera and small-pox have resulted in regrettable loss of life. This is bad for the people and bad for the industry. Amongst the owners of the coal mines there are some who, from enlightened self-interest, take measures for the sanitary protection of their own areas, but they have justification for the complaint that their neighbours do not take similar measures, and that there is no authority to compel them to do so. There is the further difficulty that there are some surface lands which are not under the control of coal-mine owners. Proposals to appoint union committees under the Local Self-Government Act, to extend the Municipal Act, and to proceed under the Epidemic Diseases Act have been made and have been examined; but all these expedients have been found impracticable. Besides, the Indian Mines Act gives no authority for dealing with surface sanitation in miners' villages; and an amendment of that Act was considered and rejected.

"What then is the problem? It is to devise a means of ensuring sanitation in the coal-fields of this province by the constitution of an authority which would have jurisdiction over land-owners as well as over coal-mine owners, which would take charge of the public health in all its aspects within these areas, and which would be able to meet the cost of its special services by means of a local levy from those who are directly interested. In other words, the problem is the creation of some central authority. It is a novel problem to some extent, and therefore its solution had to be found outside ordinary practice. As Bengal raised last year more than nine-tenths of the total output of coal for the whole of India, it is also a local problem.

"The Bengal Government have, in this matter, to express their indebtedness for the willing and helpful co-operation of the Indian Mining Association. The solution which the Bengal Government now put forward, with the approval of the Government of India, is that, for each mining district, a Mines Board of Health should be constituted, containing representatives of interests both above and below ground; that this Board should, after proper inquiry, select specific areas, to be called mining settlements, which require to be brought under sanitary control; that there should be a sanitary officer or officers under each Board, who would advise on the necessities of the place as regards water-supply, housing, conservancy and the prevention of epidemics; that the Board should have the power to direct owners of mines or of lands to carry into effect measures of which the Board approves, either of its own motion or after accepting suggestions from the sanitary officer; that, if any measure be not undertaken, the Board may, after a warning notice, itself undertake the work; and that the cost of the establishment and other expenses of the Board shall be charged to coal-mine owners and the receivers of royalties on coal in the same proportion in which they are liable under the Cess Act. These proposals have the merit of elasticity in view of the varying conditions of the area concerned, and also the merit of local control and of local assessment. I venture, Sir, to express a hope that if this Bill becomes law, the good example of enlightened owners will be contagious, and that, in the interests of the humble workers no less than in those of the coal-mining industry, preventable causes of disease may be removed, and the insanitary conditions which in the vicinity of some mines are a menace to public health may be a thing of the past.

"I now beg formally to move that leave be given for the introduction of the Bengal Mining Settlements Bill."

The motion was put and agreed to.

8. The Hon'ble Mr. Cumming introduced the Bill, and moved that it be read in Council.

The motion was put and agreed to, and the Secretary accordingly read the title of the Bill.

9. The Hon'ble Mr. Cumming moved that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee, consisting of the Hon'ble Rai Kiseri Lal Goswami Bahadur, the Hon'ble Mr. D. J. Macpherson, the Hon'ble Mr. Garrett, the Hon'ble

Mr. Norman McLeod, the Hon'ble Maharaja Manindra Chandra Nandi and the Mover, with instructions to report after one month.

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE CALCUTTA IMPROVEMENT BILL, 1911.

10. The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas moved that the Preliminary Report and the further Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the improvement and expansion of Calcutta be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 14 (2a) [now 9 (1)]<sup>[1]</sup> in the Schedule to the Bill.

The President said :—

"Gentlemen of the Council,—Before we proceed to the consideration of the clauses of the Bill, I wish to make a statement for the information of the Council, which, I think, it would be convenient for Members to have at this stage, although it will only be considered in Council towards the end of the debate. It is this: that having in view the great difference of opinion which exists with regard to the omission of the 15 per cent. additional compensation from the land acquisition clauses of the Bill, this Government thought it proper to consult the Government of India as to their attitude in respect of these clauses, and accordingly we very recently requested instructions from the Government of India as to whether the provisions of clause 14 (2a) [now 9 (1)] of the Schedule, referred to in clause 61 C(b) [now 71 (b)] of the main Bill, were to be taken as embodying fundamental matters of principle, any modifications of which could not be permitted without reconsideration of the measure of assistance which the Government of India were prepared to give to the Trust. The Government of India have, within the last day or two, replied that their answer was in the affirmative, that is to say, should this Council pass these clauses as proposed to be amended, i.e., if the 15 per cent. additional compensation be added, then the Government of India, in considering the assent to the Bill, will reconsider the question of financial assistance which they will give. I think it only right to inform those interested in the amendments at the earliest stage possible, in order that they may have time to consider this question."

11. The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas moved that the clauses of the Bill be considered in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 1 (3).

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

[<sup>1</sup>] 11A. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "which extends only to the Calcutta Municipality", in lines 2 and 3 of clause 1 (3), be omitted.

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—

"I ask Your Honour's leave to withdraw this amendment, and wish to add, by way of explanation, that I ask for this leave because this amendment is more or less verbal. Having regard to the very lengthy business before us, I do not propose to press for verbal amendments except where they appear to be very urgent and necessary. I wish to make this explanation, so that it may not be considered that we have tabled these amendments without due consideration. In framing these amendments and the others, we have tried to improve the Bill from all possible points of view, in the best of the light that is in us, and if they, the amendments, do not commend themselves to the official Member in charge of the Bill, in spite of our pointedly drawing attention in time, the responsibility of rejecting them will be his. We shall have done what we deem our duty under the circumstances, and the rest is in their hands. If the official Members do not see their way of accepting the amendments, which are matters of drafting more than anything else, but which are none the less necessary, it will not be worth while to take up the time of the Council in arguing them or pressing for them. For these reasons, I ask for leave to withdraw this amendment, as an earnest indication of the manner in which I shall deal with my amendments."

[<sup>2</sup>] From this point, the numbering of the entries in this list is irregular, the reason being that it was decided, for convenience of reference, to make no change that could be avoided in the numbering of the motions for the amendment of the Calcutta Improvement Bill as they appeared in the List of Business for the meetings of the 1st April, 1911, and following days.

12. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "within a distance of ten miles from Government House" be added at the end of clause 1 (3)

He said:—

"If we refer to clause 146 (now 148) of the Bill, which controls the procedure for this proposed extension, and if we read clause 145 (now 147) in conjunction with that clause, we find that, when any provision of this Act has been extended to any area under clause 1, sub-clause (3), the Local Government may, by notification published in the Calcutta Gazette, and in such other manner as it may consider necessary, extend, to such area, the whole of the Calcutta Municipal Act of 1899, if it thinks fit to do so, or any portion thereof, subject to such restrictions and modifications, if any, as may be specified in such notification. Clause 146 (now 148), no doubt, provides that, before finally publishing any notification under section 1, sub-section (3), or section 145, sub-section (1), [now 147(1)] the Local Government shall publish a draft of the same in the Calcutta Gazette, and it is obliging enough to enact that any ratepayer or inhabitant of the area affected by such draft, if he objects to it, may submit his objection, in writing, to the Local Government within six weeks from its publication. The Local Government is next enjoined to take such objection into consideration. Since the amalgamation of the suburbs with Calcutta proper under the Municipal Act, previous to the one now in force, such a large, comprehensive, and I was going to add, encyclopædic question has not come before the Legislature, and certainly not in this incidental way. Hon'ble Members will remember what strenuous opposition was offered to the amalgamation at that time. I do not mean to say that the whole of that objection was well founded, and that the amalgamation has not partially justified itself, or that further amalgamation will not be necessary or desirable. But the amalgamation I refer to was resolved on after due consultation of public opinion and detailed and prolonged consideration in Council. But we are, under the new order of things, not to have any of the hitherto existing safeguards, such as they are, and the most extensive and widespread amalgamation would be possible on mere executive action, without any consideration of principles or details in Council. So far as public opinion, expressed on the publication of a draft notification by the Government, is concerned, that is no doubt provided for here for what it is worth. But it can hardly be worth much if all that can be done or said in Council fails.

"In view of the necessities of the situation, I concede that it may be necessary that some such power should be taken, and I have accordingly indicated, in my amendment, due recognition of the necessity which some feel for such a power. I feel, however, at the same time, and feel strongly, that there ought to be, and must be, some limit with regard to a serious and important matter like this, and although it may be an exaggeration to believe that, by virtue of this clause, if it chooses so to exercise its power, the Government may, by mere notification, include within the purview of this Act a considerable outside area stretching away miles and miles from the metropolis. Though this may be an exaggerated state of things, its likelihood in a modified but no less objectionable form cannot be altogether ignored as an arrant impossibility. As the outside areas grow in importance, value and population by reason of the operation of the Improvement Act, there would be a decided object in extending the area, and such extension at each important step ought to be carefully and judiciously considered by the Legislature on due consultation of public opinion."

"The Calcutta Municipality is interested in seeing, according to the opinions that have been collected together in this admirable précis of opinions, which the Legislative Department has prepared for our use, that when it has been recommended that the amalgamation—as I shall call it for present purpose—does take place, the outside municipalities concerned should be called upon to make equitable contribution towards the finances of the Trust. That is not only the observation of the acting Chairman of the Calcutta Municipality but also of the Special Committee of the Corporation, which says that, if the Act were extended outside Calcutta, the outside municipalities should bear a portion of the cost. This view may be quite sound, but the outside municipalities would have their views as well, which would have to be consulted and respected. Objection to this view was forcibly expressed by one of the speakers at the Town Hall meeting the other day, which resulted in the memorial that has been presented to the Government and which was circulated amongst the Members of this Council last night. Babu Jogendra Chandra Mukherjee, a distinguished Vakil and a late Member of this Council, who has been intimately associated with some of the outside municipalities, said as follows:—

'Under clause 56A (now clause 56) the Board can prepare schemes and plans relating to such outside areas and the Select Committee have worked out details in several other parts of the Bill contemplating the application of the proposed Act to those areas. But reading through the list of public bodies which have addressed Government on the subject, and whose criticisms have been taken into consideration by the Select Committee, I have not come across any reference to any communication whatever from any of the municipalities in the neighbourhood of Calcutta which will most certainly be affected by the provisions of the proposed Act. The only provision so far as I can see in the Bill which admits of an expression of opinion on the part of municipalities on the outskirts of Calcutta, or on the part of rate-payers living in those areas, is that they will get a notice before the actual extension of the Act itself in its entirety or of any portion thereof takes place with reference to those areas calling upon them to show cause why the provisions of the Act should not be extended to them. Now I ask you in all seriousness is this enough? Will the outside municipalities concerned get any opportunity of pointing out any defect in the provisions of the Act itself? Further if the area itself be not included in Calcutta by another provision which is contained in the proposed Act, you will have this curious position that large areas outside the town may be brought under the operation of this Act without there being any representatives at all from those areas on the Board constituted as a permanent body under the Act. There may be temporary members of the Board from such areas, but they will have place on the Board merely for a temporary purpose and for a short period only although the interference with the municipal administration of those areas will be of a more permanent and abiding character.

'I think, gentlemen, I am fairly entitled to presume that none of the municipalities, such as Howrah, Cossipore-Chitpur, Manicktala, Garden Reach, Tollygunge, etc., have been consulted as regards this Bill as they should have been, regard being had to the fact that the proposed Act will materially affect the areas under their charge.

"As matters now stand, Sir, if land outside the Calcutta area were to be acquired before any portion of non-Calcutta areas were amalgamated and the provisions of this Act were extended to them, the owners of these lands would be entitled to certain indulgences and concessions with regard to extra compensation, which, for the moment, is denied to the Calcutta land-owners. They would be denied that right,—at least they ought to be, as I am inclined to read the clause in question,—the moment any amalgamation takes place. That is one of the striking results of these features of the extension, which should be taken into consideration. There may or may not be good reasons why, for the present, that drastic clause about non-payment of extra compensation is not being applied to non-Calcutta lands,—if I may so call them for the sake of convenience and brevity,—but the fact of the extension of the non-Calcutta provisions may withdraw that indulgence from non-Calcutta lands and would make distant municipalities liable for the contribution for which the Calcutta Corporation and their sub-committee press, probably with justice. These are some of the considerations that strike us, Sir, in considering the clause as it stands at present, and it has been thought, by those who agree with me with regard to the framing of this amendment that there ought to be some limit about the extension that may be insisted on under this section when passed. The notes of Objects and Reasons on the clause point out that, for the present, the provisions of the Bill will extend only to the limits of the Calcutta Municipality, but portions of it [clauses 72, 73 (now clauses 83, 84) and 75 (now omitted)] will have effect in wider areas already determined, and portions will be applied in areas in the proximity of 'municipal Calcutta,' which will be determined in the future. But the principal provisions of the Bill, which have a much more serious aspect than these comparatively innocent clauses, will be capable of extension over an indefinite area any time and on any reasons that appeal to Government. If some such restriction as I advocate is not placed in the Statute, the position will be intolerable, and inordinate powers will be placed in their hands without any safeguards, no case for which has been foreshadowed in the Objects and Reasons or any of the speeches that we have heard in Council or any official papers that have been published. For this reason, I ask that this restriction of ten-mile limit be added to this clause, which would be amply sufficient for all reasonable present purposes and purposes of the immediate and near future."

The Hon'ble Mr. SLACKER said :—

"Sir,—I am sorry I am unable to advise the Council to accept the Hon'ble Member's amendment, because it seems to me inopportune to place any arbitrary limit upon the Board, as we cannot at this stage foresee the scope of the operations of the Board."

The motion was then put and lost.

13. Motion No. 12 being lost, the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "within a distance of fifteen miles from Government House" be added at the end of clause 1 (3).

He said :—

"The next amendment is more liberal than the previous one, and this, at all events, ought to meet all possible requirements. It seeks to place a limit of 15 miles from Government House. I am afraid the expression of opinion from the Hon'ble Vice-President of the Council, that fell in connection with the ten-mile limit, will be taken to have application to this amendment also, though it has a much larger scope. I do not wish to cover the same ground that has been covered in connection with the earlier amendment, for that would be needless waste of the time of the Council. Fifteen miles from Government House, either way, would be very respectable dimensions for any Trust to deal with and an indefinite expansion ought on no account to be contemplated or countenanced. There is an additional observation that strikes me, which I should like to place before this Council, in connection with the larger area. Having regard to the statement which you, Sir, made this morning, the question of financial responsibility ought to be one of great and anxious consideration to this Council, and it should be careful as to how it countenances indefinite expansion. The financial figures have been worked out on certain basis, principally confined to Calcutta as it now stands. This larger responsibility would make the situation still more indefinite, and probably risky and unworkable, if no territorial limit at all is insisted. For that reason, I think it is my duty to press this amendment with a decidedly larger limit than ten-mile, as that limit does not commend itself to the Council."

The Hon'ble Mr. SLACKER said :—

"I will ask the Council, Sir, not to accept the amendment for the same reasons which I gave in the case of the previous amendment. In my opinion, it is absolutely unnecessary at present to impose any arbitrary limit upon the actions of the Trustees."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 3.

17. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "until dissolution as hereinafter provided" be inserted after the words "perpetual succession", in line 5 of clause 3.

He said :—

"I beg to draw the attention of the Council to clause 195 (now 177) of the Bill, which says that, when all schemes sanctioned under this Act have been executed or have been so far executed as to render the continued existence of the Board, in the opinion of the Local Government, unnecessary, the Board shall be dissolved from such date as may be specified. Having regard to these words, it strikes me that some qualifying words, like those I have proposed in my amendment, ought to be introduced after the words 'perpetual succession'. As far as I have been able to find out, there is no express provision for dissolution in the Bombay Act, from which the present words have been borrowed. No doubt it is an essential feature of all Corporations sole that that they should have what is called, in law, perpetual succession; but when a limitation, like that contemplated in clause 195 (now 177), has been deliberately provided for, a corresponding limitation seems to be necessary in giving the Corporation limited succession of the kind that is indicated in my amendment of clause 3. To provide for cases like these, what has been called 'continuous identity' has been recommended by Lord Halsbury in his Laws of England; that does away with the idea of perpetual succession, strictly speaking. It ought to be possible, therefore, and I think it is necessary, to provide for these restricting words that I seek to introduce; for the Corporation, which this Bill seeks to create, is one of limited duration, however indefinite, and cannot be said to have perpetual succession in its strict and unlimited sense, though it certainly has and ought to have what Lord Halsbury aptly calls 'continued identity'. For these reasons I recommend the addition of the restricting words after the words 'perpetual succession', for it ought not to be left to the tender mercies of future generations of lawyers as to what, according to the then obtaining rules of interpretation of statutes, 'perpetual succession' will mean, in spite of section 195 (now 177) which makes the dissolution of the Trust dependent upon the will of the Government of the day. The risk I wish to avoid is neither fanciful nor imaginary."

The Hon'ble Mr. SLACKE said :—

"I would ask the Council, Sir, to allow the clause, as drafted, to remain as it is, because, in the opinion of the Legal Adviser to the Government, the Hon'ble Member's amendment is a purely verbal one and does not make any improvement whatever in the clause as drafted."

The motion was then put and lost.

18. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that the word "shall" be substituted for the word "may", in line 5 of clause 3.

He said :—

"Sir,—I beg to move that the word 'shall' be substituted for the word 'may', in line 5 of clause 3. This is a formal amendment. The section of the Bill runs thus—

'and such Board shall be a body corporate and have perpetual succession and a common seal, and may by the said name sue and be sued.'

"In the same section the word 'shall' and the word 'may' have been used in two places, conveying the same meaning. Though 'may' sometimes is used in the mandatory sense, the use of the word 'shall' in the earlier part of this very section may lead to a legitimate interpretation that the word 'may' in this section has been purposely used in a permissive, and not obligatory, sense. As it is worded, therefore, it would be optional with any one to sue the Board in any name he may choose, whereas the obvious intention is that they must be sued in that name. I submit that the wording of the Bombay Act, in which the word 'shall' has been used in both the places, may be accepted."

The Hon'ble Mr. SLACKE said :—

"I would ask the Council, Sir, to accept the Hon'ble Member's amendment, because it is really not a matter for discussion. We have 'shall' in the Bombay Act, and I think we may as well have 'shall' in this Bill also."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

Clause 4.

19. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu moved that the word "thirteen" be substituted for the word "eleven" in line 1 of clause 4.

He said :—

"Before I go into my amendment, of which I have given notice Your Honour will allow me to express to Your Honour's Government the deep sense of my personal obligation for having kindly consented to let the consideration of the Bill to stand over for a few weeks. I am deeply grateful for this indulgence, and I express not only my own feeling, but also that of my friend the Hon'ble Mr. Golam Hossein Casim Ariff who also was away from India for a short while. It is, however, Sir, a matter of some concern to us to find that the time which has been fixed for the consideration of the Bill is rather inopportune for as Your Honour observes many of our non-official members who have not got the same pressure upon them as others may have, have been unable to be present on this occasion, and for one of us the temptations for a pageant at Dacca have been too strong to induce him to stay here to do his duty, and as for the others the coming ceremony of Janmustami has had something to do with their attendance on this occasion. In rising to move our amendments, I cannot escape the feeling that we are considerably handicapped on this occasion, for even if all of us who are present here to-day voted on our side on any particular amendment, there is little hope of such amendment being carried. We are in the position of leading a forlorn hope, but Your Honour and my colleagues will pardon us if we think it our duty to place before this Council our views on what we consider the essential features of the Bill. I am sure Your Honour knows that we, non-official members, are as anxious as our official colleagues that there should be some measure enabling some body to be constituted under the Act to carry out large schemes of improvement of the city of Calcutta. In that our position is identical with that of Government and the public of Calcutta have been anxiously awaiting for many years since it was suggested when first plague broke out, the advent of a comprehensive Improvement scheme. It is not a measure that we oppose, but we only wish to place before Your Honour's Government our view that in the details of that measure there is reasonable scope for difference of opinion, and that it will be better and safer if the measure is carried out with the co-operation of the people concerned. The Local Government Board in England in one of its recent circulars dated 3rd May, 1910, lays great emphasis on this principle of co-operation.

"In the Circular letter which they addressed to town councils and urban and rural district councils on the 31st December, 1909, the Board drew attention to the importance of co-operation on the part of the local authority with the owners and other persons interested in the law proposed to be included in a town planning scheme. The Board desire again to emphasise this point.

"Sir, our grievances have all along been that in seeking to attain an ideal efficiency, the Government of my country is sometimes apt to overlook the environments amidst which it is placed, and it is sometimes, I regret to say more often than otherwise, apt to go forward without taking along with them the people in whose interests it legislates. I would therefore respectfully appeal to my colleagues, official and non-official, that even if they find that their ideal may not at once be attained if they conceded to some extent to popular demands and popular requirements, but if they find that we are making a fair way towards the attainment of that ideal, I ask them to consider whether some concession to popular wishes should not be made. With these few words I come to the specific amendment which is now before us. We have in the Select Committee made a specific advance from the principle originally proposed which, I believe, was from 7 to 11, but there was one consideration which our official friends placed before the Select Committee, and which has to a great extent marred the beneficial effect of that increase, viz., if there was to be an increase of four, the Government which had already a majority should also have a corresponding increase, and that increase of four was split into two parts, two seats being given to Government and two being given to the non-official or the non-Government element in the composition of the Trust. Well, Sir, I for one do not appreciate the view of Government that in all local matters there should be a directly preponderating voice of Government. In the control of the body which is charged with such matters, I do not certainly appreciate the view that our people should always be treated as children who have yet to learn work. As soon as we succeeded in the Select Committee in increasing the number to four, the benefit of that enhancement was greatly reduced by the attitude of the official members in claiming and securing two of the four for themselves. Well whatever may be the attitude that is a fact which we cannot get over, but I think I am entitled to say that the number that we have now got, namely, three out of eleven is not sufficient for the purposes of proper administration of the body which is going to be created and the proper consideration of the various matters with which it will be entrusted. If we are following the Bombay Act, let us follow it as it is. It was said on a recent occasion when the Bombay Police Act was taken as the model upon which the Calcutta Police Act was framed, that we have got a Bombay Act which is working well. Why should we not have in Calcutta a similar Act on the same lines. Well, Sir, if we are to be governed in India as I suppose we must be, by the argument of analogy let us have the argument pushed to its legitimate issues. If Bombay has got 14 members, Calcutta certainly with a bigger population and more varied interests and a larger superficial area is certainly entitled to 14. I know, Sir, that an eminent Viceroy on one occasion said that if the affairs of Calcutta were entrusted to a single individual, things should go on much better, and Calcutta would soon assume a different and improved aspect. That single individual was as my hon'ble friend to my right reminds me being the Viceroy himself. I have no doubt that many masterful spirits on the Civil Service also harbour a similar feeling. I am speaking in the presence of the Chairman of the Calcutta Corporation, for whom we all entertain the highest respect. I am quite sure he feels that if he had got control over the Rs. 75 lakhs a year unhampered by the discussion of troublesome colleagues, he would be able to do a great deal more than has been done. Well that may be a correct feeling, and though it may be considered that despotism or absolutism in some respect may be good, we under the British Government have been accustomed to deal with public bodies concerned when dealing with great public questions. Well if that is to be admitted, then I certainly think that the number 11 is far too small for a body that is going to be formed for the disposal of such large sums of money as are likely to come into its hands and the consideration of questions which will greatly affect a very large class of people for the present and for a long time to come, and it is necessary in your own interest that in that body all conflicting opinions should be well represented. At present I submit that that representation does not obtain and why, if we are at all to follow the model of Bombay why should we in this very important particular deviate from that model? There has been no suggestion in the Statement of Objects and Reasons, no justification put forward in the discussions which took place in the Select Committee for limiting the number to 11. I therefore appeal to Your Honour and to my official colleagues with some confidence that in order to associate with yourselves representatives of all the different interests in Calcutta and its immediate vicinity it is not only desirable but necessary and more than necessary and more than desirable I say it is just and fair that this body should at least be composed of 13 members."

Gen. Act III of

The Hon'ble RAI SITA NATH RAY BHADUR said:—

"I beg to say, Sir, that my amendment is also to the same effect as moved by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu. But before speaking on the amendment, I beg to say that a cry has been raised in some quarters that the Indian members of this Council are opposed to this measure. I beg to repudiate this allegation emphatically. Living as we do in the midst of congested and most insanitary and unhealthy areas which are the nurseries of all epidemic diseases, it is our earnest desire that prompt measures should be taken to remove all the insanitary areas, to remove congestion, and to provide streets and wide roads in the northern portion of the town. We are not opposed to the principles of the Bill, but we are opposed to some of the drastic provisions of the Bill,—the provisions which seek to restrict our right of appeal to the High Court, the provisions which seek to reduce the amount of compensation, the provisions which would deprive us of the statutory allowance of 15 per cent.—these are the provisions which we are opposed to. I beg to assure Your Honour and the Council that we are not at all opposed to the principles of the Bill. We will hail the Bill with delight provided some modifications are made in the existing provisions.

“I thankfully admit that the Select Committee have been good enough at our instance to raise the number of Trustees from seven to eleven; but I cannot comprehend why our Board should be less comprehensive, should be less representative than that of Bombay which consists of fourteen members. Considering the vastness of interests at stake, the colossal amount of money involved and the magnitude of the task, it is of the utmost importance that the Board should be thoroughly representative and sufficiently comprehensive. The apprehension of the Hon’ble mover of the Bill that the formation of a comprehensive Board here would lead to the disclosure of their schemes and the consequent speculations is, I venture to assert, as unfounded as it is unreasonable. It is by implication a reflection on the representative men of Calcutta that a sufficient number of reliable men amongst them cannot be found here to constitute a Board as comprehensive as that of Bombay.”

The Hon’ble Mr. BOMPAS said :—

“Sir, I regret that the mover of this amendment finds that this is not an opportune time for the consideration of this Bill. He appears to be somewhat hard to please. The month of April was originally fixed for the consideration of the Bill and the debate was then adjourned to August to suit his convenience, and still he finds the moment inopportune. Certainly there was no sinister motive in fixing on this date, and I for my part feel no satisfaction in hearing from the Hon’ble Member that some of the non-official members are not present. On the contrary I wish that more non-official members were present, for I have every confidence that I can persuade some of them to oppose this amendment. There are several amendments to this clause 4 proposing to raise the number of members of the Trust, and I will not ask the members of this Council to listen to a somewhat barren discussion of the abstract question whether 11 or 13 is the proper number for a body of this kind. The amendments proposed by the Hon’ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu and the Hon’ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur are followed by consequential amendments, which state what interest these additional members are to represent, and what their qualifications are to be. In considering whether it is desirable to raise the number of members of the Trust from 11 to 13, it is impossible to do so satisfactorily without also considering what is the object to be attained in doing so as revealed by the subsequent and consequential amendments. There have been, in the course of the years that have passed since this Bill was brought under consideration, various opinions as to the number of members that should constitute the Trust. When the Bill was submitted to this Council it was intended that the Board shall consist of the Chairman of the Corporation, two Government nominees and three members selected—two by the Corporation and one by the Chamber of Commerce.

“In 1904, as members of this Council are aware, a Committee sat to consider the provisions of the draft Bill. That Committee was strongly in favour of a small executive body of six members, which would act secretly and act vigorously. It was also proposed that that body should be entirely composed of nominated members. The late Babu Nalin Behari Sarkar was strongly opposed to the elective system. The Chamber of Commerce was also in favour of six members. When the proposal was submitted to the Government of India and to the Secretary of State, they agreed that a body of six would be most effective. These opinions must carry some weight with every thinking man. A good deal can be said in favour of a small executive body. The Chamber of Commerce still adheres to the opinion that the smaller number is preferable. There were, however, several opinions, received from public bodies, in favour of a larger body, and it was recognised that the Corporation of Calcutta which would make substantial contributions to the funds of the Trust and upon which will devolve the assets and liabilities of the Trust, should have a substantial voice in the administration of the Trust. To give the Corporation such a representation and to add one or two other elected members necessitated the raising of the number of members above six. But I do not suggest that the Trust, as constituted, is intended to be representative of all the classes and all the interests in Calcutta, and what is more, I will ask this Council to hold that a body of thirteen must be as inadequate to do that as a body of eleven.

"This Trust will have very large funds to administer. The Government is taking from the general tax-payers considerable annual sums as well as large lump grants, and the Government in doing so—as every Government must—is bound to see the money put into the hands of a body for whose administration it will be to a large extent responsible. That would certainly be the course that would be adopted in England. I do not know of any case in England in which public money raised from general taxation for a public improvement is entrusted to anybody but a body nominated by Government. Take the case of the Congested Districts Board in Ireland. It might have been thought that in a country like Ireland where class feeling runs so high, provision would have been made to represent different classes and conflicting interests—landlords and tenants, Catholics and Protestants. But this has not been done and was never suggested. In 1891, when the Congested Districts Board was first created, it consisted of two ex-officio members and five members appointed by the Crown. In 1909, it was reconstituted, and now consists of three ex-officio members, nine unpaid members appointed by the Crown for five years and two paid members on £2,000 a year each holding office during pleasure. In 1909, the Parliament allotted funds for the purpose of promoting industrial and agricultural development and also for the construction of main roads. Two Boards were constituted to carry out these operations and to these the funds were entrusted. These Boards were not representative. There are eight Development Commissioners appointed by the Crown for a period of ten years, while the Road Board consists entirely of persons appointed by the Treasury. These are illustrations of the working of the principle which I submit to this Council, to wit: that if Government takes money from the general tax payer it owes it to him to keep control over the agents who will spend the money and cannot divest itself of that responsibility.

"I do not regret the addition to the Board of some elected members. I look upon those members mainly as a guarantee to the public that the Board which will spend their money will not be actuated by motives which would not bear the light of the day. These elected members representing the public will see that nothing is done contrary to the public interest, and that the public money should be spent in such a way as will bear scrutiny. The particular amendment moved by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu aims at raising the number of Trustees to thirteen, and the Hon'ble Member, as his subsequent amendment shows, desires that these two additional members, should represent the landholding classes of Calcutta. There are some more similar amendments. But this amendment is the first step in the move to add two representatives of the landholding classes to this Trust. Now the land-owning classes of Calcutta are vitally interested in this Bill. That is to say, they are a class that will be vitally affected by the operations of this Bill. But it does not follow that a person who is greatly interested in the decision of any matter should necessarily have a prevailing voice in deciding it. No one is so interested in the result of a criminal trial as the accused in the dock. But that is no reason why he should be allowed to decide as to his own guilt. There are interests which disqualify as well as interests which qualify. There are other classes which are as much interested as owners of property in the operations which it is proposed to undertake on the basis of this Bill. There is the enormous mass of labour which is attracted to Calcutta and which now suffers seriously in health by having to reside in congested and over-populated quarters of the town owing generally to the lack of proper means of communication, and to the insanitary lines of which much of the town has been built. The claims of this class among others to consideration are as great as those of the property owners. A sum of fifty lakhs of rupees has been given to Bombay by the Government of India, and none of us grudges it being given to that city, although the sum was taken from the general revenue. But after all the population of Bombay or the population of Calcutta is less than a million. Many districts of Bengal have a population of double that number. But we know that there is no chance of a grant of a hundred lakhs being made, say, to the district of Burdwan, the population of which may be two millions. The resources of Government cannot possibly extend so far. But this fact must necessarily make those who live outside Calcutta and Bombay watch with a jealous eye the manner in which these large grants are spent. When we saw the allotment of this sum to Bombay, I for one did not feel the desire that it should be handed over to a committee of landowners to divide according to their mutual satisfaction. What I, and, I think, most of us, felt at once was that it was the duty of the Government of India to see that this large grant was spent with the utmost economy and the utmost efficiency. I submit that this scheme is not a matter of local interest only. The people of Calcutta will only provide three-eighths of the money to be spent, and those living outside Calcutta will provide five-eighths of the cost of the works that will be undertaken by the Trust, and they will have a preponderating interest in the administration. And I submit that it is the duty of the Government to protect their interests. It is the duty of the Government to see that the money shall be spent by an impartial body and a body free from the suspicion that must attach to a body composed mainly of those who have vested interests in existing conditions in Calcutta. With these words I would ask the Council to reject this amendment."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—

"Well, Sir, I am obliged to my friend the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas for a very frank statement of his views. I have nothing to complain of. But when I stated that the sitting of this important session of this Council had by some coincidence been fixed at a time when some of the hon'ble members were unable to attend, I did not for a moment suggest or intend to suggest, and if there is any suggestion like that I expressly withdraw it, that there was any sinister motive which actuated the Government in fixing that time. There was no such thought passing through my mind. Why is it and how is it that that thought comes to my friend's mind? Did he at all by some psychological process think that things might be so taken as to give it an aspect which he was so anxious to combat? There was no evil in my mind, nor any suggestion of evil. My hon'ble friend says that the original idea was to entrust the working of this Trust to a body who would act secretly and vigorously. I will remind my friend from the history of his own country that the Star Chamber was a secret and vigorous body, but it had to go its way; and so many other secret and vigorous bodies like the cabinets of Louis XIV and Louis XVI. It is well known that secrecy in the matter of public work has ceased to be a doctrine and is no longer believed by any man or body in matters of administration concerning large masses of people. Secrecy may be very good in the Turkish and Russian Empires, but in no department, I hope, of the British Empire, and in the present framing of the Bill carrying on the proceedings of the Board in secrecy has been given up. There is to be the full light of day, and I may remind my friend that instances in the history of the world are not rare where bodies created by Government have misapplied the money that has been entrusted to them from time to time, and that it is only by the appointment of private individuals that misapplication of public funds has been put a stop to. But apart from that, Sir, my hon'ble friend has again made this astounding declaration that in England public funds are not entrusted to representative bodies for distribution but to secret or private Boards. It is a news to me, Sir. Does my hon'ble friend know what enormous sums the London County Council has spent for the improvement of London?"

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said:—

"I am afraid the hon'ble member has misunderstood me. What I said was that money given by Government from the national exchequer for a certain purpose is invariably spent under the control of the Government.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—

"I accept my friend's explanation, but if he had only considered the situation in Ireland, where there were varied interests which could only be safeguarded by third persons, he would see that that example would not apply to the state of things in Calcutta. My friend has admitted that the presence of outsiders on the Board is after all to some extent desirable, and I am grateful to him for that admission. I do not wish that outsiders should be there to fatten their own interests, and I suppose that it is not the wish of any body here that different elements should be introduced into the composition of this Trust for the benefit of any particular interest. My object—if I had not been able to make it clear—is this: that all interests affected should be considered, not that those interested should have predominance; but if any class of people—be they the offending landlords of Calcutta or otherwise—are injuriously affected, they should have a hearing. That their case should be properly considered, I suppose, is a proposition which will commend itself to my hon'ble friend, who has exercised judicial functions for many years, and I am sure he will assent that persons whose interests are being affected should be given a fair hearing. In that view, I had suggested that the numbers should be increased. My hon'ble friend has gone further and attacked me, if I may say without disrespect, from behind. Well, Sir, the landlords, whether in Calcutta or outside Calcutta, seem to be a veritable bugbear to the official mind. They may have their fault; who of us, human as we are, are without our faults. Even the mighty members of the Civil Service will admit that they have had their faults in the past at least. But I say this that it is a mistake to suppose that the landlords' interests are such that they should be brushed aside, that they should have no voice in the Board which is going to adopt measures which will largely affect them, and in using the word "landlord" I take care to state what I mean. I do not mean to refer to the great territorial landlords in Europe who have usurped large parts of the city and who have built tenement residences for the poor and for the occupiers. It is not they who are in my mind, for, if any such class does exist in Calcutta, they are powerful enough and wealthy enough to protect their own interests. But I refer, Sir, to quite another class of landlords, just as in the Punjab the cultivators are called the zamindars because they own the land which they cultivate in some sense. So in Calcutta the occupiers of those dwellings that you see on the north of Bowbazar Street are the landlords of Calcutta who will be very seriously affected. It is difficult for Englishmen, brought up under a different state of things altogether and in a place where large tracts of land are held by individuals and where they make their own terms, to realise the real state of things which obtains in an oriental city like Calcutta which has grown under its present conditions for the last century, and I shall come to that point later on when we consider the question of additional compensation to be awarded to those who will be displaced by reason of the carrying out of these improvements. But if the wealthier landlords do not appeal to you, I say at once that I do not represent them in this Council. They are men who are able and worthy enough to protect their own interests, and some of them are in this Council. I represent the middle classes, the middle class householders, who have occupied ancestral houses in Calcutta ever since the days of British rule in India, ever since the time of Clive and Hastings, and is considering this Act from the very beginning to end. I am concerned with the question as to how the rights of these people are to be dealt with; as to how large masses of them are to be removed from one place to another, as to how they are to be treated in connection with improvements which are to be carried out. It is because these matters have to be considered that I think the representative of this class ought to be in your Board to place their voice before the Board. It will do you no harm; it will not weaken your composition, for under the constitution as it is Government has got (a), Government has got (b), Government has got (c), and all four of (d), so that it has got seven out of a body composed of 11 members. Then the Government has got in the representative of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce a gentleman who is always animated by European ideals and inspired by things which he sees in his own country, and who in a measure in the carrying out of large improvements will support Government in their laudable desire to effect improvements, and I am quite sure also that the middle class people will desire to associate themselves with you. They will only seek to do so, in order to prevent you from falling into a great error, to prevent you from ignoring their legitimate grievances, to prevent you from undertaking operations which may lead to disaster, and to prevent you from accentuating the discontent which a measure like this, if carried without due consideration, is bound to foment. Will you say that you will disregard all these? 'We shall go on in our way, discontent or no, misery or no, because we think that this should be done for your protection, for the greater efficiency of the improvements which we will undertake.' Does my friend say—would he venture to say: 'You landlords will have no representatives in this body, although you represent  $\frac{1}{3}$ ths of the population, although you contribute towards the cost of this improvement scheme, and I shall do what is good for you.' But what of those whose houses will be taken without the payment of the 15 per cent. compensation because it is in insanitary neighbourhood, because it is occupied under circumstances for which it ought not to receive the full value for which it ought to be sold in the open market? What of those upon whom you will levy an enormous amount of burden for the privilege of retailing a portion of land about which when the matter comes on for consideration I will place the experience of England about the recoupmnt and the betterment processes? Do they not by the process of recoupmnt contribute towards the capital cost of the schemes that are going to be carried out? And what of that powerful body, the Corporation of Calcutta, which has got the ultimate responsibility, the entire financial responsibility of this Trust? Where in this body is the representative of this class of householders?

"First of all you have got a Government President; secondly you have the Chairman of the Corporation, a Government official and three other members of the Corporation. You will at once tell me 'Here I make a present of three to you,' but how three? I am tendering you this challenge. Let us consider who these three are. One of these will be elected by the 25 elected Commissioners. These elected members are again elected not only by the landholders or the residential owners of Calcutta, but by the occupiers also. So they are not in any true sense the representatives of the householders of Calcutta, that is the man who is to be elected by the 25 Commissioners. These 25 Commissioners are returned by the owners—by the property holders as well as by the tenants. You cannot, therefore, say that this is the man who represents the landlords of Calcutta. The other man is elected by whom—by the other 25 Commissioners—and who are these 25 Commissioners—15 Government nominees, of whom I believe twelve are Government officials, 4 representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, 4 of the Calcutta Trades Associations and 2 of the Port Trust. Of these 25, who do you say would represent the landholding classes? They come to the whole body of 50. There again you have got a composite mixture of opposites, by what chemical process will you extract as representative of the landholding classes of Calcutta from this body. You have given a representation to the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce because they are interested in the jute industry. Are the house-holders not interested? Are they not interested at the present moment and are they not interested in the future of Calcutta? I ask you this in all fairness. Do you think that I seek to introduce this amendment in order to find room for these obnoxious individuals in the Board? Have you given them any where any direct representation? Have you considered their claims. These are matters for your consideration. You have got the power, but you have not got the will. Popular opinion has been lightly set aside; do not for God's sake add to the discontent already existing."

A division was then taken, with the following result:—

Ayes 18.

The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu.
The Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur.
The Hon'ble Sir Bijay Chand Mahtab,

The result of the division was ayes 18, noes 27, and the motion was therefore lost.

Motion No. 19 having been lost, an identical Motion (No. 20), of which the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur had given notice, was withdrawn.

21. The Hon'ble Mr. Ankar moved that the word "twelve" be substituted for the word "eleven" in line 1 of clause 4.

He said:—

"I, on my part, have no idea of withholding the purpose of my amendment. I openly avow that my intention is to obtain another member for the Corporation, and I will go further to say that my observations on this amendment shall cover my amendment to clause 7, if only the Hon'ble Member will allow this amendment to pass. I regret that my hon'ble friend has begun to gird at the landlords already. If I may refer to a personal matter, I, on my part, have but the slightest interest as a landlord, and such as I have is not held on my own volition. The knowledge I have obtained of the position of landlords and my study of their prospects under this Bill when it becomes law, however, influence me to say that I would not become, by my choice, a landlord in Calcutta. My only feeling about landlords is that they should have fair treatment. But it seems to me that we are introducing a new code of morality—'not to do to others as they should do unto you.' The same feeling against landlords has found expression in England. Mr. Alfred Lyttleton, from his place in the House of Commons, in the discussion on the Housing and Town Planning Act, 1909, ascribed it to tenants who think that it is for themselves to fix the rent they should pay. And I do not seek admission by amendment for another member of the Corporation to reinforce the landlords or in order that he may scrutinize the expenditure of the Board. I want rather to bring to the aid of the Board co-operation with those who will be affected.

"I am glad that my hon'ble friend (Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu) has already brought to the notice of the Council the advantage of co-operation. Sir, no person who has endeavoured to study the special laws from which we are borrowing, and their practical working in England, can have failed to observe that co-operation is the key-note of their proceedings in that country, and that bureaucratic or departmental action would have been fatal to successful operation under those Acts. Co-operation is made a prominent feature in their Statutes and is emphasised by rules and regulations of the Local Government Board. Personal effort by individuals representing local authorities, to obtain co-operation with those who will be affected, is insisted upon, by workers and writers alike, as a necessity to try to remove, so much as is possible, hardship on owners of small properties. This entails great labour, but it is found, as is to be expected, to quote the words of a high authority who has devoted himself to the subject and written most usefully on it: 'So much more work is done when those concerned are pulling together, instead of different ways.' In England, co-operation is a living element, because the authorities to give effect to these special laws are local municipal bodies composed, throughout, of popularly elected councillors who are in intimate touch with the people whom they represent. The conditions here are to be different. But while I accept the Board ad hoc, it is not inconsistent with that attitude if I examine the composition of the Board and the effect of its working for the purpose for which it is being created.

"I have no desire to minimise the effect of the generous contribution, by the Government, of the special taxes that are promised. But mere provision of money, for a Board such as is contemplated, for the purpose of a law such as is before us, will not necessarily spell success, any more than the handing over of a cheque would equal the service that personal interest and a proper understanding of the wants of those whose poverty it is desired to relieve, can achieve. There is anxiety now; it may develop into discontent and dissatisfaction which will hamper the smooth working of the Act, unless the Board are capable of getting into touch with those whose rights are threatened, and winning their confidence and co-operation in the measures that are contemplated.

"I have desired, in my amendments, not to be out of proportion to the view now entertained by the Government, and yet to ask for so much representation as I think I very fairly may ask for the Corporation,—to which body, I may add, as their representative in the Council, I have confined my attention. I have left it to others to move as in their discretion they might think fit on behalf of other interests. On my own part, I do not seek to advance the claim of any association or individual. Personally I am not concerned, because, with a Board that will be constituted as is contemplated, I believe that the Corporation will be best represented for the work of the Board by men of this country, and I shall not offer myself as a candidate. But, Sir, the more I have studied this subject, the more firm has my opinion grown that it would be a real help to the Board if the number of Trustees were increased, to give opportunity for a larger representation by those who, I think, would most usefully serve the Board and, therefore, the public: not as occupants of merely honorary offices, but workers who would give ungrudgingly of their time and labour: and among the workers on the Board, I believe none would be found more zealous than such as may be chosen from among the elected Commissioners of the Calcutta Corporation.

"The maintenance of secrecy for the schemes of the Board, as a reason for keeping the Board of Trustees numerically small, has been wisely abandoned as an impossible ideal. The principle that where there is taxation there should be representation, has been in a measure recognised. But the most important reason of all, for wider and popular representation on the part of those who will be affected,—co-operation and the necessity for securing a representation that will help to that end,—has apparently been neglected.

"After the careful consideration I have been giving to the questions involved, I have been led to the conclusion that there is even greater need of popular representation for the work before the Board than for municipal administration, of course under the actual control of the Government such as exists in England. My appeal, however, is whittled down to a very humble dimension; but even that little, I am assured, will be an advantage to the public, if it is allowed. And we have an additional reason for consideration that gives a stronger claim than others have, in the provision that on the Corporation will fall the ultimate responsibility of the acts and expenditure of the Board."

The Hon'ble Rai Baikuntha Nath Sen Behadur said:—"Sir, the amendment which stands in my name is exactly the same as that which stands in the name of the Hon'ble Mr. Apear. I should only add a few more observations to what has already been said on this subject by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu and the Hon'ble Mr. Apear. The enlargement of the Board by one or two members forms the gist of the amendments. Government has shown its anxiety in having a fair and adequate representation of different interests. To quote the words of the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas, one class of people, namely, the land-owners and the owners of houses, who are not only vitally interested but would be vitally affected by the Bill, have got no representative on the Board, and the question therefore is ought not the Government to be consistent in having a representative from the land-holders in the Board. What I beg to submit, Sir, is that in order to maintain and preserve consistency some provision should be made by which the land-holders can have at least one representative."

The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas said:—"Sir, I must resist this amendment and the two similar amendments raising the number of members from 11 to 12. The mover of this amendment has very fairly made his proposal comprehensible to the Council by explaining the effect of the consequential amendments. Respecting the Hon'ble Mr. Apear's amendment, I may say that I have no intention of girding at the Corporation. He has charged me with girding at the landlords, but I think unjustly. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu in his reply spoke of the landlords as obnoxious individuals and called them by other hard names as if I had made use of those epithets. But I think that the members of the Council will bear me out when I say that it was not I who used language of that kind. The interest of the landlords in the working of the Trust is not of such nature that it would be wise to give them a preponderating voice in the Board. There is an interest which qualifies a man to serve in a Board, and we all know that there are interests which would also disqualify a man serving in the Board. I do not deny that the landlords are interested in the scheme, but I think their very interest should disqualify them from having a preponderating voice in the working of the Board. If I had the eloquence of the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, and could take up the time of the Council, I could also draw a picture of the sorrows and trials of the tenants and of the labourers living in crowded and insanitary bustees. There are many classes who suffer. It is possible that the operations of the Trust will result in the lowering of rents in Calcutta. Why should not those whose interest lies in the lowering of rents have a preponderating influence on the Board?

"As regards the Corporation, I resist the amendment on the ground that, although the Corporation has such a large interest in the working of the Trust and provides a large portion of the funds, the representation that it has—it is represented by the Chairman and three elected members—is quite adequate and fair. It is misleading to say, 'Oh, I ask for one member, and it can't do any harm.' The Corporation is generously represented and I cannot assent to the increased representation which will upset that balance which now subsists. The argument against having one more landlord appears to me to be covered by what I said in dealing with the former amendment. That interest is an important one, but no one can deny that they are well represented. The Bengal National Chamber of Commerce will probably send a landlord as one of the Trustees. The Corporation of Calcutta will, I think, also send landlords. Undoubtedly there is a preponderance of landlords on the Corporation, and it is inconceivable to me how the interests of landlords and of the ratepayers should not be represented by the elected members from the Corporation.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Apcar has insisted strongly on the necessity of co-operation between the Trust and the public. I do not think that the constitution of the Trust and the proportion of the representatives of the Corporation on that Trust has very much to do with such co-operation. That will depend very largely on the spirit in which the Trust acts and it is quite possible for a single Government officer and a purely nominated body to recognise the advantages of co-operation between the authorities and the public and to seek to secure such co-operation. Both he and the mover of the first amendment have quoted from the Circular issued by the Local Government Board. We all agree with the spirit that animates that Circular, but I must point out that it is not strictly in point, for it was issued in reference to town-planning schemes. Under the law which authorises the formation of such schemes, the local authorities have power to dictate the manner in which landlords shall develop their estates. Obviously no such scheme could possibly be framed except in consultation with the landlords.

"As regards facilities for co-operation I would ask the members of this Council to look at clause 17A (now 19) of this Bill.

"They will see that in that clause the Board has power to co-opt additional members for any particular purpose, and under clause 18 the Board has power to appoint outsiders to serve on committees. There is no similar provision in the Bombay Act, and I submit that these provisions afford every reasonable means of co-operation between the Trust and the public. In Bombay the Municipality supplies the bulk of the funds which are administered by the Trust. The Bombay Trust received no money grant from Government and the proceeds of no special taxation. But the Bombay Corporation has only four representatives on a Council of fourteen, while we propose to give the Calcutta Corporation three members out of eleven. The proportion is the same, although Calcutta bears nothing like the same proportion of expenditure as is done in Bombay. In view of these considerations I would again ask the Council to leave the clause as it stands."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR said:—

"The Hon'ble Member has misunderstood me. I did not suggest that an extra member would do no harm, but, on the contrary, that he would be of great help. The Hon'ble Member has very fairly attempted to meet me by reference to clause 17A (now 19). But his answer is not sufficient. Those who may be appointed will be appointed by favour of the Board. They will not be members of the Board; they will not have the same influence and the same opportunity for usefulness and rendering help. The Bombay Trust may not have received an annual subvention or grant of money, but they were given the use of property valued at over 50 lakhs. And as for landlords, I am innocent of landlordism in my proposal, in intention or purpose. If a landlord becomes a Trustee under cover of my amendment, it will be due to his merits in other respects rather than the fact that he happens to belong to that class. I will not take up further time of the Council in view of the voting disclosed in the last issue. But the Hon'ble Member in charge must pardon me if I say that he has not met me in my contention."

A division was then taken, with the following result:—

The result of the division was Ayes 18, Noes 27, and the motion was therefore lost.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

22. The Hon'ble Rai Baikuntha Nath Sen Bahadur to move that the word "twelve" be substituted for the word "eleven" in line 1 of clause 4.
23. If motion No. 20 be carried the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur to move that the word "four" be substituted for the word "three" in clause 4 (c).
24. If motion No. 21 be carried, the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar to move that the word "four" be substituted for the word "three" in clause 4 (c).

25. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that after sub-clause (d1) [now sub-clause (a)] of clause 4, the following be inserted, namely :—

(d2) a member of the British Indian Association.

He said :—

"Sir,—It was an intelligent and an irresistible anticipation of events that made me hesitate fruitlessly to seek to disturb the figure 11 as it stands in the Bill. My amendment merely seeks a slight readjustment in the assignment of the seats, so that a representative of a body which is not purely commercial—such as the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and the National Chamber of Commerce, must be taken to be—may come in, and I ask that, instead of the Government reserving to itself four out of the 11 members under sub-clause (a) [now sub-clause (f)] of clause 4, one should be given to this public body, and the Government should have at its disposal three instead of four. The principle of associating representatives of public bodies with the Trust did not find acceptance in the earlier stages of the consideration of the Bill, when, in the interests of secrecy, promptitude and continuity, the Government of India of 1907 did not see its way to recommend a larger body than six. But a change came over the Councils of the Government in 1908, when the Hon'ble Mr. John Morley, as he then was, while agreeing that the Board should not be a large body, thought that Trustees should be elected by the Municipal Corporation, and perhaps by other bodies. That was in 1908, and the only other body that was accepted as fit to return such a representative was the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. When the matter came up before the Select Committee, the Select Committee was good enough to add the National Chamber of Commerce as well, for which, I am sure, we are all thankful. But I am afraid, Sir, the representation of other public bodies, contemplated by the Hon'ble Mr. Morley, does not go far enough even with the concession that the Select Committee has made, and it is necessary that some public body that is not representative of any particular interest and limited, should have the opportunity of sending a representative to this Board. After careful consideration, I thought that the British Indian Association might fittingly have that concession. Sir, so much has already been said about landlordism and anti-landlordism that I shall not attempt to cover the same ground, at this stage of the debate. Although the British Indian Association is popularly believed to be, and is also called, a landlords' association, I can, without fear of contradiction or challenge, claim that it is no such thing. My Hon'ble friend, Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, and myself, whom the landlords proper would object to term as landlords, happen to be members of that association. I have been carefully going through the list of 180 members of the British Indian Association that constitute that body at the present moment, and the most exaggerated of imaginations would find it impossible to declare that body to be purely an association of landlords. In view of this, there can be no objection to my amendment on the part of those who would like to keep direct representation of landlords out of the Board, if possible. The British Indian Association, Sir, does consist, no doubt, of a fair and, I am prepared to say, even a large, body of landlords owning lands both in Calcutta and within the Province. But it also consists of merchants, of professional men, like my hon'ble friend and myself, who cannot aspire to rank as landlords in the larger, and as some would like to call, the proper, sense of that term. That being so, I thought that it would be a body that could fittingly receive the honour of appointing a delegate to this Board. When a question like this came up before this Council in connection with the present Municipal Bill, it was urged, though not without much effect, that the British Indian Association should be one of the bodies allowed to return members to the Corporation. Sir Edward Baker,—with regard to whose absence from this Council at the consideration of this vastly important measure I desire to associate myself with what fell from Your Honour on the previous occasion,—was in charge of the Municipal Bill at the moment that this particular question came up. And in referring to the various bodies who were aspirants for the honour of representation on the Corporation, the Hon'ble Mr. Baker observed : 'I now turn to the amendment of the Hon'ble Babu Jatra Mohan Sen, which is, on the whole, a moderate amendment. He proposes to reduce the representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and the Trades Association to three each; he would assign two seats to the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce, two seats to the Muhammadan Association and two to the University.' The representative of the University has not thought fit on the present occasion, to put forward the claims of University representation, but does press the claims of the British Indian Association which were admitted on that occasion by the Hon'ble Mr. Baker, who proceeded to say: 'The first thing that occurs to one, on looking at these proposals, is that the one association in Calcutta which would have a prior claim to special representation, if we were giving any, is left out,—I mean the British Indian Association. The Hon'ble Member felt, I think (that was Babu Jatra Mohan Sen, who had not a word to say about the association) the weakness of his position in omitting that body, because he said that it would be for the Government to appoint representatives from that association. But if we are going to give in the body of the Act special representation to any additional association, I think there can be no question that the British Indian Association has the first claim.' I should have liked to remind Sir Edward Baker now of his observations on that occasion, if he was here, and, with no less confidence, I remind Your Honour and this Council of what fell from the responsible adviser of Government on that occasion. The principle that representatives of other public bodies should be associated in the Trust has been fully conceded by the Hon'ble Mr. John Morley, although he advocated that the Trust should not be large, and in not moving for a larger number, I have accepted what Lord Morley laid down and which has been carried out by the Select Committee; but I repeat that the essence of the concession made by Lord Morley, coupled with what the Hon'ble Mr. Baker said on the occasion to which I have referred, makes it abundantly clear that that principle has not been fully given effect to. The one association which could possibly be allowed to have any representative, if any, and which would have occurred to Sir Edward Baker, is the British Indian Association, which has been left out, and I believe that that association should be allowed a representative, which can easily be arranged if the Government, instead of reserving to itself the four seats mentioned in clause 4 (e), [now 4 (f)] were to give up one, and make a present of it to the body that I name. Sir, the question of the representatives of landlords as such, in the sense of those who are responsible for correcting the insanitary evils that the Bill seeks to combat, has been referred to on more than one occasion in the course of this morning's debate, and the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill has observed that in a trial it would be out of the question to allow the accused to participate in the trial, although he would be vitally affected and interested in the result of that trial. If, Sir, landlords are to rank as the accused in the present case, it is difficult to see why they are to be denied representation for that reason, when the Government and the Corporation, who would also be the co-accused in the case, should not be denied similar representation. Who is it that is responsible for the present state of things? Have the Government and the Corporation no share in the blame that is to be attached for the existing state of things? Let the report of the Beverley Commission answer, and in any event the peers of the accused ought to have a place on the bench at such a trial. There is no need to go into an elaborate analysis and apportionment of the blame that could be apportioned, if there was any need to do so; but the Buildings Commission, the recommendations of which are the real basis of what we are proceeding with to-day, made it quite clear that those who had been responsible for the insanitary administration before the Municipal Act came into force were as much responsible for the present state of things as those that came afterwards; and therefore, the Corporation, who had powers given to it and never exercised those powers, are, to an extent, responsible for the present state of things. I can recall to mind one instance in the neighbourhood of the Jellia Para Nebutollah Lanes Busnes, schemes for improvement of which had been before the Corporation for twenty years, and ever since I was a member of that Corporation: a workable scheme was sanctioned, a notification was issued, and lands were forbidden to be built upon. They proceeded so far, and then, somehow or other, the scheme was abandoned. If the scheme had been carried out, we should have had a fine road in the neighbourhood. The insanitary slums, which plague and other diseases visit first, infest the longest and leave the last, would have been a thing of the past. But it has not been and was not to be because there was unaccountable vacillation I am not impeaching the Corporation with regard to that, but I am only illustrating the correctness of my proposition that, if the landlords of Calcutta are to rank as the accused in this case and, therefore, to be denied representation, the Government and the Corporation occupy a similar position, though they may not be culprits to the same degree, perhaps, as the landlords, with regard to whom I for one moment accept the use of this obnoxious epithet. Therefore, there is nothing in an argument like this that the landlords' interest ought not to have any direct representation, because they are in the position of an accused, and, therefore, although vitally interested in the trial, they cannot be allowed to take part.

"Sir, the framers of this Bill have largely, no doubt, gone on the analogy of what is happening in England with regard to a very restricted area. The reason why more had not been done in London, with a population as large as that of Ireland, was because of the leasehold system that has been referred to with great effect by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, and I will not detract from that eloquent pronouncement by any observations of my own; but we have nothing like that in this country, as here it is a case mostly of people living in their own houses, and that dignifies them into the position of landholders. That is a mistaken state of things which, I think, ought not to be allowed to colour our deliberations, which are very much more comprehensive than those relating to the little consequential Acts which British legislation of late has thought of. Ideas and opinions are very much in advance now in England of those that have always prevailed in this country and still prevail with regard to many matters and we should be careful as to how we introduce premature ultra socialistic ideas as to property here. However that may be, it is not the question of revision of leasehold estates so far as my amendment is concerned. I seek to plead for the representation of a cultured and enlightened public body, which, ever since public life began in this country, has admittedly been doing great service, and which is not a purely landlords' association—which admits to its membership those that cannot claim to be landlords; it contains members of the learned professions, merchants and other representative people, men of light and leading who can assist the Government in their deliberations. That is the work that the association has so long been doing, and that is the association on whose behalf I claim the acceptance of this amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. M. S. Das said :—

"Your Honour,—I have not made a study of the interests of the different classes of the population who are either likely to benefit or to be affected prejudicially by the Bill before the Council, and I did not, I confess, make a special study of the Bill. One thing I notice, that there is a provision in the Bill that people who come to Calcutta and go from Calcutta are to be subjected to a certain taxation. That provision affects us—outsiders. Sir, we all admit that the discussion that has taken place to-day makes it clear that sanitary improvements in Calcutta are necessary. We are all agreed there; so there is no good likely to come from crimination or recrimination as to whether the Government or the Corporation or the people are responsible for the present insanitary condition which does exist, or, if they are all liable to blame, in what share the blame should be apportioned to each. The fact is that a common danger exists, and official and non-official, rich or poor, agree that this present condition should be removed. There was at first, in the early part of the discussion, some cloud hanging over it. It was not clear what was aimed at, but the storm of discussion, which has just preceded, has cleared up that cloud, and the question at issue is, whether the landholders should have any representation or not. The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas has used an illustration saying that the accused has a very great interest in the trial, but he is not allowed to give his opinion or decide the case. On the contrary, the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu has said that he does not claim a preponderance in the constitution of the Trust of the landlord class; what he claims is that their representative should have a seat there. They should have a representative who will be able to bring before the Trustees how the working of the Trust affects the interests of that class. He takes actually what the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas would describe as the position of the accused. The accused has not the right to decide his case, but his mouth is not gagged. Is it not his right to have somebody who can speak on his behalf? He has not only that right, but he has the right to put his version of the case in the Court and to get the services of the best possible lawyers available to speak on his behalf. It must be admitted that there will be men in the Trust who are foreigners, and I think there should be men of the country who would be in a position to bring before the Trust the actual feelings of the people; and I suppose no wise Government, in embarking on a measure like this which affects the interests of the people who are to be deprived of their ancestral homes and seats, should ignore popular feelings. The Hon'ble Mover of this amendment says that the British Indian Association is not an association composed entirely of landlords, but I was all along under the impression that it is composed of big and small landlords residing throughout Bengal, and most of them are very wealthy big zamindars. I am anxious to see that a popular grievance of that nature should be removed, and I do not think that the presence of one man is likely to upset the decisions or the arrangements of the Trust. The Hon'ble Member does not give any definite information as to whether a landholder is likely to be returned from the British Indian Association. In case this is guaranteed, that the Hon'ble Mover is sure that the landholders, whose interests are chiefly affected, will be represented by an election by the British Indian Association—if this be the undertaking, I would certainly support the amendment."

The Hon'ble THE MAHARAJADHIRAJA BAHADUR OF BURDWAN said:—

"Your Honour,—I thought I would be spared making a speech at this stage of the Calcutta Improvement Bill. So far, though the debate has been animated, it has not been insanitary; but I am sorry that in this Council the Hon'ble Mr. Das has introduced an insanitary element. He has confessed that he knows nothing or has read very little of the Improvement Bill, and then he has further confessed his ignorance about an association regarding which he knows nothing and about which he is groping in the dark. The British Indian Association, of which I have the privilege and honour to be the President at the present moment, is situated in the heart of Calcutta, and I think it would be of the greatest help to the Hon'ble Mr. Das if he went to 18 British Indian Street, and studied the annals of that association. The reason that my hon'ble friend, Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, has proposed that, instead of increasing the number of Trustees, a member of the British Indian Association may be appointed as a Trustee, is that the British Indian Association, as at present constituted, is certainly not purely a landholders' association. In the past it has been the father of all the associations—political and otherwise—of Bengal. In the present, while representing the interests of landholders, it has not failed in its duty to bring before the public matters of importance, which not only have affected the landholders, but the general public, and that has been the glory of the British Indian Association in the past. What its future will be, at the present moment, one cannot say, but it cannot be doubted that if we have a member, as advocated by my hon'ble friend, Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, appointed through the British Indian Association, he will not only be able to represent the interests of the landholders in the province, but also of the poor landholders of Calcutta. We have come in for a bad time, because the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas happens to be in an unfortunate mood to-day towards the landholders of Calcutta. What I say is this, that of course I do not refute the argument that the members, who will be appointed by the Calcutta Corporation, will also indirectly represent the interests of the landholding classes of Calcutta; but what crime have the landholders of Calcutta done not to be directly represented? Moreover, by electing a man through the British Indian Association or allowing that association the privilege to have one of its members as a Trustee, you will not only give, what I may say, a practically direct representation to the Calcutta landowners, but you will also have a man who will be able to represent other interests as well, and that will take away the venom that the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas thinks the landlords are showing by voicing their interests. Of course I know what the fate of this amendment will be, but, as President of this ancient and honourable association, I deem it my duty to support my hon'ble friend, Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said :—

"This amendment, I may say, is a sort of flank attack. Other amendments, which aimed at raising the number of members on the Board, having failed, the Hon'ble Member now tries to deprive me of one of the nominated seats, and he says that one of the members of the Trust should be taken from the British Indian Association, and he says that it is not an Association of landlords. I am sorry that amendment No. 27 will no longer be moved, as I might then have left it to the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur to show that, at least in his opinion, the British Indian Association is an Association of landlords. If the British Indian Association is not an Association of landlords, not even of Calcutta landlords, the mover of this amendment does not give us any reason why that body, of all public bodies, should be represented. I suggest that we need stronger recommendation for nominating a member from that body in particular. It would be unwise to fetter the discretion of Government in the selection of the member nominated by it. The work of the Trust will be very important, and a great deal of it of a technical nature. It is very important that all the nominated members should be men of very first-rate qualifications for work of that nature. Those members, who are elected as representatives of other public bodies, may be elected with an eye to their general competence and their claims to represent the body which elects them. This makes it more important that Government should be absolutely at liberty to appoint, as its nominees, men selected solely as being the most competent persons in Calcutta to assist in carrying on the work of the Trust, and I would strongly oppose fettering the discretion of Government in any way.

"As regards the particular amendment before us, I beg to submit, although we have heard from the Maharajahdhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan more about the exact nature of the British Indian Association, still I submit that no sufficient reason has been given for choosing that Association of all others, when it is not even a Calcutta Association, to be given the right to have one of its members appointed as a Trustee under this Bill."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARRADHIKARI said :—

"Sir,—If the movement represented by this amendment has been a flank movement, it has been certainly frank. There is no doubt that the amendment is actuated by a certain amount of that superstition which the Hon'ble Member in charge would so much like to discount—superstition which is the salt of this life and of the life hereafter, and for which some of us might be all the better. I frankly confess, Sir, that that superstition has to a certain extent actuated my choice of this reverend and revered body—a body—if for one moment I may be allowed to be remotely personal—to which Your Honour's Government and the Government of India and the Secretary of State—went when they thought of appointing the first Indian Member of the Executive Council of this Province. Sir, we have been told an astounding thing to-day, that, in considering the claims of the British Indian Association to send a representative to this Board, we must steer clear of the possible difficulty of an absolute lay man—coming in by reason only of his standing in that society or in society in general. Lest the dotards of the British Indian Association, in their softness and innocence, should send somebody who will know nothing of the work—the arduous work before the Board, let us not have anything to do with that body: that it what is comes to. It comes to that when you analyse that portion of the argument of the Hon'ble Member in charge. If what has been referred to by the Hon'ble Member in charge, with much naivety, and not position competence for the work proper is likely to be an incentive to choose a representative, what guarantee is there that the Corporation, three of whose present and past Chairmen I see here in this Council to-day, that the Corporation will not fail in its duty and make a choice that would be upon to the observations that have fallen from the Hon'ble Member in charge. And I ask the same question about the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and the National Chamber of Commerce. Sir, arguments like these must not be allowed to cloud the issues. The Hon'ble Mr. Das, who has been followed in the same argument by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, says:

'You want a landlord representative; you say the British Indian Association is not a landlords' association; ergo, the British Indian Association cannot be allowed to send a representative.' Where have I said that I want a landlord representative? I want men, men no doubt preferably aware of the state of things with regard to the so-called landlordism, men such as the British Indian Association would be able to send. Sir, if I may refer to an amendment that follows, and for this amendment of mine will be sure to follow the fate of those that have preceded; which I do not anticipate will ever come up for consideration of this Council, it says that the member of the British Indian Association who is to come on the Board is to be selected under the rules to be framed by the Government. It has not even asked that that association should determine for itself the class of people that they should send. Therefore, that argument has absolutely no application to the proposition that I venture to bring forward before this Council. Directly or otherwise, no one need under any of the different sub-sections of clause 1, be a landlord. As has been pointed out by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, the first two are out of the consideration so far as that goes. The third may be. During much of the time that I was a member of the Corporation,—it is impossible to get out of some personal matters now and again,—I was not the owner of a single chittack of land in Calcutta. It is possible for one to be a member of the Corporation without being the owner of a single chittack of land, viz. by paying the professional license or the carriage license, one can be a Commissioner, and it is no shame or humiliation to me to confess that, during the long years that I have spent on the Corporation, I could not even by courtesy be called a landlord. And yet I could have been a member of the Board, if my colleagues placed in me the same repose that they did when they sent me as their representative to the Imperial Library at the head of the poll. Sir, then I come to (d) the Chamber of Commerce. My hon'ble friend to the left has made a frank confession that if he was not the landlord he would be happier: that is a general feeling among Europeans here; they will not own land if they can possibly help it, and yet they are to have direct representation because certainly they represent commerce, and Indian commerce is also allowed to be represented. The Hon'ble Member in charge incidentally said that he took it that the member for the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce will be a landlord. Why should it be so? There are merchants in Calcutta doing very large business, who are not landlords and who live in tenanted houses. I have no doubt that if there is a proper representation, one of the four that will be at the disposal of Your Honour's Government may possibly be a landlord, but in putting the amendment; positively claiming it, I wanted to provide that there would be a possibility for a landlord being a member of the Board from the British Indian Association, which represents the landowning as well as other interests. It would be impossible to think of an association, although it has its members in the province, and is 'not even a Calcutta Association' according to the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas, and 'represents no body.' In spite of such disparaging opinion it is largely representative of all interests that we could possibly think of, and in saying so, it was not my own abiter that I was putting forward. I have the high authority of the Hon'ble Sir Edward Baker, which I have read to this Council, and to which, I think with advantage, reference could be made again in this connection. I would also refer to the Buildings Commission which advocated the claims of this body to such representative. If there was any association, said Mr. Baker, the prior claim was that of the British Indian Association, and he would give them and no others, and that is the body whose claims I advocate. The observations of the Hon'ble Mr. Das and the Hon'ble Member in charge have therefore no application. The Hon'ble Member in charge has referred to the observation of the President of the British Indian Association, who promptly came to my rescue and who said more vigorously and effectively what could be said, than what I have been able to say. I cannot say, Sir, that I am leaving this amendment in the hands of this Council in a very hopeful mood, but I certainly leave with the sense that I am discharging a duty which, I think, I owe to the general ratepayers of Calcutta, who are fully represented by the British Indian Association outside the Corporation."

The Hon'ble Rai Kisor Lal Goswami Bahadur.

The Hon'ble Babu Bal Krishna Sahay.

The result of the division was ayes 16, noes 26, and the motion was therefore lost.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

26. If Motion No. 22 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Baikuntha Nath Sen Bahadur to move that, after sub-clause (d) [now sub-clause (c)] of clause 4, the following be inserted, namely:—

(d) a member of the British Indian Association.

27. If Motion No. 20 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur to move that, after clause 4 (d), [now (c)] the following be inserted, namely:—

(d) a member of the British Indian Association or any other association of landholders.

28. If Motion No. 19 be carried, the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu to move that, after sub-clause (d1) [now sub-clause (c)] of clause 4, the following be inserted, namely:—

(d2) two persons to be elected as representing the landholding classes of Calcutta.

29. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that, after sub-clause (d1) [now sub-clause (c)] of clause 4, the following be inserted, namely:—

(d2) a member elected from the landholder class of Calcutta.

He said:—

"Sir,—Regard being had to the attitude of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill with respect to the representation of the landholder class of Calcutta I move this amendment with considerable misgivings about its fate. Though this is so I still hope that my amendment will be favourably considered. The Council will see that my amendment with regard to the constitution of the Board is a most modest one. Although, under my amendment, the total number of Trustees is retained at 11, as decided by the Select Committee, I suggest that the number of the Government nominees be reduced from 'four' to 'three', and this one seat be given to the landholders of Calcutta by election, under rules framed by the Government. Notwithstanding the observation of the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas, I submit, there is no doubt that the landholders as such have no representation on the Board. Is it fair, is it just, that this class should go unrepresented? It is possible that Government may nominate one or more representative landlords under sub-clause (c) of clause 4, but I submit that the privilege of election from amongst their own class will be greatly valued by the landholders and ought to be conceded as a reasonable and moderate demand. If this is accepted, Government can easily make rules for the election of a member from the landholding class of Calcutta, based on the paying the qualification of owners' share of the rates."

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAS said:—

"Sir,—I oppose this amendment for the same reasons that I have opposed the previous amendments. I have given important reasons for asking this Council not to diminish the number of four members who are nominated by Government, on account of the very special nature of the work of the Trust. I have said that I do not consider that the landlord class in Calcutta have any interest of such a nature in the working of this Bill that they should have a preponderating representation. I have claimed that their interests will be sufficiently represented by the three members elected by the Corporation and the one elected by the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce. I take it that this landlord class is the class which was represented at the Town Hall meeting and which has submitted a memorial which was circulated to the Members of this Council last night. Can it be said that the class which has submitted that memorial is so heartily in favour of the machinery and of the working of the Bill that we should select them particularly to carry it out? They begin their memorial by saying that 'your memorialists are unable to discover any ground, either in necessity, utility, reason or equity, which could ever have justified the drafting of the Bill upon the lines of the Bombay Improvement Act of 1898.' That is to say, in their opinion, the Bill is unnecessary and useless, unreasonable and inequitable."

"If we had to entrust the working of this Act to any single individual, would it be reasonable to select a person who held such views as those about the Act which he was to administer? I see no more reason why we should go out of our way to entrust the working of the Act to a body on which persons holding these views have a preponderating voice."

The motion was then put and lost.

30. The Hon'ble Maulvi Saiyid Muhammad Fakhr-ud-din moved that, after sub-clause (d1) [now sub-clause (c)] of clause 4, the following be inserted, namely:—

(d2) a representative of the Muhammadan community.

He said:—

"Your Honour,—After seeing the fate of the preceding amendments of clause 4, and after hearing the opinion of the Hon'ble Member in charge, I feel very little courage in putting forward my amendment. But, however, as I hold myself responsible to the Muhammadan public, I cannot but place my amendment before the Council. In moving this amendment I am not at all actuated by any feeling of caste or creed, though I must submit that, considering the important functions and responsible duties of the Board, it is highly desirable to have a due representation of all classes and communities on the Board. My chief reason for moving this amendment is that it is not at all improbable that, both in preparing the scheme of improvement and in carrying out the same, important questions relating to mosques, wakfs, properties, burial grounds, shrines or other sacred places of religious or semi-religious sanctity might arise, and a difficulty might be felt in the right decision of such questions. If a competent and well-qualified Muhammadan were to associate with the other members of the Board, the Board, with the advice of such a gentleman, will be in a better position to decide such questions. The Muhammadans of Calcutta are strongly of opinion that such questions relating to religious or semi-religious susceptibilities will necessarily arise, and without having a Muhammadan on the Board, their interest might not be safeguarded.

"As the sub-clauses of clause 4 stand at present, no Muhammadan can conceive with any amount of certainty of being on the Board. So far as the nomination of four persons by the Local Government is concerned, we do not know if the claim of any Muhammadan will be taken into consideration in such nominations. It is, therefore, better to frame the sub-clauses in such a way as to admit a Muhammadan in the Board.

"It has already been proposed to increase the number of Trustees from 11 to 12 or 13, but those amendments have been lost. However, the amendment which I wish to propose does not depend upon the increase of the numerical strength of the Board; though, I submit, the acceptance of the proposal to increase the number would have facilitated the inclusion of a Muhammadan in the list of Trustees, without affecting in the least any of the sub-clauses of clause 4 as they stand at present.

"However, as the representation of the Corporation, Bengal Chamber of Commerce and Bengal National Chamber of Commerce should not, under any circumstances, be affected by the amendment which I suggest, I would propose that the number of Government nominees, other than the President, should be reduced from four to three, and the deficit thus caused may be made up by the appointment of a representative of the Muhammadan community as a member of the Trust.

"A question may naturally arise as to how the representative of the Muhammadan community should be elected and secured on the Board. I believe there are many Associations of Muhammadans in Calcutta, but out of those, only a few, such as the Bengal Provincial Moslem League, the Muhammadan Literary Society, and the National Muhammadan Association, are recognised by Government. Though I am not personally aware of the comparative competency, usefulness and merits of these institutions, yet it can be said that the Bengal Provincial Moslem League has of late done good services to the Muhammadan public. However, the Government will be the best judge as to which of the Muhammadan Associations in Calcutta is justly entitled to receive the privilege of returning members to the Board, and as to what restrictions should be imposed as to the merits and qualifications of such a Muhammadan Trustee. It may be suggested that all such recognised Associations may get this privilege by rotation.

"Sir, I do not for a moment grudge the anxious desire of every class and community of Calcutta to have their representatives on the Board,—rather I appreciate their claims and demands,—and is it too much, Sir, if I stand here to demand the rights and claims of my own community?

"I am glad to find that I am not quite unsupported in my views. I note with great satisfaction that a similar amendment has been proposed by my friend, the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur.

"Sir, I am perfectly confident that Your Honour and this Council will give best consideration to the request and will approve of the amendment."

The Hon'ble RAI SITA NATH RAY BAHADUR said:—

"I beg to say that my amendment has not been properly put here. My amendment was to the effect that, of the four persons appointed by Government, one would be a non-official Muhammadan, and my reasons for this are that it would be a good thing to have a Muhammadan, as it would be useless for me to proceed in attempting to raise the number of Trustees. So my amendment is that, out of the four persons nominated by Government, one should be a non-official Muhammadan."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—

"I have much pleasure in supporting the amendment moved by my hon'ble friend, Maulvi Saiyid Muhammad Fakhr-ud-din. The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas will admit that, in this case at least, no question of landlord arises. The Muhammadan community of Calcutta are certainly vitally interested in the work of the Board, and it is fit and proper that they should have representation on that Board. I conceive that if no Muhammadan comes in under the other provisions, the Government will probably appoint a non-official Muhammadan under sub-clause (e) [now sub-clause (f)]; but it must be admitted that that would be doing little justice to the Muhammadan community. The Muhammadans would naturally want to have a man whom they would elect and in whom they would have confidence and who will bear their mandate. The effect of giving to the Muhammadan community powers to send their own representatives is well illustrated by their attitude in this Council and elsewhere, and we welcome independent Muhammadan gentlemen to all deliberative bodies where they can act according to their own judgment and according to the dictates of their own conscience. I think the case that my friend has made out is a very strong case, and the Government, I hope, will see its way to accept this suggestion by reducing the number of its own nominations from four to three."

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAS said:—

"Sir,— Amendments 30 and 31, as they stand on the agenda, are identical. The Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur has explained that the amendment that he intends to move is different, and I assume that we are not now considering his suggestion. The amendment of the Hon'ble Maulvi Saiyid Muhammad Fakhr-ud-din cannot be accepted by me on the general ground that, as I mentioned before, it is very desirable that Government should retain an unfettered power in nominating its four members on the Trust in order that it may, as far as possible, secure four preeminently competent men resident in Calcutta to carry on the very important executive work of the Trust. Also I cannot see that, in a body of this size and constituted to perform these duties, it is necessary to insist on the members representing any or all of the numerous communities which make up the population of Calcutta. If the Muhammadan community is to be entitled to one seat on the Board, there is the claim which has been advanced by the Eurasian community, the housing of which community is one of the most important problems in Calcutta. The Matwari community is a very important community and will be much affected by the operations of the Trust, and similar claims will arise. I do admit that questions may come under the cognizance of the Trust, in which Muhammadans, as Muhammadans, will be particularly interested, and I submit that clauses 17A (now 19) and 18 (now 20) of the Bill exactly meet that difficulty. These are clauses which have no corresponding provisions in the Bombay Act, which are novel and at the same time useful. Supposing a question arises regarding the way in which the acquisition of a Muhammadan mosque, burial ground or a wakf property is to be effected, the Board can always associate with itself some of the leading Muhammadans of Calcutta. It is open to the Board to appoint a Muhammadan committee under clause 18 (now 20) of the Bill, for sitting on which the members will draw allowances and which will be a legally appointed body to carry on work.

"I think that these provisions exactly meet the case and afford ample facilities for dealing with questions which affect particular communities in a manner satisfactory to those communities."

A division was then taken, with the following result:—

The result of the division was ayes 15, noes 27, and the motion was therefore lost.

31. The Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur moved that, after sub-clause (d1) [now sub-clause (e)] of clause 4, the following be inserted, namely:—

(d2) a non-official Muhammadan.

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said:—

"Sir,—My objection to this amendment is the same as to the amendments that have been moved recently. It is inadvisable that Government should be fettered in the selection of the four persons whom it nominates to the Trust. I have already explained that this Bill contains ample provisions for the representation of Muhammadan interests in regard to any question in which those interests are particularly involved."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

32. If Motion No. 25 be carried, the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the word "three" be substituted for the word "four", in clause 4 (e) [now 4 (f)].

33. If Motion No. 29 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur to move that the word "three" be substituted for the word "four", in clause 4 (e) [now 4 (f)].

34. If Motion No. 30 be carried, the Hon'ble Maulvi Saiyid Muhammad Fakhr-ud-din to move that the word "three" be substituted for the word "four", in clause 4 (e) [now 4 (f)].

Clause 5.

35. If Motion No. 27 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur to move that the words "and the Member referred to in clause (d2) of section 4" be inserted after the words "The President", in line 1 of clause 5.

36. If Motions Nos. 19 and 28 be not carried, the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu to move that the words "two of" be inserted before the words "the four persons", in line 1 of clause 5.

37. If Motion No. 32 be carried, the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the word "three" be substituted for the word "four", in line 1 of clause 5.

38. If Motion No. 33 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur to move that the word "three" be substituted for the word "four", in line 1 of clause 5.

39. If Motion No. 34 be carried, the Hon'ble Maulvi Saiyid Muhammad Fakhr-ud-din to move that the word "three" be substituted for the word "four", in line 1 of clause 5.

40. The Hon'ble Maulvi Saiyid Muhammad Fakhr-ud-din moved that the words "one of whom shall be a Muhammadan" be inserted after the words "section 4", in line 2 of clause 5.

He said:—

"Your Honour,—When I have found myself unfortunate in respect of my first amendment, what hope can I now entertain in respect of this amendment? This is an amendment in the alternative form. This amendment is exactly the same as has just been pressed by the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur and lost. Naturally my amendment will share the same fate. However, I am in duty bound to press this amendment. I have already discussed the utility and the desirability of having at least a competent Muhammadan member on the Board of Trustees, and I do not intend to take up the valuable time of Your Honour and this Council by repeating the same discussions. Suffice it to say that Muhammadans are anxious to safeguard their interest, and it is necessary to satisfy them by putting a Muhammadan on the Board. Though the right has been denied to the Muhammadan associations of returning members by means of popular election, though the nominees of Government can hardly be excluded from the category of officials, though such nominees will be more under the influence of Government than that of the people in general, yet I believe that, as a last resort, I should be content with a Government nominee who might be of some use to the Muhammadans in safeguarding their interest. Hence I propose that there ought to be a clear provision in the Act that, out of the four nominees to be appointed by Government, at least one should be a Muhammadan. With these observations I move the amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said :—

"I oppose this amendment.

"I do not think I need repeat all that I have said when asking the Council to reject amendment 31 by the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

41. If Motion No. 20 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur to move that the words "and one of such four persons shall be a non-official Muhammadan" be inserted at the end of clause 5.

42. If Motion No. 36 be carried, the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu to move that, to clause 5, the following be added, namely :—

(2) Two of the four persons referred to in clause (c) of section 4 shall be landholders of Calcutta.

43. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that, to clause 5, the following be added, namely :—

(2) Two of the persons referred to in clause (c) of section 4 shall be persons who pay the owner's share of the consolidated rate and other municipal taxes in their own right, to the extent of not less than three hundred rupees a year.

He said :—

"Sir,—It may be said that here also there is a desire to hamper the selection of Government. So far as the qualification that I propose will have that effect, the choice may to some extent be no doubt restricted. But that restriction will not apply to the remaining two. It is of importance that, amongst those who are selected by Government, there should be some at all events who have some stake of the kind that this amendment contemplates. As we have heard, direct representation of the landowning interest is considered objectionable, and, as the failure of the previous amendment has given effect to that idea of things, it is of importance that the owner-ratepayers' point of view should be brought before the Board in some way or other. As on a previous occasion I indicated that it would be quite possible for all the three members selected by the Corporation to be non-ratepayers, although they may be tax-payers, the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill has found new reasons, apparently since the adjournment, why the landowning classes should be kept out. The iniquity and bad draftsmanship of the memorial which they and they alone are supposed to have adopted at the Town Hall meeting—although we have no evidence in support of that conjecture—further disqualifies them from having any representation. He practically urges that none but indifferent persons should have a place on the Board. If some persons have views and opinions like those mentioned in the memorial so strongly condemned by the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas, they would not be disqualified by that reason from sitting on the Trust. The experiences of the Universities Act show that those who were strongly against it in the Bill stage are loyally administering it in the Act shape. Moreover, the memorialists are fondly hoping that the Bill would be recast somewhat on the lines of their suggestions in this Council and thus rendered less harmful and objectionable. It ought not to be said that those who are capable of expressing opinions like these ought to be ruthlessly excluded from the Board. Similar observations would not, however, apply to Government nominees, in whose case we desire by this amendment that some stake of the kind that we propose ought to be insisted on. If they are otherwise qualified and if they do not happen to possess extremist views like those enunciated in that memorial, and if, at the same time, they know something of the real troubles and grievances and difficulties of the owner-ratepayers, it would be an advantage that the Government would welcome. In this amendment there is a very slight attempt, and not a flank attempt, to get in two, at all events, out of the 11 members, who will assuredly be bona fide ratepayers, and not merely tax-payers."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said :—

"Sir,—I must oppose this amendment on the same ground that I have opposed the previous one. The Government of India have entrusted to this Trust Rs. 50 lakhs down, and have promised to pay 1½ lakhs a year from the general revenues of the country—proceeds from taxes on railway passengers and an export tax on jute. Obviously, in doing so, Government incur a serious responsibility, as I have said before, in seeing that these funds are applied to the very best advantage, and it is very important that in securing that object Government should leave to the body of the Trustees an unfettered discretion. I do not say that the hon'ble mover of the amendment has said anything to convince us that persons who pay the owner's share are people for whom we should more particularly legislate and supply them with two seats out of 11. Why should we not say that the people who pay the tenant's share have a claim to two seats out of the 11? It is known that in the existing condition of Calcutta that their position is worse than that of the owners of property, and I have not yet heard to-day a voice uplifted on their behalf. I oppose this amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 7 (1).

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

44. If motion No. 23 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur to move that the word "four" be substituted for the word "three", in line 1 of clause 7 (1).
45. If Motion No. 24 be carried, the Hon'ble Mr. Apear to move that the word "four" be substituted for the word "three", in line 1 of clause 7 (1).
46. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu moved that the word "two" be substituted for the word "one", in clause 7 (1) (a) [now 7 (2) (b).]

He said :—

"Sir,—I believe we are at one with the idea that, when the number was enhanced by four, one should be given to the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce, and that another should be given to the Corporation, and then the question was as to how this seat was to be filled up. There was no idea of any one of us at first of adjusting the different elements in the Corporation.

"It is a matter of adjustment of three seats in the Corporation. In this adjustment, a rough-and-ready way was come to. One was given to the nominated Commissioners, and one was given to the Corporation as a whole. I have nothing to find fault with this arrangement. But, then, if you take the whole group together, and take all the seats and analyse the elements which send up the three members from the different groups to the Corporation, you find that, of the additional four seats placed at the disposal of the Trust, three are being appropriated by Government. The understanding was that two should be appropriated, and why, I say, three are being appropriated is this, that the member who will be returned by the nominated Commissioners, these gentlemen being Government nominees and being a preponderating number in the 25 nominated Commissioners, this is practically in essence a Government nomination, and therefore, instead of Government having two, as it was understood, it is going to have three, and, I, therefore, hope that my suggestion would be accepted, because these gentlemen, who are Government nominees, have got their representation—I mean the Government nominees themselves so far as they are only representatives of Government, and Government itself has got representation on the Board. As regards the other gentlemen, the members of the trades and commerce, they have got a direct representation on the Board, and consequently it does not affect them, whereas it does affect the purely non-official representation in the constitution of the Trust, and that is why I press this amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said:—

"Sir,—I oppose this amendment. I do not propose to follow the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu in the subjects which he raised in moving it, because they seem to take him rather far afield, and to be more properly discussed in connection with some of the subsequent clauses in this Bill. The question before us is a simple one. It is recognised that the Corporation of Calcutta has a very large interest in the working of the Trust. It has a very large financial interest, and it is vitally interested in effecting the schemes of improvement of the town, and it has eventually to take over the responsibilities and, what is more important, the assets of the Trust. The question, therefore, is a simple one. How can the Corporation be best represented on the Improvement Trust? It is represented by its Chairman and, as the Bill has left the Select Committee, it is represented by three elected members. When this Bill was introduced in Council there were only two elected members from the Corporation, and as the Bill was introduced it was proposed that one member should be elected by the Ward Commissioners and one by the Commissioners appointed under sub-section (2) of section 8 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1890. That seemed to be a reasonable means of obtaining a satisfactory representation of the Corporation. In the Select Committee it was decided that the representation of the Corporation should be increased, and an additional member was proposed. The question then arose, how that member should be elected. We had the benefit, on the Select Committee, of the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar who represents the Corporation in this Council. So far as my recollection goes, it was certainly his advice that the member elected should be elected by the Corporation as a whole."

The Hon'ble Mr. APCAR said:—

"May I explain, Sir? I was out-voted and said that I would bring this question up before Council."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said:—

"I am very sorry that my recollection was at fault, and that I have done in justice to the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar, but I think that I am not in fault in saying that this proposition was accepted without any serious discussion. I do not follow the mover of the amendment in his objection to the Corporation being represented by a Commissioner appointed under sub-section (2), section 8. I have the good fortune of being a member of the Corporation, and I have certainly failed to see any reason for believing that the members who sit on the Corporation, by virtue of this section, are any less devoted to their duties in the Corporation than the elected members. I claim that they are as much members of the Corporation as the members elected under sub-clause (1), and I, for my part, have seen no sign that any of them is ashamed of the position that he occupies. In Select Committee we had merely to add one representative of the Corporation and it seemed most natural and simple that he should be elected by the Corporation as a whole.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU, said :—

"Sir,—I hope in this instance I shall not meet with a strong opposition from the Hon'ble Member in charge, for it does not affect the Government at all. He seems to think that Government is entitled to have a completely upper hand over the deliberations and working of the Trust by a payment of Rs. 50 lakhs towards the improvement of a city. A Commission appointed by Government found that Government was largely responsible for the present state of affairs in Calcutta. I believe the Hon'ble Member, who is a new comer to Calcutta, is ignorant that up to 1888 there was no legislation by the Government of India or by the Government of Bengal which in any way sought to improve the sanitary condition of Calcutta buildings. It was in 1888 that the Municipal Act was passed, amalgamating the suburbs of Calcutta, and it was for the first time that sanitary ideas were introduced into the working of the municipality of Calcutta, and I believe it is nothing strange to him that sanitary ideas were in their infancy in England until a very recent time, and I believe no Government in Europe would say that because we make a contribution, however large it may be, towards the improvement of an area for whose state of things we are responsible, that you people who are now affected must have a subordinate part, and we must have an upper and preponderating part in the working of the institution which will carry out the reform. This is a claim which has been put forward for the first time by any responsible Government—a claim which, I must tell my friend, is absolutely unjustifiable and, if I may use a strong expression, preposterous, because, what is the extent of the contribution of the Government of India? My friend says there is the jute tax, there is the terminal tax. Well, the jute tax is protected by two members of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and one by the National Chamber of Commerce, and I suppose that is a sufficient protection. How much does my friend expect that the terminal charges will bring into the funds of the Trust and what proportion will have to be borne by the rate-paying public of Calcutta. As regards those who have to come to Calcutta, paying the terminal charges, I suppose my friend will admit that they enjoy much of the amenities which Calcutta provides for the comfort and convenience of those who live or spend some time in it. But apart from that consideration, we have never claimed that we should have a preponderating voice in the administration of this Trust. I do not see, nor I can understand, from where my friend brings forth that suggestion of preponderating influence in this Trust. We want some representation. Well, I am, on the other hand, disposed to think that, though the Government should have a preponderating, or may have a preponderating, influence, it ought not to have an overwhelming influence. My friend says that if need be the landlords or the Muhammadans or people like these may be consulted; but there is such a thing, I may tell my friend, even in India, as self-respect, and if we feel that we are merely advisers, hangers on on the outskirts, and not dwellers in the city, it is quite possible that there may be found men amongst us who, from no other motive but purely from self-respect, would decline to sit on the Board, and there may be men, even in India, who, from self-respect, will decline to associate themselves with the working of a committee like this. There was, on one occasion, I may tell my friend—he may know of it—that more than half the elected Commissioners of the Calcutta Corporation, out of self-respect, had to abstain from taking part in the municipality as it then was. Amongst them was my friend the late Rai N. N. Sen Bahadur who, alas, is no more. But, apart from that, I believe leaving to Government what is claimed for it by the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas its preponderating influence in this Trust, leaving all that, there will be no harm done if instead of one member being elected by the Ward Commissioners, two are elected by them. It will not affect the number, it will not affect the position of Government. You have given one vote to the nominated members, is it not unfair to the public of Calcutta? The elected members not only represent the so-called landlords of Calcutta, but they represent, what my friend says, those who only pay the occupiers' taxes. The European wards of Calcutta send their representatives to the Corporation just as the Indian wards do, and what I say is this, that if you allow the nominated members only to elect one member, you take away with one hand what you give with the other, because you cannot get out of the position that the election by the nominated members is the nomination of Government, for these 25 members, as I said on a previous occasion, consist of 15 nominated members, 12 of whom, I understand, at the present moment are Government officials, and 10 other members—of whom eight represent the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and the trades, and two the Port Commissioners. Consequently, that election is practically the nomination of Government. Is it necessary that this amount of preponderance should be reserved to Government, or would it not be more appropriate that the Government should have a working majority and not at the same time such an overwhelming majority as to make the presence of non-official members derogatory,—I will not say a mere farce but a matter of little use? Therefore, if out of the three men whom you have given to the Corporation, one is to be elected by the Corporation, where the Government men and others will vote equally, and two are given to the representative Commissioners and the elected Commissioners from the 25 wards, it does not affect the adjustment of power or the number, but at the same time it makes some concession to popular demands. Am I asking too much, or is the fact that I am asking too little? I hope, Sir, that my friend will see his way to accepting the suggestion that I have ventured to make."

A division was then taken, with the following result:—

The result of the division was ayes 13, noes 31, and the motion was therefore lost.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

47. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the word "two" be substituted for the word "one", in clause 7 (1) (a) [now 7 (1) (b).]
48. The Hon'ble Rai Baikuntha Nath Sen Bahadur to move that the word "two" be substituted for the word "one", in clause 7 (1) (a) [now 7 (1) (b).]
49. If Motion No. 20 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur to move that the word "two" be substituted for the word "one", in clause 7 (1) (a) [now 7 (1) (b).]
50. If Motion No. 21 be carried, the Hon'ble Mr. Apar to move that the word "two" be substituted for the word "one", in clause 7 (1) (a) [now 7 (1) (b).]
51. The Hon'ble Mr. Apar moved that clause 7 (1) (a) be omitted, and that the word "two" be substituted for the word "one", in clause 7 (1) (a) [now 7 (1) (b).]

He said :—

"Your Honour,—My amendment is in support of the representation that was made by the Corporation, so that I trust that Your Honour's Government and the members of this Council will at least pay some consideration to that representation. It is a matter, after all, of internal arrangement, if I may say so, and if the Corporation desire to be represented in the manner I indicate, I think that that ought to have weight. I am sorry myself, Sir, that the Hon'ble Member in charge referred to incidents in the Select Committee, because it may lead to disagreement, if not recrimination, if we refer in detail to occurrences in Committee, but I was outvoted, and my hon'ble friend on my left will remember that, when he found that he had acted on a misapprehension we tried to make things good, but the Hon'ble Member in charge would not allow the question to be reopened, and I at once said that I would bring the question up in Council. That was how the matter stood. But I think it is a question of some importance, and I do ask that when the Corporation, who were not able to come to an understanding as to the number of the Board, nevertheless in the representation they made recommended that the popular element should have a preponderating number given to them. I trust that it may be agreed to. Sir, I, perhaps, would not have had any need to move this amendment at all, if the Hon'ble Member in charge had conceded four members to the Corporation; and now, I do not seek to deprive the official members and the representatives of special constituencies, such as the Trades Association, Chamber of Commerce and Port Trust, of their member; but I submit that they should not vote in the election of a second member at the risk of ousting the direct representatives of the ratepayers. The officials will be sufficiently represented on the Board, and surely Government members of the Corporation are not wanted to reinforce that element on the Board. The representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Trades Association and Port Trust, may be ratepayers, but they represent certain special interests which have direct representation on the Board. They naturally have community of interest and will have mutual sympathy with and the support of the official members. I do not cavil at that, but I lay the greatest stress on the necessity of as many members on the Board as possible, who will be the direct representatives of ratepayers. We have not a sufficient number of them. Personally I am not in the least interested, but I clearly see it will be these members who will be in touch with the people of this country and poorer classes among them, and will be able to give much-needed assistance to the Board. On these grounds I submit my amendment for acceptance."

The Hon'ble RABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—

"Sir,—I had not understood Mr. Apcar's amendment until he explained it just now, and I am bound to confess that it is a better suggestion than the one I had made. He leaves the power of the nominated Commissioners just as it is, but, instead of giving them again a very large voice in the election of the popular representatives, he proposes that the two other representatives should be chosen by the elected Ward commissioners. I think that it is a very reasonable suggestion; it interferes with no one's powers or prerogatives as proposed in this Bill, and will, to some extent, satisfy the popular demand of having more than one representative on the Board."

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAS said:—

"I oppose this amendment, but, in doing so, I should be much obliged if the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar will inform me to what he referred, when he said that his amendment was supported by the Corporation."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR said:—

"I am supporting the representation of the Corporation. It will be found in the collection of opinions. I have not got a copy, but if only I could see one, I will show it at once. I was a member of the Committee of the Corporation, and I know that their representation was as I have stated it. I am perfectly clear in my mind that there was a question about the number that should form the Board. We could not come to a conclusion on that point, and then the agreement arrived at was in the form I have stated. I am sorry that I did not come prepared with a copy of the opinions. I did not suspect that any question could be raised on this point. But I believe that my recollection is quite correct."

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAS said:—

"Perhaps, it would clear matters if I say that the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar must be referring to something that occurred before the Select Committee decided to raise the number of the members of the Trust. When the Corporation considered the matter, it was of opinion that, if the Board had seven members, it would not sufficiently represent popular interests. But there was no question then as to how three representatives of the Corporation could best be elected. In the Select Committee, it was decided to recommend that the Corporation should have three elected members instead of two. I may say with confidence that, since that occurred in last February or March, the question has not been before the Corporation."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR said:—

"What the Hon'ble Member in charge has said is perfectly correct. The matter had been before the Corporation before it was referred to the Select Committee. But the principle that was there recommended was, as I have stated it, that the popular element should have larger representation. I submit that, if you give two members to the Ward Commissioners, you give a representation to the ratepayers. It is at all events quite clear from the report kindly handed to me by the Hon'ble Member in charge that what has been recommended was agreed to in our Committee, and it was accepted by the Corporation that the popular element should have a preponderating voice (paragraph 2 of the Corporation Special Committee's Report, page 3, papers No. 8). I understood that, and it seems quite clear, by the popular element, the Ward Commissioners or those whom they represent, were referred to; that is what I have submitted here, and I am supported in this by the Opinions to which I have been referred. Whether the Corporation made their recommendation before or after the Select Committee of this Council met is immaterial. Therefore, I think I may say that, so far as the Corporation are concerned, the desire they have expressed is that there should be larger representation given to popular interests; here there is not that representation given to popular interests. I say that what was really adopted in the Committee of the Corporation is that it should be the popular element, that is to say, the representatives of the tax-payers, in other words, the Ward Commissioners. This is the view, I submit, Sir, and I think what I have said is a reasonable view, and I think in all circumstances, inasmuch as it does not affect the Government, what the Corporation have submitted as their view ought to be accepted, and for this reason, I would ask the Council to accept my amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas said:—

"I think, we understand now that, when the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar said that it was the opinion of the Corporation, he referred to the opinion expressed during the discussion of the Corporation in September 1910, and, in opposing this amendment, I am not taking up the somewhat difficult position of opposing the considered opinion of the Corporation? The Corporation has made no recommendation in this matter at all, and I say now, as I said before, that the solution adopted by the Select Committee seems to be perfectly a reasonable one. We had, in the original Bill, one member to be elected by the Ward Commissioners, and one by the nominated Commissioners, and we have added a third to be elected by the Corporation sitting as a whole. We want a representative from the Corporation, and what reason there is for having a representative elected by the elected Commissioners, I fail to see; because it is not, as might be judged by the arguments of the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, that the nominated Commissioner was added in the Select Committee. What has been added on is one member elected by the Corporation."

The result of the division was ayes 12, noes 31, and the motion was therefore lost.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

52. If Motion No. 46 be carried, the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath
Basu to move that clause 7 (1) (b) [now 7 (1) (c)] be omitted.

53. If Motion No. 47 be carried, the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sar-badhikari to move that clause 7 (1) (b) [now 7 (1) (c)] be omitted.

54. If Motion No. 48 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Baikuntha Nath Sen
Bahadur to move that clause 7 (1) (b) [now 7 (1) (c)] be omitted.

Clause 7 (2a) [now 7 (3)].

55. If Motion No. 25 be carried, the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sar-badhikari to move that, after clause 7 (2a) [now 7 (3)], the following be inserted, namely:—

(2b) The member of the British Indian Association referred to in clause (21) of section 4 shall be elected under rules to be made by the Local Government.

56. If Motion No. 28 be carried, the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath
Basu to move that, after clause 7 (2a) [now 7 (3)], the following
be inserted, namely:—

(2b) The two members referred to in clause (23) of section 4, to be elected as representing the landholding classes of Calcutta, shall be elected under rules to be made by the Local Government under section 135.

57. If Motion No. 36 be carried, and if neither Motion No. 42 nor Motion No. 56 be carried, the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu to move that, after clause 7 (2a) [now 7 (3)], the following
be inserted, namely:—

(2b) Two of the persons referred to in clause (2) of section 4 shall be elected by the landholding classes of Calcutta under rules to be made by the Local Government under section 135.

58. If Motion No. 29 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur to move that, after clause 7 (2a) [now 7 (3)], the following be inserted, namely:—

(2b) The Local Government shall make rules to regulate the election of the member from the landholder class of Calcutta referred to in clause (2a) of section 4.

59. If Motion No. 30 be carried, the Hon'ble Maulvi Saiyid Muhammad Fakhr-ud-din to move that, after clause 7 (2a) [now 7 (3)], the following be inserted, namely:—

(2b) The representative of the Muhammadan community referred to in clause (2a) of section 4 shall be elected by a recognized association of Muhammadans specially authorized by the Local Government in that behalf.

Clause 7 (3) [now 7 (4)].

60. If Motion No. 59 be carried, the Hon'ble Maulvi Saiyid Muhammad Fakhr-ud-din to move that the words "the Secretary to the Muhammadan association referred to in sub-section (2b)," be inserted after the words "Bengal National Chamber of Commerce", in line 3 of clause 7 (3) [now 7 (4)].

Clause 9 (1).

61. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that, after the word "elected", in line 2 of clause 9 (1), the words "and for being" be inserted.

62. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that the words "to be" be substituted for the words "for being appointed, or elected", in lines 1 and 2 of clause 9 (1).

He said:—

"With your permission, Sir, I would ask that Motions Nos. 61 and 62 be considered together.

"If my amendment, which is purely formal, be accepted, clause 9 will run thus:—

"A person shall be disqualified for being appointed or elected and for being a trustee if, etc., as in the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899 (Ben. Act III of 1899), section 39, or if the alternative amendment (Motion No. 62) is accepted, which, to my mind, is still better and concise, the clause will run thus:—

"A person shall be disqualified to be a trustee", as in section 14, clause (1) of the Bombay Improvement Act.

"The reason why I suggest this alteration is that the disqualifications referred to in this clause not only affect the appointment or election of a Trustee, but also affect his acting or continuing to act as a Trustee after he is so appointed or elected, as is recognised in clause 15B (now 15), sub-clause 2 (1) of the Bill. The wording I propose is, I venture to submit, more concise and to the point and brings our Act into a line with the wording of the Calcutta Municipal Act and of the Bombay Act."

The Hon'ble Mr. WHARLER said:—

"These amendments are purely of a verbal nature, and they do not add anything to the Bill. The first is taken from the Calcutta Municipal Act, and the second from the Bombay Act, while, as a matter of fact, the Bill meets all the requirements of the case. A trustee is made, not born, and he can only be made by appointment or election. If these processes are both barred, he is sufficiently incapable of becoming a Trustee."

The amendments were then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

13. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "or bankrupt" be inserted after the word "insolvent", in clause 9 (1) (b).

He said :—

"Sir,—This amendment is not one strictly of drafting. I desire to have the words 'or bankrupt' inserted after the word 'insolvent' in clause 9 (1) (b), for the simple reason that there may be a doubt as to whether the word 'insolvent', as understood under the Indian Act, really covers a bankrupt in England. Till of late there has been a distinction, under the English law, between traders and non-traders. That difference has been removed, and traders and non-traders may be indiscriminately bankrupts. It is conceivable that some one may be declared a bankrupt in England, under a variety of circumstances, most of which may be applied to this country, but not all. It would be a state of things under which, although he would not be an insolvent in the sense we understand here, he might be a bankrupt. For this reason, I desire to insert the word 'bankrupt' after the word 'insolvent', so that both the classes may be covered."

The Hon'ble MR. WHEELER said :—

"The point is not of great importance, and the Hon'ble Member apparently relies on section 14(1)(a) of the Bombay Act, which contains the expression 'bankrupt or insolvent.' It is a technical matter, but we are informed by the legal advisors of Government that the amendment will really add nothing to the Bill, and that the word 'bankrupt' is not a term which is ordinarily used in Indian legislation. If the Hon'ble Member will refer to the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act, he will see that the word used there is 'insolvent' throughout. I think the amendment adds nothing."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—

"In that view of things I do not wish to press it, but I wanted to bring it to the notice of the Council."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

84. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the word "other", at the end of line 1 of clause 9 (1) (c), be omitted.

He said :—

"Sir,—This motion also is not so much a matter of drafting as of intention. It is possible for a director or secretary or manager may not to be salaried, although generally, in most companies, directors, secretaries, managers are salaried, in some cases they are not. Therefore, the omission of the word 'other' would make the section run thus: 'is a Director or a Secretary, Manager or salaried officer of any incorporated company', so that the salaried officers may be classed by themselves and the directors may not be left out either."

The Hon'ble MR. WHEELER said :—

"Here again the point is merely verbal, and the amendment perhaps proceeds on a misreading of the clause, which refers to (1) directors and (2) secretaries, managers or other salaried officers. If the Hon'ble Member omits the word 'other', then it might be said that the clause infers that 'secretaries' or 'managers' are not salaried officers. I think it is purely a matter of drafting."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—

"In that view of things, I do not wish to press it."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

85. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that the words "has any share or interest in any contract or employment with, by or" be substituted for the words "contracts with, or is employed by, the President", in clause 9 (1) (c).

The motion was put and agreed to.

show

Clause 9 (2).

66. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu moved that the word "a" before the word "contract," in line 2 of clause 9 (2), be omitted.

The Hon'ble Mr. Wheeler said:—

"That also we accept."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

67. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu to move that the words "any transaction with the Board in relation to" be inserted after the words "interest in," in line 4 of clause 9 (2).

68. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the word "other," in line 3 of the concluding paragraph of clause 9, be omitted.

69. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that the words "has any share or interest in any contract or employment with, by, or," be substituted for the words "contracts with, or is employed by, the President," in lines 3 and 4 of the concluding paragraph in clause 9.

The Hon'ble Mr. Wheeler said:—

"This is analogous to No. 65 and may also be accepted."

The motion was put and agreed to.

70. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that at the end of clause 9 the following be inserted, namely:—

or by reason only of his rendering occasional professional service to the Board.

He said:—

"Sir, with regard to this, I beg to refer the Council to clause 9(a) under which a person shall be disqualified from being appointed or elected a Trustee if he has, directly or indirectly, by himself or by any partner, employer or employee, any share or interest in any contract or employment with, by, or on behalf of, the Board. With regard to highly technical matters, it is difficult to get expert advisers in this country, and if all should, by reason of having to render occasional service to the Board in their professional capacity, be incapacitated for all time, the Government and the Board may find it difficult with regard to highly technical experts. In that view of things I think that if a little relaxation like this should be provided, that no one who occasionally renders professional advice to the Board should be incapacitated or disqualified."

The Hon'ble Mr. Wheeler said:—

"As the Hon'ble Member explains, the object of the amendment is to protect the occasional practitioners, I resume the legal practitioners, practising before the Board, but I think it is unnecessary. It could only be held that such are debarred under clause 9(d) as having a share or interest in a contract or employment with, by or on behalf of, the Board. But the word used is 'has', and that implies that the employment must be existing at the time. It would not apply to occasional work done in the past. Also it is arguable that the employment must be of a fairly continuous character. As the clause stands, a Trustee could not appear on behalf of the Board, nor could any body of the nature of Standing Council to the Board be appointed as a Trustee, and I do not think any reasonable objection could be taken to that. The wording of the clause is exactly the same as that of section 99(f) of the Calcutta Act."

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said:—

"Sir, I confess, sir, that a lawyer was the farthest away from my mind, because my lawyer friends well know and will testify that as there are many in the field and the Board will have no difficulty in regard to them. But the greater difficulty will come with regard to engineers and possibly medical gentlemen also. It was really a matter of sanitary and engineering experts. In bringing this to the notice of the Council, I was trying to help the Board, because it must not be considered—as is unfortunately sometimes considered—that our object is only to be obstructive in whatever we bring up. We have pointed out whatever has struck us as incorrect. If the Hon'ble Member does not think it necessary, I do not press it."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 10.

71. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that after the word "office," in line 2 of clause 10, the following be inserted, namely:— or do any other work for remuneration.

He said—

"Sir, we want a whole-time President and an absolutely bona fide President, and that is a reason, why I want to bring in the words 'or do any other work for remuneration.' Without positively holding another salaried office, it ought not to be impossible for highly qualified gentlemen like the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas (who is likely to fill the office of the President of the Board) to earn money by a variety of ways that are known to cultured earners of money, not exactly by becoming University examiners, which is one way of making a little money—but even which has been objected to by Government in certain cases if indulged in without the leave of the Government. To leave no possibility of a highly paid officer devoting his time for purposes other than those of the Board, I think that these qualifying or restrictive words ought to be brought in.

The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas said:—

"Sir, I must oppose this amendment. The section as it stands in the Bill provides that the President should not hold any other salaried office and shall devote his whole time and attention to his duties under this Act. That is what the Hon'ble Mover really wants. He asks for a guarantee that the President should devote his whole time to the Board. I think the clause sufficiently provides for that. But the amendment goes too far. In the Calcutta Municipal Act the corresponding provision expressly provides that the Chairman may be a Port Commissioner; so in the same way it is conceivable that the President of the Trust may be a Port Commissioner drawing fees or a member of the General Committee of the Corporation. If the Chairman were a man of literary tastes, it is quite possible that he might publish a book, or occasionally write for the press without detriment to his duties. There is no reason to forbid this, and the amendment goes too far."

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said:—

"Sir, none would welcome more than myself literary and, therefore, I take it, a cultured President of the Board. Sir, the exception for which this clause provides would amply safeguard requirements like these, if the Government sees fit to permit and if the President happens to have leisure enough for becoming a member of the General Committee of the Corporation, and if the Government thinks fit to allow him to do so. The Government will be the best judge of the situation."

The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas said:—

"If the Hon'ble Member's amendment is accepted it would have no such power."

"The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, said—"I do not see that at all, and would therefore press my amendment for what it is worth. Of course, even too much literature may not be good for the President of the Board and his literary bend may take him away from his work in the same way as the Chairman's attention may be diverted if he was too much of a Trustee of the Board or anything of that kind. I think that with regard to everything that carries either a salary or remuneration, the President ought to be under the orders of the Government, and the acceptance of my amendment would not necessarily hamper the discretion of Government in allowing exceptions in such cases in which it ought to be allowed. I, therefore, ask that my amendment may be put to the vote.

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

Clause 11.

72. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu to move that after the words "may be entitled," in line 2 of sub-clause (2), the words, "under sub-section (3)," be inserted.

Clause 14(1) [now 12(1).]

73. The Hon'ble Kai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that the words "on the recommendation or at the request of the Board," be substituted for the words, "after consultation with the Board," in clause 14(1) [now 12(1)].

He said—

"Sir, I beg to move that the words, 'on the recommendation or at the request of the Board,' be substituted for the words, 'after consultation with the Board,' in clause 14(1), [now 12(1)] which has reference to the leave to be granted to the President of the Board. The words, 'after consultation with the Board,' have been added by the Select Committee—I presume to meet the case that the Board should have effective voice in the matter of granting leave to the President. The expression used, however, is objectionable and does not go far enough. If it is intended that the Board will be consulted, but it will be optional with Government to accept the Board's advice or not, it should be distinctly stated. Further, if that is the intention, it is no concession at all and the words added by the Select Committee will be of no practical use.

"In the case of the Chairman of the Calcutta Corporation, it is the Corporation which grants leave with the sanction of the Government (see section 95 of the Calcutta Municipal Act). It is not clear why a different procedure is contemplated in the case of the Board. My submission is that if the power of granting leave to the President be not given to the Board in the case of the Chairman of the Corporation, it should be given only on the recommendation or at the request of the Board."

The Hon'ble Mr. Slacks said :—

"I am afraid, Sir, I cannot advise the Council to accept this amendment. In the case of the Chairman of the Calcutta Corporation leave can be granted him by Government subject to the rules which the Corporation may frame on the subject. Here the case is very different. The bulk of the finances of the Trust will be found by Government, and therefore it is not necessary that Government should require the permission of the Board before granting the President leave. For these reasons I oppose the amendment and ask the Council to reject it."

The motion was then put and lost.

74. The Hon'ble Mr. Apear moved that the words "or depute him to other duties," in clause 14 (1) [now 12(1)] be omitted.

He said :—

"The provision to which we take exception, evidently is intended for application to the members of the Civil Service. It is easy to see that the office of President will be a prize appointment among the rising juniors of that service, and I do not think that we shall be asking too much from one selected for that appointment to be prepared to serve, and feel bound to serve, for a period of not less than three years, which I think only too short for such a position—without breaking into his work to go elsewhere on what is termed deputation. His will be work that will require many more years of experience for efficient administration than three years, at the end of which he will have only about begun to prove his usefulness. If the President has earned his leave by service in that office, or if he breaks down in health, no one would grudge him his holiday, to recuperate and return to his duties, with renewed vigour. But if he is going away, possibly to a work that will be more anxious and more tiring to his energies—and this may possibly happen—he will return to his own duties more jaded than before, and perhaps only to lead to an application for leave.

"The work of the President will be of a special character which will require special study and aptitude. Leave that has become due and ill-health will give occasion for a sufficiency of interruptions in the continuity of service which is so essential for efficient work, and I trust that the Government will be induced to yield to the representations that are being made on this issue.

The President said:—

"As four of the motions are identical, I think it would be better that the Hon'ble Members should speak now."

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said:—

"Sir, I do not wish to cover the same ground that has already been covered by my Hon'ble friend to the left. All that I desire to remind the Council about is the case of the Calcutta Corporation, where frequent changes in the office of the Chairman have been looked upon and pronounced to be seriously interfering with the work of the Corporation to the extent that was mentioned in connection with the Municipal Bill in 1899. For the reasons which the Hon'ble Mr. Apear has suggested, I beg to associate myself with him in opposing this deputation of the President."

The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu said:—

"Sir, I beg to support my friends, and I wish to say that we, people of Calcutta, have felt—and in that I include my friends, the members for the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and the Trades Association—that too frequent interruptions have not been conducive to efficient work, and we want to safeguard our future President of the Board against the temptations of Government utilising his services for other work. We desire that he should, so long as he continues to be the President, devote his whole energy and attention to the work of the Board, and that Government may not feel tempted to take him away. If Government wishes to take him away, let it take him away for good. He comes there for a certain time and let him stay for a certain time. I do not think that Government will unnecessarily take him away, but we must protect ourselves against that contingency."

The Hon'ble Mr. Stewart said:—

"Your Honour, I beg to submit that, from my practical point of view, there is much to be said for the amendment which is now under discussion, especially in looking to the short tenure which is proposed to the President of the Trust. I hope therefore that the amendment will commend itself to the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill."

The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke said:—

"I regret that I cannot accept this amendment, since it seems to me that Government, as has already been admitted by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, will never unnecessarily exercise the power which is proposed to be given under this clause. Moreover, the clause provides that the power in question should not be exercised without consultation with the Board. It seems to me unreasonable to imagine that if the Board strongly oppose, the Government will reject their opinion. In these circumstances I do not think there is any sufficient cause for apprehension, and would recommend that this amendment be rejected."

The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas said:—

"May I add a few words to what has been said by the Hon'ble the Vice-President. I thoroughly sympathise with the desire expressed by the movers of this amendment that there should be as much continuity in the service of the President as possible. The words 'depute him to other duties' were inserted by the Select Committee with the object of attaining greater continuity than was possible otherwise. If the Local Government has only power to grant the President of the Board leave, it cannot depute him to other duties. It is, however, conceivable that some temporary vacancy may occur and the President may be allowed to fill that vacancy for three months, and then come back and do the work as President of the Trust, whereas, if he cannot be deputed to any other post he must resign, and his successor must be appointed for a full period of three years. The President of the Trust who has done three years' work and is willing to do another year's work will be prevented from doing so. It may be desirable also to depute the President of the Trust to attend a Town Planning Conference or some special work of that kind which will harmonise with his work as President of the Trust. If this amendment is accepted, it will not be possible to do so. It was with these facts in view that we inserted the words, which are now objected to, while the Bill was in the Select Committee.

The Hon'ble Mr. Apoor said:—

"Sir, one is put in rather an invidious position by reason of the grounds given for maintaining the present position, because it is open to the question for whose benefit this provision is inserted? Does it not occur to the Member in charge that if the President may go on deputation that he does not intend to make his work on the Board his career, even during his short period of service in that office? And that if this power is to be reserved to him merely to enable him to create a lien on an appointment, the law is made to serve the interest of his service and not the public? It seems evident that if he is allowed to look out for other appointments his mind will be filled with thoughts how to secure his own advancement, and that clause 10 which requires him to devote his whole time and attention to the duties as President will be disregarded. I think, Sir, the weakness of the present proposal on the Bill has been disclosed. I do not, however, wish to take up your Honour's time, but it does seem to me that this temptation ought to be eliminated altogether from this Bill, so as to induce the President of the Board to understand that he is not to look to any other appointment at all during the period he is serving there. I do not think that it is consistent with proper regard for the public interests that he should be allowed to go on deputation to other duties."

A division was then taken, with the following result:—

84. If Motion No. 74 be carried, the Hon'ble Mr. Apar to move that the words "or deputed to other duties," in clause 15(1) [now 13(1)] be omitted.
85. If Motion No. 75 be carried, the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "or deputed to other duties," in clause 15 (1) [now 13(1)] be omitted.
86. If Motion No. 76 be carried, the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu to move that the words "or deputed to other duties," in clause 15(1) [now 13(1)] be omitted.
87. If Motion No. 77 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur to move that the words "or deputed to other duties," in clause 15(1) [now 13(1)] be omitted.

Clause 15(3) [now 13(3)].

88. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that the words "so far as may be," in line 3 of clause 15(3) [now 13(3)] be omitted.

He said:—

"The words here used 'so far as may be' are objectionable and ought to be omitted.

"It is curious that these words 'so far as may be' in the Bill do not govern the powers which may be exercised by an acting President; but only govern his liabilities, restrictions and conditions.

"I confess I cannot understand the significance of these words. They are vague and may mean anything. Moreover, I beg to point out that these words are innovations in the Bill. They do not find a place either in the Calcutta Municipal Act, section 35, clause (6), or Bombay Improvement Act, section 22 (3), where the liabilities, restrictions and conditions of the acting Chairman of the Calcutta Corporation and of the Bombay Improvement Trust respectively are referred to and from which the language of the present section in the Bill is borrowed almost word for word. It is not clear as to why these new words are introduced in the present Bill. They are out of place and ought to be omitted. They will mean that the Legislature intended to reduce the liabilities of the acting President."

The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas said:—

"Perhaps I may say that I am prepared to accept the amendment."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

89. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "so far as may be," in line 3 of clause 15(3) [now 13 (3)] be transferred to the end of that clause.

Clause 15A (now 14).

90. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the word "three" be substituted for the word "six" in line 4 of clause 15A (now 14).

He said:—

"We have all been told that continuity is a great point of these Boards. The President is now to be deputed; he is to have all the leave that is entitled to and wants and the Trustees also are to be allowed no doubt under proper circumstances leave from the meetings of the Boards; but six months seems to be too long a period, and therefore I beg to move that the word 'three,' be substituted. This ought to be sufficient for ordinary purposes."

The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas said:—

"I must oppose this amendment, partly because if it is accepted it will involve a great many subsequent consequential amendments which have not been provided for, and partly because six months' leave in the circumstances that exist in Calcutta seems to be a very natural period. A great many people, both European and Indian gentlemen, go on six months' leave to England. It was decided in the Select Committee that six months' leave should be granted to Trustees, and if any of them overstays his leave, he will forfeit his appointment. That seems to me a very reasonable solution of the difficulty, and I trust that the members of the Council will not go against the decision arrived at by the Select Committee."

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said:—

"Sir, so far as the subsequent arrangement is concerned, if it was acceptable I have given notice of a series of amendments for the purpose of meeting that. The Trustees hold office for no more than three years, I believe. Under a subsequent clause 16 (1), if any trustee be permitted by the Board to absent himself for any period exceeding three months, then the vacancy shall be filled within one month by a fresh appointment or election. Well, Sir, we had this provision later on, and it seems to me a matter of doubtful expediency to allow longer leave which is proposed to be done by clause 15 (a). I do believe, Sir, that the continuity is bound to be disturbed by these absences, and this is my reason for proposing this amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

91. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that the word "consecutive" be inserted before the word "months," in line 4 of clause 15A (now 14).

"This is a verbal amendment. I suppose the intention is that leave may be granted for any period not exceeding six months at a time and that it will not be against this section if leave is granted in an aggregate for more than six months not at one time. If it is not made clear, the section may mean that the aggregate period of leave to the trustee during period of his tenure of office cannot exceed six months. The words 'consecutive months' have been used in clause 15B (now 15), clauses (b) and (c), and my suggestion is that in this section also we should use the words 'consecutive months' to make it clear."

The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas said :—

"I am advised that this amendment is unnecessary, and certainly it seems to me to be so. The months in a period of six months must be consecutive. I oppose this amendment."

The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur said :—

"If 'six months' means 'six consecutive months' I fail to see why in the very next clause 15B (now 15), clause (b), the Hon'ble Member has used the expression 'six consecutive months,' and in clause 15B (now 15), sub-clause (c), he has used the expression 'three consecutive months.' I submit the insertion of the word 'consecutive' in one place and its omission from another place in the Bill will certainly lead to an interpretation that 'six months' does not necessarily mean 'six consecutive months'."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 15B(1) [now 15(1).]

92. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that the words "remove any" be substituted for the words "declare that any Trustee shall cease to be a," in line 2 of clause 15B (1) [now 15(1).]

He said :—

"This is a verbal amendment. The words I propose to use seems to be more clear and appropriate and have been used in the Bengal Municipal Act, section 19 and section 20, Bengal Local Self-Government Act, section 18. In fact, in the marginal note we have the word 'Removal' used. There is no reason why we should not adopt this simple word in the body of the Act also."

The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas said :—

"We are advised that this amendment, which the Hon'ble Member himself admits to be purely verbal, is unnecessary and also not desirable from a drafting point of view."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

93. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that clause 15B(1) (a) [now 15(1) (a)] be omitted.

He said :—

"I may be permitted to take up motions Nos. 93 and 94 together.

"Section 21A provides that a Trustee shall not take part in proceedings in which he is personally interested or has acted professionally on behalf of any person having such interest. Section 15 lays down as a penalty that if he does so take part in proceedings in which he is personally interested he may be removed. It appears to me that the penalty is very hard, specially in those cases in which he might have acted owing to inadvertence, or in the bona fide belief that he was not so personally interested as to have debarred him from taking part in the proceedings. In many cases it will be found that he had satisfactory and reasonable explanation for his action. My submission is that the penalty as provided for in this section is too drastic and should be altogether removed.

"In any case, if it is retained, it should be provided that he may be removed only if he has acted in contravention of section 21A without reasonable explanation."

The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas said:—

"Sir, I must oppose this amendment. Clause 15B (now 15) of the Bill deals with the removal of the Trustees. Sub-clause (2) gives the reasons which make it compulsory for the Local Government to remove a Trustee, and in sub-clause (1) are given the causes which make it optional with the Government to remove a Trustee. One of those causes to which the Hon'ble Member objects is that the Trustee has acted in contravention of clause 21A, that is to say, if he has taken any part in any proceedings in which he is personally interested without disclosing the fact. Now, the Improvement Trust is going to exercise very great powers. It will have great powers in interfering with private property. Therefore, it is desirable that the conduct of the Trust should be above suspicion. In England, in the corresponding section of the law, the punishment is more drastic. In England, if a trustee is personally interested and does not disclose the fact, he is fined £50 before the Magistrate. Clearly the Government would not exercise the power of dismissal without giving the trustee the opportunity to explain his conduct. That the Government would not do so seems to me entirely imaginary, considering the position of the men who are to be appointed or elected as trustees. In the interest of the public and in the interest of the confidence which the public will have in the Trust, I recommend that the amendment should be opposed."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motions were, by the leave of the President, withdrawn:—

94. If motion No. 93 be not carried, the Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur to move that the words "without satisfactory explanation" be inserted after the word "has" in clause 15B (1) (a) [now 15(1) (a).]
95. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the word "three" be substituted for the word "six" in line 2 of clause 15B (1) (b) [now 15(1) (b).]
96. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that clause 15B (1) (c) [now 15(1) (c)] be omitted.
97. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the word "whose" be substituted for the words "and if his," in lines 1 and 2 of clause 15B (1) (d) [now 15(1) (d).]
98. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur to move that after clause 15B (1) (d) [now 15(1) (d)], the following be inserted, namely:— and thereupon the office of such Trustee shall become vacant.

Clause 15B (2) [now 15(2).]

99. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur to move that the words "remove any" be substituted for the words "declare that a Trustee shall cease to be a," in line 2 of clause 15B (2) [now 15(2).]

100. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur to move that the words "for appointment or election as a Trustee" in clause 15B (2) (i) [now 15 (2) (i)] be omitted.
101. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that clause 15B (2) (ii) [now 15 (2) (ii)] be omitted.
102. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that clause 15B (2) (ii) [now 15 (2) (ii)] be omitted.

He said:—

"This clause lays down that a trustee elected by a particular body shall cease to be a trustee if and when he is not a member of that body. This is not the provision in the Calcutta Municipal Act or even in the Rules for election of members to the Legislative Council.

If this section stands as drafted, constant changes may have to be made in the body of the trustees. I know that this is borrowed from the Bombay Act, but my submission is that it is desirable that it should be omitted."

The Hon'ble Mr. Wheeler said:—

"I submit that the clause should be retained. It is really one which has been inserted in the interests of the bodies who will elect certain representatives on the Trust, and all that is said is that, if any person has been elected to the Trust as representing a particular body, and ceases to be a member of that body, he thereby loses the qualification under which he sits on the Trust, and to retain him on the Trust after he ceases to be a member of the body which elected him is practically to disenfranchise them. This seems scarcely fair, and I think the clause should be retained."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

103. If motion No. 30 be carried the Hon'ble Maulvi Saiyid Muhammad Fakir-ud-din to move that the words "or the representative of the Muhammadan community" be inserted after the words "The Bengal National Chamber of Commerce," in clause 15B (2) (ii) [now 15 (2) (ii)].

Clause 15B (3) [now 15 (3)].

104. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the word "is" be substituted for the words "has shown himself to be," in line 2 of clause 15B (3) [now 15 (3)].

He said:—

"This is a matter of drafting, and if the Hon'ble Member in charge does not accept it, I will not press it."

The motion was not accepted, and was, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

105. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur to move that the words "remove him" be substituted for the words "declare that the President shall cease to hold office as such," at the end of clause 15B (3) [now 15 (3)].
106. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu moved that the words "remove him from his office" be substituted for the words "by notification declare that the President shall cease to hold office as such," at the end of clause 15B (3) [now 15 (3)].

He said:—

"In this amendment, I seek to eliminate the laying down in the particular manner in which the removal of the President should take place. It is a matter for the Hon'ble Member in charge to consider. But I do not intend to press it."

The Hon'ble Mr. WHEELER said:—

"It is to be hoped that the necessity of applying this clause will never arise. If unfortunately it does, the facts must be publicly known, and there is no objection to adhering to the procedure of a notification declaring the President to have ceased to hold office. The proposed amendment does not materially improve matters."

The Hon'ble BAPU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—

"In that view of things I withdraw this amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

Clause 16.

107. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur to move that the word "consecutive" be inserted before the word "months," in line 3 of clause 16.

108. If motions Nos. 92 and 99 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur to move that the words "is removed" be substituted for the words "ceases to hold the office of Trustee," in lines 5 and 8 of clause 16.

Clause 16A (now clause 17).

109. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu moved that the words "not being less than thirty days from the commencement of this Act," in lines 3 and 4 of clause 16A (1) [now 17 (1)], be omitted.

He said:—

"Is it not necessary to provide for this amendment?"

The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas said:—

"I accept this amendment, Sir."

The motion was put and agreed to.

110. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu moved that after clause 16A (2) (c) [now 17 (2) (c)] the following be inserted, namely:—

Provided that a Trustee appointed or elected in the place of an outgoing Trustee shall not hold office longer than the period at the expiration of which such outgoing Trustee would have had to vacate office.

He said:—

"Does the department concerned consider this necessary? I only provided this to make it clear as to the term of the office of a trustee or his successor. If it is not considered necessary, I do not press for it."

The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas said:—

"The clause was introduced in the amended Bill to secure greater continuity of service. We do not want that the whole body of trustees should change office at once. I oppose it on principle."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

The Council was then adjourned to Wednesday, the 16th August, 1911, at 11 A.M.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

FORFEITURE OF BUNDS, ETC.

The Hon'ble BABU BRAJA KISHOR PRASAD asked :—

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it has considered the two memorials submitted to it, one after the other, by the people of Champaran, each of which was signed both by certain of the European planting community and certain of the Indian zamindars of the district, praying the Government to rescind its notification published in one of the issues of the Calcutta Gazette of May, 1910, forfeiting to Government all the bunds, pynees, etc., to the north of the Tribeni Canal?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state what orders it has passed on the said memorials?

The Hon'ble Mr. BUTLER replied :—

"The matters referred to by the memorialists are under the consideration of Government."

THE CALCUTTA IMPROVEMENT BILL, 1911.

Clause 14 (2a) [now 9 (1)] in the Schedule to the Bill.

The PRESIDENT said :—

"I had hoped that what I said yesterday as to the views of the Government of India, on the question of additional compensation for compulsory acquisition, was sufficiently clear, and I believe it was understood by the Members of the Council. I observe, however, that in the newspapers it is not correctly reported. To remove any possible misapprehension, I will state again that what the Government of India have held is that the provisions of clause 14 (2a) [now 9 (1)] of the Schedule, referred to in clause 61 C (b) [now 71 (b)] of the main Bill, are to be taken as embodying fundamental matters of principle, any modifications of which will involve the reconsideration of the amount of assistance which the Government of India are prepared to give to the Trust."

Clause 17 (now 18).

111. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that the word "other", in line 3 of clause 17 (b) [now 18 (b)], be omitted.

He said :—

"I beg to move that the word 'other', in line 3 of clause 17 (b) [now 18 (b)], be omitted. I do not know what the word 'other' here means. The word 'other' has been added by the Select Committee, with what object I have failed to discover. The President can call a meeting whenever he thinks fit. The privilege of making requisition to call a special meeting is given to not less than two Trustees. What is the significance of the word 'other' here? If it means that the President must not be one of them, the safeguard seems to be unnecessary as the President can always act singly. The Bombay Act, section 18, clause (b), the Calcutta Municipal Act, section 77, and the Provincial Municipal Act, section 39, do not contain the word 'other' as in this Bill, and I suggest that it may be omitted."

The Hon'ble Mr. WHEELER said :—

"The justification for the word 'other' is to be found in clause 4 of the Bill, under which the President is a Trustee. The object of inserting it was to provide for the calling of a special meeting on the requisition of two of the other members."

The Hon'ble RAI SHIBA SHANKAR SAHAY BAHADUR said :—

"Two Trustees in any case will be other than the President. If the President wishes to call a meeting, he can of his own accord call a meeting. The word 'other' has no meaning here and is unnecessary."

The motion was then put and lost.

112. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that the words "of" and "existing", in line 2 of clause 17 (d) [now 18 (d)], be omitted.

He said :—

"This is a formal amendment, and I beg to move that the words 'of' and 'existing', in line 2 of clause 17 (d) [now 18 (d)], be omitted. As it stands, Sir, it is not so objectionable, but I would ask Your Honour to read it along with sub-clause 3 of clause 19 (now 21) on the next page. In one place we have the words 'half of the existing number', and in another place 'half the number' is used obviously in the same sense. There seems to be some difference: if there is any difference it should be clearly specified. I would point out, Sir, that this question about quorum is a very important question which will affect the action of the Board in certain respects, and may form the subject of judicial decision.

The Hon'ble MR. WHEELER said :—

"I do not think that there can be any reasonable objection to the wording of the clause as it stands. It may be possible that, from time to time, there will be vacancies among the Trustees, and a short interval in filling them up, and it is desirable to leave no doubt as to the number with reference to which the quorum is to be calculated. The discrepancy with clause 19 (3) [now 21 (3)], to which the Hon'ble Member has drawn attention, does not really exist, because that has reference to a committee, and a person who was not a member of the Trust at the time is not in the least likely to be appointed to a committee, the duration of which is temporary. The only objection to the wording of the clause would be if there was some danger of business being run through without the presence of a reasonable number of members, and that is not in the least probable."

The motion was then put and lost.

113. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that the words "the Trustees present shall choose one of their number to preside" be substituted for the words "one of the Trustees present, who is chosen by the others who are present", in clause 17 (e) [now 18 (e)].

He said :—

"I beg to move that the words 'the Trustees present shall choose one of their number to preside' be substituted for the words 'one of the Trustees present, who is chosen by the others who are present'. The wording used in this clause is, I submit, not very happy. It does not follow the wording of the Bombay Improvement Act, section 18, clause (d), nor that of the Calcutta Municipal Act, section 81, clause (2). It is so worded as to exclude the person so chosen from taking part in his own election. My submission is that the wording of the Calcutta Municipal Act be adopted."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said :—

"I beg to support this objection with Your Honour's permission. The difficulty which has been pointed out by my friend, the Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur, is, I think, a real difficulty, because the President of the meeting will be chosen in the absence of the President by all the members present, so that the person who is going to preside before he does preside will have the vote. Otherwise, the man who would preside will have to be kept aside and the others will vote for him. That will create a difficulty in the mode of selection. I think that, by the adoption of the words recommended in the amendment, the difficulty will disappear."

The Hon'ble MR. WHEELER said :—

"I am afraid, Sir, I am somewhat at a loss to discover where the difficulty comes in. The wording of the clause is, 'the person to preside at a meeting shall be the President, or, in his absence from any meeting, one of the Trustees present, who is chosen by the others who are present.' The proposal is to substitute that 'the Trustees present shall choose one of their number to preside.' It seems to me to be practically the same thing. If I have understood the argument of the Hon'ble Member, it is that the Trustee elected as President should not vote for himself. This can scarcely be avoided, because there is no possible means of knowing beforehand who will be chosen."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—

"Well, Sir, when the election does take place, it will be invalidated by reason of the man who is chosen by the others having voted for himself, so that if 'A' is going to preside, he could not have voted either for himself or for anybody else."

The PRESIDENT said:—

"Is it that the Hon'ble Mr. Wheeler does not see any possible objection to the form of the wording?"

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—

"I do not think so. It is in the definition 'one of the Trustees present, who is chosen by the others who are present.' It is in apposition to the word 'one'. I do, therefore, feel that there is a difficulty."

The Hon'ble MR. WHEELER said:—

"I see no harm in accepting the amendment, although I do not quite appreciate the advantage of it."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

114. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that, for clause 17(e) [now 18(e)], the following be substituted, namely:—

(e) the President shall preside at all meetings, but, in his absence from any meeting or during any portion of the proceedings of any meeting, any other Trustee elected by the other Trustees present may preside.

He said:—

"I did not propose this amendment as a matter of principle so much as one of wording, and, if it appeals to the department it may be adopted; otherwise, under the canon that I have laid down for myself with regard to these amendments, I do not press it. If it is adopted, I find my own wording is capable of improvement, and the word 'other,' between 'any' and 'Trustee', may be left out, which, I think, would also meet the last amendment that has been adopted."

The Hon'ble MR. WHEELER said:—

"I think, Sir, that the adoption of the amendment, which has just been accepted, removes the difficulty, and the Hon'ble Member will probably not press this further change."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

Clause 17A(1) [now 19(1)].

115. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "associate with themselves" be substituted for the words "add to their number", in line 1 of clause 17A(1) [now 19(1)].

He said:—

"Sir,—In place of the words 'add to their number' I propose the substitution of the words 'associate with themselves', for this reason, Sir, that the addition to the number may involve having rights which are inconsistent with those that are given to the co-opted members,—a word which finds place in the University Act. I take it that these members are to be called in for the purpose of advice or assistance, and, although, later on, I move an amendment which, if adopted, will give them the right of voting with regard to particular questions that they may be called to assist in, there would be an object in making it quite clear that, when they are called in, they are not called in as members but as associates whose advice and assistance the Board would like to have, and which the self-respect of my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, would not stand in the way of their rendering."

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAS said:—

"Sir,—I should be willing to accept this and the consequential amendments if it were not that amendments 118 and 120 stand for debate. If those amendments are rejected, I agree that the words 'associate with themselves' are preferable to the words 'added to the Board'. And with your approval, Sir, I would suggest that this amendment should stand over until we see the fate of amendments 118 and 120."

The PRESIDENT said:—

"Do you agree to that suggestion?"

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—

"Sir,—Without claiming to be a very good prophet, I can foresee the fate of that amendment, if the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas fails to do so. I do, however, think that the substitution would be an improvement, and, for once I am glad that my hon'ble friend thinks that anything which comes from us is likely to be suitable. Though it will help the adoption of these words, I do not wish to stand in the way of the arrangement which the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas proposes."

The PRESIDENT said:—

"Then we will take 116 and 116 after 120."

The motion was then postponed.

The following motion was also postponed:—

Clause 17A(2) [now 19(2)].

116. If Motion No. 115 be carried, the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "associated with themselves by the Board" be substituted for the words "added to the Board", in line 1 of clause 17A(2) [now 19(2)].

117. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the word "may" be substituted for the words "shall have a right to", in line 2 of clause 17A(2) [now 19(2)].

He said:—

"Sir,—This is a crucial matter, and I think that, self-respect or no respect, people, who are called in to assist and advise the Board with regard to special and technical matters that may be particularly within their purview, ought to be given some status on the Board with regard to that particular question. If that was not the intention, they might as well have been called in as expert witnesses to give the Board the benefit of their advice with regard to the matter that might be pending before the Board. In order to enable the Board to get the proper kind of men it would be essential to give them some idea of being able really and truly to assist the Board, and not to be so many figure-heads or witnesses called in for the purpose of merely getting their ideas and opinions. For that reason, I propose that, so far as the particular matter in question is concerned, they may be allowed to vote on the question and not merely deliberate. What the result of that vote may be, one need not ask himself or stay to examine; but it would look better, on paper certainly, if they were told that, for the time being, they were just as much members of the Board as any one else."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said :—

"I think the Hon'ble Member is labouring under a misapprehension. He was asked to move amendment 117, but he seems to have spoken on 120. The amendment 117 is purely a verbal one. The clause runs—'a person added to the Board under sub-section (1) for any purpose shall have a right to take part in the discussions, etc.' He wants to substitute 'may' for 'shall have a right to.' I really fail to see what he gains by it. And the trend of his arguments tends to support the clause as it stands. If he would withdraw 117, we could go on with on 118."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—

"The Hon'ble Member is quite right, Sir. I thought I was moving item No. 120. I would drop that. I am much obliged to my hon'ble friend."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

118. The Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur moved that, for the words "but shall not have a right to vote at a meeting of the Board and shall not be a member of the Board for any other purpose", in lines 3 to 5 of clause 17A [now 19] (2), the following be substituted, namely :—

and shall have a right to vote and shall be a member of the Board for all purposes.

He said :—

"My view is that, when it becomes necessary to appoint a new member for any particular purpose and for a particular period, he should be a member of the Board for all purposes and should have the right of voting, as is the case in the reformed Councils; otherwise, he cannot feel much interest in the subject-matter of the discussion. I therefore beg to move that, in sub-clause (2), the following be substituted, 'and shall have a right to vote and shall be a member of the Board for all purposes' for the words 'but shall not' down to the end of the sentence, and in line 3, to substitute the words 'all purposes' for 'that purpose.'"

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said :—

"Sir,—In this connection I beg to support the amendment moved by the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur, for this reason that the Board, I apprehend, will always have the power of seeking the advice of men in connection with a particular matter when such advice will be desirable to have. It is not necessary to give the Board a statutory power to add to their number a gentleman whose advice or assistance is necessary, if that person—the person so added—will have no other right than to offer the advice that is sought from him. In that view, I think that this amendment is necessary. If you do call him for advice and assistance, and you think that the advice and assistance is so essential that he should be one of your members, in that case I think it is right and proper that you should give him the right to vote. Otherwise, I am afraid, except as witnesses, you will not get colleagues who will be willing to come forward to give you assistance or advice under these restricted conditions."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said :—

"Sir,—I must resist this amendment, and I am rather surprised that it should be supported by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu, for it seems to me extremely unconstitutional. We create a Trust which is responsible to Government and to the bodies which elect members to it. On that Trust is placed the responsibility of carrying on the administration of sums placed at its disposal. Surely we cannot run the risk of the working of the Trust being conducted by its co-opted members, of whose qualifications and numbers we know nothing as yet. On the other hand, the clause, as it stands, is eminently calculated to secure that co-operation between the Board and the members of the public for which the Hon'ble Member is so anxious. I see nothing undignified in the position of a member of the public, who is interested in any particular scheme, being invited to attend the Board and take part in its discussion and favour it with his advice; and a little later on it is provided that he will draw fees from the Board for his attendance. But that is one thing, and giving him the power of voting is quite another. You may provide for the co-operation between the Board and the public, but you cannot divest the Board of its responsibilities. The ultimate responsibility will rest with the Board, and not with the co-opted members. I oppose this amendment, Sir."

The Hon'ble RAI SITA NATH RAY BAHADUR said:—

"At least I beg to suggest, Sir, that if his assistance is thought valuable, he should have the right of voting on that particular subject."

The PRESIDENT said:—

"I do not think it is open to the Hon'ble Member to modify his amendment at this stage."

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAS said:—

"That relates to 119, Sir."

The PRESIDENT said:—

"I do not think the Hon'ble Member can alter his amendment now."

The Hon'ble RAI SITA NATH RAY BAHADUR said:—

"I have nothing further to say, only that he should be entitled to vote on that particular subject on which his assistance is sought."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

119. The Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur to move that the words "all purposes" be substituted for the words "that purpose", in line 3 of clause 17A (2).

120. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "have a right to", in line 4 of clause 17A (now 19) (2), be omitted.

He said:—

"Sir,—I beg to move this amendment and I do not wish to go over the same ground as in connection with the previous amendment. But there is just one observation that I should like to make, having regard to what has fallen from the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill with regard to the question of the possibility of getting the proper kind of men to associate themselves with this Board for the purposes that the Board may think fit to have their assistance in. When we were discussing the question of additional members on the Board, we were referred to this clause [clause 17A (now 19)], and we were told that all that was necessary by way of dealing with, if not protecting, particular interests like those of the landlord element, would be abundantly met by this clause that we are now discussing. The Hon'ble Member has referred to the possibility of these associates getting remuneration. A witness called to give his evidence would be entitled exactly to the same solatium, if that was all that was necessary to induce them to take part in the deliberations of the Board in the particular way suggested. But what we understood yesterday, and in order to give effect to that notion of things, we think that it would be necessary to give them a definite and recognised status so far as the particular matter before the Board was concerned. If the principle of co-option is to be adopted at all, it must be adopted with all its incidents, whether they are advantageous or disadvantageous. I have referred to the Universities Act, which allows co-option and under which the members summoned and co-opted for the particular purpose are allowed to vote. That is a matter which I do not see how we can very well override if the principle of co-option is to be admitted. As the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu has pointed out, if you have them as witnesses to give you information about the particular matter in question, and you can look upon them as deliberative persons and you can give them their fees just in the same way as co-opted members under the subsequent clause, that does not make co-option proper in the sense as it is understood in the English Acts and on the basis of which we are incorporating this provision. Let the Board stand by itself, if it so wishes. There is no obligation to co-opt, but if co-option does take place, all the incidents of co-option ought to be allowed, and the most essential ingredient of that is the right of being able to influence the vote with regard to the question on which they have deliberated. I could not vote in favour of the amendment that has just preceded, because it goes a longer way than my amendment. In the former the Hon'ble Member wanted to have these gentlemen to be members of the Board for all purposes. My amendment does not go so far; it is limited only to the particular issue before the Board for the time being."

The PRESIDENT said :—

"I question whether your amendment stands on the agenda paper. I understand you to desire that the co-opted members shall have a right to vote. The effect of the amendment on the agenda paper is that the clause, if amended, shall not confer on them the right to vote."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said :—

"The Hon'ble Member was not only labouring under a misapprehension as to when he should move this amendment, but he is now under a misapprehension as to its meaning."

The PRESIDENT said :—

"The word 'not' appears in the clause."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—

"I am afraid, Sir, there must have been some mistake in printing, because it was intended that 'not' should come within the range of omission, and the amendment would render the clause like this—'shall vote at a meeting.' There has been some mistake, and I may be responsible for it in the hurry of the moment."

The PRESIDENT said :—

"The amendment on the agenda paper says that the words 'have a right to' be omitted. You take it that the words in the amendment should have been 'not have a right to.'"

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—

"Yes : that was my intention."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said :—

"I think that the Hon'ble Member had the wording of the amendment, as it stands, in his mind when he suggested the words 'associated with' in amendment 115. It is because those associated with the Board would not have a right to vote that the words 'associated with' have been found desirable. They will not be in the position of witnesses in a Court but that of assessors, and no one can say that it is undignified to serve as an assessor."

The motion was then put in the latter form and lost.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said :—

"Sir,—Before we proceed to the next item, there is one matter regarding which I wish to explain. I had misapprehended the amendment of the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur, where he sought to give the members co-opted the liberty of voting for all purposes. I understood it was only restricted for the purpose for which members were called in to assist, and that was why I supported the Hon'ble Member."

121. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "be deemed to" be inserted after the words "shall not", in the last line of clause 17A (2).

He said :—

"This Sir, is more a verbal amendment than anything else, and I leave this for the consideration of the department."

The PRESIDENT said :—

"I think it would be as well if it is taken after 115."

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAS said :—

"All the same, I oppose it, Sir."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

The following motions, which were postponed, were then taken up for discussion :—

Clause 17A (now 19) (1) and (2).

115. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "associate with themselves" be substituted for the words "add to their number", in line 1 of clause 17A (now 19) (1).

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAS said :—

"I think these members will be in the position of assessors, and I think that the words are suitable. We accept the amendment".

The motion was then put and agreed to.

116. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "associated with themselves by the Board" be substituted for the words "added to the Board", in line 1 of clause 17A (now 19) (2).

The PRESIDENT said :—

"As 115 is accepted, I think this will be accepted also."

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAS said :—

"This is also accepted, Sir."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

Clause 18 (now 20).

122. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "associated with" be substituted for the words "added to", in clause 18 (now 20) (1) (a).

The motion was put and agreed to.

123. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that, for the words "All proceedings of any such Committee", in clause 18 (5), the following be substituted, namely:—

Proceedings of such Committees.

He said:—

"This also, Sir, is a matter of drafting—'proceedings of such Committees'. I suggest 'proceedings', but I do not press it."

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAS said:—

"We are advised that there is not sufficient reason for changing the wording of the clause, Sir."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

Clause 19 (now 21) (2).

124. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that the words "the members present shall choose one of their number to preside" be substituted for the words "one of the members present, who is chosen by the others who are present", at the end of clause 19 (now 21) (2).

He said:—

"This has already been accepted with reference to Motion No. 113, and this amendment is similar to it."

The Hon'ble MR. WHEELER said:—

"This is analogous to that which has already been accepted with reference to clause 17 (now 18) (c). This may also be accepted."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

125. The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI moved:—

- (a) that the words "The President shall" be substituted for the words "The person to", in line 1 of clause 19 (now 20) (2);
- (b) that the words "shall be the President", in lines 1 and 2 of the same clause, be omitted; and
- (c) that the words "shall preside" be added at the end of the same clause.

He said:—

"This amendment, as well as the next, Sir, is a matter of drafting. I tried to bring to notice all imperfections that struck me, whether of drafting or otherwise, in the best of my light, so they may be dealt with as the department thinks fit. If this does not commend itself to the department, I beg to withdraw it."

The Hon'ble MR. WHEELER said:—

"This has reference to clause 19 (now 20) (2), an amendment to which we have just accepted, which, I think, fully meets the case."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

Clause 19 (now 20) (4).

126. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that, for the words "All questions at any meeting of a Committee", in line 1 of clause 19 (4), the following be substituted, namely:—

Questions at meetings of Committees.

The Hon'ble Mr. WHEELER said :—

"This is very analogous to No. 123 and does not add anything to the Bill."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

Clause 21 (now 22).

127. The Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur moved that the words "and the Chairman of the Corporation", in lines 1 and 2 of clause 21 (now 22), be omitted.

He said :—

"I beg to propose the deletion of the words 'and the Chairman of the Corporation'. I do not see any reason why the Chairman of the Corporation should not be entitled to receive fees like other Trustees for attending to duties which are foreign to the duties of his office as Chairman of the Corporation.

"It is well known that the Magistrate of Howrah, when appointed a member of the Port Trust, and the Collector of Customs, who virtually is an ex-officio member of the Port Trust, though they are highly-paid officials, always receive fees (Rs. 32 for each meeting) for attending meetings of the Port Trust, and such is also the case with the members of the Board of Revenue and other Government officials when appointed members of the General Committee of the Calcutta Corporation—that they receive fees for attending meetings of the General Committee. Under the circumstances, I cannot see any justification for depriving the overburdened and overworked Chairman of the Corporation of his legitimate fees."

The Hon'ble Mr. WHEELER said :—

"The question, Sir, is rather a moot one, and as the Hon'ble Member says, there are precedents in other cases for allowing official members to take fees. It is also the case in the Bombay Act that the municipal commissioner, an ex-officio member of the Trust, can take fees. The idea underlying the present clause is that the Chairman of the Corporation, who is the whole-time servant of that body, and is deeply interested both in the welfare of Calcutta and in the operations of the Trust, might possibly be expected to give his help to the Trust without further remuneration. It is quite arguable, however, that this is somewhat hard on him, and that there is no reason for differentiating his case from that of the other Trustees. The point is one, Sir, which might very well be left to the sense of the Council to decide."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

128. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "associated with" be substituted for the words "added to", in line 2 of clause 21 (now 22).

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said :—

"I will accept it, Sir."

The motion was put and agreed to.

129. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Banu moved that the words "or for such period as the person presiding at the meeting may consider sufficient to justify the payment of the fee", in clause 21 (now 22) (ii), be omitted.

He said :—

"I think, this innovation, Sir, that we have introduced in clause 21 (now 22), should be omitted. The innovation is this: the member attending the meeting is entitled to a fee of Rs. 20. If he is a member of the Board, and if he is attending a Committee meeting, he gets a fee of Rs. 10. The original language was, 'which he attends from the beginning to the end thereof.' The addition of the words 'or for such period as the person presiding at the meeting may consider sufficient to justify the payment of the fee' does not occur either in the Bombay or in our own Calcutta Municipal Act, and therefore I do not think we ought to make a new departure and introduce those words in this Act. It is not merely a feeling of captious opposition that leads me to move this amendment; there is a principle underlying it, and that principle is this: that the members attending should be absolutely independent of the President for any matter of personal benefit. Of course, I think it will be conceded that if he is late by a very few minutes, or leaves a meeting earlier by a few minutes, nothing will be said, but if the payment of his fee is dependent upon the good will of the President, I object to it on principle, and I am fortified by precedents, as it does not occur either in the Calcutta Municipal Act or in the Bombay Improvement Act."

The Hon'ble Mr. WHEELER said :—

"I really do not think, Sir, that any very great question of principle arises on this clause, or that it is likely to undermine the independence of any members of the Board. The provision was deliberately inserted in Select Committee to provide for a case which seemed to be not only possible, but almost certain to arise, looking to the general frailties of human nature, namely, that members may not always arrive with absolute punctuality, and may also leave somewhat before the close of the meeting to attend other appointments. At the same time, for all practical purposes, they attended the business of the meeting. It is perfectly true that there is no such provision in the Bombay or Calcutta Acts, but we were told in the Select Committee—and I understand this to be the case—that the practice in Calcutta is in accordance with the clause, and these little lapses are condoned."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said :—

"Sir,—I do not for a moment suggest that some slight departure may not take place or may not be overlooked. That is one position of things. I suppose the Calcutta Port Trust Act is also the same, but it is quite the other way when we say that it will depend upon the sanction of the President."

A division was then taken, with the following result :—

Ayes 16.

The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu.

The Hon'ble Sir Bijay Chand Mahtab, K.C.I.B., Maharajah Bahadur of Burdwan.

The following Members were absent :—

The Hon'ble Mr. B. C. Mitra.

The Hon'ble Maharaja Sir Prodyot Kumar Tagore, Kt.

The Hon'ble Maharaj-Kumar Gopal Saran Narayan Singh.

The Hon'ble Babu Kirtanand Sinha.

The Hon'ble Raja Rajendra Narayan Bhanja Deo.

The Hon'ble Khan Bahadur Maulvi Sarfaraz Husain Khan.

The following Members abstained from voting :—

The Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur.

The Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dip Narayan Singh.

The Hon'ble Babu Bal Krishna Sahay.

The result of the division was, ayes 16, noes 27, and the motion was therefore lost.

130. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu moved that the words "two hundred rupees" be substituted for the words "such sum as may be prescribed by any rule made under section 136 in this behalf" at the end of clause 21 (now 22).

He said :—

"Sir,—I do not think that, in such an important matter as this, it should be left open in the way it is suggested under the Bill as framed, 'the aggregate amount of fees payable to any person in respect of meetings of any kind during any month shall not exceed such sum as may be prescribed by any rule made under section 136 in this behalf.' Why do you leave it at that? The Bombay Act and the Calcutta Act specifically say that it shall not exceed Rs. 200 a month. Then why should our present Act differ? I will refer to section 17 of the Bombay Act, which provides :—

'Provided that the aggregate amount of fees payable in respect of meetings held during any month shall not exceed Rs. 200, or such sum as may be fixed by any law from time to time made in this behalf'.

"I think the same thing ought to be adopted by us, instead of leaving this question of fees open for future decision. If we fix it now, we will do so before the world and will prevent any misapprehension on this subject and will make it perfectly clear that a person who comes to be a member of the Board need not expect a higher remuneration than Rs. 200 a month. Therefore, I wish to move this amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. WHEELER said :—

"The original draft of this clause in the Bill followed the Bombay Act. When the matter was considered by the Select Committee, it was considered rather absurd to mention a sum and then, in the same breath, to give absolute power to vary it. It seemed eminently more sensible to leave the amount to be fixed by rule. The amendment would go further; it would fix Rs. 200 absolutely, but there is no special virtue about that sum. It is unlikely that more than that would be earned, but it is impossible to say. After all, it is only a question of the volume of business to be done by the Board. If the work required a daily meeting of the Board, which is most improbable, and the principle that fees are legitimate at all is admitted, it is difficult to see why they should not be paid on each meeting. If members earn in excess of Rs. 200, they will undoubtedly have had heavy calls upon their time. If the members of the Trust are of the class we anticipate, their time spent outside the Board will almost certainly be more valuable than that spent within it, and they are not likely to make use of the Board as a money-making machine. For these reasons I would leave the maximum to be fixed by rule."

A division was then taken, with the following result:—

Ayes 16.

The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu.

The Hon'ble Raja Rajendra Narayan Bhanja Deo.

The Hon'ble Khan Bahadur Maulvi Sarfaraz Husain Khan.

The result of the division was, ayes 16, noes 32, and the motion was therefore lost.

131. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that clause 21 (now 22) be placed after clause 11, and be re-numbered accordingly.

He said:—

"Sir,—This is a matter of mere arrangement, and therefore comes under the heading of drafting. I thought that a more suitable place for this clause would be where the President's pay, house-rent and such other things are provided. If it is accepted I will move it; otherwise, I do not press for it."

The Hon'ble Mr. WHEELER said:—

"We are advised that this would be no improvement."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—

"Sir,—I realise that attitude. There would really have been no difficulty if it was accepted. However, I would withdraw it."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

Clause 21A (now 23) (1).

132. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the word "other", in the penultimate line of clause 21A(1), be omitted.

132A. The Hon'ble Mr. Bompas moved that, for clause 21A (now 23) (1), the following be substituted, namely:—

21A. (1) A Trustee who—

- (a) has, directly, or indirectly, by himself or by any partner, employer or employé, any such share or interest as is described in sub-section (2) of section 9, in respect of any matter, or
- (b) has acted professionally, in relation to any matter, on behalf of any person having therein any such share or interest as aforesaid, shall not vote or take any other part in any proceeding of the Board or any Committee relating to such matter.

He said:—

"The alteration is only in sub-clause (b) and is merely verbal. It seemed to us, on examination of the original clause, that it was rather obscure. I think it reads better as it is shown in the amendment."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 21A (now 23) (2).

132B. The Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadar moved that the words "then, if he is cognisant of having such beneficial interest" be inserted after the word "Act", in line 7 of clause 21A (now 23) (2).

He said:—

"My motion is not as it is constituted here, but it has reference to clause 21A (now 23) (1). My object in moving this amendment is that a large landowner like the Maharaja of Cossimbazar or Maharaj-Kumar Hrishikesh Laha cannot possibly know every chittak of land which he owns in Calcutta. So it is not unnatural that he might take part, though unwittingly, in the discussion about the improvement of an area in which he may own some land. This amendment proposes to guard against a Trustee being removed from the Board in such a case."

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAS said :—

"Sir,—I oppose this amendment on the ground that it is unnecessary. The clause says that if any Trustee has an interest in any land situated in an area comprised in any improvement scheme, he shall inform the President of the Trust of that interest and shall not vote in such matter, and shall leave it to the discretion of the President whether he should take any other part in the matter. That is a very wholesome provision and it does not lay down that a man should do what is not possible for him to do. No one can report a matter of which he is not cognisant. It is incredible that Government should exercise the power conferred by clause 15B (now 15) of removing a Trustee without giving him an opportunity for explanation. If a Trustee fails to report the existence of any interest owing to his being ignorant of such interest, naturally no fault would have been committed and Government would certainly not take action against him."

The motion was then put and lost.

138. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu moved that clause 21A (now 23) (2) (iii) be omitted.

He said :—

"Sir,—This clause seeks to provide that any Trustee, who has any interest in any land covered by the improvement, area directly or otherwise, shall inform the President that he has such interest and shall not vote upon any resolution relating to the land which he possesses. There can be no objection to that part of the procedure, and we do not object to it. The next proviso is that 'he shall not take any other part in any proceeding at a meeting of the Board or any Committee relating to such area, if the person presiding at the meeting considers it that he should do so.' I conceive, Sir, that, in the improvement schemes that will be framed under this Act when passed, large areas will be taken up for consideration—areas probably aggregating, say, 10,000 bighas in one scheme. In this area a Trustee A may have a chittack of land or a small house. It is quite conceivable that, so far as that scheme affects that house, he shall not be entitled to vote. But I do not understand why he should be precluded from voting in reference to other parts of the scheme which do not affect the house that belongs to him. It is stated that he will be allowed to take part if the President permits him to do so. Well, in the first place, I should like to know what is the objection to his taking part in other schemes. I shall take a concrete case. Suppose you want to open up a large square in the congested area, somewhere in the area between Beadon Street on the south and the Grey Street on the north. Far from that square towards the north, a Trustee A may have a plot of land which is in no way affected by this square but which may, however, very remotely affect that improvement in that block, and if he is precluded, except by the permission of the President, to take part, then, so far as he is concerned, his advice or assistance will not be wanted, and he will not be able to have a voice in the improvement of an area in which he is otherwise very much concerned. It may be said, in answer, that such a contingency will not arise, for the President will not veto his power of taking part under circumstances like that. That I am ready to concede. I am ready to concede that the President will act as a reasonable man; but, at the same time, it gives a very large power of control to the President, and it makes the task of Calcutta men who may be Trustees very difficult, and their position one of very great difficulty. The President will be the final authority. If, for instance, a Trustee, who has taken up an antagonistic attitude in reference to some improvement, in a very small part of which he may have interest, it is quite possible—I do not say that it will happen—that he may be precluded from taking any part in the proceedings of the meeting which will consider the question of improvement in this area. What I say is this. Give me definite rules. Say under these circumstances you will have a vote, and under the other circumstances you will not, but do not leave me to the tender mercies of the President who may be an autocrat and who may not like that his voice should be opposed by a man whom he might otherwise throttle. I should not like, under any circumstance, to put my liberty of conduct merely at the discretion of the President. I do not object to definite rules, and I think that nothing can be fairer than this that if any part of that scheme affects my property, so far as that part is concerned, I cannot vote, but I do not see the object of vesting the President with the power of stopping me from taking any part in other parts of the scheme in which I am neither directly or indirectly concerned, and therefore I move this amendment."

The Hon'ble RAI SITA NATH RAY BHADUR said:—

"All that I say in support of this amendment is that the sub-clause would, if allowed to stand, place a landlord, who may own land in different parts of Calcutta, entirely in the mercy of the President as to whether he should take part in the proceedings or not. And if he is so inclined, he can prevent any such member from taking any part in the proceedings of the Trust. What I want is a definite proposition which will allow him to take part."

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAI said:—

"I would oppose this amendment, Sir. I think that if sub-clause (iii) is removed, we shall expose ourselves to far greater evils than those which have struck the imagination of the mover of this amendment. I submit that it is most essential that this Trust, which will have an enormous power of interference with private property, should be above suspicion, and that it should command the confidence of the public. The object of the clause is that, when the Trust deals with an area which is the subject of an improvement scheme, not only shall the members who own houses or land in that area not have the power to vote about any question directly relating to such houses or land, but also that if a Trustee has an interest in any land in the area which might give reasonable ground for doubt on the part of any other landholder in that area, that that Trustee is quite impartial, then also the Trustee should take no part in the proceedings. Take the case of a Trustee, for example, who has a dwelling-house in one corner of an area in which it is proposed to make a public square. The exact position of the square is to be determined; it may be a hundred yards to the east or a hundred yards to the west. It would very seriously affect the interest of people owning houses in that area. The question may only indirectly affect the dwelling-house Trustee, and it would be unfair for him to take part in the discussion on that particular matter. And it is very undesirable that the public should have any suspicion. As to placing the Trustee at the mercy of the President, I fail to see any force in such an objection, and I do not think that any hard-and-fast rules can be laid down as a guide for conduct in such matters. It will very often be more a matter of good taste than of right or wrong. Such questions are very difficult to decide for oneself. As the clause stands, the Trustee will say to the President, 'I have such and such interest in this land, and such and such a question is before us. I put myself into your hands as to whether I should take part in the proceedings or no.' For my part I do not see that any gentleman would object to taking up such an attitude. I should have thought it a most satisfactory way of dealing with such a question."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—

"It seems to me, Sir, that no reasonable principle is followed in the framing of this measure that we are discussing. When we have a precedent in our favour we take as much of it as suits us. When we protest that the Bombay model which we are following in this does not agree, then we are met by the answer that we know better than the Bombay people do, and when we say that this should not be done we are told that this must be done because it is in Bombay. This does not occur in the Bombay Act and we have not heard that they feel any real difficulty. It is borrowed from an Act for which I suppose even my friend in the opposite will have some deference. It is borrowed from an English Statute—the Housing and Working Classes Act of 1890. Section 88 of that Act says, a person should not vote as a member of a local authority or County Council or any Committee thereof upon any resolution or question which is proposed, if it relates to any dwelling-house or lands in which he is beneficially interested. We are quite content with that, and that is amply covered by clauses (1) and (2). Then why is it that my friend goes beyond clauses (1) and (2)? That raises a suspicion in my mind. If the English people have found that clauses (i) and (ii) have been a sufficient safeguard for the protection of public interests, for maintenance of the integrity and the preservation of interest of that body, of which I am as much solicitous as my honourable friend in the opposite is, then why is it that he brings in clause (iii)? I do not wish to make any personal observation, but in this case the difficulty is enhanced by the fact that the President is a Government officer, and the person that may be objected to may be the only representative of a non-official element in that country. Sometimes it is very convenient to ignore these troublesome non-official representatives: they talk more than is desirable; they take up more time, and therefore what is there to prevent him from the exercise of this authority which even the Speaker in the House of Commons does not possess, and which even the Lord Chancellor in the House of Lords does not possess, but which this official—always inexperienced of these things, because he has no training in the public life of his own country and a source often of grave danger in matters which concern great public questions—is to be made the sole judge and arbiter? Supposing I, Bhupendra Nath Basu, was a member of the committee. Because I have some miserable dwelling-house, not even fit to be a pigsty, in some part of Calcutta, so I should be precluded from having any part in the discussion of a scheme which relates to a large area in some corner of which I have this ancestral dwelling-house. If you appoint a man in whom you have not that trust, you are responsible. My friend was saying, that he makes the composition of that body so ludicrously absurd having regard to the necessities of Calcutta, having regard to its requirements, dimensions and to the necessity that will have to be considered by this committee, he makes it so small because he wants the pick of the men in this town, the pick of the men who are interested in this question. Cannot you trust the pick of men in such a small matter as this? Do you think that their character for integrity is so low that you cannot allow them to use their own discretion as to whether they should take part or not? It will affect the position and the character and the standing of your Board in the public eye. Is that, after all, what your small numbers mean? If that is not so, if you choose your members with great deliberation, as you say you will, why should you seek for powers which are nowhere else to be found, either within or outside India? Why is it? Will you explain that? Therefore, am I not entitled to feel that there may be something behind which may be used occasionally, at a time of great excitement, to stifle the only opposition that may be offered in a committee the composition of which is largely official? These are the grounds upon which I move this amendment."

A division was then taken, with the following result:—

Ayes 19.

The Hon'ble Kumar Shiba Nandan Prasad Singh.

The Hon'ble Khan Bahadur Maulvi Sarfaraz Husain Khan.

The result of the division was, ayes 19, noes 29, and the motion was therefore lost.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

133A. The Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur to move that clause 21A (2) (iii) be omitted.

134. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu to move that the word "and", at the end of sub-clause (ii) of clause 21A(2), be transferred to the end of sub-clause (i).

135. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "associated with" be substituted for the words "added to", in line 1 of clause 21A(2).

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 22 (now 24).

136. The Hon'ble Mr. Apcar moved that the words "and perform", in line 1 of clause 22 (now 24), be omitted.

He said:—

"Sir,—I have studiously abstained from intervening on any question of drafting, but these two words 'and perform' have attracted my attention almost every time I have looked at this Bill. I have thus been induced to submit that these two words should be omitted. They are not wanted there. You give a discretion to enter into contract and you withdraw it after the contract has been entered into. I submit this merely for the consideration of the Hon'ble Member in charge."

The Hon'ble Mr. WHEELER said :—

"We are unable to discover any particular advantage in omitting these words, although the matter has been considered in the Legislative Department. The wording is precisely the same as that of section 86(1) of the Calcutta Act. I think that the Bill had better be left as it is."

The Hon'ble Mr. AFGAR said :—

"Sir,—I do not accept the Municipal Act as a precedent. I have merely suggested the amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

Clauses 23 and 24 (now 25 and 26).

137. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu moved that, for clauses 23 (now 25) and 24 (now 26), the following be substituted, namely :—

23. (1) Every such contract involving an expenditure not exceeding one thousand <sup>Execution of contracts and approval of estimates.</sup> rupees shall be executed by the President on behalf of the Board.
- (2) A contract involving an expenditure exceeding one thousand rupees shall be executed by the President on behalf of the Board, and sealed with the common seal of the Board.
- (3) A contract involving an expenditure exceeding one lakh of rupees shall not be entered into without the previous sanction of the Local Government to such expenditure.
- (4) No contract shall be entered into unless the estimate for the work to be done under such contract has been previously sanctioned by the Board, and, in cases involving an expenditure exceeding one lakh of rupees, unless such estimate has been sanctioned by the Local Government.
- (5) Same as sub-clause (3) of clause 24 of the Bill.
- (6) Same as sub-clause (4) of clause 24 of the Bill.
- (7) Same as sub-clause (5) of clause 24 of the Bill.

He said :—

"Sir,—In this motion I have suggested an alternative form of draft for clauses 23 (now 25) and 24 (now 26), which to my mind seemed a simpler way of dealing with the matters that are dealt with by these two sections. This should have been considered by the gentleman in charge of the Bill, and if he does not consider it desirable, I do not wish to press for it."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said :—

"Sir,—I do not accept this amendment because it seems to me that, under the proposed clause, it would be possible for the President and one Trustee to execute the contract without the sanction of the Board, which would still be binding in law upon the Board. I prefer the clauses as they stand in the Bill."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

Clause 23 (now 25).

138. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "the Board and", in line 3 of proviso (d) [now (b)] to clause 23 (now 25) (1), be omitted.

He said :—

"Sir,—The previous sub-clause (c) defines that contracts between Rs. 1,000 and one lakh of rupees shall not be made by the President without the previous sanction of the Board. In the subsequent clause, we seek to enact with regard to contracts above one lakh of rupees, that the sanction of the Local Government is essential. This is to be taken for granted. In fact, what is provided later on in various clauses is that nothing that has not been considered and sanctioned by the Board can possibly go up before the Local Government, and, therefore, to my mind it appears that if we have merely a provision that no contract above one lakh of rupees shall be sanctioned without the previous sanction of the Local Government, it will amply meet the requirements of the case, and the words I seek to delete are not necessary. It is not merely a question of drafting."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said:—

"I do not agree that it is merely a matter of drafting, because if it is accepted, it will change the meaning of the clause altogether, and deprive the Board of any control over contracts exceeding one lakh of rupees. The clause says that a contract not exceeding a lakh of rupees requires the previous sanction of the Board. Then we come to contracts above a lakh of rupees. If we say that it must require the sanction of the Local Government, it need not come before the Board first, before going to the Local Government. Surely the Hon'ble Member does not mean that the Local Government should enter into a contract without any reference to the Board."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—

"Well, Sir, if that would be the effect of my amendment, I would not press it at all."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

139. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "who is", in line 3 of clause 23 (1a, [now 25 (2)]) be omitted.

140. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "make or", in line 4 of clause 23 (1a) [now 25 (2)], be omitted.

Clause 24 (now 26).

141. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the word "and" be substituted for the words "except that", in line 4 of clause 24 (now 26) (1).

He said:—

"That also is a matter of drafting, which I leave to the department."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said:—

"I do not consider it necessary to accept it, Sir."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

142. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "in addition to" be substituted for the words "distinct from", in line 1 of clause 24 (now 26) (4).

He said:—

"I take it, Sir, that what is intended by sub-clause (iv) is that a signature of the Trustees is and shall always be distinct from the signature of the witnesses. I believe it is intended that over and above a signature of the Trustee, there shall be the signature of an witness. That ought to be clearly provided for. It is more than a matter of drafting, and I therefore ask that the matter may be considered by the Council."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said:—

"The clause, as it stands in the Bill, follows the wording of the Calcutta Municipal Act, but I have no objection to accepting this amendment."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

143. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that sub-clause (4) of clause 24 (now 26) be placed before sub-clause (3), both sub-clauses being re-numbered accordingly.

He said :—

"This is a matter of arrangement, which I leave to the discretion of Hon'ble Member in charge."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said :—

"The official advice is not in favour of the rearrangement."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

Clause 24A (now 27) (1).

144. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu moved that the words "any contract is entered into" be substituted for the words "the President enters into any contract", in lines 1 and 2 of clause 24A (now 27) (1).

He said :—

"Does the Hon'ble Member in charge accept this amendment?"

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said :—

"No: I do not think that there is any necessity for accepting this amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

145. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu to move that the words "the President" be substituted for the word "he", in line 4 of clause 24A (now 27) (1).

146. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the word "local", in line 5 of clause 24A (now 27) (1), be omitted.

He said :—

"These matters ought to be more largely advertised than merely in the local papers. Of course, so far as the discretion of the Board is concerned, it would be unfettered if it were left merely as a requisition of advertisement in newspapers. It would be useful to advertise it in some papers outside Calcutta."

The Hon'ble Mr. WHEELER said :—

"The wording of the clause follows section 88 of the Calcutta Act, which also runs that 'the General Committee shall give notice by advertisement in local newspapers inviting tenders for such contract.' The meaning of the word 'local' will be understood by a reference to clause 163 (now 164). The object of the clause is briefly that public notice should be given of all tenders, which is most essential, and the most important point is to give notice locally. The corresponding section of the Calcutta Act does not debar them from also advertising in newspapers outside Calcutta, and there seems no objection to the retention of the word 'local' in the clause."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—

"I take it, Sir, that if the amendment were accepted, the local newspapers would not have been excluded. So far as clause 163 (now 164) is concerned, no doubt, it is a comprehensive section, but some of the advertisements required in the Bill refer to local matters, where advertisement merely in the local newspapers may be useful, but in matters like contracts involving large sums, it would be desirable to have the liberty of advertising in newspapers other than Calcutta newspapers."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motions were, by leave of the Council, withdrawn:—

Clause 24A (now 27) (4).

147. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "which has been made", in lines 2 and 3 of clause 24A (now 27) (4), be omitted.
148. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "of such", in line 6 of clause 24A (now 27) (4), be omitted.
149. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that, for the word "appears", in line 6 of clause 24A (now 27) (4), the word "appear" be substituted.
150. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "upon a view of all the circumstances", in lines 6 and 7 of clause 24A (now 27) (4), be omitted.
151. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "or may direct the rejection of all the tenders submitted to them", at the end of clause 24A (now 27) (4), be omitted.

Clause 25 (now 28).

152. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "involving an expenditure exceeding one thousand rupees", at the end of clause 25, be omitted.

He said:—

"I move for the omission of this word, because I do not quite see the reason why the security that is considered necessary in other cases, involving expenditure of more than a thousand rupees, should be omitted in the case of smaller contracts. It is the experience of all, who have to deal with these matters, that it is the smaller contracts which often give trouble, and if there is the safety of security with regard to them, business would be put on a surer footing than otherwise. We must not forget that a hundred thousand rupees make a lakh, and hundreds of those insecure contracts may go their own way, and will lead to difficulty that we cannot foresee now. If we insist on securities in every case, public business would certainly be more safeguarded. With regard to well-known and large contracts, the question of security may often have less bearing than it has in the case of smaller and obscure, unknown men, upon whom it is difficult to have hold."

The Hon'ble Mr. SLACK said:—

"I gather from what the Hon'ble Member said that he is of opinion that there must be a limit somewhere, for it would be absurd to take security for small contracts. Here, at least, we might go by precedent, which is borrowed from the Calcutta Municipal Act. It has existed for the last 11 years, and there have been no drawbacks experienced, so far as I know. I would ask the Council therefore to follow the precedent of the Calcutta Municipal Act, and reject this amendment."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—

"Unfortunately, in this case, the precedent of the Calcutta Municipal Act has not been followed. The Calcutta Municipal Act, section 89 lays down this: 'The Chairman shall take sufficient security for the due performance of every contract into which he enters after a tender has been accepted, and may, in his discretion, take security for the due performance of any other contract into which he enters.' After a tender has been accepted he must take security, whereas this is a departure from the precedent of the Calcutta Act."

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAS said:—

"Sir,—It is true that the wording of the clause does not follow, word for word, the precedent of the Calcutta Act. But I can say that the meaning is the same. The Chairman should take sufficient security for the due performance of contracts in connection with which a tender has been called for. But there is no provision which makes it necessary to call for tenders over Rs. 1,000. Thus the Calcutta Act is in effect the same as the clause in this Bill. It is quite true that section 89 also makes it optional for the Chairman to take security in smaller contracts, but surely it is not necessary to put that into the Bill. It may be left to the discretion of the President. But what the Bill does is to require the President to take security for greater sums."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—

"Sir,—I think that, if the Calcutta Municipal Act is to be accepted as our model with all its known irregularities, we may no doubt adhere to the Act in this instance, and it provides that the Chairman of the Calcutta Corporation has discretion in the matter by actually taking a security wherever he thinks it necessary. Reference has been made to what obtains in the Calcutta Corporation in regard to smaller contracts. I do not of course know what happens now. But when I was a Commissioner many years ago the difficulty was with regard to the smaller contracts and not with the larger ones. Things may have improved now, but that is no guarantee against similar things happening again with regard to the new Trust."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 26 (now 29) (1).

153. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu moved that the words "and the Chairman of the Corporation" be inserted after the words "the Local Government", in line 2 of clause 26 (now 29) (1).

He said:—

"I think, Sir, this is an amendment which is essential. If my hon'ble friend accepts it, I will move it. By this amendment I seek to introduce a condition that the President, when forwarding a copy of the minutes to the Local Government, shall forward a copy to the Chairman of the Calcutta Corporation, a body which is so essentially interested in the business of this Trust. I do not see what harm there will be—what difficulty there may be entailed—by the incorporation of this provision that a copy of the proceedings should be sent to the Chairman as well, having regard to the interests of the Corporation at stake."

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAS said:—

"No, I certainly do not accept it."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR said:—

"I beg to support my hon'ble friend."

The Hon'ble KAI SITA NATH RAY BAHADUR said:—

"My view is, Sir, that the assets and liabilities of the Trust will devolve upon the Calcutta Corporation. The Corporation is vitally interested in all proceedings. It is only necessary and fair that the Corporation should be kept informed as to what is going on in the Trust, so that it may take action when necessary. I think there is no harm in sending a copy of their proceedings just as the Trust will send copies of their proceedings to the Local Government. With these words I beg to support this amendment."

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAS said:—

"Sir,—I oppose this amendment, and I do not fully appreciate the arguments in support of it, and I do not think they have been such as to carry conviction. In the first place, the Trust is not subordinate to the Corporation in any sense whatever, and there seems to be no reason why it should send its proceedings to a co-ordinate authority any more than to any other public body in Calcutta. Of course, if the proceedings are to be sent to the Chairman of the Corporation, it is not intended that they should be for the private information of the Chairman, because he is a member of the Trust and is fully cognisant of what is going on in the Trust: they must be meant for communication to the Corporation. It has been repeatedly said from the very beginning of the Bill that the proceedings of the Trust should be kept as confidential as possible, and that purpose will be frustrated if the proceedings are sent to the Corporation. I submit there is no ground for sending these proceedings to the Corporation."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—

"After the explanation that we have heard from the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas, I do not wish to put my amendment to the vote."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

154. The Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur to move that the words "and the Corporation" be inserted after the words "Local Government", in line 2 of clause 26 (now 29) (1).

Clauses 26 and 17 (now 29 and 18).

155. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that clauses 17 (now 18) and 26 (now 29) be placed after clause 17 A (now 19), and be renumbered accordingly.

Clause 27.

156. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that, for the words "The Board shall prepare and maintain", in line 1 of clause 27 (now 30), the following be substituted, namely:—

The Board shall from time to time prepare and shall maintain.

The Hon'ble Mr. WHEELER said:—

"The statement will undoubtedly be prepared on more than one occasion, and there is no harm in adding the words 'from time to time'."

The motion was put and agreed to.

157. The Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur moved that, for lines 1 and 2 of clause 27 (now 30), the following be substituted, namely:—

The Board shall, after they are constituted, prepare and submit for the sanction of the Local Government a statement showing—

He said:—

"Sir,—My object in moving this amendment is that the Government should have some control over the establishment charges of the Board, and the checking of expenditure should not be left entirely to the Board. In the initial stage it is necessary that Government should be in a position to judge as to the strength of the establishment, whether it is going to be large or small. I therefore beg to submit that, after the Board is constituted, the Board should prepare and submit, for the information of the Local Government, a statement showing the number of officers. Moreover, the Calcutta Municipal Act, so far as higher appointments are concerned, has specified and enumerated the number of higher appointments and salaries attached to them. In this case also, the Board should prepare and submit a statement showing the number of higher appointments and salaries attached to them, so that the public and the Local Government may be in a position to judge of the amount of expenditure that would be incurred by the Board in maintaining the establishment."

The Hon'ble MR. WHEELER said:—

"I think, Sir, the amendment is open to objection. The wording of it, for one thing, appears to be defective. The words 'after they are constituted' seem to be unnecessary, as the Board will certainly not take action before it is constituted. The amendment would, moreover, clash with what has just been approved by the Council; these statements will be prepared on more than one occasion, and is it contemplated by the Hon'ble Member that they should all be submitted for the sanction of the Local Government? The statements are to contain the number, designations and grades of all officers and servants other than temporary employes, the salaries, fees and allowances to be paid to each such officer and servant, and the contributions payable under clause 144A (now 146) in respect of them. They will thus include very lowly paid servants of the Trust, and is it really necessary that all such details should be approved by the Local Government? Even in the case of ordinary municipalities, it is only with appointments of over Rs. 200 that the Local Government exercises control, although the Commissioner has power as regards posts over Rs. 100. In the case of the Calcutta Corporation, the salary limit is Rs. 1,000, and from clause 31 (now 33) of the Bill it will be seen that Government sanction is already required in the case of the higher paid officers of the Board. It is sufficient that the control of the higher appointments should rest with Government, and to require it to scrutinise these petty matters would render possible a most unjustifiable degree of interference."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 30 (now 32).

158. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu moved that the words "two hundred" be substituted for the words "three hundred", in clause 30 (now 32) (a).

He said:—

"Sir,—I think that the limit should be reduced from Rs. 300 to Rs. 200 for servants of the Board, in whose case the President is to be vested with the sole power of reducing, suspending or dismissing, and this is the reason of this amendment."

The Hon'ble MR. SLACKS said:—

"I am unable, Sir, to accept the Hon'ble Member's amendment, because I would prefer to follow a precedent, and the precedent in this case is to be found in the Bombay Act. In Bombay the limit is Rs. 300, and it will, I think, also be found suitable in Calcutta."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:—

"Unfortunately, Sir, the conditions of Bombay and Calcutta are not exactly identical, and in many instances, as I have pointed out, we have deviated from the precedent of Bombay, and in this also, I think, we may deviate with some benefit."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

159. The Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur to move that the words "two hundred" be substituted for the words "three hundred", in clause 30 (now 32) (a).

160. The Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur moved that the words "reduced, suspended or" be inserted before the word "dismissed", in line 3 of the proviso to clause 30 (now 32).

The motion was put and agreed to.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn:—

161. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "whose decision shall be final", at the end of clause 30 (now 32), be omitted.

Clause 31 (now 33).

162. The Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur to move that the words "seven hundred" be substituted for the words "one thousand", in line 2 of clause 31 (now 33) (a).

163. The Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur to move that the words "seven hundred" be substituted for the words "one thousand", in line 3 of clause 31 (now 33) (c).

Clause 32 (now 34).

164. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "in matters of executive administration and, in matters concerning the accounts and records of the Board", in lines 3 and 4 of clause 32 (now 34), be omitted.

He said:—

"Sir,—I confess I do not understand quite the meaning of the words, the omission of which I seek by this amendment. There is no reason why the President's supervision should be limited to supervision only of the 'executive administration' whatever that may mean. I cannot approve of this unaccountable self-abnegation."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said:—

"I am prepared to accept this amendment, Sir."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

Clause 33 (now 35).

165. The Hon'ble Mr. Apar moved that the words "subject to the control of the Board," be inserted after the word "may", in line 1 of clause 33 (now 35) (1).

He said:—

"Sir,—The Council will see what large powers of delegation are here conferred upon the President. With the exception of very few of the most important duties, and duties which could not possibly be delegated, which could not be delegated by the President, he has authority under this clause to delegate any of his duties to any officer. It seems, Sir, an acknowledgment that he has not got time to perform all these duties, and I think, that the Board should be treated as the central authority, in the same way as Corporations and Committees in England are, and then for the Board to delegate such authority as they might think fit. However, I do not go so far as that, but when we have a Board which is going to be a very select body, I think that the authority might be left with the Board, and I move to that extent, i. e., the President shall delegate under the control of the Board, so that the Board should have a voice in this question of delegation, and such large powers should not be left entirely and absolutely in the hands of the President."

The Hon'ble MAULVI SAYID MUHAMMAD FAKHR-UL-DIN said:—

"Your Honour,—Under this clause, the President is authorised to delegate his own powers and duties to any officer of the Board. But it is desirable that the delegation of such important function should be done with the approval of the members of the Board. This would produce a salutary and wholesome effect, and, moreover, this will prevent the abuse of such a power; with this short remark I propose that the words 'subject to the control of the Board,' may be inserted after the word 'may,' in line 1 of clause 33 (now 35) (1)."

The Hon'ble Mr. WHEELER said:—

"I think no reasonable exception can be taken to the clause which is merely designed to expedite the transaction of business. The President's power is not absolutely unrestricted, insofar as various important sections are set apart from delegation, and the principle of the clause is precisely the same as that of section 13 of the Calcutta Act, which, in the same way, allows the Chairman by general or special order to delegate to any municipal officers his powers other than those which are specially excepted in that clause. The Hon'ble Member appears to think that the Chairman may in some way subvert the functions of the Board by the delegation of some important powers, but he does not mention the powers to which he is referring. It is unnecessary that a section of this kind should attempt to specify the exact details of the future working of the Trust, and I do not think that any reasonable exception can be taken to the clause."

The Hon'ble Mr. APCAR said:—

"I think, Sir, that the Hon'ble Member might have understood that I made no insidious suggestion. All I say is, that there is a Board, and I think that authority should centre in the Board."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motion was, by permission of the President, withdrawn:—

166. The Hon'ble Maulvi Saiyid Muhammad Fakhr-ud-din to move that the words "subject to the control of the Board" be inserted after the word "may", in line 1 of clause 33 (now 35) (1).

167. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "(if any)", in line 3 of clause 33 (now 35) (2), be omitted.

He said:—

"Sir,—It appears to me that these words 'if any' have no meaning or place at all. These are redundant words which may go. However, I leave it to the discretion of the department."

The Hon'ble Mr. WHEELER said:—

"We are advised that the words are scarcely redundant, and if they were omitted it might be said that the President would have to prescribe conditions and limitations in every case. The words might be retained."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

Clause 35 (now 36).

168. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that for clause 35 (now 36) the following be substituted, namely:—

35. When an official representation, as hereinafter mentioned, is made to the Board that, within certain limits where this Act is in force, either—

(1) any buildings used, or intended or likely to be used, for human habitation are unfit for human habitation, or

(2) the narrowness, closeness and bad arrangement, or the bad condition, of the streets and buildings, or groups of buildings, within such limits, or the want of light, air, ventilation or proper conveniences, or any other sanitary defects, or one or more of such causes, are dangerous or injurious to the health of the inhabitants, either of the buildings within the area of such limits, or of the neighbouring buildings; and that the evils connected with such buildings and the sanitary defects in such area cannot be effectually remedied otherwise than by an improvement scheme for the rearrangement and reconstruction of the streets and buildings within such area, or of some such streets or buildings;

the Board shall take such representation into their consideration, and, if satisfied of the truth thereof, and of the sufficiency of their resources, shall pass a resolution to the effect that such area is an unhealthy area, and that an improvement scheme ought to be made in respect of such area;

and, after passing such resolution, they shall forthwith proceed to make a scheme for the improvement of such area.

He said:—

"This is an important clause. There are no less than 44 amendments on the list of business in connection with this section. There is no doubt that this section is of the most vital importance. If I may be permitted to say so, it is the important section in the whole Bill. It lays down rules as to when, why and wherefore an improvement scheme for the whole of Calcutta or any part of it can be framed by the Board. While it is necessary to give the Board ample powers to deal with the evil of insanitation, it is equally necessary to see that no arbitrary power is vested in the Board, causing inconvenience, hardship and loss to the residents. The Bill as introduced in the Council followed the Bombay Act except in one or two particulars. But as it has emerged from the Select Committee, changes of far-reaching character have been made.

"My submission is that we should follow the Bombay Improvement Act in this connection, and the amendment standing in my name follows the language of the Bombay Act almost word for word. It is significant, that in the Bombay Council, I find from the printed proceedings of that Council, that section 23, corresponding to section 35 (now 36) of the present Bill, was passed without a division and no amendment was suggested by any of the members of the Council. I am not aware of the reason as to why the Bombay law, on which the present Bill is mainly based, is not adopted in this instance. In the report of the Select Committee we find at page 3, a statement that the wording of this clause has been modified so as to bring the procedure more definitely into accord with that prescribed in the corresponding sections of the English Act. I understand that the wording of this Bill is inconsistent with the English Act in important particulars. But whether this is so or not, my submission is that we have not been told of any satisfactory reason as to why we should give up the Bombay Act and travel beyond the seas to find out a suitable procedure for our guidance.

"Now, comparing clause 35 (now 36) of our Bill with the corresponding section 23 of the Bombay Act, I hope it will be conceded that, so far as the language is concerned, the Bombay Act has an advantage over our Bill. Our clause is very loosely worded: for instance, if the Board is authorized to act either on official representation or on its own initiative, the words 'whether upon an official representation made under clause 36 (now 37) or without such representation,' in paragraph 1 of the clause, seem to be wholly unnecessary. It would have been sufficient to say, 'whenever it appears to the Board, etc., etc.'

"Then the paraphrase or splitting up of sub-section (2) of the Bombay Act into clause (b) and its three sub-clauses in the present Bill, hardly seem to have improved matters.

"Coming to the substantial changes made in this section of the Bill, it appears that our Bill varies considerably from the principles of the Bombay Act. I shall briefly indicate them here.

"In the first place, while in the Bombay Act the Board can take action only on official representation, here the Board can act irrespective of such representation. Secondly, our section provides that if a general improvement scheme is the most satisfactory method of dealing with the evils, action can be taken, whereas the Bombay Act provides that action can only be taken if the defect cannot be effectually remedied otherwise than by an improvement scheme. Thirdly, our section does not provide that the Board has to be satisfied of the truth of the representation as the Bombay Act provides. Fourthly, there is not a word in our Act as to the Board being satisfied of the sufficiency of its own sources before framing any scheme. The Bombay Act makes it a condition precedent to the framing of a general improvement scheme by the Board. Fifthly, clause 35 (now 36) does not make it obligatory on the Board to pass a resolution and frame a scheme if all these conditions exist, but simply gives it discretionary power to do so or not, as it may choose. The Bombay Act, on the contrary, provides that if these conditions subsist, the Board shall be bound to frame a scheme.

"I shall briefly deal with these differences of principles between the Bombay Act and our own, one by one.

"Firstly, here the Board is authorized to act on its own initiative without an official representation. This means larger and more extensive powers to the Board. May I ask what machinery the Board will have to enable it to take the initiative? There is no indication of any such machinery at least in the Bill. Is it not necessary that the Board should move only on the representation of some responsible body or person, who have knowledge of the conditions of Calcutta? But no; the Board must be clothed with extensive powers and, therefore, it is necessary that they may take action on their own initiative.

"The second point of difference between the Bombay Act and our Bill is still more astounding. In Bombay, the general improvement scheme can only be made if there is no other effectual way of dealing with the evil; here the improvement scheme may be made if it is the most satisfactory method of dealing with the evil. There is a good deal of difference between the two. In the one case, that is at Bombay the general scheme will be adopted as a last resort where all other remedies fail. Here the general scheme will be adopted perhaps in each and every case. For who can deny that a general improvement scheme will in all cases be the best method of dealing with the evil? Demolish all the houses, widen all the streets, and start a new city altogether,—a beautiful city, of course, and deal with the evil for good and for ever. This will certainly be 'the most satisfactory method.' But that is not what is wanted. You have to take things as they are. If there be no other effective method of dealing with the evil, make a general improvement scheme by all means; but do not empower this body with absolute powers to make a scheme if and when such body choose to do so.

"The third point of difference is that, while the Bombay Act lays down that the Board must be satisfied of the truth of the representation, the present clause does away with it altogether. Of course, this is in consonance with the nature of the power intended to be bestowed on the Board. They need not take the trouble to satisfy themselves with anything; they need not make any inquiry; they need not act on the representation of any person; they must have absolute and arbitrary powers, unfettered by any restrictions. The next point of difference is that, while the Bombay Act lays down that the Board must be satisfied as to its resources before taking any action, our Board need not be hampered with any such considerations. They must be free. Whether they have funds or not, they have the discretion to frame a scheme all the same and leave the taxpayers to find out the funds.

"Fifthly, while in Bombay the Board is bound to make a scheme when all these conditions exist, here it is optional with the Board to make a scheme or not, even if the condition of any part of the town is very bad. Truly, this is also in consonance with the general tenor of the section. An autocrat must not be told by the legislature that he shall do this or that. He must be told with all due deference that he has the power, but he is not bound to do it.

"Sir, I have sufficiently indicated that the changes that have been made in this Bill, as compared with the Bombay Act, have all the tendency to clothe the Board with absolute and arbitrary powers, unfettered by any consideration, however weighty it may be. I submit it is hardly fair, and the Council, I hope, will not allow this clause to be passed without material alterations.

"My suggestion is to follow the Bombay Act. We have heard it mentioned off and on that what is good for Bombay is good for Calcutta. All right. If it is so, then why not adopt section 23 of the Bombay Act in this connection in its entirety—why do away with the conditions and restrictions that are in force in Bombay?"

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said:—

"Sir—The fact that there are forty amendments to this clause will draw the attention of the Council to the fact that it is one of the important clauses of the Bill. Up to the present, this morning we have been considering the details of the manner in which the Trust is to carry on its duties. We now come to a certain clause which lays down the work which the Trust is to perform. The Hon'ble Member in moving that his clause should be inserted in the Bill in the form in which it exists in the Bombay Act, has raised six questions which are all covered in greater detail by amendments which are on the paper and which are to be subsequently considered. I will therefore content myself on this omnibus amendment with giving the general arguments which I think justify the general shape which the clause has taken in the Bill, and I will go into greater details when the more detailed amendments are moved.

"There is first the most important difference between the clause in the Calcutta Bill and that in the Bombay Act. By the clause, as it stands in the Calcutta Bill, the Trust will have power to take action in regard to insanitary areas and to prepare general improvement schemes for such areas without receiving an official representation. Although I anticipate that there will be considerable discussion on this provision, yet it seems to me one of the most trifling importance. For we must consider the work that has been performed by the Bombay Trust and the work which is to be performed by the Calcutta Improvement Trust. Calcutta is suffering from two maladies: it is cramped, and there are no means of access to suburbs. There are no channels for the circulation of the population. One of the principal works of the Trust will be to remedy that evil and to provide a cure for that malady. The Trust is to provide main thoroughfares which will render rapid transit possible, and will enable the population to spread over a greater area than it occupies at present, thereby removing congestion and overcrowding. But besides these, there are certain plague-spots, certain unhealthy areas which need to be excised, and clause 35 (now 36) is the clause which gives the Trust the power to deal with the areas in which insanitary conditions exist in an aggravated form. No one has suggested that the Trust should be debarred from taking action under clause 38 (now 39), which is the clause which enables it to prepare street schemes without receiving any official representation. For is not there a corresponding power in section 30 of the Bombay Act, which is the section that enables the Bombay Trust to prepare street schemes? Street schemes that have been prepared in Bombay—for instance, Princess Street and Sandhurst Road—have, of course, been works of greater magnitude than any of the useful improvement schemes which that Trust had carried into effect with respect to insanitary areas on receipt of official representation. I do not think, therefore, that any one can apprehend that excessive power is rashly put into the hands of the Trust, because, as the clause stands, the Trust may undertake any scheme without official representation. If the Trust can run a hundred feet road, say, from Bagbazar to Chowringhee, without any official representation or application from any one, surely there is no very special or insidious danger in giving the Trust the power of making improvements in small areas, the sanitary conditions of which are deplorable. It is true that the Bombay Act provides for official representation as being necessary before the Trust can take up small and minor schemes of improvement, but surely the objects of the clause and the corresponding clause in the English Act, as well as of the clause standing in this Bill, are not to restrain the Trust from doing any work. The whole object of that legislation is to compel dilatory public bodies to take action in certain cases. It is a very valuable power. The Bombay Trust had no staff, when it started work, who were acquainted with the sanitary condition of Bombay, as the Corporation was with its staff of health officers.

and sanitary officers. It was therefore quite right and natural that the Corporation should have power to bring to the notice of the Trust insanitary conditions in certain areas and should have the power to insist on a remedy being applied. It is, on the other hand, clear that there will be no authority so competent as the Calcutta Trust to deal with the greater schemes of rapid transit, and development of building areas which will deal with Calcutta and its suburbs as a whole. There is no other one authority which covers the whole area. This is the reason why no official representation is called for in such cases. But in regard to unhealthy areas regarding which the Calcutta Corporation has the best means of information, the Corporation will have power to make official representations, and if it rejects them, the Trust will have to give reasons for such rejection. I cannot conceive what harm there is in allowing the Trust this power, when it would in any case be open to the Trust under clause 38 (now 39) to call any work an improvement scheme and carry it out.

"The Hon'ble Member takes exception to the words 'most satisfactory method of dealing with evils,' and asks that we should adopt the wording of the English law as it is reproduced in the Bombay Act. The English law has been amended since the Bombay Act was passed, and we, following the English examples, have adopted the words which now stand in the English law. There is clearly good reason for a change. It is obviously difficult to say that the evils connected with an insanitary area cannot be effectually remedied except by an improvement scheme. A general conflagration, for instance, might be a very effectual remedy. The words, as they stand, seem to me to express exactly what the duties of the Trust will be. Before proceeding to frame a general improvement scheme, the Trust is to be satisfied that the conditions of the area are seriously insanitary, that a general reconsideration is necessary, and that the work is beyond the capacity of individual owners.

"Then the Hon'ble Member suggests that the Trust, after receiving the official representation, shall pass a resolution and proceed to make an improvement scheme. That he will find provided for in the subsequent clauses of the Bill which lay down the duty of the Trust in respect of official representations. It is true that in this clause there is no specific mention that the Trust must be satisfied as to the sufficiency of its funds. But it is, of course, understood that the Trust will not undertake to prepare of its own motion any general improvement scheme, unless it is satisfied that it has means to carry it out. It will, of course, also inform the Corporation if, for want of funds, it rejects any of their official representations. It is also true that this clause does not provide that it is obligatory for the Board to pass a resolution when an improvement scheme is to be prepared. But it is provided for in the subsequent clauses dealing with official representations. It will have to give its reasons to the Corporation if it rejects its representation, and the Trust cannot do that unless the Trustees are satisfied as to the reasons of such rejection.

"This is my general answer to this general amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur. I cannot recommend the Council to accept it. The Bombay Act refers to a condition of affairs which does not exist here. For one thing, it was right that the Bombay Corporation should have a large voice in the Bombay Trust, for it was paying for the whole work of the Trust with the exception of such profits as the Trust was able to make by developing certain Government lands. Seeing, therefore, that the Corporation was paying the piper, it was very natural that it should have a large power for calling the tune. But, as I pointed out, it is only in cases of houses and buildings that the Trust has no discretion. In all other respects it has an absolute and unfettered discretion. And what is the official representation in Bombay? The following have the power to make official representations in Bombay:—First, the Commissioner, who is an officer appointed by Government; secondly, the Municipal Health Officer; thirdly, the Justices of the Peace; and fourthly, 12 or more persons residing in a ward, and all except the first must do it through the Commissioner. These are very large powers, and it was to the interest of the public that, if some plague-spots were to be removed and wiped away, there have been no difficulties in getting official representations. I do not suppose that the debate on this clause will be finished if this amendment is rejected. But this amendment ought to be rejected, because a considerable part of it is obsolete or relates to a state of affairs which exists in Bombay, but which does not exist in Calcutta."

The Hon'ble Mr. APCAR said :—

"Your Honour?—We have only just now heard the first explanation or declaration of the policy on the part of Government in connection with this Bill. There was a statement made at the first reading by the Hon'ble Member who introduced the Bill. It was clear with regard to the finances but bare in other respects. But if the principles upon which the Government were going to proceed had been indicated, when the Bill was referred to the Select Committee, which answers to the second reading of a Bill, in the House of Commons, when the principles of a Bill are discussed, it would have been a very great advantage indeed. It would have helped me to try to shape this Bill on altogether different lines. It now is the first occasion when we have heard this idea of action to be taken under clause 35 (now 36) minimised in the way we now hear, and that the whole effort is really to be in connection with street schemes: that makes a very great difference in the whole scope of action that is to be undertaken, but how does it compare with the powers that have been reserved under clause 35 (now 36)?"

"It is in consequence of the very wide powers, conferred under that clause, that anxiety has been created. Before, we used to hear of the plague-spots of Calcutta and the necessity of having those cleared away. And also in communications, such as have been available to us from the Government of India to the Secretary of State, there has been stress laid on the action that has to be taken in order to have large clearances made. But now we are told that the Board will operate on a small scale only on such schemes.

"Sir, the Hon'ble Member has reserved his remarks for a later occasion to discuss in detail the various points embraced in this amendment, and it is not difficult to foresee what the result of this amendment will be, when such a declaration is made on behalf of the Government. The Bombay Act is closely modelled on the English Act, and this present clause is very widely different from the Bombay Act and consequently from the English Act. What we now are really endeavouring to do is to assimilate our procedure to the English Act.

"In my anxiety to submit material readily available, I have ventured, in anticipation of our meeting in Council to-day, to publish a statement that will enable Hon'ble Members as well to grasp the scope of the section of the English Statute on which this clause purports to be modelled, as to follow the comparisons with the English law, which I think is essential to understand the amendments to this clause which are proposed.

"I can safely say, so far as that statement has gone, that it is a strictly accurate presentment of the conditions which prevail in England on the questions in issue. And I appeal to you, Sir, whether I could show greater confidence in the propriety of our proposals, than that I should ask that those proposals should be thoroughly well understood and tested, in comparison with the English law, from which our inspiration for this Bill is drawn.

"The wording of this clause has been modified so as to bring the procedure more definitely into accord with that prescribed in the corresponding sections of the English Acts."

"These words are taken from the Select Committee's Report, and I invite Hon'ble Members to see how far the standard that Committee has set up has been reached.

"At the outset I venture to ask attention to section 4 of the Housing Act of 1890, which I have set out in my statement already before the Council. It will be seen, that under English law, local authorities carry that Act into effect,—a local authority meaning, in general terms, the Corporation charged with the municipal administration of the locality in which the area proposed to be dealt with is situated. They are permitted to entertain a question of an unhealthy area, only if an official representation is received for that purpose, which means, as I have explained in my statement already published, that expert medical opinion in its support is a condition precedent to the consideration by the local authority of the question whether or not an area is an unhealthy area; the area, be it noted, being a 'certain' area, or, as it appears in the Bombay Act, an area 'within certain limits' in the City. And consequent upon that issue, whether an improvement scheme should be framed.

"We find also a mandate to the local authority that they shall consider such official representation, and in the first instance satisfy themselves of its truth and of the sufficiency of their resources, and if they are so satisfied, then they must proceed to an improvement scheme. And the instructions that are given with regard to their future conduct, are equally peremptory. This is the procedure in England. It would be difficult to see a likeness to any of the clauses of this Bill. And our aim is nothing more outrageous than to assimilate our clauses to the English law.

"This Bill, similar to the law in England, attacks private rights in an extraordinary degree. It gives power to depopulate a large area, and to dispossess owners of land in that area. I by no means desire to impugn the policy of the Bill in that respect, a policy with which I entirely agree. I only seek an examination of the conditions under which effect should be given to that policy.

"The Hon'ble Member's amendment proposes no new matter. So far as it goes, it is taken, as I have indicated, bodily from the Bombay Act. If it is accepted, I shall be content. If, however, it is not desired to substitute this section of the Bombay Act in its entirety, we shall endeavour to adapt the clause in the Bill, as it stands, to the English law. Our aim is exactly the same as that expressed in the Select Committee's Report, 'to bring the procedure more definitely into accord with that prescribed in the corresponding sections of the English Acts.'

"Sir, if official representations are not required for such matters owing to the trifling character of the Board's operations, then my labours in the latter stage of this discussion will be lightened, because there is not the same intention apparently for the adoption of these large clearance schemes, ■ we were led to believe.

"If that is so, I do not understand, as I before have said, why such very wide powers have been reserved. I will not now speak further on the question, as we have been promised a more detailed discussion later, but I have thought it necessary to make these observations at once with reference to what has been proposed."

A division was then taken, with the following result:—

Ayes 18.

The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu.

The Hon'ble Maharaj-Kumar Gopal Saran Narayan Singh.

The Hon'ble Babu Kirtanand Sinha.

The Hon'ble Raja Rajendra Narayan Bhanja Deo.

The Hon'ble Khan Bahadur Maulvi Sarfaraz Husain Khan.

The result of the division was, ayes 18, noes 30, and the motion was therefore lost.

169. The Hon'ble Maulvi Saiyid Muhammad Fakhr-ud-din moved that the words "Upon the Board being satisfied, on due and proper inquiry" be substituted for the words "Whenever it appears to the Board", in line 1 of clause 35 (now 36).

He said :—

"Your Honour, — The amendment which I now propose to move is, though simple, yet very important. I wish to substitute the words 'Upon the Board being satisfied on due and proper inquiry' in place of 'Whenever it appears to the Board.' The clause, as it now stands, gives a very wide power to the Board without any restriction limitation, or reservation.

"Before the Board takes any action to declare any particular locality or area as unhealthy, the Board should be satisfied, after making due and proper inquiry, whether, as a matter of fact, such conditions as are laid down in sub-clauses (a) and (b) do or do not exist. This restriction is more necessary because power has been given to the Board to take action under clause 35 (now 36), even without any official representation. The word 'appears', in line 1 of clause 35 (now 36), does not necessarily indicate the idea of making previous inquiry, and if the intention of the legislators be that the Board will have to make an inquiry and will have to be satisfied before taking an action under this clause, then why do you not express that intention in express words? I do not think that any harm will be done by the amendment. Under the Bombay Act the Board has got a right to take similar action only upon official representation, but under the present Bill the Board is going to get wider and more extensive powers, and therefore it is necessary to safeguard against the abuse of power of taking action without first being satisfied of the necessity of such action. Hence I would propose that the words 'upon the Board being satisfied on due and proper inquiry' be substituted for the words 'whenever it appears to the Board' in line 1 of clause 35 (now 36)."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMRAS said :—

"Sir,—I cannot recommend this amendment to be accepted. The Hon'ble Member says that it does no harm, but I submit that the burden of proof is on him to show that it does good. The Board will surely not undertake any work without due and proper inquiry. I believe you will gain nothing by putting in these words."

The Hon'ble Mr. APCAR said :—

"Your Honour sees how matters stand here. There is now a group of amendments for 'a due and proper inquiry.' Then there is a group of amendments to omit 'without such representation'; then comes my amendment which includes 'due and proper inquiry', and also the omission of 'without such representation', with a third element in it, which is not in any of these, that it should be 'within a certain area only'. The first of these amendments is 'upon the Board being satisfied, on due and proper inquiry.' I do not know, Sir, whether I may follow afterwards, on my own amendments, because we are taking my amendments in detail but omitting the third head of my amendment. My three amendments are:—'due and proper inquiry', 'omission of the proper representation', and the third one 'within a certain area only'."

The PRESIDENT said :—

"I think the Hon'ble Mr. Apar desires that it would be considered as a whole, even though the various parts have been negatived."

The Hon'ble Mr. APCAR said :—

"What I propose to do, Sir, is that, inasmuch as these two groups of amendments are included in mine, to deal with them separately as they come up. Now, with regard to this 'due and proper inquiry', it may be convenient to Your Honour and the Council to take them separately in that way, because I do not agree that this question, as has been suggested by the Hon'ble Member in charge, is of no moment. I submit that it is positively necessary, for reasons I shall state, that it would be a harmful thing for us if this broad question of 'due and proper inquiry' was not included as a direction of law in the Bill itself. I am afraid I am not ready yet to accept the light air with which Hon'ble Member in charge treats this question. On the contrary, I think that this is a serious matter of great importance. The term 'Improvement Scheme' has now obtained a definite and recognised meaning, if not a technical meaning. All the books that we have at our hands, that refer to the subject of 'Improvement Schemes', refer to it as large schemes. There are other schemes in which other methods are employed of a less drastic nature, but none of these can be used under this Bill. Therefore, when there are such great powers included in this Bill in connection with these Improvement Schemes, and there is no alternative allowed, then, Sir, we should be wanting in proper appreciation of our duty if we do not treat this matter seriously."

"This clause will introduce a law which is strange to us and, in my humble judgment, is the most important in the Bill. We now are discussing an amendment, and we are approaching the discussion of other amendments of the highest importance. And the fate of Calcutta will depend on the spirit in which these amendments will be considered by the Government representatives. It will now be decided whether we shall take proper advantage of the careful investigation that was started in England so far back as in the year 1842, and the experience that has been collected by men who have become experts in the question, out of which has been evolved the present law in England; or, we are to plunge into a law for which we have no authority and no precedent. The Government representatives will not, I trust, fail to appreciate that there is criticism which is the outcome of conviction and is the honest contribution of those who have a common object in view, and the desire to secure in the best possible way the common end, and will not class it all as dictated by an endeavour to grasp sordid gain or dictated by political rancour."

"I confidently can say that the amendments that are before us will not in any degree destroy the efficacy or the stringency of the law in its operation. On the contrary, they will improve the Act. I submit not only that the proposals are fair, but I go further to say that it would be unfair if action were permitted to be taken contrary to the principles of these proposals and in accordance with all that would be permissible under the clause in its present form. I crave the indulgence of Hon'ble Members in my endeavour to deal with these amendments, as they come up for discussion, with the close attention which I think the circumstances demand. The consequences, if this clause is passed as it stands, will, I am convinced, be so grave and unexpected that I earnestly ask Your Honour and this Council seriously to consider what I have to say, because it is my belief that the difficulties to which I shall refer have not been realised.

"It has been forcibly represented to me by citizens of Calcutta, with knowledge of public affairs and in what manner public business should be conducted, that the Board will transact their business with closed doors. We do not know who the Trustees will be, and what the conception of the majority of them of the conduct of public business; or how they will perform their duties. I think there is substance in these representations, and I take the responsibility of submitting them to this Council.

"I venture to urge that it would be advisable to enact express direction that the Board shall make due and proper inquiry. If for no other reason, let me urge that it be inserted, as at least an ever-present guide, to remind all the members of the Board of what is necessary in their conduct of proceedings.

"And if it is intended or assumed that there shall be a proper inquiry, as I hope is the case, by all the Hon'ble Members of the Council, then, Sir, what objection can there be to express such intention? It would be only in the order of things—and my honourable and learned friend, I feel sure, will agree—to express in words the intention of the legislature, because whatever our assumptions are, whatever our a priori explanations of our meaning of a section, when a certain intention is not expressed, then it may be taken as if that intention did not exist. I, of course, am aware of the contention that the Board of Trustees will be so constituted and so select that they may be relied upon to conduct their proceedings on strictly correct principles. But, I submit, legislation on a subject such as is before us should not proceed on these lines. It might be said, certainly with no less reason, that the Corporations in England and the Local Government Board might be depended upon to act properly; yet we have seen in our present discussions, express instructions of an imperative nature to control their proceedings and actions have been found necessary by the British Parliament to be included in their Statutes. It is important always to bear in mind that, although enormously increased powers have been extended to the Local Government Board, there has never been any wavering in the policy of controlling and directing that body, by express statutory enactment, in questions leading up to a declaration of an unhealthy area, and by so much as the increase of powers in other directions has been extended, there is a corresponding degree of emphasis in the obligations created by Statute being continued in connection with all questions relating to an unhealthy area. It can hardly therefore be deemed derogatory or unnecessary to insert in this clause that the Improvement Board shall make due and proper inquiry in respect of the question now in issue.

"To give extensive powers to and depend on the individuals who may constitute a statutory body to do all that is right and proper, and regard express directions and instructions for procedure as superfluous, is an alluring theory but dangerous to put into practice. Actual experience has shown that, given a carefully constituted body and even express instructions to make due inquiry, there has been failure. I will give one instance. The General Committee of the Calcutta Corporation was conceived to form, under the present Municipal Act, a co-ordinate authority in the municipality, to whom large powers were to be transferred from the Corporation who were exercising them. There was every incentive to Government, in order to vindicate their policy and justify the revolutionary changes that were contemplated, to devise a most highly efficient working executive body, and they had free scope in modelling the General Committee.

"They gave us a specially selected Government officer as President, a carefully chosen group of four members to be appointed by the Government, four other members to be elected by Government nominees, and those returned as commissioners by constituents such as the Port Trust, Chamber of Commerce and Trades Association, with only four representatives of the humble ward commissioners, who therefore were in a standing minority of nine to four. I shall not go through a catalogue of the doings of the General Committee, but confine myself to an illustration of one class of cases only, which is strictly in point in the present issue. Under section 441 of the Municipal Act, it is expressly directed that they shall take action after due inquiry. Nevertheless, even with the express direction for due inquiry, such inquiry has been omitted, as will appear in reported cases in our Law Reports: how many others there may be, I know not. It must not be supposed that I aim at an object so fantastic as, by legislation, to confer a perfect discretion on any body of persons, failing which they will be liable in a court of law. Whether the Board will exercise their discretion rightly or wrongly is a question apart. The words I seek to insert will not affect any such issue. If only the Board exercise their discretion, that is all that will be wanted, and no court of law would intervene. But I submit that we may fairly and urgently press that there shall be included a provision of an imperative character to impose an obligation on the Board to make proper inquiry before proceeding to frame an improvement scheme. If, after they have duly considered the question, they decide in favour of it, my amendment will not give the public any right to appeal to the Law Courts. If, on the other hand, they in fact have neglected to conform to a course of conduct that, we must all admit, obviously is right and proper, then and then only will the public have an opportunity of redress from the court, which, without the provision I seek to include, they would be without; and a peremptory direction to consider the question is not unknown in the Bill itself. It is found in clause 37 (now 38), but it does not improve the position of difficulty to which I am drawing attention.

"In that clause we have the direction that the Board shall consider every official representation made to them—but with what intent? To decide, after a declaration has been made that an area is an unhealthy area, whether a general improvement scheme shall be framed forthwith or not. The point for consideration then appears to be, at what period of time an improvement scheme is to be framed, whether forthwith or not.

"And it is interesting to observe that in the original Bill, as referred to the Select Committee, the Board was expressly required, before taking any action, to be satisfied as to the truth of such representation and as to the sufficiency of the resources to carry it into effect—a provision, Your Honour will recall, taken verbatim from the English Statute, and this also had reference only to an official representation. It has completely disappeared from the Bill. It leads to the supposition that the original scope of the Bill was to allow only official representations, and the additions that now are included may have been made without careful examination of the various questions that are involved. Whatever the causes, the result is that there are directions with regard to one issue, which are omitted with regard to others so closely connected with it as to give ground for serious argument that the Board are free from all obligations to inquire or consider, in all questions in this connection, any matter other than where has been an official representation. And it may be argued that it indicates a policy of uncontrolled action, intended to be conferred on the Board, which I hope and believe is not our real intention. Omissions and variations of words frequently have, as I am confident my honourable and learned friend will bear me out, a result never anticipated by the legislature.

"Sir, I think that this is a question of the greatest importance, and if there is an intention to make 'due and proper inquiry', as there is in England, that matter shall be considered. I submit to Your Honour and this Council that the insertion of these terms is necessary, and that the amendment should be accepted."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said :—

"Sir,—In the first place, we have in the present scheme done away with official representation. My hon'ble friend, the Member in charge of the Bill says that it has been so done for a very definite and clear purpose, namely, that it may be necessary for the Trustees themselves to take action, and they could not very well take action if they had to wait until an official representation was made to them. Then there is one consideration which my friend seems to omit in this connection. When an official representation is made, it is not a representation for improvement which emanates from the Trustees themselves."

The Hon'ble MR. BOMPAS said :—

"May I rise to a point of order, Sir? I submit it is very desirable that we should confine our observations to the amendment before us. It seems unwise to divert the attention of the Council to Town Planning schemes. It has got nothing to do with Improvement Schemes."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said :—

"I was trying to show the necessity of this clause by putting before the Council when the other safeguards have now been taken away. One of the safeguards is that the Board should be moved only upon the representation of the third party. If the Board proceeds of its own motion, where is the body which will protect the people from the Board? In England, when a Town Planning scheme is framed, if there is any objection it has to get the sanction of Parliament. If my friend will look at page 229 of Allan's Book on Housing, he will see the whole procedure is laid down there."

"But as I say your Bill is so framed that it is such a beautiful jumble of various things that you cannot distinguish one part of the scheme from another. I throw the challenge directly and boldly that, in Chapter III, you have in your excessive zeal for importing into Calcutta all the latest measures of legislation in England about matters of town planning, confounded and confused the whole procedure and made such a wonderful and beautiful jumble that not only I was unable to extract any sense out of it, but I laid your proposals before the highest experts in England and they were simply aghast to find that is the way things are done in India. My hon'ble friend says that it is not town planning; then what it is, when you are driving a road from Bara Bazar to Chitpur in order to give relief to congested areas? What it is when you are opening squares in thickly populated bustees? It is not only that you are dealing with insanitary areas, but you are dealing with the question of town planning and of the housing of the poor; and here you have not only the housing of the poor but also of the persons displaced. You are going to provide for the housing of the people generally, so that in Chapter III you have got improvements of insanitary bustees, you have got town planning, you have got housing of the poor, for, all these purposes you have put down under one Chapter, which makes it excessively difficult to say as to what the procedure would actually be adopted when these things get on, and thereby you have obscured the real issues. In England compensation and other things are not allowed under certain conditions. They treat these questions separately. Here all these questions are treated together and remedies which ought to apply are being applied to all the parts, and, therefore, we say that having done away with all the safeguards which are considered necessary and essential even in your own country in England,—where people are much better able to protect their own rights and where these things are put into operation by men who have made a special study of the subject, men who are experienced and well trained in these matters, whose judgment always commands confidence, who know how to deal with men and things, where amongst the homogeneous population there is no divergence between those who are affected and those who have got the carrying out of these operations,—they have thought fit and desirable to provide safeguards against the abuse of powers. Here what is the safeguard that you have provided? You yourself conceive that a scheme should be framed. You publish that scheme, you call for objections and you yourself decide. Well, I know that there is a strong feeling in India that one who starts the prosecution should carry it out and should see the man accused, convicted and put in jail. But I believe this is a feeling which is not very generally shared. I ask you if you say that you want to work this Act in a spirit which will command public confidence. What is the procedure you have described that you will follow, that you will command public confidence? Supposing, I say, that there is a large scheme which ought not to be carried through, then who is to decide? You decide. If it were the Corporation which started it and it came to you, well, then, you would decide between him and the Corporation. Who is to decide between you and him? You will decide. Well, that may be your idea of fairness, but it is not anywhere else outside this Council Chamber. Therefore, we say that before we do things we must lay down the statutory injunction that it should be properly and carefully made. You have excluded from your body, deliberately and wilfully, men who will be seriously affected by your operations, because you say they are in the position of accused persons in the trial, and you yourself are formulating these schemes and you decide them. Do you mean to say that the statutory obligation of having due and proper inquiry will be followed? Well, gentlemen, there are certain limitations which a sense of duty imposes upon men who have got to do certain work, but you know that in the past—I speak with no sense of disparagement—in the history of your own service, there have been cases where eminent persons have abused their powers. We know that even in the present day the High Court daily interferes in the interests of persons who come before it, where the personal aid of the officer is likely to override the provisions of the law. You cannot deny that, and, therefore, what is there to prevent an abuse of authority—not only an abuse but, I say, a negligent use of authority? Why should you object to due and proper inquiry? You have, as I said, done away with all safeguards which prevail in other countries. Therefore, I feel it my duty to support this amendment."

The Hon'ble MR. WHEELER said:—

"Possibly owing to the fact that there are a number of amendments to this Chapter, the discussion tends to roam somewhat promiscuously over clauses which are in no sense at present before the Council, and I do not propose to follow the Hon'ble Member in his disquisitions on parts of this chapter with which the Council is not now concerned, or on matters which are not even remotely concerned with the improvement of Calcutta. The amendment is that the words 'upon the Board being satisfied, on due and proper inquiry' be substituted for the words, 'whenever it appears to the Board', and the point is whether it is necessary to safeguard the Act by that insertion. The Hon'ble Mover, as I understand, more or less says that it would not make much difference one way or the other, and the only concrete example that the Hon'ble Mr. Apear has given shows that the insertion of the words had not the slightest effect in restraining the overbearing conduct of the General Committee of the Corporation. I, therefore, submit, Sir, that that supports the argument put forward by the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas, that these words are in no sense necessary. All these provisions which safeguard the interests of the public, occur at a later stage, when an Improvement Scheme has been framed—vide clause 42 now 43)—and under clause 46 (now 47) the whole matter finally comes before the Local Government who then again considers it. This should be sufficient to prevent any undesirable scheme going through, and I would oppose this amendment on the ground that it is unnecessary."

The Hon'ble BABU DEHA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—

"Your Honour,—I desire to associate myself with the Hon'ble Mover of the amendment now before the Council. What has just fallen from the Hon'ble Mr. Wheeler would be reason enough for adopting the amendment, if others were wanting. We have the fact and the phenomenon that, although safeguarding words like those that we seek to introduce in this Bill are present in the Municipal Act, they have committed an irregularity to which the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar has referred, and have committed it with impunity. If cases of commission with impunity were multiplied, as have no doubt they could be on proper inquiry, would the case for the insertion of a safeguard like this be strengthened or weakened? If, with the existence of words like these on the Statute Book, an omission like this is possible, let us imagine for one moment what would be the state of things without it. We have been told by the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas that if a body constituted like this was to do anything without what to them appeared to be due on proper inquiry, they would be hardly worth having. I am not following the Hon'ble Member exactly in his own phraseology, but that is what it comes in effect to. He would leave it to their good sense and discretion. Sir, good sense and discretion do not happen to be a monopoly of Boards like that which is to be constituted under the clauses that we have already carried in this Council. Eloquent reference has been made by the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Dasu to cases where, in spite of such safeguards, good sense and discretion have been wanting—it may not be very often but painfully often enough. Those from whom we are borrowing these provisions on a somewhat unscientific and irregular method to suit our present purposes, may be credited with some of that good sense and discretion. We are, therefore, entitled to refer more at length than has been done already to those sections in the English Act, which are the basis and foundation of the present clauses. Reference has been made to section 4 of the Housing Act of 1890. My hon'ble friend has read from a book of Allan, an authority on this question, showing exactly how the matter stands in England, and if I may refer to another standard work of the same author, in which he comments on and summarises some of the sections of this now well-known Act, we find his comments on this section as follows :—

'Sections 4 and 5 provide that, where an official representation is made by a Medical Officer of Health that certain areas are unhealthy and that an Improvement Scheme should be made, the local authority shall, if satisfied by the fact, proceed to make such a scheme.'

"Great stress has deservedly been put upon the clauses that the local authority, if satisfied of the fact, will proceed to make such a scheme. I need not trouble the Council with regard to other extraneous matters which this commentary views, but the comment proceeds to say that if the local authority did not make such a scheme, they must send the notification to the Local Government Board which is the confirming authority and which may direct a local medical officer to inquire. Something analogous to that is now provided for later on in our Act, and the local confirming authority, which is the Local Government Board in England, would be here the Local Government, I take it. Then, it says that if a representation affects more than 10 houses, the matter is to be treated under a different section. If we refer to section 8 of the same Act, to which reference has not yet been made, we find that, after receiving the report made upon such inquiry, the confirming authority may make a provisional order declaring the area comprised in a scheme and authorising such a scheme to be carried into execution. Now, we have the inquiry, and we have the report when the matter comes up before the confirming authority. Those would be materials exactly upon which they could invoke the powers that the statute is going to endow it with. If there is no inquiry, statutory I may say, which would furnish materials upon which the subsequent action of the confirming authority would proceed, how are they to proceed at all? Excepting the report of the local authority, which would be the Trustees in this case, what would be there to show that a certain thing appears to them in the wording of the clause that we are now criticising? Sir, it is a truism 'necessary' that bad law makes bad administration. We have been repeatedly told that, unless an intention is clearly expressed or is it to be expressed by implication, it cannot be insisted on that is a reason why we are anxious that the materials upon which the Trustees are to express their satisfaction that a certain scheme is necessary, should be available for the purposes of the confirming authorities, and that would be impossible unless there is a statutory insistence that there should be due and proper inquiry. Supposing there was need, as I hope and trust, there will be, in connection with the Trust Act at all events, to take the municipality before the proper Court which, in spite of the words in the Statute Book, did not do the right thing, what would be the result in the absence of the provision for that due and proper inquiry? Its absence would at once nullify that particular scheme, and it would be clear ground for interference, both by the confirming authority as well as by the Courts whose jurisdiction no Improvement Bill will take away under any circumstances. The belief is that the state of things with regard to the lower executive is so poor in this country that those responsible for the Act do not like to leave things to chance. There is nothing singular in this, nor is the phenomenon confined to this country. It was emphasised in St. Stephen when the Working Men's Housing Act was passing through Parliament. One of the Hon'ble Members speaking on the Bill had occasion to say: 'It frequently happens in this country that those who are the first men to start an inquiry under the Acts were the very persons who were largely interested in the maintenance of the Statute. We have observed that in the Bill, before the local authority could act, an official representation had to be made. A man who probably owed his position in the way of personal or private practice among the people, it would be his duty to take the medical officer who had made the representation as to the insanitary condition of any property, however may be his lucrative practice among the people who might be owners of property over whom he ought to be able to exercise some control and which he may be called upon to condemn. There ought to be some provision for putting the law into operation, whether the medical officer of health did his duty or not.' Another Hon'ble Member said on the same occasion that it was doubtful whether the medical officer of a district or county, singly or generally, would be able to take necessary information in some cases. He therefore suggested that there should be power to obtain a report from independent persons appointed by the Local Government Board. 'These are not matters with which we are concerned for our present purposes, and some of these have no doubt been provided in the Bill or will be provided. What I have read may be taken as admitting a part of my argument so far as the case for dealing with those who are vitally interested in that inquiry and the argument stands. You could not rely upon those that are directly and intimately connected with the carrying out of their Trust, whether the reports be from your own officers or reports of officers upon which you think you can act. Sections 4 and 8 insisted not only upon an official representation about which there are other amendments, and I shall not mix them up with the question of due and proper inquiry, whether by independent people or by people connected with the local authority or by the Local Government Board, which have been throughout insisted on in the English Acts, upon the model of which we are supposed to be proceeding to-day. In this state of things I feel bound to ask as to why there should be any objection to due and proper inquiries. The thing looks so unintelligible, I hardly know what to call it; my hon'ble friend suggests the word suspicious, but I shall not adopt the word. The aid of the Local Government may be invoked so far as may be possible; the Local Government will be in possession of the facts, of full circumstances and details upon which they could criticise the measure of the Trustees and say whether the particular scheme will be adopted or not. After it is promulgated, and a variety of things that have been referred to in the course of the Hon'ble Mr. Wheeler's speech done, it will be too late, and whether there had been a due and proper inquiry or not, ought to be possible to be found from the records of the Trust, and the Government will have to deal with the question on that basis and no other, unless it be on independent inquiry by itself. For these reasons, I think that it is very necessary to insert the words 'due and proper inquiry', and if it is resisted with any degree of strenuousness, I am afraid the impression left upon those, who look to the smooth and proper administration of the Act, will be very harmful indeed."

The Hon'ble MR. K. B. DUTT said :—

"Sir,—The terms of the present amendment are so reasonable and modest that I am unable to understand for myself why the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill would not make that small concession. I have no doubt in my mind that the Bill as it stands certainly does provide some necessary safeguards, because, Sir, you will find that the members of the Board will not be able to exercise their powers merely because they wanted, but they will have to be satisfied as to the unfitness of the buildings for human habitation as provided in clause (a). Therefore, as I have said before, I am not prepared to say that the Bill does not provide any necessary safeguard, but it does. But the only question is that if the members and the people, whom this Bill is likely to affect, and if all communities in general ask for a concession—a very reasonable concession, and a concession which I have no doubt the Member in charge will admit—that the introduction and adoption of the amendment will then in no way interfere with its power, because the Act would provide that 'after due and proper inquiry,' it would be a matter for the Trustees to hold and to decide and determine what that proper inquiry would be. Therefore, my submission is that it is such a reasonable request and it is such a reasonable amendment, that its introduction would in no way interfere with the powers of the Trustees. Therefore, as it has been asked, and feelingly asked, by those Members who have brought this matter before you, I hope that the official Members will reasonably vote for this amendment."

The Hon'ble MR. PAYNE said :—

"A great deal has been said on this point, but I think after all it is not of such importance as the Members on the other side are led to believe. They seem to think that there is going to be no inquiry at all. The Hon'ble Mr. Wheeler has clearly pointed out that the inquiry comes at a later stage, that is in clause 46 (now 47). The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari has read from the English Act in which there is an exactly similar provision as that in this Bill. It merely says that the local authorities in England must be satisfied. That, I submit, is precisely the same as our wording, which is 'whenever it appears to the Board'. The Hon'ble Mr. Apcar has referred to section 441 of the Calcutta Municipal Act and has pointed out that that section lays down that there must be an inquiry. But he forgets that that section refers to the improvement of abandoned or waste land, in which the General Committee act at once on their own authority without any further inquiry. If he will refer to section 406 of that Act which deals with matters of far more importance, similar to that which we are now discussing, viz., the improvement of bustees, he will see that there are no provisions for inquiry of this character. It is provided in section 407 that the inquiry is to come afterwards. This is exactly what we have done in this case."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR said :—

"Sir,—May I say a few words by way of explanation? My purpose was to show that in section 441 of the Calcutta Municipal Act there is a provision for 'due inquiry.' If there is a provision that due inquiry must be made, then there can be a resort to a Court of Law to enforce that inquiry. But when there is such a provision and we find that it is neglected, what are we to expect when there is no such provision?"

A division was then taken, with the following result :—

Ayes 17.

 The Hon'ble Babu Hrishikesh Laha.
 The Hon'ble Mr. M. S. Das, C.I.E.
 The Hon'ble Khan Bahadur Maulvi Sarfarez Husain Khan.

The result of the division was, ayes 17, noes 29, and the motion was therefore lost.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

170. The Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur moved that the words "after due and proper inquiry" be inserted after the words "the Board", in line 1 of clause 35 (now 36).

He said :—

"This question has already been fully discussed, and I do not wish to cover the same grounds and waste the time of the Council."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

171. The Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu moved that the word "whether," and the words "or without such a representation", in lines 1 to 3 of clause 35 (now 36), be omitted.

He said :—

"My amendment, Sir, is this; to omit the word 'or without such representation' in clause 35 (now 36). That is, I want to restrict the operations of the Board only to cases coming up to it upon official representation. The Bombay Act, as my hon'ble friend pointed out when replying to the Hon'ble Rai Shiba Shankar Sahay Bahadur, has not got this provision. The English Act has not got this provision. The necessity that my hon'ble friend made out for a provision like this was that the Board would be in a better position to deal with smaller areas when dealing with insanitary neighbourhoods. Well, I believe the Corporation, or at least the officials of the Corporation, the Chairman or the Health Officer, are better conversant with the insanitary areas in Calcutta than a Board which is coming into existence for the first time. We know in the past the Corporation has been subjected to very severe criticisms as composed of men who hardly know their duty, but that again is now a matter of ancient history. The men who did not know their duty have long ceased to be members of Corporation, and the present Corporation has come into existence as the best Corporation that could be devised in India. We have got there representatives of Government in large numbers. We have got there representatives of trades and commerce, and we have got also a reduced representation of the people, so that with the reduced representation of the people and the enhanced representation of officialdom, I do think that that Corporation must be a perfect corporation even in the eyes of the non-officials, and therefore I do not see why there should be any distrust of this officialized Corporation, and more than that, there may be a very great difference between the Corporation and the Board. The Corporation may want certain areas, about which they know well, should be taken in hand. They after all pay the piper and not the Government, as the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas has said. When we come to the financial position of this Bill, I shall show that the Corporation have the ultimate responsibility. Why should the Board seek to go above their heads? We may easily ask them to submit to the Board a statement of the insanitary areas in Calcutta which require to be dealt with first and foremost, apart from the considerations which I laid before this Council when dealing with the question of due and proper inquiry. I think these are considerations which ought to weigh with the Council. Do you or do you not trust this Corporation? If you do trust, there is no reason why you should not rely upon representations made from them. If you do not trust them, well, the surest course to create trust, and to remedy the state of things in the Corporation, is to introduce another Bill to create a new Corporation. With the non-official element, this Council will create a perfectly efficient, reliable and trustworthy Corporation. I have no doubt. It may be done in the course of the two months, by the time you put this Bill into operation. I do think that, as it is, it will be conducive to more harmonious working if we not did not proceed upon representations called official representations. Bombay has done that, England and Scotland are doing that, why should Calcutta, admittedly not with the best materials available for the purpose, not do that, because these materials have got to be created? I do not mean to cast any imputation upon yourself, but all of us—even those who are supposed to be able at a moment's notice to take the command of the channel fleet—all of us have got to be instructed, and we lack the experience of Bombay and England. Why should we depart from well-known precedents? I think there is no case made out for it. My hon'ble friend says there may be small areas. Well, he has got the Chairman of the Corporation at his elbow, who can easily give advice as to what sort of areas these are. If you accept the amendment you cease to be looked upon as being personally concerned, the Improvement Trust becomes an authority only between the Corporation and the public, and this secures public confidence. It avoids conflict between the Corporation and the Trust, and it does no harm even to the objects for which, as my hon'ble friend says, these words were thought unnecessary. For these reasons I do humbly venture to put this amendment for the consideration of this Council."

The Hon'ble RAI BAIKUNTHA NATH SEN BAHADUR said:—

"Sir,—I think these four amendments are of the same nature (Nos. 171, 172, 173 and 174), and it would be convenient if they are taken up together. The amendment proposed would have the effect of the initiation of any improvement scheme by the Board on official representation only. It cannot be denied that the Corporation was responsible for the sanitation of the town, and that the sanitary improvements and all improvements of the town fell within the legitimate functions and duties of the Corporation. We do not know why a separate Trust is being created for the improvement of the town when by an amendment of the Municipal Act, with some additional powers being given to the Corporation, the object could have been equally gained. The duties and privileges could very easily have been entrusted to the Corporation. It is too late now to discuss the reasons which have induced the Government to create a separate body. The Corporation which has been existing for over about 50 years is expected to know all about the insanitary quarters of the town, and how sanitary and other improvements can be effected. The members of the Board of Trust are not expected to be omniscient beings, and it cannot be expected that when they just crawl out of their cradle, they will be in full possession of all information and facts bearing upon the improvement of the town. They shall have to acquire knowledge and information from different sources, and probably they shall have to take the help of experts. All this can be avoided if it be provided that the initiation of any general scheme of improvement or street improvement be taken up on official representation. I submit, Sir, that this amendment should be accepted."

The Hon'ble RAI SHIBA SHANKAR SAHAY BAHADUR said:—

Sir,—I have an identical motion on the agenda, and I beg leave to support this amendment. I do not wish to repeat the same arguments, in recommending this amendment for acceptance. I simply beg to point out that I understood the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill to say that the Board will act under this clause, on its own initiative, only in case of improvement of small areas. If that is so, why not say so distinctly in the Act? Is there one single word in this clause to indicate that the Board will here act only with reference to the improvement of small areas? As it stands, there is nothing to prevent the Board from framing a general improvement scheme for the whole of Calcutta on its own motion without the necessary safeguards of an official representation. This is exceedingly unreasonable and objectionable."

The Hon'ble RAI SITA NATH RAY BAHADUR said:—

"There is no doubt that the functions and duties that have been assigned to the proposed Board of Trustees are the legitimate functions and duties of the Corporation which, as a body, are every day dealing with questions relating to the letting out of new roads and squares. And there is no doubt that there is no other body better acquainted with the needs and requirements of Calcutta than the Corporation itself. The reason why a separate body has been created is that the Corporation has not at its disposal funds enough to carry out large schemes. Clause 36 (now 37) provides for three sources from which official representations are to be made. Therefore it cannot be said that, on the representation of the Corporation alone, the Board will be entitled to take action. There are two other sources to fall back upon. For these reasons I do not see any reason why the Board should be entitled to take action without any representation at all."

The Hon'ble Mr. BOMPAS said:—

"Sir,—This amendment is considerably more important than 189, which we disposed of last. The discussion of that amendment took three quarters of an hour, and was conducted with some heat. It seemed, however, to be formal and I resisted it on that ground. This Bill was entrusted to the Select Committee which sat for 35 days, and which made many alterations in the Bill, as will be seen from the different types appearing in the Bill. And I submit that, after the close scrutiny which it was subjected to in the Select Committee, the burden of proof lies very strongly on any one who moves an amendment to show that it is not merely indifferent, but that it makes substantial improvement on the Bill passed by the Select Committee.

"Sir, with regard to the very substantial question of whether the Trust shall have the power to take action to remedy insanitary conditions, and to draw up general improvement schemes without an official representation from the Corporation, I think I can put the case in a nutshell. The mover of the amendment has very kindly abstained from involving me at this period in the discussion, which, he indicates, will have to be undertaken some time as to the proper and real share which the Corporation has in the finances of the Trust. I will imitate that forbearance, and not take advantage of it. I will not impart exactly what proportion of the resources of the Trust are subscribed by the Corporation, but it cannot be denied that the Trust will receive very substantial grants from the Government of India. It will get 50 lakhs down and 1½ lakhs a year for sixty years and the proceeds of a jute tax and of the terminal tax on passengers. Supposing that, after two or three years, the Government of India inquire as to how the money, which was given for the sanitary improvement of Calcutta, is being spent, is it conceivable that the Trust should be compelled to answer that it could not proceed with the improvement of the city, as it had not yet received any official representation from the Corporation? I submit that, if they are getting funds independently of the Corporation, they have a right to spend it without any interference from the Corporation. And I see no drawback in this. In his previous speech, the Hon'ble Member talked of the safeguards of the official representation, as if the system of official representations provided for in the English Act was, in some way, a safeguard to the ratepayers of the town against indiscreet or over-violent action on behalf of the local authority, and that, I think, is also the apprehension of the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar who has courteously circulated to us his objections to these provisions, and I will indicate to him also the answer which I make to these objections. I say that the whole object of the official representations provided for in the English Act is not to restrain the local authority, but to compel it to move. Supposing that the local authority has no official representation but is of opinion that a certain area needs improvement, all it does is to send the Health Officer down to submit a report, and knowing the qualifications of the Health Officers of England, and knowing their knowledge in sanitation, it is incredible that the Health Officer should take a less serious view of the local conditions than is taken by the members of the local body. The object of that provision in the English Act is to compel unwilling bodies to act. If the Health Officer, in deference to the opinion of the local body or from fear of opposition, does not make a representation, then application may be made to the Local Government Board for the deputation of a medical officer to report on any area. The local authority must consider the report of such a medical officer, and if it rejects his advice the Local Government Board may hold an inquiry of its own, and on the results of that inquiry, may order the local authority to frame a general improvement scheme. Such an order is enforced by mandamus, and if the members of the local authority are recalcitrant they will ultimately find themselves in prison. It is unnecessary to safeguard against over-violent and over-drastring action by local bodies. I agree that it is right, as the Bill provides, that the Corporation should have the power to compel this Trust to take action. That is apparently all that the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur claimed, and that claim is fulfilled by the Bill. But it must be admitted that when the Board has got independent funds, it should have the power of spending its fund independently of the Corporation. There is therefore every reason that the Trust should be entrusted with the duty of carrying out pressing improvement schemes without representation from the Corporation. The only plausible criticism that I heard directed against the working of the Bombay Improvement Trust is that that there was not sufficient co-ordination about its schemes. This is likely to occur if schemes can only be undertaken on an official representation. It would often be most economical and convenient for the Trust to deal with insanitary areas in the course of carrying out street schemes, and in such a case it should not have to wait for an official representation. There is one small point raised by the Hon'ble Rai Sita Nath Ray Bahadur. He contends that not only the Corporation but also the Health Officer and 25 ratepayers can make a representation, but this is not the effect of the Bill as it stands. The Health Officer and 25 ratepayers can only apply to the Corporation. It is true that if the Corporation rejects their application it has to report the matter to the Trust, but though in that way the attention of the Trust may be drawn to unhealthy areas, there is no compulsion put to it to take action."
